Bank Of America Doors Are Bombed In Sausalito

A small bomb, apparently placed behind a door handle, exploded at the Humboldt Street entrance of the Bank of America in Sausalito last night, shattering two of the building's glass doors.

The explosion, which sounded like a thunderclap through Sausalito's downtown area, occurred at 10:30 p.m. It ripped loose the steel handle on one door and sent it flying through the air, causing minor damage to the bank's rear sign.

A plate glass window, two other glass doors and a portion of the ceiling in the entry were also damaged in the blast.

Sausalito police are investigating the bombing, but could not say today what kind of explosive device was used.

C. L. Gandy, the branch manager, said the branch had experienced nothing like this before. He was unable to estimate the amount of damage to the building.

Kenneth W. Jones, publicity officer for the Bank of America in San Francisco, said bank officials said there was "no way of telling" whether the attack was related to other bombings of the bank's branches by extremist groups which claim the bank makes money on the war in Southeast Asia.

This was the sixth bombing of a Bank of America branch in California in the past two years, Jones said. The last attack, at the South Berkeley branch on March 3, caused about $4,000 damage and a March 2 explosion at a Fresno branch caused $5,000 damage, according to the publicity officer.

After Two Years In Works, Novato Adopts Downtown Plan

By FRANK FARRARA

The Sedway-Cooke downtown plan, in the works more than two years, finally was adopted last night by the Novato City Council. (Other Novato City Council stories, page 5.)

Despite last minute protests by property owners, the vote was 4-1, with Councilman J. Wayne Womack, who wanted a portion of the plan considered separately, voting a "reluctant no."

Councilmen sought to alleviate fears that adoption of the plan would bring about immediate changes that would harm existing businesses.

Mayor Douglas M. Merrill stressed that the plan set forth "broad principles" for future development, some of which might not be feasible for twenty to thirty years.

(Merrill submitted his resignation from the council immediately after the vote, and later noted adoption of the plan had been the city's "utmost priority." He gave personal considerations as his reason for stepping down.)

Cornerstone of the plan is development of a regional shopping center in the Pinheiro Ranch area, north of downtown, comparable to the Northgate shopping area in San Rfael.

Merrill said existing business uses, if legal, would remain, no matter what the plan indicates, until there was a change in use.

He also indicated that in areas where the ultimate use was years away, interim uses could be permitted.

Councilman Joseph D. Gargiulo said the plan is strictly a guide and no business will be deliberately hurt.

Councilman Wayne Sartain said the downtown plan "has been something the community has been lacking, and fulfillment through implementation will be the crux."

With implementation will come "some of the battles," but the intent "isn't to hurt, but to improve it (downtown) for the benefit of the downtown merchants and the community, and if we work together, we all stand to benefit substantially," Sartain said.

Adoption of the plan was opposed by Dairymen's Milling Co., a cattle feed firm, at 7546 Redwood Highway, which stands in the area designated for a regional shopping center.

Attorneys Leland H. Jordan and Bryan R. McCarthy, representing property owners in the Diablo Triangle area, opposed the multiple family designation of property in the area, which is now zoned commercial.

Womack proposed that the Diablo Triangle portion be considered separately, but his motion failed. He commented that as one of the men who moved for the downtown study originally, he felt it "strayed somewhat afield of the original intent."

The council also received a protest from attorney John A. Trumball, representing Pink B. Thompson, who opposed designation of his parcel at the northwest corner of Third Street and Grant Avenue for a mini-park.

Councilmen voted that the park site be flexible rather than fixed at Third Street and Grant Avenue. They also amended the route of a proposed recreational trail along Novato Creek from San Pablo Bay to Pioneer Memorial Park, extending it to Stafford Lake.

Councilmen also called for a supplemental planning study to cover fringe areas around the areas covered in the downtown plan.

Stinging Setback To Apartments

By ERIK M. INGRAM

A vocal group of Larkspur residents last night fought Los Angeles land developers to a standstill over a proposal to build a large apartment house development adjacent to Corte Madera Creek.

Responding to a newspaper ad calling the development "a rip-off of Larkspur," the standing-room-only crowd jeered and hooted as the developers outlined their plan for the city's planning commission. (Another Larkspur Planning Commission story, page 12.)

The commission, caught in the cross-fire, delayed a decision on the 186-unit development until March 30 when commissioners Robert H. Lee and Joseph N. Picetti, absent last night, will be available for commission action.

Shareholders Capital Programs, project developers, have proposed clustering two-story buildings on about eight acres adjacent to Corte Madera and Plaza creeks.

Situated on Larskpur Plaza Road, the proposed development would be built upon marshland filled in 1961 and would house about 360 persons.

The crowd of about 60 persons, made up predominantly of nearby Boardwalk 1 residents, called the developments design the start of what in 10 years would turn "Marin County into another Daly City."

The protesters, represented by Attorney Thomas T. Storer, former Marin County supervisor, further charged the development would cause severe traffic congestion on Magnolia Avenue and Doherty Drive, would add large quantities of raw sewage to the already overburdened Ross Valley Sanitary District treatment facilities and would not produce tax revenues sufficient to cover the cost of added city services.

A letter from the Arkites Association, a Boardwalk homeowners' group, warned "more building (in Larkspur) will certainly increase the pollution and result in an open cesspool (Corte Madera Creek) winding its way into Larkspur."

"Tons and tons and tons of untreated sewage pours into San Francisco Bay from the City of Larkspur," Storer said. "That's reason enough to turn down this project.

"We are poisoning ourselves daily . . . poisoning our creek," he continued, pleading with the commission to draw the line on pollution.

City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst acknowledged some sewage is leaking into the creek but not from Larkspur lines — at least not during the past 18 months.

The city's sewer lines are not in question, the protesters said, but, rather, would the added waste created by the new development be adequately treated.

There was general acknowledgement among city officials that it wouldn't.

Noting that most of the protesters were from the nearby Boardwalk 1, City Engineer Roy Hoffman said discussion of sewage and traffic congestion was not the issue.

"You're skirting the issue," he told the crowd, "The issue is should the area be left void forever . . ." or opened to development.

Hoffman's statement produced a sharp exchange between him and Paul L. Groner of Boardwalk 1 and a member of the commission's architectural review committee which has approved the project.

Groner, speaking against the project called for further study, especially on traffic congestion.

"The city is liable to have a major traffic problem" if the project is approved, he said, blasting the city's street improvement program.

"Do you see any traffic problems now?" asked Hoffman.

"Every day," replied Groner calling attention to Doherty Drive.

Architect Robert L. Barnett told the council he was convinced it would find the traffic and sewage problems nonexistant "as we and our engineers have found out."

The commission, however, was not so easily convinced and said it wanted a written staff report on traffic and further study of sewage.

Commissioner Leonard S. Rubin suggested the matter be delayed but noted that the group, mainly from Boardwalk 1, was "presuming to speak for the bulk of the residents of Larkspur."

"The opposition is only a small segment of Larskpur's population," he added.

"The people of Larkspur don't want it," said Grant Jones of Boardwalk 1. "We don't want Daly City, man."

Alioto Indicted In Fee Splitting

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)— Mayor Joseph L. Alioto of San Francisco and three former Washington State officials were indicted Tuesday by a federal grand jury on charges of bribery, mail fraud and conspiracy in an alleged $2.3 million fee-splitting arrangement.

Alioto, who was flying back to San Francisco from a meeting at the White House when the indictment was issued, said it was a "14-carat fake," that he would plead innocent and expected to be "vindicated."

U.S. Attorney Stan Pitkin said the defendants will be arraigned on the nine-count indictment either Thursday or Friday.

The grand jury also indicted John J. O'Connell, former Washington attorney general; George K. Faler, O'Connell's former assistant; and John G. McCutcheon, former prosecutor in Pierce County, Wash.

The charges grew out of Alioto's sharing with O'Connell, and Faler more than $800,000 of $2.3 million in legal fees he received in an antitrust suit brought for 15 Washington cities and public utilities districts. The incident occurred before Alioto was elected mayor in 1967. He is a democrat.

The government said the indictments were not connected with charges by Look Magazine that Alioto had connections with organized crime. Alioto has a $12.5 million libel suit pending against Look.

Both Alioto, 55, and O'Connell, 52, have insisted the arrangement was perfectly legal. Both voluntarily appeared before the grand jury and said

Reds Mount Assault As Saigon Pulls Out

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnam withdrew the last of its army and armor from Laos today, leaving only a small rearguard of marines in the final phase of the controversial drive against the Ho Chi Minh Trail. Americans began pulling out of Khe Sanh as Communist tanks and infantrymen neared the border of South Vietnam.

U.S. air strikes destroyed four North Vietnamese tanks and damaged two today, but U.S. Helicopter pilot 1st Lt. Erick Heintz, 25, of Spokane, Wash., said in Khe Sahn, "the way the Communists are moving they'll be on top of this place in a week."

In northern Laos, 400 miles north of the 45-day-old South Vietnamese operation, a Laotian military spokesman said heavy fighting broke out today only half a mile north of the airfield at the royal capital of Luang Prabang. Twenty-five American dependents were flown out earlier but King Savang Vatthana stayed on despite what spokesmen called a "critical" situation.

Saigon and Pentagon spokesmen saw the Laos incursion as a victory that disrupted the Ho Chi Minh Trail, slowed down Communist operations in South Vietnam and Cambodia for many weeks and destroyed vast quantities of war material. Saigon said its troops destroyed or captured more than 176,000 tons of enemy munitions and killed 13,000 Communist soldiers in a 10 to 1 kill ratio.

However, on Tuesday the

Nixon Proposes Merger Of Volunteer Agencies

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon proposed today a new volunteer program called Action, merging the Peace Corps, VISTA, and a number of lesser-known federal programs such as the Teacher Corps and Foster Grandparents.

In a special message to Congress, the President said the new agency would tap undeveloped potential of Americans who would like to volunteer their service.

"America must enlist the ideals, the energy, the experience and the skills of its people on a larger scale than it has ever done in the past," Nixon said. "We must insure that these efforts be used to maximum advantage."

The message filled in the details of the volunteer agency consolidation which Nixon first suggested in a speech at the University of Nebraska last year.

Nixon proposed including in the new agency these present groups: Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA), the Peace Corps, the Teacher Corps, Foster Grandparents, Retired Senior Volunteer Program, Service Corps of Retired Executives, Active Corps of Executives, Office of Voluntary Action and the Auxiliary and special volunteer programs of the OEO.

Nixon proposed that the new agency, which would have 1,683 employes and would be independent, begin life with a budget of $176.3 million, including $156.3 million already earmarked for the various groups, plus an

Alameda Judge Is Selected

A 54-year-old Alameda County judge yesterday became the latest jurist to be appointed to handle the Angela Y. Davis-Ruchell Magee case in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Alan A. Lindsay, a Reagan appointee, pledged himself to conduct the case in a manner that the defendants and the community will feel is fair.

Lindsay was assigned to the case by the California Judicial Council to hear pretrial proceedings involving Miss Davis and Magee, who are charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy from the August 7 shoot-out at the Civic Center.

The council assigned Lindsay to Marin County for 90 days but said the period could be extended.

The judge said he was pleased with the appointment and would start reviewing files in the case today. After becoming familiar with the records, he said a date would be set for the next court appearance.

"No, I'm not apprehensive," he said after his appointment. "It's an assignment I'm looking forward to."

"Everybody involved in this matter must not only receive a fair trial but they must also have the feeling that the trial has been fair."

Lindsay, a former Alameda County deputy district attorney, was at one time the lobbyist for

PADDING CHARGE IN VD DISPUTE

Former Assistant County Health Officer Claims Seeing 'Padding Of The Figures'

By MARY LEYDECKER

A former assistant county health officer charged today that the county's venereal disease clinic padded figures to support a nonexistent VD epidemic in Marin.

Dr. Patricia Hallinan, who resigned from the health department last October, said today that she left her job "because I could no longer stand the dishonesty and mismanagement of moneys in the venereal disease program."

Dr. Hallinan said she was one of the persons interviewed by County Administrator Alan Bruce before he recommended to the supervisors that Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, longtime county medical officer, be fired for ineptness.

Dr. Hallinan said she chose to speak out today "as a taxpayer" because of a request that the supervisors appropriate an additional $350,000 for the VD program.

"I knew the so-called epidemic didn't exist — I've seen the padding of the figures," the doctor said today.

She charged Philippa Denning-Kemp, an investigator for the VD clinic, with including in the numbers of persons treated for VD other patients who came to the clinic and did not have gonorrhea or syphillis.

"The nurse's records which show how many people were actually treated for VD are the only valid records," Dr. Hallinan said, and "they do not jibe with the figures provided by Miss Denning-Kemp."

(Figures provided by Miss Denning-Kemp formed the basis for an I-J series describing an epidemic of VD in Marin County.)

Dr. Hallinan said that she became aware of "the situation" at the VD clinic when she substituted there for the supervising doctor and that she had kept an eye on the matter afterwards until her resignation.

As to the VD clinic's staff's claims that many persons are turned away and that a larger clinic with more staff is needed, Dr. Hallinan said that virtually no one was turned away last year.

Victim Of Drowning Reappears; In Prison

A young man who disappeared into heavy kelp beds off Stinson Beach two years ago, leaving a tearful wife alone upon the shore, has resurfaced in Marin — at San Quentin Prison.

At the time, Gary Allen Bray, then 26, was out on bail awaiting sentence on conviction of attempted rape in Santa Monica.

His disappearance was reported by his wife to sympathetic sheriff's deputies June 16, 1969, and it appeared, when no body was recovered, that she would have to begin another life on her own.

But Bray later "washed ashore" in Denver, Colo., and sent for his wife, Carla. They lived there as Mr. and Mrs. Mateo Smith for more than a year, working and making friends, until last August when they decided to visit Carla's mother in Los Angeles.

A fight with a police officer during the vacation in Southern California resulted in fingerprints being taken and Bray's true identity revealed.

He was retried on the rape charge, convicted and sentenced to one to 20 years at San Quentin.

Of the drowning incident, Bray told authorities he had been swept out to sea and, when he later washed up on shore and found he was believed dead, he decided to take advantage of the situation.

Judge Lauds Jurors In Calley Case

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)— Jurors in the My Lai courtmartial of Lt. William L. Calley Jr. heard more re-reading of testimony today and were complimented by the judge for their painstaking deliberation.

His remarks seemed to be a judicial reply to defense counsel George Latimer's charge Tuesday that the jury had been "wining and dining" and taking too little time in deliberation.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Humphrey Blast

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey today accused the Nixon administration of ignoring Congress with "executive arrogance", dismantling vital programs enacted by Democrats, mismanaging the economy and intimidating the news media.

His indictment of the administration was contained in a statement prepared for a meeting of the 100-member Democratic Policy Council, which has been assigned to draft a blueprint for the platform on which the party's 1972 presidential candidate will run.

With 20 new members, including four actual or potential presidential candidates, the council met for the first time since it issued a document 13 months ago saying it could see no reason why all U.S. troops could not be out of Vietnam by the summer of 1971.

But Humphrey's statement barely mentioned Vietnam except to say that the American people expect the Democrats to have answers to a number of problems, including "a seemingly endless, if not expanding, war in Indochina."

Jury Guarded

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The jurors at the Tate murder trial were under bailiffs' guard again today after Charles Manson threatened "murder and bloodshed" if he gets the death penalty.

Judge Charles H. Older ordered them sequestered and locked up nightly in a hotel lest they read or hear about Manson's warning before they reach a verdict in the punishment phase of the trial.

The 36-year-old convicted murderer made his remark to deputy district attorney Vincent Bugliosi and Stephen Kay Tuesday while they were talking with him through a wire mesh screen in the door of an anteroom adjoining the courtroom.

"If I get the death penalty, there's going to be nothing but murder and bloodshed afterwards because I'm not going to take it," he said.

Kay repeated the remark to newsmen during a recess and a short time later the districct attorney's office petitioned Older to sequester the jury.

Bugliosi was winding up his closing argument for the death penalty today with the case expected to go to the jury Thursday.

First Duties

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Newly elected Prime Minister Brian Faulkner today began forming a government to "restore confidence" in the troubled province. The man Faulkner defeated predicted imminent collapse of the new regime unless it took a tougher stand against Roman Catholic extremists.

Government sources said Faulkner was conducting meetings and would likely announce the membership of his cabinet early next week.

Faulkner won a 26-4 vote victory Tuesday over rightwing hardliner William Craig to become Northern Ireland's sixth prime minister since the province was established in 1920.

Faulkner immediately said law and order would get top priority in his government.

Backs SEC Boss

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Tax lawyer William J. Casey for the third time has been endorsed by the Senate Banking Committee for the job of head of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC.)

The committee sent Casey's nomination to the Senate floor Tuesday in a 9-3 vote. One of the negative votes was cast by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who described Casey as a wheeler-dealer who had made a "personal fortune, sometimes at the expense of his clients."

The full Senate is expected to approve Casey's nomination later this month.

Agrees To Guides

By U. P. International

Israel has agreed to provide the United States with guidelines for drawing up a Mideast peace settlement map, but has made it clear it will not give up its secure borders in exchange for an international peace-keeping force.

Government sources said Prime Minister Golda Meir and top cabinet aides had decided to give the United States "guiding principles" on what it would consider acceptable Arab-Israeli borders in a settlement.

The sources also said Mrs. Meir, in conversations with U.S. Ambassador Walworth Barbour in Jerusalem Tuesday, made it clear Israel would not give up its secure borders in exchange for an international peace-keeping force as proposed by the United States.

At the same time, a top Israeli general warned "the war is not over yet." Lt. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev, chief of staff of the armed forces, told a group of paratroopers Tuesday "although there is no shooting now, and all is quiet on the Egyptian border, we must nevertheless be prepared for a possible resumption of the war."

Pesticide Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Nixon administration today asked Congress for authority to bar use of hazardous bug and weed killers by everyone except licensed experts.

William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the Environmental protection Agency (EPA), told a Senate agriculture subcommittee he would like to severly limit use of DDT and other pesticides, but could not under present law without banning them altogether.

EPA's present authority over specific uses of pesticides amounts to nothing more than control over use instructions on the label, Ruckelshaus said in prepared testimony.

PUC Approves Gas Rate Hike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The State Public Utilities Commission granted Pacific Gas and Electric Co. permission on Tuesday to increase its natural gas rates by $9 million a year.

The boost is to offset an increase in costs charged the PG&E by its chief supplier, El Paso Natural Gas Co.

If the Federal Power Commission reduces rates El Paso can charge and orders a refund, the refund is to be passed on to PG&E customers.

To become effective April 1, the boost amounts to about nine cents per month for the average residential customer.

Molecule Is Mapped By Scientists

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The complicated molecular structure of a hormone which influences sexual behavior and reproduction has been mapped for the first time, University of California scientists announced Tuesday.

Dr. Harold Papkoff and his colleagues discovered the exact arrangement of 216 amino acids which make up the hormone in sheep and said past experience indicates the human hormone won't be much different.

The hormone is called "interstitial cell-stimulating hormone," or ICSH, and is one of the regulators of ovulation, menstruation, conception, and sperm production.

Papkoff and his group in the hormone research aboratory at the university's San Francisco campus discovered the arrangement of two sub-units which make up the hormone. It is the first sex hormone in which the complete amino acid sequence of both units has been mapped.

The researchers "cautiously speculate about the potential use of ICSH but at present there is evidence that it is important in regulating fertility and sexual behavior," a university spokesman said.

Their experiments showed that one of the sub-units could be substituted by a similar portion of another hormone, tyrotropin (TSH), which regulates the thyroid gland.

"This ability to switch units and still have a functioning molecule poses some interesting possibilities for practical application of this chemical discovery," their announcement said.

"Perhaps an ISCH molecule can be tailor-made that will permit certain phases of the reproductive cycle to occur, while inhibiting other phases."

Cash Redeemable Clause Is Proposed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill requiring that trading stamp books have a notice stating they are redeemable for cash has been proposed by Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Beverly Hills.

Sieroty said Tuesday that his measure would also require a similar notice for public view in the redemption center itself.

CBS Rejects Top-Level Critics Of 'Selling Of The Pentagon'

NEW YORK (UPI)—CBS News President Richard Salant said Tuesday none of the critics, including Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, "has refuted the essential accuracy" of the network's documentary on the Pentagon.

"We can refute every charge," Salant said. "We are proud of 'The Selling of the Pentagon' and CBS News stands behind it."

The network rebroadcast for the third time its special documentary "The Selling of the Pentagon" Tuesday night. The show was about the publicity and public relations work carried out by Pentagon officials.

Following the broadcast, CBS ran filmed comments from three of its principal critics, Agnew, Defense Secretary Melvin Laird and Rep. F. Edward Hebert, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee. Salant's comments followed the critics.

"None of our critics has said that these things didn't happen or weren't done—and so the validity of the broadcast stands unscathed," Salant said. "We have an answer for every one of the criticisms you've heard."

A CBS spokesman said in the two hours following the broadcast, its New York switchboard received 492 calls favorable to the show and 2,625 critical of it. Most of the calls were from New York City, he said.

Agnew's comments were taken from a speech he made in Boston last Friday. Agnew Monday asked to edit the film of his speech for CBS. CBS issued no comment on his demand and it was understood Agnew did not edit the film.

In his speech, Agnew not only criticized "The Selling of the Pentagon" but also an earlier CBS documentary "Hunger in America" and a CBS film on Haiti which was never broadcast.

Hebert said in his comments after the show that a film of him which appeared in the documentary was obtained from his office under the pretense of being used on a show about prisoners of war.

Salant said Hebert was told that the film would be used for a documentary on POWs and showed a letter he said was from Hebert's office saying:

"I am sending to you under separate cover the film of Congressman Hebert . . . please feel free to use any portion of the film as the congressman has given his permission to do so."

Laird said CBS quoted a colonel out of context and edited the film so the officer appeared to be speaking on his own while he really was reading a quote attributed to Laotian Prince Souvanna Phouma.

"I examined the transcript of the colonel's statement and it is difficult to tell where Souvanna Phouma left off and the colonel started," Salant said.

The colonel, Salant said, used Phouma's statement to back a Pentagon contention that if South Vietnam goes Communist, it will be difficult for Laos to exist. Salant said the colonel, however, did not quote the rest of Phouma's statement warning against a military move into Laos.

Oil Spill Probe Hears Of 'Incredible Coincidences'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A Coast Guard hearing examiner says he expects to rule within four weeks concerning the pilots of two oil tankers that collided near the Golden Gate Bridge and spilled 840,000 gallons of oil.

Examiner T. H. Edwards made his prediction Tuesday at the close of a one-day hearing concerning Captain Harry H. Parnell, 46, of Alameda, pilot of the Arizona Standard, and Captain Morris English, 59, also of Alameda, pilot of the Oregon Standard.

Attorney Mark Kasanin, representing Parnell, contended the accident was "not a case of flagrant errors, but rather a case of almost incredible coincidences."

He said Parnell had "the other vessel on radar. He tried to reach her on radio. He had a lookout at the bow and an extra officer on the bridge."

Attorney Lyman Henry, representing English, argued against the assertion that the Oregon Standard was off course. He said the ship's course would have put her on the starboard side of the foggy channel in San Francisco Bay.

Testimony taken during a hearing in January by the Marine Board of Investigation will constitute the evidence to be considered by the examiner. That was stipulated by all parties.

Both pilots are charged with being negligent in not stopping their vessels in the fog, failing to keep to starboard and failing to interpret radar information correctly.

Americans consumed about 112 pounds of wheat per person last year.

City School Strike: 1,800 Teachers Out

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A strike by the American Federation of Teachers disrupted the start of the school day today as pickets marched at the entrances of the city's public schools.

The union said several schools, including Commodore Stockton, were unable to open because employes refused to cross the teacher picket line.

School officials had ordered classes to continue despite the walkout by the AFL-CIO union which represents about 1,800 of the school system's 4,600 teachers. The union said other labor groups, including maintenance and cafeteria workers, were respecting the picket lines.

"We've got a good strike going," said an AFT spokesman shortly after the opening-time of the schools. "We have pickets at all the schools and some of them will have to shut down."

School officials said principals had been told to keep their schools open. "We will not close any schools unless we physically have to," a spokesman said.

At Galileo High School Principal James U. Kearney said 61 of 147 teachers failed to report for classes. He said he had 20 substitute teachers on hand.

Student absenteeism was heavy. At Balboa High school only one-fourth of the 2,000 pupils showed up for classes. About 25 of the school's 125 teachers were on the picket lines.

"In these situations, even if there are classes, there isn't much education," one school dean observed as pickets marched in front of the school and some classes were without teachers.

Teachers union president James Ballard ordered the walkout because of failure of the school district to make any sizeable headway towards establishing a master agreement for teachers.

Representatives of the union stalked out of a meeting with school district officials Monday, accusing the district of refusing to talk about strike issues.

Among the issues troubling the AFT were alleged failure of the district to adhere to commitments on reducing the size of classes, elimination of teacher preparation periods, limiting pay raises, threats to the dental plan and rollbacks on previous gains such as provisions for sabbatical leaves, teachers aides and reimbursement for loss by vandalism.

School Superintendent Thomas A. Shaheen said he regretted the AFT walking out of the Monday session before the district's pressing financial problems were outlined.

Shaheen said the district would keep schools open Wednesday and parents would be notified if there was any change.

Members of the Classroom Teachers Association, which represents the majority of teachers, refused to join the strike and said its members would cross picket lines.

"The strike by the AFT is premature, a grandstand play for membership and only serves to split the teachers at a time when unit is needed at the bargaining table," said John Muir, executive secretary of the classroom teachers.

Muir said at the time of the walkout the issue of wages, "a major union strike issue," was on the table.

ALIOTO

they cooperated with the federal panel in every respect.

Alioto, informed of the indictment after his plane landed in San Francisco, told newsmen and 100 cheering supporters that the grand jury investigation was a "Star Chamber proceeding."

"The only thing missing was Madame LaFarge and her needles," said the mayor. "If I can be indicted for sharing fees in a legal case, then every Republican senator who has taken a referral fee should be indicted."

Implying that the charges are politically motivated, the mayor said the U.S. Justice Department had been aware of the details in the case for four years "and chose to do nothing about it until now." Referring to U.S. Attorney General John Mitchell, he said there is a "conflict of interest on the face of it" when a political campaign manager is the administration's chief law enforcement official.

Alioto's term ends this fall but he has not announced his plans. He said Tuesday night the indictment "isn't going to affect my intentions at all" and that he would ask for a change of venue to San Francisco so he could continue to function as mayor.

Alioto and O'Connell have hinted broadly they believe the federal investigation was a political maneuver to discredit them.

If convicted on all nine counts, Alioto, O'Connell and Faler each could receive a maximum of 45 years in jail. McCutcheon, 48, was charged with one count of conspiracy to commit bribery.

The fee-splitting agreement, which the grand jury said was secret but formalized, began in June, 1961, and continued through May, 1967. The charges only cite wrongdoing from March 28, 1966 and later.

A written retainer agreement specified Alioto was to receive a fee of 15 per cent of the damages recovered against 29 major manufacturers of electrical equipment in the antitrust suits.

A ceiling of $1 million in fees was later lifted by O'Connell.

The grand jury said this was done without the knowledge of the state or the public utility districts and that Alioto agreed secretly to share 50 per cent of his fees with O'Connell and Faler.

The federal panel said Faler was assigned to the anti-trust cases. It also said Mc Cutcheon neglected his responsibility of prosecuting the other defendants on charges of bribery.

Alioto, O'Connell and Faler each were charged with one count of conspiracy, six counts of using an interstate facility for bribery, and two counts of mail fraud.

The grand jury said federal laws were violated because checks involved in the transactions were sent through the mails.

O'Connell said he had entered the case in a private capacity at the suggestion of Alioto, then a practicing attorney, who noted that there was nothing illegal about the attorney general continuing his private practice while in office.

Innocent Plea To Charges

Dennis Sidney White, 19, of Sausalito, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to misdemeanor charges of being drunk in public, resisting arrest and defrauding an innkeeper.

White was arrested Saturday on suspicion of committing these offenses as well as on suspicion of felony assault on a police officer. The assault charge was not filed by the district attorney's office.

He was arrested after he attempted to run away from a Burger Chef restaurant in Mill Valley without paying for two hamburgers.

A jury trial was set for April 22.

Building Crackdown Report Due

A report calling for a moratorium on building around Bolinas Lagoon except within the communities of Stinson Beach and Bolinas will be unveiled tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. at the Marin Civic Center.

Developed by the Conservation Foundation of Washington, D. C., the three-year study calls for the building ban to protect the lagoon from filling with sediment, according to Clerin W. Zumwalt, naturalist with the Audubon Canyon Ranch.

He said the report asked for such a ban to remain in force until the entire watershed area around the lagoon can be master planned.

He said tomorrow's meeting, to be held in room 400, was called by the foundation to outline the plan for Marin conservation groups before it is forwarded to the county.

In 1969, when the county took over jurisdiction for the lagoon it was given three years by the state to come up with an ecological study. It requested the foundation to perform the study and according to Zumwalt, the report is the final product.

ASIA

Pentagon said for the first time that the drive had been cut short because the North Vietnamese threw in superior troops. The Defense Department said the drive would have lasted several weeks longer if the North Vietnamese had not reacted so strongly.

Khe Sanh, 12 miles inside the border from Laos, came under heavy rocket and mortar attack today, but UPI correspondent Stewart Kellerman reported from there that flight after flight of C130 Hercules transport planes airlifted men out of Khe Sanh on an around-the-clock schedule.

Exact status of the South Vietnamese marine rearguard was not certain. Field reports said there were less than 2,000 left, all near the one remaining artillery base called Hotel, two miles inside Laos and two miles south of Route 9. They were not using radios so they would not give their positions away but were believed moving through the jungles to the border.

Communist armor and infantry units were reported moving east toward the base from Laos. U.S. spokesmen said 101st Airborne Division helicopters attacked three Soviet-made tanks less than a mile west of the border town of Lao Bao on Highway 9.

The choppers destroyed one tank and damaged the others. Air strikes knocked out three other tanks six miles northwewt of Lao Bao.

JUDGE

the Peace Officers and District Attorneys Association.

He was in private practice when he was appointed by Gov. Ronald Reagan to the Oakland-Piedmont Municipal Court in 1967. He was elevated to the superior court in 1969.

Court observers in Oakland said that Lindsay was little known because he had mainly handled juvenile matters which are closed to the public.

The judge said yesterday he has no qualms about maintaining order among Miss Davis's and Magee's supporters.

"I feel confident that if they are there truly as supporters, they won't cause disruptions," he said. "I don't feel supporters will cause any problems if they recognize their actions will have deleterious effects on the case."

Court proceedings last week came to an abrupt halt when visiting Judge John P. McMurray of Inyo County stepped down from the bench after being challenged by Magee.

The Marin judges have withdrawn from the case because their colleague, Judge Harold J. Haley, was killed in the shoot-out.

It is not legally clear yet whether Magee has used his one peremptory challenge of a judge or whether he still has the right to dismiss a judge without stating a cause.

Miss Davis has not exercised any challenge.

additional $20 million to pay for innovative new programs.

The Peace Corps, born early in the administration of President John F. Kennedy, is the largest of the volunteer agencies with 1,188 personnel. Peace Corps volunteers go abroad to assist developing nations in meeting special needs.

VISTA, part of former President Lyndon B. Johnson's war on poverty, is the domestic counterpart of the Peace Corps, providing volunteers to work in poverty areas. The Teacher Corps is intended to attract young teachers to improve education of the poor.

The Foster Grandparents program gives opportunity for older persons to care for children.

"The new agency would, first, expand the testing and development of innovations in voluntary actions," Nixon said. "Health services, housing, the environment, educational development, manpower and community planning are just a few of the areas in which we would act to accomplish more through voluntary service."

Nixon said a proliferation of existing volunteer programs—some appealing to the young, some to retired people and others to the general public—were sometimes too narrow to fully use the talent of an individual volunteer.

Nixon said Action would "develop programs for combining foreign service with domestic service."

He said Action also would correct existing problems in which "valuable professional skills offered in voluntary service are too frequently limited by narrow categorical programs when their broader application is urgently needed."

Brothers To Plead In Novato Beating

The principals in yesterday's dramatic interruption of the beating of an Ignacio service station attendant went their separate ways today.

Novato Police Officer John L. Tyson, who fired three shotgun blasts to halt the suspects, was back on routine patrol work.

The beating victim, Michael Stutfield, was reported in good condition at Novato General Hospital. The two men captured were to enter pleas to charges of assault with a deadly weapon and robbery.

The suspects, Earl Sam Bouttie, 23, and his brother, Anthony, 21, who suffered a head wound, were arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

Police reported the two men were beating Stutfield, 24, of 415 Seventh Street, Petaluma, when Officer Tyson approached and attempted to halt them.

When they fled the officer fired three shotgun blasts, stopping their car and wounding Anthony Bouttie, who was treated at Marin General Hospital.

CHARGES

"The one or two who might have come in the afternoon (when the clinic was closed) would return the next morning," she said.

She said the clinic is "completely adequate" for treating the number of persons who go there.

She also said that the clinic staff has been using a drug many times as expensive as penicillin, the "drug of choice" for treating gonorrhea and syphillis.

"Why is this?" she asked.

Dr. Hallinan also said Miss Denning-Kemp was operating beyond the limits of her education and acting as a medical person.

Dr. Hallinan was referring to the fact that Miss Denning-Kemp interviews first persons who come to the clinic and decides whether they should see a doctor or not.

"She has no credentials that I know of except a six-week course in how to be a VD investigator and a black belt in judo," Dr. Hallinan said, "and yet she functions as medical personnel."

Miss Denning-Kemp was disciplined last year for falsifying expense accounts.

As to why she chose to speak up today, several months after leaving her post in the health department, Dr. Hallinan said she was afraid after yesterday's session at the board of supervisors' meeting that "the truth would not come out."

The supervisors yesterday postponed discussion of Bruce's recommendation that Dr. Albrecht be fired while she was given a chance to investigate charges against Miss Denning-Kemp and another health department employee.

Dr. Hallinan concluded that Miss Denning-Kemp "had been placed in a position of being entrusted with highly confidential material" and that "a nonmedical person could destroy people with that information."

4-Car Crash Stalls Traffic

A four-car accident on the south end of the Richardson Bay Bridge this morning tied up commute traffic for about an hour on Highway 101.

Details were sketchy but the highway patrol's watch commander in San Francisco said the accident occurred at about 6:05 a.m. and blocked the southbound lane nearest the center railing.

Four cars were involved, and two of them were "pretty smashed up," the officer said San Francisco-bound traffic backed up to Corte Madera at one point but was flowing smoothly by 7 a.m.

First reports said one motorist was injured but highway patrol officers said no ambulance was called to the scene and a Marin General hospital spokesman said no victim was treated there.

Man Injured On Shoreline

A Marin City man was injured yesterday when his car collided with a Mill Valley police car on Shoreline Highway near Highway 101, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Larry J. Sover, 20, of 89 Cole Drive, Apt. 19, was treated at Marin General Hospital for bruises of the right arm after the accident, which occurred shortly after midnight.

The highway patrol said a police car being driven east on Shoreline by officer Craig S. Conzelman, 28, collided with Stover's car, which made a left turn in front of the police car while westbound on Shoreline.

$250,000 Death Suit: 'Negligence'

A $250,000 suit was filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court in connection with the death of a 20-year-old soldier in a San Rafael motorcycle accident last year.

The suit was filed by Mary and Melissa Kathryn Martin, both of West Palm Beach, Fla., widow and daughter of Rex Martin who died March 28, 1970, when he was struck in the neck by a steel guard cable as he rode a motorcycle on a private road in East San Rafael.

Martin was stationed at Fort Cronkhite at the time of the accident.

Charged in the suit with "negligent and careless erection of a barrier" are San Rafael Cayes Inc. and the Meyerhoff Corporation, a construction firm with headquarters in Maryland.

San Rafael police said Martin apparently did not see a cable stretching across a levee road east of Canal Street.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

5:46 p.m., Santa Venetia — Motorcycle belonging to George Belcher of San Francisco caught fire in the garage at the home of Mary Hanratty, 35 Meadow Drive; $100 damage; caused by gas leak. Marin County Fire Department responded.

8:20 p.m., Bel Aire — Overloaded washing machine filled house with smoke at McJet Murray residence, 80 Pamela Court; no damage; Alto-Richardson Bay Fire Department responded.

SOUTHERN SONOMA

No fire calls.

Alternative To 'Voucher Plan'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation giving tax breaks to parents sending their children to private schools has been proposed by a Republican lawmaker critical of the so-called "voucher plan."

Assemblyman Floyd Wakefield introduced the two measures Tuesday with one allowing parents to deduct the tuition from their property tax and the other allowing them to deduct it from their state income tax.

"I consider this type of tax credit to be a true form of revenue sharing," the South Gate assemblyman said. "The taxpayer is given the choice of using his education dollars for public-supported education or for private education."

Wakefield in a statement criticized "voucher plan" bills before the legislature. The measures would permit parents to be paid outright for sending their children to private schools.

OBITUARIES

Maybelle M. Carter Dies At 80

Maybelle M. Carter, 80, of 16 Elm Avenue, Kentfield, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness.

She was born in Beatrice, Neb., and had lived in California since just after the 1906 earthquake, coming here with her parents. She married her husband, now retired Col. James D. Carter of U.S. Army and traveled extensively with him in his career.

Mrs. Carter and her daughter, now Lois Irey of Kentfield, were evacuated from the Philippine Islands just before World War II. Her husband was a prisoner of war, having survived the Bataan death march. While he was a prisoner, she purchased their home in Marin County. He was liberated with the troops in Manchuria and returned here.

She was a member of the Tamalpais Center Women's Club, San Rafael Improvement Club and Daughters of the Nile, Order of Eastern Star.

In addition to her husband and daughter, she is survived by a sister, Elizabeth Bafigo of San Francisco and two grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Friday at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Entombment will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society would be preferred by the family.

GRACE ASHCROFT

Funeral arrangements for Grace Ashcroft, 84, of 25 Country Club Drive, Mill Valley, were pending today at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley.

Mrs. Ashcroft died Monday at a local hospital after a short illness.

MRS. FRANCIS

Requiem Mass for Elizabeth Loretta Francis, 68, of Loma Verde, a retired clerk, will be celebrated at 9 a.m. tomorrow at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato.

Mrs. Francis, widow of Arthur Francis, died unexpectedly at her home, 269 Calle de la Selva, Monday, apparently of natural causes.

She retired in 1968 after working as a payroll department clerk with the Mission Division of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in San Francisco.

She was a member of Novamarin Grandmothers Club in Novato, Senior Citizens Club of Novato, the Pacific Service Employees Association, and the Legion of Mary of Our Lady of Loretto Church.

A native of Worchester, Mass., she had been a resident of Marin for 11 years and of California for 46 years.

Surviving are a son, Stephen Francis of San Rafael; a daughter, Mary Buttery of Pacific Grove, Monterey County; a brother, Thomas Kelly of Hawthorne, Los Angeles County; a sister, Annie McDougal of North Grafton, Mass., and six grandsons.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home, Novato. Burial will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

$50 Reward For Park Vandalism

The Novato City Council, after hearing reports of damage to parks, last night agreed to offer a $50 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons damaging public property.

The vote to try the reward system to halt vandalism was 4-1 with Councilman George C. Quesada dissenting.

Quesada said he felt that people should feel strongly enough to come forward with information and that the idea of paying a citizen to inform was repugnant. "To buy testimony against a fellow man is completely wrong," he contended.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown said cooperation from the public has been scarce.

Under the proposal, reward signs would be posted in conspicuous locations, and Mayor Douglas M. Merrill felt that posting of signs in itself would be effective.

The Novato City Council Also:

CITY MANAGER — Adopted an ordinance amendment giving the city manager hiring firing power over department heads, except city treasurer, without council ratification by a 4-1 vote with Councilman J. Wayne Womack, who sought council ratification, dissenting, Betty Machado of 1424 Dawes Sreet, opposed, and Pat Lenhart of 860 Pine Street supported the amendment.

PARK LAND — Received notice that T. V. McGuire has rejected the city's offer to pay $50,000 for a 4.6-acre park site on San Marin Drive at San Mateo Way, and recommended to the planning commission that three parcels fronting on San Marin Drive be designated for apartments or townhouses, while the council would negotiate for the remainder of the site, or all of it, in the meantime.

POPULATION — Authorized an estimate of city population by the state Department of Finance.

REGIONAL STUDY — Supported financing of a regional coastal plan by the Association of Bay Area Governments be by all nine Bay Areas counties, not just the four coastal counties, including Marin.

FOOTBRIDGE — Approved plans and specifications for a footbridge across Novato Creek at the Downtown Novato Center, estimated to cost $4,500 and agreed to seek bids on plans by Councilman George C. Quesada, which reportedly would be more costly to build, by a 4-1 vote, with Womack dissenting.

VEHICLE SALE — Authorized auctioning of six surplus city vehicles including three police cars.

MEDIAN CURBING — Approved plans for curbing of median islands along Sunset Parkway, with costs to be paid by residents in the Lynwood Maintenance District.

NEAR COLLEGE — Adopted an ordinance to rezone 15.4 acres, owned by Redwood Investment Co., adjacent to the proposed north campus site of the College of Marin from limited agriculture to planned residential by a 4-0 vote with Mayor Douglas M. Merrill abstaining because he was absent at hearings on the mattar.

HIGHWAY SITE — Adopted an ordinance to rezone 8.8 acres on the east side of Highway 101, south of Bolling Drive, from highway commercial to planned residential, as requested by Myron Kaplan. The vote was 4-0 with Merrill abstaining because he was absent at hearings on the matter.

WILSON AVENUE — Voted 3-2 to rezone a parcel on the east side of Wilson Avenue, south of Vineyard Road, across from Sinaloa Junior High School from limited agricultural to planned residential with 20,000 square foot lots with Womack and Merrill dissenting. It was a reversal of an early 3-2 vote denying such zoning. On the earlier vote councilmen Joseph Gargiulo, Womack and Merrill had voted for denial.

ANNEXATIONS — Set 8 p.m. May 11 for hearings on annexation of 14 acres at Novato Boulevard and Eucalyptus Avenue, and annexation of 35 acres east of Marin Valley Mobile Country Club.

MARION AVENUE — Authorized $2,500 to complete improvements to Marion Avenue between Eighth Street and Benton Lane, where traffic hazards existed for elementary school pupils walking to Marion School, after City Mgr. Charles A. Brown said that work was already accomplished. Public Works Director Clifford E. Temps estimated that $4,000 in time and materials have already gone into the job.

POLICE COMMENDATION — Received a letter form the Novato Fire Protection District praising the cooperation extended by the Novato Police Department and appreciation for its work.

CLAIM DENIED — Denied a claim by Santo Picone of 1140 Elm Drive, Apt. 4, for $25,000 for a broken arm suffered in a fall while crossing Elm Street Feb. 12.

ENVIRONMENT— Accepted the resignation of Lenn B. Bragg from the city environment committee because of illness and "other personal concerns."

Locked Sub-Bids Ruled Illegal By Supreme Court

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Rules that sub-bids on contracting jobs be made through "locked box" depositories violate California and federal antitrust laws, California's Supreme Court decided Tuesday.

Such rules for a bid depository "creat a system of bidding virtually devoid of open price competition," the court held in a unanimous decision.

In question were the General Building Contractor's Association rules in the case of the Oakland-Alameda County Builder's Exchange versus F. Peter Lathrop Construction Co.

Exchange rules require subcontractors to deliver sealed bids in a locked box by a specified deadline for the consideration of a general contractor bidding on an entire job.

Lathrop, as general contractor, sought bids for painting and floor covering at Chabot College auditorium in Hayward.

The firm rejected some "locked box" bids in favor of lower bids submitted independently. The exchange and two subcontractors sued for damages.

Merrill, Novato Councilman For Seven Years, Resigns Position

Novato Mayor Douglas M. Merrill, a city council member for the past seven years, submitted his resignation to the council last night in an unexpected move. (Another Novato City Council story, page 1.)

Merrill, named mayor by his colleagues last April, said "personal considerations and circumstances" no longer allowed him to devote the time and attention to the post "deserved by the community of their elected representatives."

He submitted his resignation immediately after adoption of the downtown plan, which he said had been an "utmost priority for some time."

Merrill, 48, an associate member of the architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill of San Francisco, told of the press of private and city business, leaving little time for his family.

He was elected to the council in 1964 and reelected in 1968 to a four-year term which expires April 1972.

Merrill indicated he might have resigned sooner but wanted to see the downtown plan, more than two years in the making, adopted.

Merrill asked that the council accept his resignation no later than April 13, and pointed out the remaining council members would have to appoint a successor within 30 days of the date the resignation is effective. If not, an election would have to be held, he said.

He suggested the council invite persons interested in serving to submit applications, and have a special closed session April 6 to consider appointing his successor. Councilmen agreed.

Merrill served as chairman of the City-County Planning Council in 1968, and is a past member of the Novato Planning Commission, Marin County Human Rights Commission and the City-County Services Committee.

Pair Arrested In Church Theft

A Novato woman and a male companion were arrested yesterday on suspicion of the burglary of St. Francis Solano Church in Sonoma.

Pamela Kathleen Donaldson, 21, and Kurt Theodore Kaikinger, 22, of Boyes Hot Springs, were booked into Sonoma County Jail for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Sonoma officer George Close said he found Miss Donaldson outside the church waiting for Kaikinger, who was seen inside carrying a large crucifix and candle under his arms.

New Source Protection Is Being Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. James B. Pearson, R-Kan., today proposed legislation to provide newsmen not be required to disclose any confidential information by any court, grand jury, agency, department, U.S. Commission, or the Congress.

The bill also would provide newsmen not be required to disclose the source of any information received in a professional capacity.

The legislation would not apply to the source of any allegedly defamatory information in a case where the defendant, in a civil action for defamation, claims a defense based upon the source of information, or to the source of any information concerning the details of any grand jury or other proceeding required to be secret under U.S. laws.

37 Years' Service On Library Panel

The longest continuous service on any city board or commission in San Rafael will end next month when Eleanor G. Murray steps down from the library board.

Mrs. Murray has notified Mayor C. Paul Bettini that she will not accept appointment to another four-year term on the board. She has served on it for 37 years, and has been chairman the past 10 years.

Only one San Rafael city official has longer service: City Treasurer Angelina M. Soldavini. She has been treasurer since 1957, but went to work as a clerk in the treasurer's office in 1928.

Mrs. Murray's 37 years of city service, however, have all been unpaid, since library board members receive no salary nor expenses.

"I taught school for 35 years, and I planned to give the same amount of time to the library," said Mrs. Murray, whose verve belies her age of 84. "But I didn't want to quit in the middle of a term, so it turned out to be 37 years."

She was teaching English and Latin at San Rafael High School when she was first appointed to the board by Mayor William S. Nock in 1934. And that was during her second stint of school teaching.

She retired from the high school, as dean of girls and Latin teacher, at the close of the 1957 school year.

She began as an English teacher at San Rafael High in 1906, after graduating at the age of 19 from University of California. She taught for 10 years, then retired to marry and rear a family.

Mrs. Murray emerged from that early retirement in 1932, returning to San Rafael High to teach English (including journalism) and Latin. From 1939 to her second retirement 18 years later, she was dean of girls and taught Latin exclusively.

On leaving the classroom, Mrs. Murray became active in the Marin Retired Teachers Association, and has served it in several capacities, including president. When the library was pinched for new books in 1964, as result of a series of miserly appropriations for book purchase by the city council, she arranged for the retired teachers group to canvass homes for volumes to be sold in a series of book sales on the library lawn, which produced funds to help fill the shelves with new editions.

In 1966, the city council chose Mrs. Murray as San Rafael's "senior citizen of the year."

A widow, she still lives in the home at 1018 Grand Avenue that she entered as a bride in 1916.

Mayor Bettini said he tried to dissuade the veteran library board chairman from her decision "but she's made up her mind."

"She is a wonderful woman and we will miss her very much," said the mayor, "but I could not deny that she has given plenty of years of service to the city."

Mrs. Murray's retirement will leave Ella May Minneman, who has been on the library board a mere six years, as its senior member.

Terms of Bryce W. Anderson and James A. Mayer also expire next month. The city council is expected to act on their reappointment and a successor to Mrs. Murray.

ENDS 37 YEARS ON BOARD — Eleanor G. Murray, who has announced her retirement from the San Rafael Library Board at the end of her term next month, sits among books of her own library in her home at 1018 Grand Avenue. Mrs. Murray has served on the library board since 1934.

Cal Vet Bond Issue To Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly approved and sent to the Senate Tuesday a bill approving a $250 million Cal Vet bond issue for the June 1972 ballot to help finance home purchases by Vietnam veterans.

The measure's author, Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento, said the loan program is running out of money and veterans' names are on waiting lists for the low interest loans.

Sewer Line Procedure Suspended

A procedure that would enable installation of sewer lines in the Indian Valley section of West Novato has been suspended pending permanent zoning in the area, according to Charles A. Joseph, manager of the Novato Sanitary District.

Joseph reported Monday night to the district board that circulation of petitions for formation of a sewer assessment district in the area has been halted.

Circulating of petitions was stopped when Marin County began consideration of rezoning the area, Joseph said.

When supervisors recently designated interim zoning of one-acre minimum sites, the effect "was to force temporary suspension of any effort to go forth," he said.

Property owners who were circulating petitions have decided to wait until the zoning is set before continuing their efforts, Joseph reported.

The assessment district would cover about 500 acres in the area of Wilson Avenue, Indian Valley Road and McClay Road, mainly unincorporated area.

The Novato Sanitary District board also:

SUBREGIONAL STUDY — Approved an agreement with three engineering firms — Yoder, Trotter, Orlob and Associates of Walnut Creek, Jenks and Adamson of Palo Alto, and J. Warren Nute Inc. of San Rafael — for a subregional sewer study at a cost of $85,000, with $55,000 to come from seven Marin and Southern Sonoma agencies and $30,000 from the state.

CARRARA ESTATES — Approved construction of a main extension to serve Carrara Estates, a 26-lot subdivision on 7.7 acres located south of Center Road, between Eucalyptus Avenue and Sun Lane.

NEXT MEETING — Scheduled a special meeting at 6 p.m. Monday at the North Marin County Water District office to discuss plans for improvements to the Novato and Ignacio treatment plants and an outfall line to San Pablo Bay, approved by voters last December.

Korean Pullout

SEOUL (UPI)—U.S. military authorities in Korea said today the 7th U.S. Infantry Division is being pulled out of Korea and inactivated under a plan to reduce American troops in Korea by 20,000 to 43,000 by June 30.

Retaining Music Instruction Urged

The possible elimination of music instruction in elementary schools was blasted last night as a packed audience asked the Petaluma Board of Education to make cuts elsewhere in next fiscal year's budget.

Two weeks ago, the board said it reluctantly intended to eliminate the elementary district's two full-time and part-time music instructors and leave all music instruction to the classroom teacher. The plan came as part of a move — made necessary by defeat of a tax increase election last month — to reduce district expenses by $200,000 for the 1971-72 school year.

Music teachers from the school district, Sonoma State College and parents urged last night that the music program be continued at all costs. Many said that private music instruction is hard to obtain and costly.

Schools Supt. Lesly H. Meyer said the full-time instructor had been rehired as a classroom teacher for next year, but possibly could be returned as a music teacher if funds permit. He said that a final decision on budget cuts wouldn't be made until August when a new budget is officially adopted.

Board members all expressed a high regard for the value of music instruction, but said they were concerned that more interest had not been shown in retaining two reading teacher positions also proposed for elimination.

Business Mgr. George W. Castleberry said the overall instruction budget is now $1.7 million and must be reduced to $1.63 million to stay within budget limitations. He said virtually all overtime pay will be banned as well as many part-time jobs. All district-employed teacher aides will not be rehired, he said, but aides paid by federal funds would be.

Castleberry said heavy cuts might also be made in transportation, with the elimination of all district-sponsored field trips. He said elementary district busing would be limited to Penngrove and McDowell schools, areas where homes are widely scattered.

Meyer said funds would not be available to bus overflow students from the crowded McDowell to other schools and that double sessions would be a possibility there.

Donna Cook, president of the McDowell Parent-Teachers Association, urged that busing of the 120 overflow students be continued to avoid double sessions. She also recommended that additional classrooms be provided on the McDowell site or another school be built to serve the attendance area in East Petaluma.

Castleberry said the plant operations budget would also be cut by reducing custodians. He said teachers may be expected to clean their own classrooms with maintenance men cleaning only general school areas and the grounds.

The board said a study session on possible cuts in the high school district would be held next month.

Asian Flu Is 'Widespread' In California

BERKELEY (UPI) — The State Health Department says Asian flu is "widespread" in California, particularly in the southern part of the state.

A few cases of type B flu also have been documented in recent weeks, a spokesman for the State Disease Control office said.

Deaths diagnosed as caused by pneumonia or influenza have not yet reached the epidemic level, the spokesman said, but the flu level appears to be higher than in 1970.

Golden Gate Recreation Area Backed

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A measure urging Congress to establish a Golden Gate National Recreation Area was approved unanimously yesterday by the Assembly and sent to the Senate.

The joint resolution (AJR 3) by Assemblyman Leo T. McCarthy, D-San Francisco, asks that the recreation area include surplus portions of forts Baker, Barry and Cronkhite in Marin and forts Mason, Miley, Scott, Funston and the Presidio in San Francisco, and surplus state and city lands.

The resolution, as customary, did not endorse any specific pending legislation in Congress. But McCarthy told the Independent-Journal that it was similar to a bill introduced by Rep. Phillip Burton, D-Fifth District.

McCarthy said that Burton's bill was "broader" than one by Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District. Mailliard's bill was limited to surplus military lands, the assemblyman said.

Mailliard's bill would create a park of up to 6,000 acres, while McCarthy's resolution call for a park of at least 10,000 acres.

Mailliard, whose district includes portions of both Marin and San Francisco, had a similar measure in the last Congress, but it died in committee without a hearing.

West Marin Cable TV Pact Awarded

Storer Cable TV Corp., with headquarters in Southern California, won an exclusive franchise yesterday to provide cable television service to West Marin.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors granted the franchise by unanimous vote on a recommendation by County Communications Director John H. Atkinson.

Jack Harper of Sonoma County, Northern California division manager for the firm, said service would start in higher density areas. The franchise area includes Stinson Beach, Bolinas, Olema, Point Reyes Station, Inverness, Inverness Park, Tomales and Dillon Beach.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

MOTORCYCLES — Asked County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney to revise a proposed ordinance setting strict regulations for use of motorcycles in the unincorporated area. The board felt it went so far as to prohibit a property owner from using his own motorcycle on his land.

EMPLOYEES — Despite the pleas to spokesmen for about 100 county employees, held to its decision not to allow evacuation of the Civic Center upon each telephoned bomb threat. The employee spokesmen said each worker should be allowed to decide whether he wished to leave the buildings.

LEAVE — Granted Robert Harrison, coordinator of the county's balanced transportation program, a three-month leave of absence without pay in order to live in Denmark this summer. Supervisor Louis H. Baar protested the decision.

DEFENDER — Promoted Harold J. Truett to the post of public defender, with a raise in pay from $1,838 to $1,926 per month. Truett had been acting publuc defender since Jerome C. Durham resigned last November because of illness.

McNEAR BEACH — Awarded a $26,840 contract to Joseph E. Redmond of San Rafael to remodel the caretaker's residence at McNear Beach County Park in East San Rafael.

FLOOD — Agreed to pay $97,000 to Cal-West Capital Corp. for the Redwood Medical Center Property in Kentfield and $72,990 for three acres owned by the Margaret E. Hamer estate at 1155 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Ross. Both properties are needed for the next phase of the Corte Madera flood control project. Funds will come from the flood control district.

PAROCHIAL — Approved a use permit for an elementary school to be operated by Parents for Orthodoxy and Parochial Education at the Resurrection Lutheran Church, 1100 Las Gallinas Avenue, Terra Linda.

FERRY — At Supervisor Michael Wornum's suggestion, decided to make a recommendation on the central Marin ferry terminal next Tuesday because the Golden Gate Bridge District is still undecided between two sites — Hutchinson's Quarry in Larkspur and the Dominic Muzzi property in the Corte Madera marshlands.

SECRETARY — Restored full rights and $650-per-month salary to secretary Anne Smith of the human rights department, who suffered a pay cut last January when she transferred back to the department from her job with the police-community relations program. A fact -finding committee recommended the $650 pay and restoration of full rights to Mrs. Smith.

FENCE — Changed the ordinance of fencing of pools and other bodies of water so that recreation spots like Stafford Lake need not be fenced. As the county ordinance now reads, all artificially created bodies of water must be fenced.

FAIRFAX — Approved moving Fairfax branch of the county library from 47 Broadway to larger quarters in the Fair-Anselm Shopping Center. New rental will be $392 per month, compared with $170 per month for the present space.

TAXES — Decided to give up trying to collect personal property taxes from the Jumping Bean restaurant at 501 Second Street, San Rafael, and Associated Dredging Co. of Sausalito because the value of their assets are not worth the collection cost. Supervisors, however, called for legal action to collect from some 100 houseboat owners who are behind in their personal property taxes.

SECOND DECK — Supported the concept of a second deck on the Golden Gate Bridge, that would be used only for mass transit.

FIREHOUSE — Approved plans for a new firehouse and sheriff's substation in Marin City,estimated to cost $75,000.

GNOSS FIELD — Approved an agreement with fixed base operators at Gnoss Field, requiring them to carry $1 million single limit coverage for all phases of their activities at the county airport.

Senate Gets Overtime Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Senate had before it today Assembly-backed legislation authorizing time and a half pay for state employes who work overtime.

The lower house Tuesday approved the bill by Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento. Overtime pay is supported by Gov. Ronald Reagan who included $7.7 million in his proposed budget to cover its costs.

Sinatra To Quit His Big Career

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—Frank Sinatra, an often stormy and controversial performer during his more than 30-year career, announced Tuesday he is retiring from show business to write and teach.

Sinatra, 55, said he hoped to spend more time with his family, his close friends and perhaps "writing a little bit." He said he had no plans for future motion pictures, television or recording activities.

"I'm retiring from public life," Sinatra told his family Tuesday in a letter, copies of which were sent to several friends. He also said he would enjoy doing some teaching.

The decision, the millionaire singer-actor said, was final. He also excluded further participation in politics.

Sinatra would not comment further on his "retirement" but a spokesman for the singer said his decision to quit show business was sincere.

The spokesman said he probably would not fulfill a commitment for a motion picture for Warner Bros. But that he would perform in his last scheduled public appearance, the Motion Picture Relief Fund Benefit at the Los Angeles Music Center June 13.

Sinatra began his career as a dance band singer, first with Harry James and then with Tommy Dorsey in the late 1930s. The skinny kid from Hoboken, N.J. had hit after hit in 1940 and 1941.

An Extra $6,000 For Carpeting

Marin County supervisors voted an extra $6,000 yesterday for improved carpeting for the 1,200-seat theater of the Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

At the same time, however, supervisors tried to cut costs elsewhere on the auditorium grounds by ordering a less fancy storage building next to the auditorium.

Thomas F. Campanella, assistant county administrator, said the storage building was approved on Jan. 12 as part of $94,320 alloted for site development. Campanella said the cost estimate for the storage building is about $35,000, or about $15 per square foot.

"Fifteen dollars per square foot is too expensive for a storage building," complained John F. McInnis.

Supervisors asked the architect to see if the cost can be cut to about $8 per square foot.

"We don't want a Taj Mahal for a storage building," said Supervisor Michael Wornum.

The board thus far this year has authorized spending more than $520,000 on the auditorium and site development. During the last four years, a total of $3 million have been spent on the auditorium, which is scheduled to open in September this year after a series of delays.

Oil Depletion Bill Is Shelved

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Sen. Clark Bradley, R-San Jose, has shelved, at least temporarily, his bill to conform California to the federal tax statute governing depletion allowances for the oil industry.

Bradley, whose measure is supported by segments of the industry, Tuesday said he placed the bill on the Senate "inactive" file while he watches the progress of rival legislation carried by Assemblyman John Burton, D-San Francisco.

The Bradley bill would reduce from 27 1-2 to 22 per cent the amount oil companies can subtract from gross profits before taxation. Federal law currently contains that provision.

The Burton measure, aimed at raising an estimated $26 million the first year, would go much further and impose a limitation on the depletion allowance to the actual cost of developing a well. The bill is awaiting final action in the Ways and Means Committee.

Blind Alley On Food Stamp Probe

By WAT TAKESHITA

Marin County supervisors tried yesterday to pounce on "abuses" in the federal food stamp program but found little on which to sink their teeth.

In fact, most of the "abuses" were found to be legal under rules of the Department of Agriculture, which sponsors the program.

Frustrated supervisors decided the best they could do was to send strong letters of protest to Congress, asking that food stamp rules be tightened up so that only the needy could take advantage of food at a discount.

Donald Sanford, administrative assistant in the county department of public social services, said 11 persons are now employed in Marin under the program. Part of the cost is borne by the federal government. Actual cost to the county is about $88,000 per year, Sanford estimated.

Betty L. Presley, director of public social services, said the food stamp program is growing sharply. In June of 1969, Marin had 1,017 families eligible for food stamps, she said. Last month, 4,733 Marin households were receiving stamps.

Miss Presley acknowledged that stamps are being bartered for commodities other than food, and that stamp users put up cash to buy liquor and cigarettes while buying groceries with stamps. Under present federal controls, there is no way to stop this, she pointed out.

Under federal law, an individual may have up to $1,000 in personal property and still be eligible for food stamps. Therefore, said Miss Presley, a person can buy a basketful of groceries with food stamps and still spend large sums for other goods.

Miss Presley said her staff can check identification, rent receipts, and salary stubs to see if a person is eligible for food stamps. But once the food stamps are purchased from a bank, there is no control over how many times the stamps are used in barter trade before they finally reach a grocery store.

Grocery stores are supposed to check for identification but many of them don't, Miss Presley pointed out.

She suggested that food stamps be printed more in the style of a check to require a signature when presented at a grocery store. Miss Presley said that some limit could be placed on those who continue to claim "no income" and apply for food stamps.

The program is run under federal regulations, said Miss Presley. "Unfortunately, it is tied into the welfare system to certify who gets it, and hence it is welfare in everybody's eyes, and the welfare department is hung with its present unsavory reputation."

Winifred Frederick of Lagunitas reported that Marin is running its food stamp program more tightly than other counties in the Bay Area.

Thomas F. Campanella, assistant county administrator, said Marin must participate in either the food stamp program or the surplus commodities program, "which is much worse." Under surplus commodities, the county would have to run grocery stores to distribute food to needy families.

"Can a store refuse to honor food stamps if the customer also buys liquor and caviar with cash?" asked supervisor John F. McInnis.

The store cannot refuse, because the food stamp user is allowed to have up to a thousand dollars in cash, Miss Presley pointed out.

"The abuses are unconscionable," declared McInnis. "If that's the only choice the government gives us, let's operate a store out of a remote closet down here."

Chairman Louis H. Baar asked the county administrator's office to send a list of alleged "abuses" along with the letters of protest to Washington.

Smith Coffees Are Planned In Kentfield

Three public coffee meetings are scheduled in Kent Woodlands for Stanley Smith, candidate for the Kentfield School District board.

Coffees will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Robert Praetzel of 405 Crown Road; at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Elmer Albritton of 55 Upland Road, and 8 p.m. April 1 at the home of Mrs. Albert Hall of 22 South Ridgewood Road.

Lindbergh Is Against SST

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—Charles A. Lindbergh says that the speed of the supersonic transport (SST) does not justify the perils of upper pollution.

While the plane could be built, it should not, said Lindbergh, the former Minnesotan who flew nonstop from New York to Paris in 1927.

Speaking Monday night at a meeting at the home of Russell Fridley, president of the Minnesota Historical Society, Lindbergh said the SST would consume twice as much fuel to carry half the number of passengers as are carried on subsonic planes.

Lindbergh, now a director and consultant for Pan American Airways, said he questioned whether it would be wise to subsidize the SST.

297 cars, representative of California's total car population, tested F-310. The cars were changed from the gasolines they had previously used to Chevron with F-310 and driven by their owners for 2,000 miles.

Exhaust emissions were tested by an independent research firm before and after using F-310.

While not all cars showed reductions, hydrocarbon exhaust was reduced an average of 13.9% for the group as a whole. Carbon monoxide was reduced an average of 11.6%. These results mean that if all cars in California alone used F-310, exhaust emissions, compared to levels before F-310, would be reduced by almost one million tons per year.

Below are some of the people and their cars who participated in the test. Their comments are further testimony to the effectiveness of F-310.

Reagan Worried By Berkely Vote

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan says the threatened political takeover of Berkeley by radicals "should serve as a warning to every community that 'it can happen here.'"

He said if the radicals succeed at the municipal election polls April 6, the city would become a "community that reasonable, responsible people would not want to be part of."

The Republican governor discussed Berkeley, 18-year-old voters, a Republican's threat to block confirmation of Dr. William McColl as a state college trustee and a southern crossing over San Francisco Bay at a news conference Tuesday.

A slate of radicals is seeking to win all four vacant seats on the Berkeley City Council and is promoting adoption of a proposition to divide the police department into three separate agencies controlled by local neighborhood police councils.

Some opponents of the plan have charged that it would give control of at least one police unit to the Black Panthers.

"It should be a problem of concern to everyone in this state," Reagan said. "I think it is a reflection of what has happened in that community with the influx of so-called street people."

He noted at the last election there was a "great" registration of "those people" as voters, adding, "I think it should serve as a warning to every community that 'it can happen here.'"

The governor told newsmen Berkeley Mayor Wallace Johnson discussed the issue with him and was "reasonably optimistic that the people of Berkeley are not going to let this happen."

In response to a question, Reagan said Johnson didn't ask him to be prepared to give Berkeley state aid in case "something goes wrong."

Reagan also said he wasn't convinced that 18-year-olds should vote in state and local elections and charged Congress with infringing on a state's right to set its own voter eligibility requirements.

The governor repeated he believes the issue should be decided by the voters but said he was disturbed "greatly" that a youth could vote at 18 but not buy liquor and assume other rights and responsibilities of full citizenship.

He said McColl, a former Stanford University football great of the early 1950s, had promised him that if he planned to seek elective office he would resign from the State College Board of Trustees.

Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, has threatened to attempt to block Senate confirmation of McColl on ground that the West Covina surgeon would use the post as a forum to run against Rep. John Rousselot, R-Calif. Rousselot defeated McColl last June.

Reagan said he discussed the nomination with Rousselot over the telephone and "I told him he had nothing to worry or fear about."

On other topics, Reagan:

Crossing—Indicated he would take the full 12 days allotted him to decide whether to sign or veto a controversial bill forbidding the state from building a southern crossing over San Francisco Bay without the legislature's approval.

Gas—Announced he was still "not convinced" of the need to increase temporarily the state tax on gasoline to help finance repair of earthquake-damaged roads and highways in Southern California.

Tax—Disclosed he "conceivably" could support a proposal to spend a $265 million one-time windfall from income tax withholding to pay for construction of state buildings.

SST—Said he still strongly supports construction of the supersonic transport and noted it could mean $177 million for the California economy.

Interior Official Sees Oil Shale Need for U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An assistant secretary in the Interior Department predicts the United States eventually will have to exploit oil shale and coal synthetics for fuel.

The prediction came Monday in a speech read to the National Petroleum Refiners Association for secretary Hollis Dole.

"We must at some time in the foreseeable future begin to supplement more conventional liquid hydrocarbon production with synthetic liquid fuels from the far more plentiful, more accessible resources of coal and oil shale," he declared.

Using shale resources, would assure the nation of not having a fuel shortage, he said.

Marinwood CSD To Have Annex Parley

Marinwood Community Service District directors have voted to meet with officials of the Terra Linda Community Services District and recreation-park district to discuss possible alternatives to San Rafael's proposal to annex the two Terra Linda agencies.

Members of the Lucas Valley Homeowners Association, representing County Services District 13, also will be invited to the meeting at 8 p.m. March 31 in the Marinwood Community Center, according to Genevieve T. Bolding, business manager and secretary of the Marinwood District.

She reported that the annexation move was the chief topic of discussion at last night's directors' meeting. Consensus was that if all the local agencies combined forces, they would be in a better position to bargain with San Rafael, she reported. Alternatives discussed ranged from merger of the districts into one, to joint powers agreements under which one district might contract to perform services for the others, she explained.

The Marinwood Community Services District board also:

TENNIS — In response to a delegation of tennis players, called bids to install lighting on the district's two courts, to be opened at the April 27 meeting. The board also agreed to discuss possible joint powers agreements with the Dixie School District to build additional courts near Miller Creek School.

VOLUNTEERS — Adopted a policy that volunteer firemen more than 50 years old should no longer actively fight fires, for health reasons. The older volunteers will be honorary members of the association, the board decided.

VANDALISM — Voted to assess the parents of a teen-ager responsible for vandalism to park trees.

RECREATION — Continued discussion of the summer program to their April meeting; asked the park commission to review the popular tiny tot program and heard a report that the pool program already has 128 subscribers.

FIRE COMMISSION — Appointed Robert Mann of 310 Ironstone Drive to serve on the commission.

LIAISON — Chairman Donald A. Duerr appointed director Charles H. Roach as board representative to the fire commission, Richard O'Brien as liaison to the parks and recreation commission, Ellis D. Jacquette to the salaries committee and Frank Solomon Jr. as director at large.

Wrongful Jailing Suit By Marinite

A Mill Valley housewife filed a $5,000 claim yesterday against the County of Marin, charging she was falsely imprisoned in the county jail on March 7.

Mrs. Jack Green of 72 California Street said her troubles started when she tried to visit her husband in the county jail about 2:20 p.m. on March 7.

Her attorney, Michael B. Dufficy, relates this sequence of events:

Mrs. Green was refused admittance because she had no identification. She became upset, went outside and "hurled her purse upon the ground and cursed the world in general." She then ran to a park near the Civic Center lagoon and sat under a tree, crying.

A deputy sheriff arrested her for disturbing the peace. She was also booked on the additional charge of possessing dangerous drugs just because she had 18 antibiotic pills for which she had a prescription, said attorney Dufficy.

She was held in jail from 2:30 p.m. March 7 until 6 p.m. March 8, and no charge was ever filed against her.

2 Sonoma Youths Are Being Held

Two Sonoma County youths have been arrested by Corte Madera police on suspicion of possessing burglary tools, a sawed-off rifle and concealed weapon, officers said today.

Police said the youths were arrested Monday at 9:32 p.m. as they sat in a vehicle behind the Patio Car Wash at 5742 Paradise Drive. With them was a 15-year-old Petaluma boy, who was booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall as a runaway.

Arrested were Floyd Johnny Broadwell, 18, of 65 Henry Street, Cotati, on suspicion of possessing a sawed-off rifle and a concealed weapon; Edward Francis Davis, 19, of 490 Highland Avenue, Cotati, on suspicion of possessing burglary tools.

Officers said they observed the youths acting suspiciously in the car and a search located a hunting knife and sawed-off .22 caliber rifle under a front seat floor mat.

Pliers, gloves and a screwdriver were found in the back seat, officers said.

Broadwell was booked into Marin County Jail where he remained in lieu of $5,000 bail and was scheduled to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Davis was booked into jail where he remained in lieu of $625 bail and a bench warrant from Sonoma County on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Dominican Area Corral Is Winner

The San Rafael Planning Commission hasn't changed its mind in the last six months: it still thinks Edward K. Wachsman has the right to keep an Arabian horse and a Shetland pony at his San Rafael home.

In a 4-3 vote last night, the commission approved Wachsman's appeal for an animal permit, overriding Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner's denial of the permit.

Another major hurdle will have to be crossed, however, before the animals are moved to the corral behind 50 Palm Avenue.

Neighbors of Wachsman, who opposed the animals' return to the Dominican neighborhood at last night's meeting, said they will appeal the planners' decision to the city council.

Wachsman's animals have been in the news since late in 1968 when complaints from neighbors resulted in the city's taking Wachsman to court on a public nuisance charge.

Found guilty in municipal court, he appealed to superior court in November 1969, but the conviction was upheld.

In May 1970, the city council adopted an ordinance — largely as a result of the affair — regulating the keeping of animals in the city. It replaced a 1933 ordinance that did not specifically mention horses.

With the new ordinance in effect, Wachsman applied for a permit to keep the horse and pony at his home. The commission approved the permit, but city council reversed the decision in September.

Now, six months later — the period Wachsman had to wait before appealing the council decision on the permit — he is trying again.

Wachsman said last night he felt the council's previous decision (to deny the permit) was "politically motivated rather than objectively motivated."

Wachsman, former Marin County planning commissioner, stressed that the animal compound would be open for inspection by officials at all "reasonable" times.

One of Wachsman's neighbors, Howard Baldwin of 15 Edward Court, told the commission, "That new ordinance won't erase the flies we didn't have this summer or the odors. I don't like to live with the smell of horses or the flies they draw."

James Huckins of 9 Edward Court, another neighbor, asked commissioners to "Let us enjoy our property. There's no reason to believe we won't have the stench, the noise, the flies, the hostilities and conflicts in the neighborhood, the accumulation of manure if those horses come back."

Commissioner Thomas R. O'Toole, who joined the majority in voting for the permit, observed the controversy this way: "I think it's just what it was two years ago and six months ago — a neighborhood feud."

O'Toole pointed out that the new ordinace was not in effect at the time original complaints about the animals were made and said he felt Wachsman should be given a chance to keep the horse and the pony under new regulations.

The commissioner said, "Now there is an ordinance and, if (the permit is) granted, he'll have to live by the rules or they'll (the animals) be thrown out."

Joining O'Toole in voting for the permit were Albert J. Boro, Jorgen V. Lunding and James Dougan, W. Judsen Klien, Alan M. Kay and Chairman Joseph J. Garbarino dissented.

Development North Of Civic Center Is Revived

A dormant 3-year-old plan for a 15-acre development north of the Marin Civic Center came to life last night before the San Rafael Planning Commission.

The project, which would include a 240-room motel and a 22,000-square-foot office building at 4040 Civic Center Drive, was approved by the commission in 1964 when the master plan for the entire complex was approved. It was revised in April 1968.

Certain changes in the original plan were requested and approved last night by the planners: the service station included in the former plan will be replaced by a parking lot and a restaurant now will be included in the development.

The commission recommended to the city council that zoning of the property be changed to enable construction of the restaurant in the existing zone; granted permission to use the land for a restaurant and allowed a resubdivision to make the parcel larger.

The development will be built primarily on property owned by contractor Arthur Nicolaisen of San Rafael, although the resubdivision enabled attachment of 1.68 acres of adjoining land owned by Henry Scettrini.

Under plans submitted by architect Wayne Wedell, the motel would be built in phases, 145 units being constructed first.

The development, to be known as Northgate East, would rise just north of the site of the proposed American Pacific Life Insurance Co. building and adjacent to the Terra Linda turnoff of Highway 101.

A use permit also was approved for a 187-unit apartment development proposed by the American Savings and Loan Association at the intersection of Larkspur and Novato streets and Kerner Boulevard.

Design of the first phase also was endorsed, although several members of the commission suggested the color be changed from the white that was planned to an earthtone shade.

No Jail Time For McGee In Gun Incident

Harold Neal McGee, 25, of San Rafael was erroneously reported by the Independent-Journal on March 17 to have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court after aiming a gun at a neighbor.

McGee's arrest Dec. 28 was the result of a neighborhood squabble that led to a charge by the Marin district attorney's office that McGee had so aimed a gun.

That charge, however, had been dropped when McGee pleaded guilty to resisting arrest. He was sentenced last week to 20 days in jail for that offense and not for aiming a gun as the March 17 story seemed to imply.

Ex-King Aide Scores Big Victory

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Rev. Walter E. Fauntroy, a former aide to the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., rolled up 58.5 per cent of the vote Tuesday to become the District of Columbia's first delegate to Congress in almost a century.

Fauntroy, 37, told supporters at a rally as returns confirmed his victory over five other candidates the vote proved Washington, D.C., was "ready to have self government."

"We want to have the yoke of colonialism lifted from our shoulders," the black minister said. "We want to be free."

Fauntroy won the Democratic nomination for the non-voting delegate seat in January. He polled 66,119 votes to 28,044, or 25 per cent, for his nearest challenger, Republican John A. Nevius, a white lawyer. The district's population is 71 per cent black.

The other four candidates shared 16.5 per cent of the vote.

The district has not had a representative in Congress since 1875. Fauntroy will not be able to vote on the House floor but will have a vote in the District of Columbia Committee. He will get the full congressional salary of $42,500 annually.

Only 44 per cent of registered district voters cast ballots in the election. Election officials had predicted a turnout of more than 80 per cent.

Fauntroy, a graduate of the Yale University Divinity School, served on the district council from 1967 to 1969. He helped organize the 1963 March on Washington when King delivered his "I have a dream" speech, and participated in the 1965 Selma to Montgomery, Ala., march and the 1969 Poor People's Campaign.

San Mateo Suit On Jail Voted

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — San Mateo County's Board of Supervisors have voted to file a suit claiming the San Francisco County jail is a "public nuisance" that should be corrected or closed.

The jail is in San Mateo County and the State Board of Corrections has declared it has security hazards.

James Fitzgerald, board chairman, said after the vote Tuesday he would like to meet concerning the problem with the San Francisco mayor and the county's supervisors.

Session Tonight By Phone Tax Fighters

Sponsors of the Marin campaign against the 10 per cent telephone bill excise tax will meet tonight to choose trustees to administer the trust fund portion of the effort.

The Marin Alternative is fighting the telephone tax on grounds that it is a major economic support for the war in Southeast Asia. At a meeting Saturday at the San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo, 125 Marin residents, according to Barbara Boxer, signed pledge cards supporting a federal court test against the tax, and promising to withhold the excise tax portion of their telephone bills.

The withheld money will be placed in the trust fund to be planned tonight, Mrs. Boxer said.

Among the sponsors of the antitax campaign are William M. Bennett of Kentfield, leaders of Marin's successful Measure A peace ballot campaign, numerous clergymen, William Clark, leader of the Wilson Riles campaign for Marin, and attorneys Gary Giacomini, Duane Beeson and Salle S. Soladay.

Plans for the court test of the tax were outlined Saturday by constitutional lawyer Lloyd McMurray. He said filing the suit in the names of thousands of pledge-signers would make the courts realize the broad base of antiwar feelings.

Information is available from the Marin Telephone War Tax Protest, Post Office Box 573, Kentfield, according to Mrs. Boxer. Similar campaigns are being organized in other Bay Area counties, she said.

Action Is Delayed On Condominiums

The San Rafael Planning Commission, taking note of earlier controversy, last night delayed discussion of a plan to convert a 40-unit Picnic Hill apartment development into condominiums.

The project, at 237 Picnic Avenue, was bitterly fought by residents two years ago in fear the development would destroy the character of the neighborhood.

The condominium proposal, by Picnic Hill Properties, owner of the development, would not physically alter the development, but would enable the sale of present units to individuals.

A homeowners' group then would take over the project, according to a report from the city planning staff.

Although the proposal was endorsed by the planning staff, Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner urged the issue be postponed until April 13 so that area residents could be notified of the planned change. The commission agreed.

Manson Friends Plead In LSD Hamburger Case

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Five members of Charles Manson's "family" have pleaded no contest to charges they conspired to give a LSD-spiked hamburger to a prospective prosecution witness at the Tate murder trial.

The five entered the pleas just before jury selection was to begin in their trial Tuesday. Sentencing was set for April 13 on the misdemeanor counts.

Superior Court Judge Stephen R. Strothers had refused at the outset of the trial to dismiss charges against the five: Lynette Fromme, Catherine Share, Ruth Ann Morehouse, Stephen Grogan and Dennis Rice.

Barbara Hoyt, 19, allegedly was given the hamburger in September in Hawaii and was hospitalized for a time. She subsequently testified for the prosecution at the Tate-Labianca murder trial.

Meatball Ad Is Award Winner

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Alka Seltzer commercial featuring the phrase "Mama Mia, that's a-some spicy meatball" took top honors Tuesday night at the 11th annual International Broadcasting Award ceremonies.

The "Magadini's Meatballs" commercial, originated by the New York advertising firm of Doyle Dane Bernbach Inc. and produced by Zieff Films of New York, won the television sweepstakes award and a trophy as the most humorous television advertisement.

The awards were sponsored by the Hollywood Radio and Television Society.

Hamilton Band Gets The Ax

The 573rd Air Force Band from Hamilton Air Force Base, which was marched in many parades in Marin, will be disbanded June 30 as an economy move.

Four other Air Force bands will be inactivated, leaving 25 remaining in the United States, according to the Air Force.

The 33 musicians in the band at Hamilton will be transferred to the remaining bands.

Selection of bands to be inactivated was "on the basis of geographic location and relative utilization," the Air Force announced.

Two bands will remain on the West Coast, one at March Air Force Base, Riverside County, and another at McCord Air Force Base in Washington, according to the public information office at Hamilton.

Year-Round School Bill

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —A bill authorizing year-round school has been introduced in the California Legislature.

Under the plan, a school district could establish a 12-month program with approval of the State Department of Education. Students would attend school in rotating shifts of four 45 class-day sessions interspersed by 15-day vacations.

The bill, filed Tuesday by State Sen. Clair Burgener, R-San Diego, orders the state superintendent of public instruction to work out the financial details but contains no state appropriation to establish year-round schools.

Hub Council's Palate Finds Food Tax Unsavory

A tax on take-out foods proved unpalatable to the San Anselmo City Council last night.

The council took a cursory look at a Sausalito ordinance taxing take-out food restaurants 5 per cent of revenue to pay for the costs of litter cleanup.

But the group decided a similar ordinance was unnecessary in San Anselmo.

The San Anselmo City Council also:

APPEAL — Denied an appeal by Joseph Ramatici of 33 Durham Road to overrule a sideyard setback variance granted by the planning commission to Paul G. Rambke of 25 Durham Road.

ECOLOGY COMMITTEE — Appointed 11 persons to the recently established committee on ecology.

TRANSPORTATION — Urged state and federal assistance for planning transit to Point Reyes National Seashore and other West Marin parks. The action was requested by Mrs. John F. West of the balanced transportation committee of the City-County Planning Council.

JOINT POWERS — Renewed a joint powers agreement with Ross covering maintenance of streets and street fixtures along the cities' border.

UTILITIES — Authorized paying $1,854 to Pacific Gas and Electric Co. for installation of street lights between Lincoln Avenue and the Hub.

CREEK — Authorized abatement of the sewer lines of the Ross Valley Sanitary District crossing Sleepy Hollow Creek at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Mountain View Avenue, Morningside Drive and Broadmoor Avenue as obstructions.

SPRING — Put over to the April 13 meeting setting a date and allocating funds for a possible consideration of joint maintenance of equipment by the city and the San Anselmo School District.

Mill Valley Planners Nod To Trans-Marin

Variances and an exception to the Mill Valley Zoning Ordinance have been granted by the Mill Valley Planning Commission to Trans-Marin properties, developer of a 65-unit condominium project at Sycamore Avenue and La Goma Street.

Zoning Administrator Howard R. McGill said the commission Monday approved variances from setback requirements and lot coverage, which in some cases exceeded the 50 per cent specified in the zoning ordinance.

Also approved was an exception to the requirements that subdivision streets be dedicated to the city. McGill said the planning commission allowed Trans-Marin to retain title to the road.

The company must get city council approval of the ordinance exception and of a final subdivision map before construction can begin.

In other business, the commission agreed to form a seven-man committee to study the design of the Miller Avenue-La Goma Street intersection.

Work on the intersection, which may be eligible for federal funds, will be planned with a $5,000 appropriation approved by the city council.

Commissioners Sally Garoutte and Richard Jessup were named to represent the planners on the committee, which also will include City Councilman Jean S. Barnard, City Engineer Stanley M. Bala and Planning Director Tom W. Newton.

Still to be named are two members of the architectural advisory committee.

Public Hearing Tonight On Proposed Septic Law

Marin County officials will hold a public discussion of their proposed septic tank ordinance at 7:30 p.m. today in Room 104 at Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo.

The ordinance has been variously supported and criticized since it was proposed last year, and has undergone several revisions.

Homeowners in Inverness have urged the ordinance's adoption to halt pollution of Tomales Bay. Other homeowners' groups have objected to provisions for a $20 annual inspection fee of each residential septic tank in Marin County.

Black Point Improvement Club members last week voiced concern over proposals to ban all septic tanks within 600 feet of any shoreline. They agreed to attend tonight's meeting to obtain further information.

Tonight's meeting was arranged by John F. Barrows, assistant county administrator.

Fairfax Woman Hurt In Mishap

A 22-year-old Fairfax woman has been treated at Marin General Hospital for minor injuries suffered in a two-car accident on Doyle Drive near the south end of the Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco.

Marguerite N. Ferretti, of 296 Cascade Drive, suffered a bruised left knee and cut right eye in the mishap, which occurred Monday at 2:55 p.m.

The California Highway Patrol said her car, northbound on Doyle Drive, hit the rear of a car driven by Laurence J. Dervin, 58, of 1370 Monte Maria Avenue, Novato, which had stopped in heavy traffic.

Smoke Test Of Sewer Lines Slated

In an effort to prevent stormwater infiltration of sewer lines, the Almonte Sanitary District board has decided to embark on a program of smoke testing of district lines.

Secretary John J. Crncich said the board Monday voted the $1,500 program, which will be performed by Roto-Rooter Sewer Service.

The board took the action at the urging of Mill Valley, whose treatment plant handles Almonte sewage. Crncich said Mill Valley hopes to demonstrate to the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board that it is taking steps to prevent stormwater infiltration, which causes raw sewage to be dumped into Richardson Bay during heavy rains.

The smoke testing will begin in mid-April, Crncich said, and last through the end of the month. Homeowners whose sewer lines are found to be faulty will be notified that they must repair them, he said.

In other business, directors received a $15,123 bill from Mill Valley for one year's treatment of Almonte sewage. Crncich said the bill represents a $1,853 increase over last year and directors wanted to study the bill and ask Mill Valley about some of the charges before paying it.

Strong Quake Hits Sino-Soviet Region

UPPSALA, Sweden (UPI)—A strong earthquake hit the Tien Shan area of Central Asia Tuesday night, it was reported today by Prof. Markus Batth, chief of the Uppsala Institute. He said the quake measured 6.9 on the Richter Scale.

The Tien Shan Mountain range skirts the border of Communist China with the Soviet Republic of Kazakhstan.

Prison Term Backed For Poison In Candy

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly has approved a bill mandating a 1-10 year prison term for persons convicted of slipping poison or razor blades into Halloween candy.

The measure by Assemblyman Mike Cullen, D-Long Beach, was sent to the Senate Tuesday.

Conversion Nod For 94-Year-Old Home

A proposal to convert the old Probert home on Magnolia Avenue into a restaurant won approval last night from the Larkspur Planning Commission. (Another planning commission story, page 1)

Proposed by Somer-Ryan Enterprises of Larkspur, the project will add additional rooms to the 94-year-old home but will retain its Victorian design.

A second phase of the development, calls for converting the Toyota auto agency buildings next year into specialty shops featuring antiques and gifts.

More than $200,000 will be pumped into the project with the restaurant's opening scheduled for this summer.

The commission will review landscape plans for the property located at 234 Magnolia Avenue at a later date.

The Larkspur Planning Commission also:

ORDINANCE — Reviewed and referred back to staff for modification a tidal waterway ordinance to control development on the city's waterfront. The ordinance, when complete, will take the place of a city policy controlling such development.

AMENDMENT — Recommended to the city council an ordinance change which will extend from 40 days to 50 days the time limit the commission must act upon new developments submitted for design review.

SIGN — Denied a variance request from the Bank of America for an oversized construction sign for the site of its new Larkspur branch to be built at the corner of Magnolia Avenue and Bon Air Road. The bank requested a 160-square-foot sign identifying the site, and the commission said a 12-square-foot sign would be sufficient.

Hearing Set In Petty Theft

Only a misdemeanor petty theft charge was filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against Theresa S. Puckett, 30, of Santa Rosa.

She was arrested Saturday on suspicion of burglary after an employee of the Emporium at Northgate allegedly saw her conceal several pants suits in a brown bag.

She is to enter a plea to the charge Monday.

Man Is Treated For Crash Injuries

A 37-year-old Tiburon man was treated at Marin General Hospital at 11:30 a.m. yesterday for strain in the neck and lower back suffered in a San Francisco auto accident.

San Francisco police had no details available on the accident involving William Magner, who lives at Tiburon Boulevard and Blackfield Drive.

Two Million 'Joints' Are Being Produced

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The government has started making 2 million marijuana cigarettes.

The National Cancer Institute will use the cigarettes, made from confiscated marijuana, in laboratory experiments that will attempt to determine if smoking large amounts of marijuana can lead to cancer.

Dr. Gio Gori said Monday the cigarettes were being turned out in a suburban Virginia laboratory. He said the experiments would be performed in a New York laboratory upon mice and hamsters. Gori said the studies were the first made in the field. field.

Health, Education and Welfare department spokesmen told Congress Jan. 31 that concern had been expressed that marijuana, when smoked in large quantities, might have effects similar to those associated with cigarette smoking.

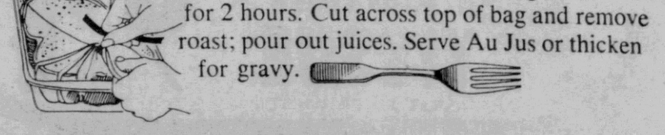
Now Schilling takes the pot roast out of the pot.

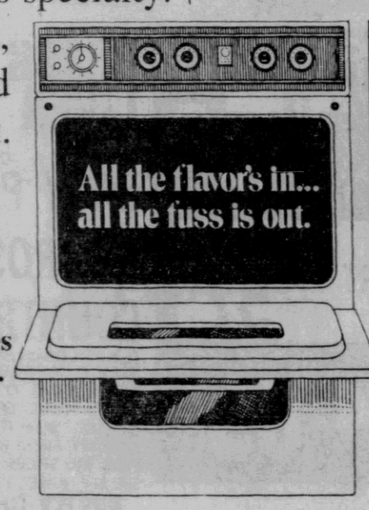
Schilling SAVORY OVEN Pot Roast
SEASONING MIX & ROASTING BAG

It seasons and roasts in a new oven bag.

It's a bag within a bag. One side contains a fantastic new oven bag to cook the meat in. You get moist, tender, superbly-seasoned pot roast cooked in the oven without spills, spatter, or scour. And that's only half the story. On the other side, there's seasoning mix—Schilling's specialty. Enticing herbs, spices, and vegetables blended especially for pot roast.

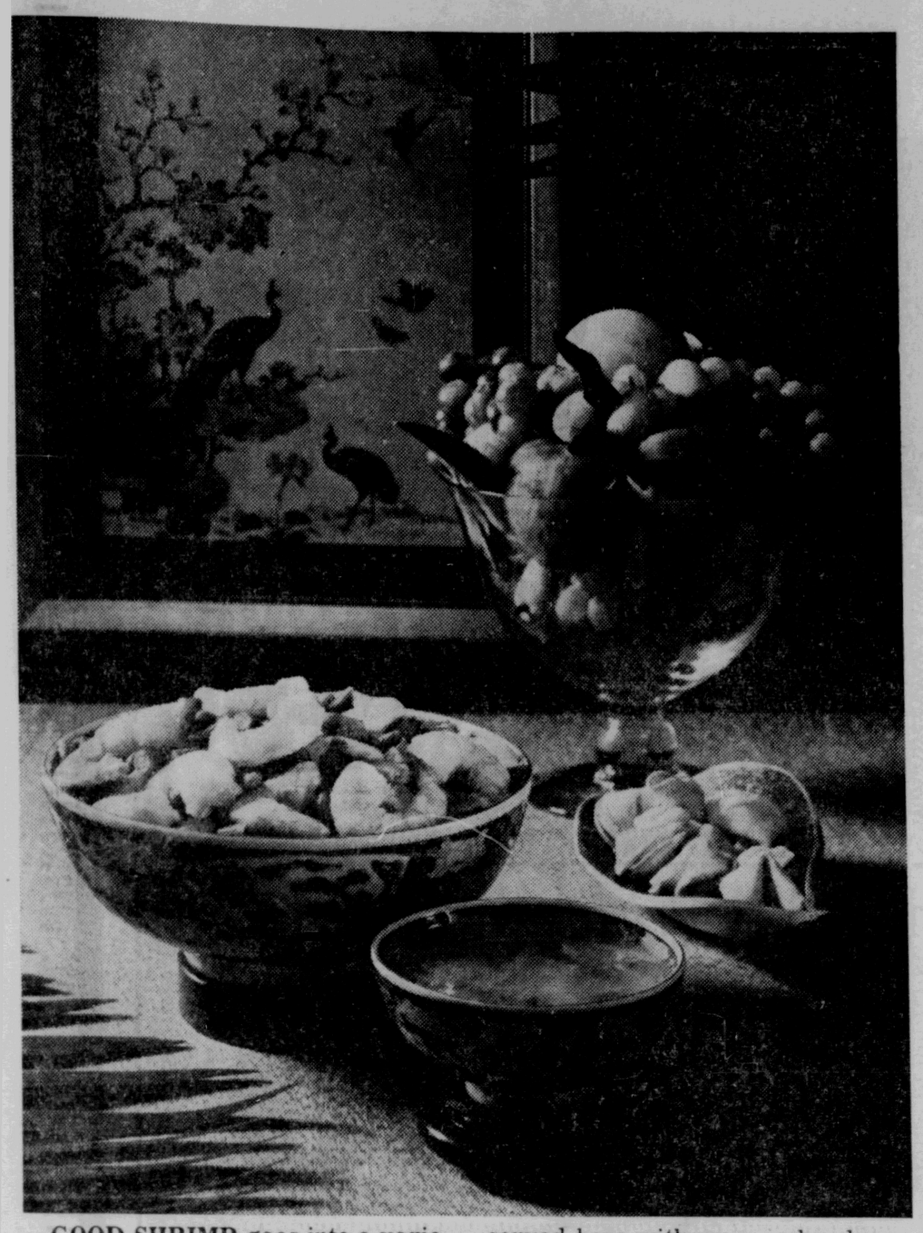


Slide 3-4 lb. chuck roast, trimmed of excess fat, into oven bag. Sprinkle seasoning over top of meat and add ¼ cup water. Twist-tie open end of bag and invert so that seasonings are on the bottom. Place in baking pan. With fork, puncture 4 small holes in top of bag. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven for 2 hours. Cut across top of bag and remove roast; pour out juices. Serve Au Jus or thicken for gravy.



Schilling flavor makes all the difference in the world.

Also new for Savory Oven Chicken. Seasoning mix plus roasting bag. Result? Fragrant, herb-baked chicken that cooks and bastes and sauces itself in the oven. All you need is a fresh chicken.



GOOD SHRIMP goes into a variety of dishes such as this Oriental shrimp and beans combination, served here with soup and a dessert of fresh fruits.

DON'T OVERCOOK

Creole, Oriental, Curried Shrimp Tops For Dinner

To retain the delicate flavor of shrimp, cooking is terribly important. Most important — don't overcook them. According to home economists, one to three minutes boiling time is sufficient, depending on the size of the shrimp. Start timing when the water returns to a boil after the shrimp have been added.

You can shell and devein shrimp either before or after cooking. To shell shrimp, hold tail end in left hand, slip right thumb under shell, between feelers, and lift off 2 or 3 segments in one motion. Then still holding firmly to tail, pull out shrimp from remaining shell section and tail.

With a knife, cut along the outside curve and lift out the black sand vein. It's harmless but some people object to its appearance.

By using the Oriental cooking method called stir-fry, shrimp can be turned into a main dish that's low in calories and high in protein. In addition, Oriental shrimp and beans is picture pretty, easy to prepare and tastes good.

ORIENTAL SHRIMP AND BEANS

- 1½ pounds fresh or frozen peeled, deveined shrimp
- 1½ teaspoons chicken seasoned stock base
- 1 cup boiling water
- ¼ cup thinly sliced green onion
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon ground ginger
- Dash pepper
- 1 package (9 to 10 ounces) frozen cut green beans
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon cold water

Thaw shrimp, if frozen. Dissolve chicken stock base in boiling water (1 cup chicken broth may be used if desired.) Cook onion, garlic and shrimp in oil for 3 minutes, stirring frequently.If necessary, add a little of the chicken broth to prevent sticking. Stir in salt, ginger, pepper, green beans and chicken broth. Cover and simmer 5 to 7 minutes longer or until beans are cooked but still slightly crisp. Combine cornstarch and water. Add to shrimp and cook until thick and clear, stirring constantly. 6 servings of about 130 calories per serving.

Note: should there be any remaining sauce in dish, pour off and serve in separate bowl.

CREOLE JAMBALAYA

- 1 pound fresh or frozen shrimp
- 1 dozen oysters
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1 small onion, minced
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 cup canned tomatoes
- Dash cayenne
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ chili pepper, minced
- 2 cups regular rice
- 3 cups chicken bouillon or water

Drop shrimp into boiling salted water, cook 3 minutes, drain and clean. Heat oysters in their own liquor, 3 minutes and drain. Saute shrimp and oysters in butter 2 minutes; add onion and garlic and cook 5 minutes longer. Add tomatoes, seasonings, chili pepper and rice. Mix well. Add bouillon and simmer, covered, 40 minutes or until rice is tender. 6 servings.

CURRIED SHRIMP

- 1½ pounds fresh or frozen shrimp
- 3 cups shrimp stock
- 3 chicken bouillon cubes
- 1 tablespoon curry powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 3 tablespoons butter, melted
- 5 cups hot cooked rice
- 3 hard-cooked eggs

Drop shrimp into boiling, salted water, cook 3 minutes. Drain and reserve cooking liquid. Clean shrimp. To 3 cups strained shrimp stock, add bouillon cubes and stir until dissolved; moisten curry powder with a little water and add to stock with salt and pepper, mixing well. Stir flour into melted butter; gradually stir in seasoned stock and cook over low heat until smooth and slightly thickened; then add shrimp. Pack hot rice into greased ring mold and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 15 minutes; unmold on platter, put shrimp mixture in center and garnish with sliced eggs. 6 servings.

Cooking Time

Allow additional cooking time when cooking meat from the frozen state. Frozen roasts need from a third to a half again as long for cooking rare, medium or well done; lamb medium or well done; veal and pork are cooked well done. Use same procedure for fresh, defrosted or frozen roasts—place meat on rack, roast in a 325-degree oven. Do not add water or cover. Insert the roast meat thermometer in center of a frozen roast after it is thawed or when about half done. Do not force thermometer into partially thawed meat.

Improve the appearance of cracked china by boiling it in milk for about 45 minutes.

Fresh Asparagus Goes Variously Onto Table

The spring vegetable, fresh asparagus, is arriving into the markets. Here's an easy way to serve it to your family or friends.

ASPARAGUS WITH WATER CHESTNUTS

- 2 pounds fresh asparagus
- ¼ cup salad oil
- 1 clove garlic, mashed
- 1 can (5-ox.) water chestnuts, sliced
- freshly ground black pepper

Wash asparagus, snap each stalk and discard tough end. Cut each stalk diagonally into 1-inch pieces. In large skillet, heat ¼ cup of oil with garlic. Remove garlic and add asparagus slices; cover. Shake pan every so often. Asparagus will be tender in 5-7 minutes. Add sliced water chestnuts. Toss lightly and serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Fresh asparagus is in season now, so serve it often. Place some cooked stalks on toast and top with cream sauce to which you've added chopped sauteed mushrooms and sliced stuffed olives.

Cook asparagus whole, until barely tender. Arrange on baking dish. Sprinkle with buttered crumb and grated Swiss cheese. Drizzle with butter and brown quickly under the broiler.

ONE OF THE best things about spring is the coming of fresh asparagus. This treatment teams the green vegetable with water chestnuts in a quick skillet method.

Counting Calories? Two Dinners Use Steak And Rice Combination

Diets come in all sizes and shapes — for all sizes and shapes of people.

What you want is something hearty . . . tasty . . . filling, yet low in calories, and that leads right to rice.

With only 90 calories per half cup, and with unlimited variations of food combinations, rice can make any man's low-calorie diet appealing.

Rice also is low in cholesterol, high in energy . . . both important requirements in many diets for the man of the house.

Serve rice with Steak Cantonese . . . and you've pleased not only the average appetitie but the diet as well. This steak is brightly seasoned with garlic, pepper, ginger and soy sauce. Perfect with rice.

STEAK CANTONESE AND RICE

- 1½ pounds boneless beef round steak
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 2 large tomatoes, coarsely chopped
- 2 medium green peppers, cut in strips
- ¼ cup soy sauce
- ½ teaspoon each garlic salt, pepper, and ground ginger
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- ¼ cup water
- 1 beef bouillon cube
- 3 cups hot cooked rice (cooked in beef broth or bouillon)

Slice meat into thin strips, cutting diagonally across the grain. Brown steak in oil on all sides over high heat. Reduce heat. Stir in tomatoes, green peppers, soy sauce, and seasoning. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Blend cornstarch and water. Stir into meat mixture Add bouillon cube. Cook and stir until mixture thickens and bouillon cube dissolves. Cover and simmer 10 minutes longer. Serve over beds of rice. Makes 6 servings, 378 calories each.

Hearty Italian seasonings make dieting less of a chore. Here's another lower-in-calories steak recipe to please the man of the house.

ITALIAN STEAK AND RICE

- 1 cup chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 can (10-½ oz.) tomato puree
- 2 cups beef broth
- 1 teaspoon each garlic salt, sugar, salt and oregano
- 1½ pounds boneless beef round steak
- ½ cup dry sherry
- 1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
- 3 cups hot cooked rice

Saute onion in 1 tablespoon butter until tender. Add tomato puree, broth, and seasonings. Simmer 20 minutes. Meanwhile, cut steak in strips about ½ x 3-inches. Season with salt and pepper. Brown in remaining butter. Add sherry and mushrooms. Cook 2 to 3 minutes. Stir in tomato sauce; cover and simmer 30 minutes. Serve over beds of rice. Makes 6 servings, 368 calories each.

STEAK CANTONESE with Rice — hearty enough for the man of the house, yet reasonable enough in calories to keep him on his diet . . . thanks to rice.

Rug Use

If you are buying aused rug or carpet, look for ripples or a loose area indicating the cushion is worn or has slipped. Such carpet has lost much of its life expectancy.

Banana-Oatmeal Cookies

- 1½ cups sifted flour
- 1 cup sugar
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¾ cup lard
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1 cup mashed ripe banana
- ¾ cup quick-cooking oats
- ½ cut chopped nuts.

Sift together flour, sugar, soda, salt, nutmeg and cinnamon into mixing bowl. Cut in lard. Add egg, banana, oats and nuts. Beat until thoroughly blended. Drop by teaspoonfuls, about 1½ inches apart, onto ungreased cooky sheet. Bake in a hot oven (400°F.) about 15 minutes or until cookies are done. Remove from sheet immediately and allow to cool on a rack. Yield: 3 to 4 dozen cookies.

If some of your durable press garments have a fishy oder, wash them carefully and most of it will disappear, according to Mrs. Ruth Ann Wilson, extension clothing specialist at the Pennsylvania State University. Mrs. Wilson said the odor is caused by a resin with a formaldehyde base.

CONVERTIBLE COIF

Hair Does What You Want If Cut, Washed And Set Right

Versatile hair is the kind that does what you want it to, when you want it to. It used to be if you were not born with it — too bad. Now things are different. With a good haircut and the right shampoo, you can build-in manageability.

The first step is a good, professional cut or shaping by the hair stylist you most trust and admire. Shaping is all important for future styling on-your-own.

A convertible style, one that can be handled in several different ways in the setting, will allow you to suit your look to your mood. With a well-shaped basic cut, you're ready to go.

THE NEXT step is to achieve the texture and manageability that convertible hair requires, and you can get both in a bottle. Take advantage of the powers of the new shampoos — expect them to do more than just cleanse your crowning glory. There's a new texturizing shampoo with protein that gives hair the body for the thick, full look you want, conditions it for smoothness and manageability — while you shampoo.

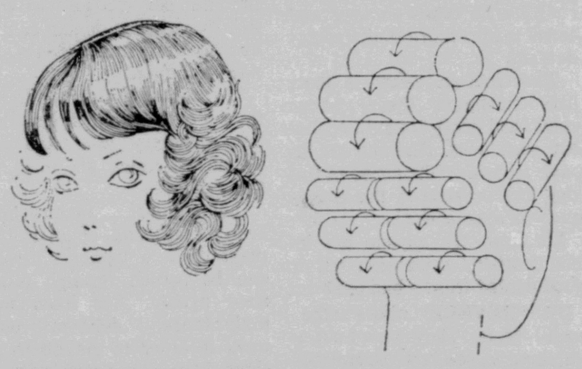
The third step is to decide on the various looks you'll want with your newly manageable hair — and learn how to achieve them in setting.

Long hair is beautiful when it's smooth, straight and well-brushed. But perhaps you don't always want to wear it this way. Try a mass of curly waves all over, the '40s look, achieved by using small rollers. Don't forget when you use small rollers your hair will take longer to dry, so allow enough time. For another change about, the curly waves can be pulled back and loosely tied.

If you like your hair medium length, a layered short-in-front and longer-in-back cut is both versatile and easy to style. When you have shampooed-in manageability, you may find that you can style this cut without using rollers. The wispy ends that are part of its charm can be brushed off the face — or onto the face in loose bangs, for two different looks. The longer back hair can be tied in a loose, low ponytail for another soft look.

EVEN SHORT hair that's carefully cut and has either its own or shampooed-in-manageability can convert to several styles. A smooth, close-to-the-head wispy cap of hair can be styled with wisps brushed forward over the face or curled back toward the crown, looking very casual.

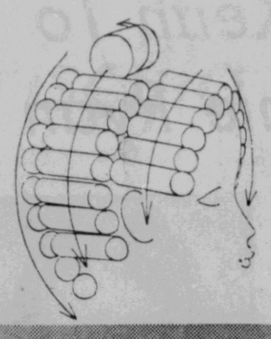
Tight, all-over tiny curls achieved with pins, not rollers, is another 1971 look for short hair.



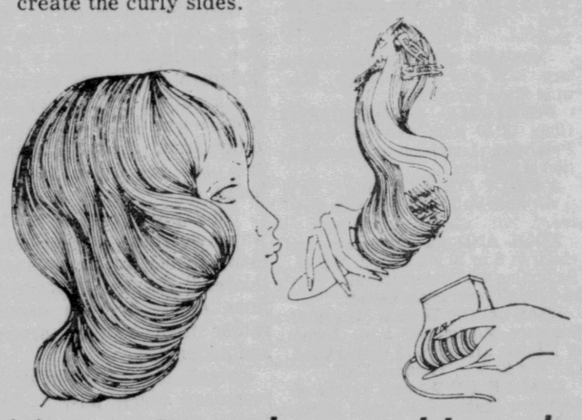
THE SMOOTH AND sleek sophisticated hairstyle sets another mood. To create it for yourself, clip bangs down. Then use a few clips or pins to hold top hair smoothly in place. Next brush the hair under as you blow-dry it with a dryer.

IF HAIR stylist Jacques Desange has his way there will be no curls or ringlets adorning the heads of fashion conscious women next fall or winter. He presented these severe creations Monday in Paris.

(UPI Cablephoto)



YOU CAN convert the gypsy hairstyle into this all-girl look with buoyant side curls and a smooth top. You can set it with large rollers over the crown of the head to form the smooth cap. Small rollers create the curly sides.



Mrs. Jacobsen Heads Community Guild

A native Petaluman has been elected president of the Community Guilds. She is Mrs. Walter B. Jacobsen, a seven year member who formerly served the organization as its secretary and vice president.

The continuing guild project is the purchase of eye glasses for students in the Petaluma School district. "We also loan hospital and convalescent equipment to persons in our community," says the new president. Monies to support these activities are raised by the guild's annual boat cruise down the Petaluma River. This year the cruise is scheduled for Sept. 26.

Other organizations the new president enjoys are the Assistance League of Sonoma County, Petaluma Panhellenic Association and the Petaluma Woman's Club.

A graduate of Petaluma High School, Arleen Jacobsen attended the University of Pacific, where she was a member of Delta Gamma sorority.

She and her husband, a cattle buyer, are the parents of Kathleen, 20, and Mrs. Douglas Smith of Davis.

Serving with Mrs. Jacobsen this year are Mmes. Dolph Hill Jr., vice president; Jack Dunaway, secretary; David Brainerd, treasurer; A.E. Poole, membership; Ray Hardin and Albert Battaglia, cruise; John Mohrman, historian; and William O'Shea, parliamentarian.

Don't Call Scientists Aquachicks

Dr. Sylvia A. Earle, scientist, wife, mother and would-be fish, described the treatment she and the other participants in Government Mission 6-50 received as "reverse discrimination."

An aquanut who was one of five female scientists and engineers selected for the Mission 6-50 phase of the Department of the Interior's Textite II project, Dr. Earle argues that, "Segregating scientists by sex is as sensible as segregating them by the color of their eyes."

Dr. Earle deplored newspaper headlines which labeled the team as "aquabelles," "aquachicks," "aquababes," and "aquanuts," commenting, "I wondered what readers reactions would have been if newspapers had hailed the men who landed on the moon as "astronuts."

While the "double standard" is definitely evident in the aquanaut program, Dr. Earle said, "Recognition and acceptance came naturally when we did what had to be done."

"The attention we received was a clear example, I thought, of the reverse discrimination that sometimes happens when women do something unusual. We felt that we had done nothing extraordinary, essentially nothing different from the accomplishments of many men, but we received exceptional attention."

Among the accolades received by Dr. Earle and her fellow team members, who spent two weeks under the ocean last summer, was the Conservation Service Award, the Interior's highest honor, which they "accepted as a tribute to all Textite aquanauts, men as well as women."

Dr. Earle is now associated with the Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History where her husband, Dr. Giles W. Mead, is director.

FOR THE GYPSY in you, a curly, swirly hairstyle falling in soft, loose ringlets. To set the style divide hair in half. Then roll hair from center on small rollers — two rows on each side. Use one or two large rollers on top. The roll back the hair from the top down, using two rows of small rollers.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Letters And Answers Are All Phoney, Accuses A Letter Writer

DEAR HELEN, OR WHOEVER YOU ARE:

My woman and I have a bet. She is a trusting soul who "believes." I'm the worldly type who wonders. I think you make up your questions and answers. In fact, you may even be some man back there in a New York office, churning out what people want to hear. You hit the nail on the head so often, you would almost have to be male. You don't write like a woolly-brained female. There's no real "Helen," right? And no mail. — Who'd write to a columnist? (You, for one — H.)

Come on now "H.", I won't think any the less of you if you confess I won the bet. — M.C.

DEAR M.C.

(That's gotta stand for "Male Chauvinist!")

I showed your little gem to 1.) My husband; 2.) our offspring; and 3.) our mailman.

Number one said, "If she isn't real, how come she talks so much, and if she's a man, why didn't somebody tell me before we had all those kids?"

Number Two said, "What does that make us —ghosts?"

Number Three said, "Ha!!! —wistfully, as he unloaded another heavy bundle of mail. During those "rain, snow, sleet and dark of night times," he no doubt wishes you had won the bet, M.C.

All of which is a female, roundabout way of saying Helen Bottel is alive and real and living in Central California amid a sea of letters. Why should I tax my brain concocting fakes when readers send me thousands of true stories each week? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I happened to look on the dashboard of my daughter's boyfriend's car the other day and saw a little notice printed on it:

"Please fasten your chastity belt."

Do you think he's the type she should be dating? — DOUBTFUL PARENT

DEAR PARENT:

Why not? He's either got a great sense of humor or he's giving her fair warning. Either way the boy is a good risk, yes? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am sure there is incest in my sister's family. Her husband and her daughter are involved.

This foolish woman does nothing about it because she is afraid. She couldn't face the scandal, and she couldn't face the world without a man to support her — even if he is more like a beast.

She is ready for a nervous breakdown, yet she still won't get help. The "family name" is more important than her daughter's mental health. Her daughter won't talk. She scared too.

What can we do? — HORRIFIED AND HELPLESS

DEAR HORRIFIED:

Why not bring your sister and niece into your home for a visit? Once away from this man, they will surely realize they must make a permanent break . . .and if you put them in touch with an expert counselor the return to sanity may come much sooner. — H.

(NOTE TO READERS: Incest happens more often than any of us want to believe. The director of a home for unwed mothers estimates that almost half of the 12-to-14-year-old girls she interviews have been made pregnant by someone in their own families. But charges are seldom made: out of fear or shame, everyone lies to protect the guilty — and sometimes the teen-ager returns to the same miserable situation she left. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

TO PUBLISH ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING STORIES IN THE I-J

Forms for engagement and wedding story information to be printed in the Independent-Journal are available from the I-J offices in San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma

Wedding forms should be returned promptly to the I-J office in your area and information will be printed immediately after the wedding. Photographers should be urged to submit a print of the wedding picture promptly. Color photographs cannot be used.

The Independent-Journal does not print wedding stories or photographs received more than seven days after the wedding.

An engagement form may be accompanied by a professional black and white photograph, which may be picked up at the I-J office after publication. Snapshots, polaroid or color pictures are not suitable.

Thomas Keith To Wed Jamie Ryan

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Ryan of San Bruno are announcing the engagement of their daughter Jamie to Thomas Keith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keith of San Anselmo.

Jamie is the sister of Susan Ryan. A graduate of Mercy High School in Burlingame, the future bride attended Dominican College and is in her junior year at Sacramento State College.

Kathi, Mike, Kelly and Mathew Keith are the future bridegroom's sister and brothers, and Mrs. Freda Keith of Los Altos Hills is his local grandmother. He is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and is a senior at St. Mary's College in Moragea.

The couple plan to be married in the St. Mary's College chapel Aug. 28.

Getting Good Dental Care

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Children's Dental Health Week has come and gone. But dental problems never go away. They just get worse for most people.

Tooth decay is the most prevalent disease in the country. Nearly everyone suffers from it to some extent. But only about 20 per cent of the people receive what could be called proper dental care.

In most cases, of course, the fault lies with the patient. He either does not care for his teeth the way he should or he tries to save money and anguish by avoiding dentists.

BUT ONCE he sees a dentist, he still may not get proper treatment. According to a recently published book, "Dentistry and Its Victims," there are more Dr. Poorworks than Dr. Goodworks in the country.

The author, a "Paul Revere," disputes a position paper by the New York State Dental Society claiming that the proportion of dentists who do poor quality work is very small. Dr. "Revere" says that after 15 years of practice, he has come to the following conclusions:

"Of patients coming for initial examination, the great majority had dental restorations that were below state board licensing standards.

"A high proportion of this poor work fell so far short of minimum standards as to be disgraceful."

THE REASONS are many, says the author, but most of them boil down to greed for more and more income and a code of ethics which prevents one dentist from criticizing the work of another.

According to the ethical code, says Dr. "Revere," the only one qualified to make a moral judgment concerning work done for a patient is the very same dentist who is in a position to profit greatly from the destruction of the patient's dental health.

"To express morality in this way," he says, "is like saying there should be honor among thieves." He says the code defines ethics between dentists rather than between dentists and patients.

Revere cites five kinds of pressures which turn a good dentist into a bad one. First is the risk of being considered expensive. A poor dentist may seem inexpensive but might neglect to do things that need to be done.

SECOND IS the risk of being considered a "con" man if he tries to offer detailed documentation of what is wrong only to be accused of sweet-talking patients into a lot of work at high fees. Third is the risk of being accused of prescribing unnecessary work.

Fourth is the risk of being considered a painful dentist. The only way to avoid pain is to do superficial work, such as failing to dig out all decay. This may only increase pain later on when the effects show up.

Fifth is the risk of being considered an inept amateur because he takes so long and tends to hurt more than another dentist.

What this all means is that, like Gresham's theory about coins, bad dentists tend to drive out good ones. And the public pays more than it should in the long run because of the consequences of poor work.

But how can anyone not in the dentistry profession tell a good dentist from a bad one?

DR. "REVERE" offers some useful hints. They include watching to see how careful he examines the teeth and whether he is willing to explain what he is doing. Beyond that, however, the patient is virtually helpless.

If a patient suspects he has been a victim of unprofessional work or unfair treatment, he has two possible courses of action. But he has little chance of documenting his case through another dentist because of the code which binds dentists to each other like a secret fraternity.

One avenue is to bring up the problem with a representative of the local Dental Society's Grievance Committee. But this is almost always a dead end because such groups, like the code itself, are designed to protect dentists rather than patients.

When one Virginia woman sought to have a grievance settled by the Northern Virginia Dental Society, she received not only no satisfaction but was later accused of being vicious and a chronic trouble-maker when she persisted in her complaint.

When she later appealed to the American Dental Association, she received a letter from its "public information counsel" outlining what the profession does to maintain standards of practice and conduct.

THE OTHER recourse is to bring suit. But chances of success here also are dim because no dentist wants to testify against another, yet dentists are the only ones who can present and interpret the evidence.

In one case, a woman claimed that three good teeth were extracted instead of three poor teeth. Another dentist at a teaching school was willing to testify in general terms implying that her charge was true. But the accused dentist said he had lost the vital evidence, the x-rays of the teeth.

The woman was forced to settle the case for much less than her monetary loss. And she wound up losing six teeth instead of three.

Unintentional malpractice, such as droppng of an instrument down a patient's throat, can be settled through insurance agents. But intentional malpractice — deliberate poor work in order to maximize income — continues without punishment and without compensation to its victims.

And it will take more than one anonymous dentist to stop it.

MEANWHILE, HERE are a few things that dental patients can do to reduce costs and troubles.

First, make certain you are doing everything possible to take proper care of your teeth. This is not a simple matter of brushing them once a day and letting it go at that. It also may require regular use of dental floss, gum massage, more frequent brushing, more careful brushing and possible use of a water pressure device.

Second, be sure to have your teeth cleaned at least twice a year by a professional dental hygienist. This is necessary in order to remove hard deposits of tartar that accumulate below the gum and may eventually cause the teeth to weaken enough to be extracted.

Third, try to find a dentist who does good work, regardless of the fees he may charge. For a so-called "high-price" dentist may save you money in the long run by providing better quality workmanship.

Fourth, know what to avoid. Many dentists have made a racket out of their x-ray machine. X-rays are essential for spotting hidden decay where it may be suspected. But they are being ordered more and more frequently for no apparent reason. Full-mouth x-rays are rarely needed for healthy mouths.

FIFTH, DON'T be fooled by the story about gold. A few years ago, a Washington reporter happened to attend a meeting where dentists were being told how to "sell" gold fillings to patients in order to make more money. Such fillings may be better in some cases, but that depends on workmanship.

Sixth, avoid braces except in the most serious cases of protrusion or malocclusion (poor bite). Forcing the teeth to move around in the bone structure tends to weaken them and cause gum problems. For many people, the "straightening" process has only made their tooth problems worse.

If you don't know where to begin, start with the book by "Paul Revere." It will help spread the alarm about the crisis in dental care and give you some clues on how to protect your teeth and pocketbook.

ON THE AGENDA

March 31 And April 1 Are Dates Of 16th Pixie Parents Egg Hunt

A six foot bunny — last seen in the financial district in San Francisco — will greet preschool children at the 16th annual Pixie Parents Easter Egg Hunt and Fair at the Marin Art and Garden Center March 31 and April 1 from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

Each child will be given a basket to collect eggs. There will also be four puppet shows each day, pony rides, game booths and live animals to pet and play with.

Mmes. John Rosenberg and Robert Tocchini are chairmen.

Animals will be lent by the Boyd Marin Museum of Science and bag lunches will be on sale. Games will include Be-A-Bunny makeup booth, Basket Toss. Follow the Footprint, Be-A-Painter and Humpty-Dumpty, where children fish for prizes.

Tickets for the events will be on sale at the Center on the days of the hunt or before.

AL GATOV, Marin County's representative on the newly formed Metropolitan Transportation Commission, will speak at public luncheon meeting sponsored by Central Marin's League of Women Voters Tuesday at noon at the Fondue Pot in Corte Madera.

Gatov will describe the legislation that created the new commission and also will discuss the commission's role in planning for future transportation systems in the Bay Area.

The development of balanced transportation systems, for both inter and intra-county needs, is supported by the Central Marin League, according to Mrs. Charles B. Clay, chairman and reservations chairman of the meeting.

"BRIGHT BOY, Bad Scholar," a film dealing with problems of children with learning disabilities will be shown at the Marion School Parent-Teacher Association meeting to be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the school multi-purpose room in Novato.

Richard Emery, teacher of the educationally handicapped children at Marion School will also discuss his program at the public meeting.

VOLUNTEERS IN the Marin County Probation Department is a new concept that has been underway in Marin for the past year and a half. The program uses about a hundred men and women as case aides, drivers, secretaries, recreation aides, tutors and teacher aides.

Mrs. Judith Maxwell, coordinator of volunteer services for the Probation Department, highlights the double-edged virtues of the program as "a means of expanding the resources and augmenting the services of the department and at the same time providing for the volunteer an open pathway to exchange warmth and compassion while performing a vital service.

The Probation Department will hold a spring training course for volunteers beginning Monday. The nine week course will be held on Monday evenings from 7:30 to 10 p.m. in the library building of the Adeline Kent School in Kentfield. The instructor is Dr. Michael Taylor, professor of speech and communication at San Francisco State.

ST. RITA'S Women's Guild will hold their ninth annual rummage sale at the parish hall in Fairfax Saturday from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Chairman is Mrs. Neal McNeil. She will be assisted by Mmes. A. J. Simonini, odds and ends; Frank Egger, furniture; Noel Cimino, toys; Bernard Del Santo, men's clothing; Donald Nelson, next to new; Keith Yetter, jewelry; Joseph Bruce, plants; William Cole, women's wear, Richard Bettencourt, children's clothing; Tom Murrin, cake booth; and Don Alden, hot dogs.

"A LOOK at the Food Industry" will be the subject of a program arranged by the Civics and Conservation Section for the Outdoor Art Club's guest day tea tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the clubhouse in Mill Valley.

Jennifer Cross, author of the just published book "The Supermarket Trap" will take the audience behind the scenes with the guarantee that "after reading my book, no supermarket will ever look the same again." The author is affiliated with the Association of California Consumers.

Mrs. Michael Praszker is in charge of the program. Tea chairman Mrs. Willis C. Elliott will be assisted by Mmes. Fred E. Bardo, Jim Hayes, Michael E. Leonis, Clifford Lewis, Walter L. Long and Gerhardt Von Bonin, and pouring will be Mmes. Jules De Beaubien, Roy A. Carlsen, Bruce Wrisley and Miss Janet Sawyer.

Greeting members and guests will be Mmes. Philip Kearney, Kenyon Spalding and Herman C. Zwart.

BETHEL 119, International Order of Job's Daughters will hold a visiting Bethel meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m., at the Masonic Temple in Mill Valley.

ALPHA OMICRON Pi Alumnae of Marin County are planning a wine tasting party Sunday at 4 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Arthur Feidler of Ross. Mrs. Philip Strick is reservations chairman for the party which will benefit the Endowed Bed Fund at Ross Hospital.

Matchmakers Still Function In Japan

By ALBERT E. KAFF

TOKYO (UPI)—Surely Genkichi Ishizaka, 73, qualifies as a super expert in marriages.

In 45 years as a professional matchmaker, has arranged 3,000 weddings. He claims that only five of them ended in divorce.

Ishizaka says the secret of his success in matching brides and bridegrooms is total honesty.

I consider it a secret of success not to tell a lie about the couple.

"BOYS CAN be poor at the time of marriage, but if they have good futures I consider that's all right."

Ishizaka started out as a traveling salesman of lacquer ware. Moving about Japan, he would be asked to find suitable mates for young men and women.

Love marriages were almost unheard of in Japan until after World War II. Even today, many marriages, particularly in rural areas, are arranged by go-betweens.

The Japanese hold two theories on marriages arranged by out-siders. First, if the match fails, the parents alone are not to blame. Second and more important, Japanese believe that love will develop after the wedding.

In this spirit, families go to a matchmaker to seek suitable partners for their children. When a match tentatively is accepted by two families, a miai (first meetng) is arranged at which the young man and woman see each other but do not necessarily speak.

THE MIAI, attended by family representatives, might be held in the matchmaker's house, in a restaurant, theater or other public place.

If the young man and woman are pleased with each other at the miai, yuino (engagement gifts) are exchanged. In old days, yuino might be rolls of cloth, fans or casks of sake (a white rice drink).

Nowadays instead of gifts, the bridgeroom can present cash to the bride's family, which then returns part of the money. The original sum in middle-class families might range from 10,000 yen ($27) up to 50,000 yen ($138) or even more.

Ishizaka has few peers in the business of matchmaking, which he has been doing since the age of 29. And he knows what young people want.

"Usually a girl seeks a mate with a good scholastic standing, while the boy looks for a pretty girl," he said.

FROM HIS home in central Japan's mountainous Nagano prefecture, Ishazaka has traveled far on his missions of romance.

"Before the war, I went as far as Singapore, China and Formosa, and following the war even to New York to arrange marriages," he said. "In my hands I usually have the personal records and photographs of more than 300 young men and women looking for marriage.

"Of the men whose marriages I arranged, nearly 200 of them died on the war front. On the days marking their deaths I burn incense at my Buddhist altar.

"I have christened more than 2,000 babies. They are my grandchildren, so to speak."

San Rafael Girl's Sketch In Magazine

A color sketch of an original rainwear fashion design, the work of D. Anne Mason of San Rafael, will appear in the April issue of the American Girl, a magazine for teen-age girls, published by Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

Anne's design, appearing on page 30, was chosen from more than 30,000 entries submitted in several categories in the magazine's recent search for the best work of the nation's under-17-year-old writers, poets, artists, photographers and song writers.

Selections were made on the basis or original ideas, interesting content and skill of execution. The American Girl editorial advisory board, composed of Girl Scouts from the New York metropolitan area, participated in the final judging.

Ice Bag

Make an emergency ice bag by folding a small wet towel and freezing it in an ice cube tray. Place frozen towel in a plastic bag and tie the end.

Lead-Base Paint

Lead-based paint has been outlawed for interior use in New York City since 1959, but it is usually found in dilapidated pre-war housing.

Priscilla At Work For Tricia

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Tricia Nixon's bridal gown designer is expected to be Priscilla Kidder, known as Priscilla of Boston, who is a good friend of the First Family.

Tricia, 25, told newswomen she expects Priscilla to put her creative talents to work on a long white gown in the "romantic tradition" which she will wear down the aisle in the East Room when she marries Harvard law student Edward Finch Cox.

Mrs. Kidder will have established her permanent place in White House personal history when she designs Tricia's wedding gown and those of the bridesmaids. She created Luci Nugent's bridal gown when the daughter of former President Lyndon B. Johnson was married to Patrick Nugent on Aug. 6, 1966.

She also designed the Brussels lace bridal gown for Julie Nixon when the President's youngest daughter married Ensign David Eisenhower Dec. 6, 1968, in New York a month before her father was inaugurated.

THE DESIGNER was a guest last week at the White House party celebrating Tricia's engagement and the First Lady's 59th birthday, at an "Irish Evening of Entertainment."

She racked up another "first" on that occasion when each of the three women in the First Family wore one of her gowns.

Tricia, looking more sophisticated than ever before, looked dazzling in a low-cut white chiffon flowing dress, banded with ostrich feathers. Julie wore a white, low-cut organza gown which Mrs. Kidder made for her when she said she had nothing to wear for the evening. Mrs. Nixon made a beautiful mother of the bride in a white heavy Irish lace gown with a high neck and an A-line skirt.

Mrs. Kidder spent several hours at the White House Wednesday talking clothes with Mrs. Nixon. She rejects the idea that Tricia tries to look "doll-like and little girlish."

"She's small," explained Mrs. Kidder, "she can't wear a midi. If you saw it on her you would laugh."

THE NIGHT before her engagement party, Toicia called Dr. Edward G. Latch, chaplain of the House and asked him if he would performthe marriage ceremony.

The former pastor of Metropolitan Memorial Methodist Church—or the National Methodist Church in Washington—was aware of newspaper reports that he would be selected, but he was particularly pleased because Tricia called him personally.

"I like it to come from the bride," he said.

The President and Mrs. Nixon and their two daughters used to attend his church when Nixon was Vice President. Tricia and Julie were in the church's Brownie troop.

Nixon also asked Latch to give the closing prayer at the Republican National Convention in Chicago in 1960 when he won the GOP presidential nomination.

LIKE HER parents, Tricia is a Quaker and her fiance is an Episcopalian.

Latch said he will meet later with the couple to give them instructions and some marriage counselling—"on how to make a go of marriage."

"It gives me a chance to give some advice out of my experience on how to be harmonious and happy," he said. "It's a lot of fun explaining the meaning of the ceremony."

The marriage vows will include "to love, honor and cherish." The minister says "obey" was out of the ritual long before women's lib.

After the announcement that he would officiate at the White House wedding, the chaplain was congratulated by prayer breakfast congressional friends on Capitol Hill.

"I'm having a good time," he said. "I'm enjoying it . . . it's only once in a lifetime."

Sweet Baby

Help keep baby fragrant by wiping up accidental spit-ups with a damp sponge sprinkled with dry baking soda and by rinsing out rubber pants regularly in a baking soda solution. Because soda is a food product, it also makes a good safe cleanser for all areas with which baby comes in touch, including crib bumpers, playpen rungs, the highchair, the interior of the carriage and toys.

Cocoa

One cocoa pod generally yields 20 to 40 cocoa beans.

ART REVIEW

Rare Exception To Family Team

By LAURA DEVENDORF

There is rarely an equal measure of talent shown by both members of a husband-wife art team. But that rare exception is found in the joint show shared by Raymond and Genevieve Barnhart through April 2 in Dominican College's San Marco Gallery and Alemany Library.

These two artists don't even seem vaguely influenced by one another. And though both deal in sculptural forms, they go about it in entirely different ways.

Barnhart, whose work is shown in both the gallery and library, uses found materials as his medium. He takes rusting metal, paint-peeled wood, bones and discards and combines them into three dimensional illusions that cease to relate to the objects as he originally found them.

One of his finer moments comes in "Sensor-Optic," a brooding, rough wood thing that on close scrutiny, turns out to be a decaying boat's stern panel supported by a remnant of keel. The panel is full of holes, some left open and others plugged with dowels which are checked with mirrors on one side, reversing to red tail reflectors on the others.

It is a sensitive and amusing use of materials as is the sophisticated "Mirrormeter," with its layering of wood, mirrors, glass, film transparencies plus a small primitive doll. Barnhart's choice of found materials usually dictates the acceptance of the finished work.

For example, several which include pop bottles, heads of dolls, a stop sign, toy cars or neon painted balls, seem as blatantly contrived as the materials of which they are composed.

The other group within this artist's work deals with combinations of mirrors, blown glass balls, tall clear tubes and occasional speckled feathers. Some are quite arresting such as the mirror-lined wood cradle, its end mirrors magnifying and tilted so that the tubes and balls within the box seem to march in a reflected row over the edge and away into nothing.

Mrs. Barnhart, whose work is shown in the library, is both sculptor and craftsman. She works in many metals with a sense of delicacy and bigness plus the fluidity of the wax she uses in designing them. Her knuckle-coverig rings are flamboyantly gold or silver. But there is nothing static in their thick drapery or big open twists.

Her choice and placement of stones is especially confident. In an expanse of gold, there may be one small stone of vivid green or blue. Or a pearl may appear almost hidden in a drapery fold, or falling away like a drop of dew. And she often uses chunky beach stones.

Often Mrs. Barnhart's metals take a wandering molten form. One necklace reaches and twines so strangely that it seems to be still growing. And the impression is heightened by pearls which like new growth, are squeezing from the tendril ends.

This same linear twining is present in the best of her sculpture, such as two silver vine-like figures which reach and twist toward each other.

Recital Is Tomorrow

Redwood High School students will present a variety of musical solos and ensembles in a recital 8 p.m. tomorrow in St. Sebastian's Church in Greenbrae.

Performing will be Kathy Green and Anders Carlsson on clarinet, Steven Levintow on violin, Gerry LeClerc on cello, Phil Akers on trumpet and Tom McGuire on classical guitar. Barbara Merrill and Brian McCarty will perform a horn duet.

Also performing will be the Redwood String Quartet, composed of Levintow and Lynn McCarty on violin, Mark Katkov on viola and Debbie Ring on cello.

Soprana Lue Ann Fisher will sing an aria from Der Freischutz, with Levintow playing a viola obligato.

The recital is open to the public with admission free.

Spring Series Is Set

The Spring Concert and Lecture Series at the College of Marin will begin with a lecture by travel expert Gene Wiancko on Central America at 8 p.m. next Tuesday in Olney Hall.

Three other illustrated lectures by media commentators and travel lectures will be included in this series entitled "Contrasts in Culture." All will be held in Olney Hall at 8 p.m.

A lecture on Switzerland by John Roberts, former cameraman for Lowell Thomas will be held April 13; Hawaii's culture will be presented by Ralph Franklin on April 27; and Cambodia and its cultures will be presented by foreign correspondent Ken Armstrong on May 11.

The lecture series will also include a four-part program on the "Crisis in Conservation," all of which will be held at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall.

The conservation lectures include "Duxbury Reef: Before and After" by Dr. Gordon Chan, College of Marin professor of Ecology, April 2; "The Common Fight to Clean up the Spill" by Charles Auerbach of Standard Oil, April 14; "How the Lagoon was Saved" by Alfonso Molina and Craig Hansen, April 21; and "A Conservation Convocation: Projections for the Future" by Marin ecology organizations, April 28.

A special lecture "Reclaiming the American Dream" will be presented at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall April 22 by Gordon P. Smith senior vice president of Booz, Allen and Hamilton, a management consulting firm. Smith was also California Director of Finance 1967-68.

"Psalm for two Davids", a play written by Jack Schwartz will be presented by the College of Marin Drama Department at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theater on May 7, 8, 9 and May 12, 13, 14 and 15.

A special event on May 20 will feature Maria Leone, a soprano and former opera star, who will present a recital of arias at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theater.

Districts Decide To Do It Alone

Directors of the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District have agreed to do their own testing of the wastes of district discharges into the bay, instead of hiring an outside firm to do it, President Cyril G. Hansen reported yesterday.

Hansen said it will cost the district's $7,000 to test the effluent and bay waters as required by the Bay Area Regional Water Quality Control Board, while hiring a firm to do the work would cost $9,000.

The sanitary district board on Monday also accepted completion notices from Maggiora and Ghilotti Inc. for two projects, a chlorine storage building and repairs to a trunk sewer line in the bay between Richardson and Main Streets.

Blood Drive Planned By Four Churches

Four Sausalito churches will sponsor a community blood drive from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday at Campbell Hall, San Carlos and Santa Rosa avenues. The mobile unit of the Marin Blood Center will receive donations.

Churches participating are the Christ Episcopal Church, Star of the Sea Catholic Church, the Sausalito Presbyterian Church and the First Baptist Church of Sausalito.

Ozawa Will Bring Symphony to Marin

Pianist Andre Watts and the San Francisco Symphony's principal violist, Rolf Persinger of Tiburon, will be featured soloists in the orchestra's third of four Marin concerts at Terra Linda High School Saturday at 8:15 p.m.

Seiji Ozawa, conductor and music director, will be on the podium.

Watts, making his sixth consecutive seasonal appearance with the symphony, will be featured in Tschaikowsky's Piano Concerto No. 1. Now in his eighth year as principal violist, Persinger will play the viola solo in Berlioz's "Harold in Italy," part of an Ozawa survey of the works of the composer.

The program will begin with Rossini's Overture to "La Gazza Ladra." The same program is being performed this week in the orchestra's regular series.

The Germany-born Watts was selected, at 16, by Leonard Bernstein to be soloist for a nationally-televised Young People's Concert. Later Bernstein engaged him to solo for two of the New York Philharmonic's regular concerts.

Born in San Francisco, Persinger studied at the Juilliard School of Music in New York, then played under Toscanini in the National Broadcasting Co. Symphony Orchestra. Before coming to San Francisco in 1963, he was first violist in Minneapolis under Antal Dorati and associate first violist in Chicago under Fritz Reiner.

Vice President Asks CBS To Let Him Edit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says the CBS television network should let him do his own editing of remarks he has made critical of a network documentary on Pentagon public relations policies.

Agnew issued the challenge Monday. CBS will rerun the documentary, entitled "The Selling of the Pentagon," tonight and will add 15 minutes of edited criticism from Agnew, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird and Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

The program examines defense department public information programs. Pentagon officers have contended there are distortions in the show.

'Your Own Thing' Set To Open On Friday Night

Novato High School's theater group, the Arthur Street Gang, will present four performances of "Your Own Thing," a rock version of "Twelfth Night," opening at 8:30 p.m. Friday at Novato High School girls' gymnasium.

The play will be repeated Saturday and April 2 and 3 with alternating casts.

The group will use one set throughout the play with slide projections of people and places against a bare white background.

Appearing in the cast Friday and April 3 will be Lori Gielegham as Olivia; Doug Hobbs, Orson; Debra Bowker, Viola; Andy Cilley, Sebastian; Lisa Swallow, nurse; and Vince McGovern, purser.

Roger Bauleke will be stage manager.

Appearing Saturday and April 2 will be Connie Boak, Olivia; B. J. Tomsky, Orson; Jan Denney, Viola; Lester Higashi, Sebastian; Pam Johnston, nurse; and John Larin, purser. Craig Rule will be stage manager

Appearing in both casts as the Apocalypse will be Todd Young, Chris Malstrom and Rick Eklund.

In the rock version, Viola and Sebastian, twins, because of their identical dress and hair style are mistaken for each other and both hired for the same job in a rock combo.

Reed Meeting

The Reed School District board will hold a special meeting today at 8 p.m. at Bel Aire School to discuss procedures to resolve disagreements between teachers and the board over contracts.

Senate Stalls Tax Proposal

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill to allow some unemployed persons to delay for a year paying their 1970 state income taxes has been stalled in the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee.

The committee took the measure "under submission" Monday after its author, Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Garden Grove, failed to appear to testify on its behalf.

When a committee takes a bill under submission, it usually means the proposal is dead for the legislative session.

Recital Is Slated Sunday By Soprano

Mrs. Kensell Schumacher (the former Janna MacDonald), soprano, will present a public recital Sunday at 3 p.m. at the First Baptist Church of Mill Valley.

Her program will consist of works in Italian, French, German and English, including "Porgi Amor Qualche Ristoro" from Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" and "Rejoice Greatly" from Handel's "Messiah."

A 1967 graduate of Tamalpais High School, Mrs. Schumacher attended the College of Marin two years and participated in many musical programs under the direction of Dr. S. D. Wolff.

In June she will receive a bachelor of arts degree with major in voice from San Francisco State College. In Marin she has studied with Mrs. Bella Resek and Mrs. Lisa Johnston.

A reception will be held in the fellowship hall of the church after the recital.

Heyns Says U.C. Is Out Of 'Miracles'

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)— "Berkeley is out of miracles," the University of California's chancellor warned Monday in an attack on Gov. Ronald Reagan's budget cutbacks.

Chancellor Roger W. Heyns told newsmen the governor's proposed budget of $72.2 million for the campus must be increased by the legislature or the consequences will be "grave."

"The debilitating results in the quality of education in this state will be incalculable for years to come," he said. "Our hope was that after four years of declining state support, the state administration would recognize and correct this drift to mediocrity.

"Now to impose a fifth year of cuts in funds is demanding that Berkeley perform miracles with its programs," Heyns said. "Berkeley is out of miracles."

He said Reagan's proposed 1971-72 budget would provide the school with $1.8 million less than this year and $3.4 million less than last year—a reduction of nearly 15 per cent if inflation is accounted for.

Hitch Report Being Sought

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A resolution calling for a report on action taken to prevent "improprieties" by the University of California regents and the school has been submitted in the Assembly.

The measure by Assemblyman Robert H. Burke, R-Huntington Beach, was introduced Monday and called for UC President Charles Hitch to make the report by Jan. 1.

Burke said a recent legislative report indicated there might have been some "improprieties" in financial dealings between some regents and the university.

"Next January," he said, "we will know whether or not he (Hitch) has been able to effectively control and prevent any future possibilities of improprieties and potential conflicts of interest from occurring between individual regents and the university."

Sprint Missile Firings A Success

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Army has announced that two Sprint missiles, the fast short-range part of the Safeguard antiballistic missile system, were successfully launched from the mid-Pacific and intercepted a third missile which earlier had been fired 4,200 miles away from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

The army said the interception was calculated electronically and no explosion occurred. The Sprint missiles are designed to cut down incoming warheads which might elude the Spartan missile, a longrange device designed to hit attacking missiles above the atmosphere.

Memorial Exhibit Is Slated

A memorial exhibit of watercolors and photographs by the late Robert Bastian of Belvedere will open April 4 at Old St. Hilary's Church, Tiburon.

Bastian, political cartoonist for 15 years for the San Francisco Chronicle and two years for television KQED'S "Newsroom," died last September.

On display will be watercolors of Belvedere and Tiburon painted between 1948 and 1951, all on loan from private owners. Color photographs of each scene, taken this year by Bastian's 19-year-old son, James, will show how the Tiburon Peninsula has changed in 20 years.

Old St. Hilary's, operated as a historical museum by the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society, will be open to the public without charge from 1 to 4 p.m. every Sunday and Wednesday, April through October. The Bastian exhibit will close June 6.

Church Of Christ Sponsoring Art Show

The Church of St. Augustine — United Church of Christ will sponsor an art and hobby show from noon to 4 p.m. Sunday at the church at 2200 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax.

A luncheon will be served from noon to 1:30 p.m.

Dance Course At Park School

A University of California extension course on "Learning Through Movement" will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. March 30 through June 8 at Park School, 360 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley.

A story in Thursday's Independent-Journal said the course, to be taught by dance instructor Dick Ford, would be at Edna Maguire School.

More Farms Ask Land Use Plans

The Marin County Soil Conservation District reported recently that 15 new farms and ranches requested assistance last year in developing conservation farm plans.

This brings the total to 247 ranches now cooperating with the district in formulating plans for land use and land conservation, according to the district's 1970 annual report.

The district reported that 124 of the farm cooperators received technical assistance and 18 installed major conservation practices.

During the year, the district also assisted ten cooperators in developing conservation plans, and four whose plans were revised or updated.

The district reported that conservation practices applied by the farm cooperators during the year included the construction of 5 farm ponds, 6 manure disposal pits, 3,500 feet of field windbreak, 17 acres of irrigation water management, 7,442 feet of drainage mains, 6,715 acres of pasture and hayland management, 1,500 feet of pipeline for livestock water, 369 acres of pasture planting and 600 feet of underground drains.

Detailed soil surveys were also made on 25,000 acres of the 141,457 acres now included in the district, the report stated.

Orindan Named Bay CHAD Head

E. Russell White of Orinda has been named executive director of Bay Area Combined Health Agencies Drive (CHAD), covering Marin and eight other counties.

Attorney James R. Tormey Jr. of San Mateo, president of CHAD, said White will head operations aimed at the business community, from the Oakland Medical Building at 1904 Franklin Street, Oakland.

Tormey said CHAD is a combined fund-raising effort benefitting 12 major health agencies. He stressed that Bay Area CHAD will not infringe on individual campaigns conducted at the residential level by member agencies.

Participating in the recently formed CHAD are chapters of the Arthritis Foundation, American Cancer Society, Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults, American Heart Association, the Kidney Foundation, March of Dimes, Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, National Association Retarded Children, Nationa. Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, Society for Prevention of Blindness, Tuberculosis and Respiratory Diseases Association and United Cerebral Palsy.

Milk Drinking Record Claimed

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI)—A young Coast Guardsman today claimed the world's record for milk drinking—one quart in seven seconds.

Seaman George Busby, 18, St. Louis, Mo., attached to the Cutter Cape Wash, gulped the milk Monday after warming up with an eight-second performance the previous day.

The Guinness Book of Records lists Peter New of Yorkshore, England, as the milk-swilling champ with a time of 13.3 seconds a quart.

Busby said he was ready to take on the defending champ or any challengers.

Hirss Serigraphs On Exhibit At Seminary

Serigraphs of Ivars Hirss will be on exhibit at the San Francisco Theological Seminary's Alexander Hall in San Anselmo from tomorrow to April 25.

SAUSALITO'S BEAUTIFICATION GOAL

This drawing by architect Donald K. Olsen shows the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce's hopes for the appearance of Bridgeway, including boardwalks along the curbs, benches in addition to the existing planter boxes and more trees bordering the downtown thoroughfare. The chamber will discuss the plan at a special meeting at 8 p.m. today in the city hall. Local businessmen would finance the improvement project.

Hospital Expansion Wins Out

The Marin Hospital District board last night agreed to proceed with plans for expansion of Marin General Hospital as opposed to construction of a second hospital elsewhere.

Hospital Administrator Ray K. Bolinger said today the action followed a recommendation to the board from its long range planning committee advising such action.

In accepting that recommendation, he said, the board also authorized the architects Rex, Whitaker, Allen and Associates to proceed with developing rough sketches and cost figures for a new hospital wing to house 100 beds and service support facilities.

The board also agreed to establish a committee to study a Gorsline Report recommendation that the hospital support a home care program. Committee members will be appointed at a later date, Bolinger said.

Nicasio Keeps Reading Teacher

The Nicasio School District board has decided to keep its remedial reading teacher although state funds to pay her have been cut off.

Board clerk Marie S. Rogers said the board decided Monday night to pay the teacher from district funds for the remainder of the school year in hopes Miller-Unruh funds will again be available next year.

The board also learned that principal Jeffrey Pflugrath will return for 1971-72 after a one-year leave of absence, Mrs. Rogers said.

Pets, Pals Dinner Session

An organizational dinner-meeting for the new Marin Chapter of Pets and Pals will be held at 5 p.m. April 2 in the Caprice restaurant, 2000 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, according to Mrs. Elsbeth Lucich of 14 Mallard Road, Belvedere.

Principal speaker will be Gladys Sargent of Piedmont, founder of the humane group. Pets and Pals is campaigning for low-cost spaying and neutering of cats and dogs in Marin and throughout the state.

Mrs. Lucich said reservations must be made with her by Monday.

Petaluman Bruised In Rear-End Crash

Leland G. Cook, 32, of 808 Elm Drive, Petaluma, said he would see his own doctor for treatment of bruises suffered in a rear end collision yesterday on East Washington Street at Highway 101, Petaluma.

Police said traffic had suddenly come to a halt and he was struck from the rear by a car driven by Elsie J. Loshbaugh, 48, of 1290 McKenzie Avenue, Petaluma.

Sausalito Is Exploring Ways To Unclog Traffic

By PAT ANGLE

The Sausalito City Council wrestled with the continuing problem of traffic congestion last night, then decided to experiment with different methods of unclogging the city's downtown streets.

The council agreed the city should set up a shuttle bus system — on a trial basis — from the Golden Gate Bridge District's ferry parking lot in Northern Sausalito to the downtown area. City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr was asked to obtain buses for the temporary service which would be used during peak traffic periods such as weekends and holidays.

Representatives of Marin Transit Systems of Marin City said the company would be willing to donate buses for several weekends if the city would pay the firm's drivers.

Although the council said downtown parking lots would remain in operation during the trial, City Engineer Norman Wohlschlaeger later questioned whether a shuttle from the northern lot would work if persons were not discouraged from driving downtown.

But Councilman Wyman Hicks said, "People have never had a chance before to use a parking and shuttle service in Sausalito. They've had the chance in Dallas and Disneyland and they've used the service. You can't say people won't use a transportation system if it's never been tried."

Businessmen saw the trial, however, as the first step toward eliminating all downtown parking.

Inez Hiscock also objected the shuttle proposal, saying many people want to park near where they are going "or they won't go."

"I guess that's true that people want to park next to where they are going," Mayor Alexander R. Imlay said, "But with the pressure and number of cars here, we might not be able to do that." He added: "I think we should talk about reducing downtown parking."

Jean Sorf, who lives on Bulkley Avenue near the business district, said tourists already are parking in residential areas and that elimination of more parking downtown would "make the situation worse and it's almost impossible to find a place to park now."

Councilman Earl F. Dunphy drew applause from the audience when he said he would never vote to close the city's largest parking lot, Municipal Lot No. 1. The lot, however, is envisioned as an open space park in the park plaza plan scheduled to go before the city planning commission April 7.

Also last night's session, called exclusively to discuss traffic problems, learned from the city engineer that the number of cars passing through Sausalito on weekends at this time of year is not much more than on weekdays. A survey last week, he said, showed a total of 14,914 autos on weekends and 13,544 on weekdays. Much of the congestions on weekends is caused by increased pedestrian traffic on the streets, Wohlschlaeger said.

To explore other avenues of alleviating the traffic problem, the council authorized the city engineer to look into the possibility of a sign for Highway 101 at the south entrance to Sausalito which would warn visitors when traffic congestion was heavy along the southern route into town.

Wohlschlaeger said the automatic sign, which would be triggered by a counter system on the street, also could suggest alternate routes into the city, preferably from the north.

However, Planning Director H. Eric Borgwardt told the council the northern entrance to Sausalito currently is "just as bad as the south" since much of it, from the freeway exit to Nevada Street, is two lanes, although there are plans to make it a four-lane road.

"We have got to do a little more work in the north end if we want to invite people in through that gateway," Borgwardt said.

Councilman Stephen A. Fraser objected to the widening, unless the additional lane could be reserved for buses, saying more lanes would only bring in more cars. In addition, Fraser said, he eventually would like to see the part of Bridgeway from Richardson to Princess streets closed to all but resident traffic, particularly during heavy traffic hours.

Wohlschlaeger told the council elimination of some of the cross traffic on Bridgeway might help and said he would propose that the city close portions of Pine, Locust and Bee streets, between Bridgeway and Caledonia streets, and turn them into parking areas to serve resident businesses which the central waterfront plan envisions for Caledonia.

Fraser and Brogwardt said they felt any parking in those areas should be limited to residents, but other council members thought such limitation might create legal problems.

Fireman's Fund Negotiating For Marin Building Location

Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies may come to Marin County, it was learned today.

The organization, now headquartered in San Francisco, is reported to be negotiating with American Savings and Loan Association for the purchase of 38 acres on the west side of the 101 Highway, just south of Lucas Valley Road — a parcel known as Lucas Green.

San Rafael attorney Albert Bianchi of Bagley, Bianchi and Sheeks, who is acting for Fireman's Fund in the negotiations, said many details remain to be worked out before the purchase is completed and what exact use of the property may be made by Fireman's Fund is still undecided.

He said that if the transaction is consummated it will be sometime in April before all information can be released.

Fireman's Fund, which was acquired by American Express Co. in 1968, has its home office at 3333 California Street, San Francisco. Many officials of the organization are known to be Marin County residents, including president Louis W. Niggeman, also executive vice president of American Express, who has lived in Kentfield for many years. Executive vice president Stuart D. Menist is also a resident of Kentfield.

Petaluman, 20, Is Pot Suspect

A 20-year-old Petaluma man was arrested yesterday by San Rafael police on suspicion of indecent exposure and possession of marijuana.

Phillip Eugene Butler of 431 Paula Lane was arrested about 10 a.m. as he walked along Lucas Valley Road after a housewife had reported a man exposed himself to her as she drove along the road, police said.

During a search of the man, police said they found a bag of a substance believed to be marijuana.

Butler was booked into Marin County Jail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Moving Date For Library

The Novato branch library at Tresch Triangle will close up shop at 5 p.m. next Wednesday for the big move into new quarters on Novato Boulevard.

The library will reopen on April 15 in its brand new building at 1720 Novato Boulevard, county librarian Bruce D. Bajema announced today.

Next Monday through Wednesday, the old library will be open only for the returning of books because the staff members will be busy packing and directing the movers. No fines will be charged during the month of April so that patrons may keep their books and return them to the new building with no fear of overdue charges.

An open house and dedication of the new library building is set for 2 p.m. April 24.

What's This? CMA Wants To Take Over Medi-Cal?

The California Medical Association wants to take over Medi-Cal, abolishing the state Department of Health Care Services.

A proposal that it do so was approved without debate at its annual convention in Anaheim.

First reaction to this just had to be disbelief. The CMA and its parent organization, the American Medical Association, fought down to the wire against Medicare, Medi-Cal, and other state health care systems, damning them as "socialized medicine."

Now, however, the CMA thinks it can do the job better.

Maybe it can. Certainly Medi-Cal is in trouble. Certainly it needs some overhauling.

HOWEVER, CMA MUST accept a share of the blame for what is wrong with Medi-Cal, just as AMA must accept its portion of responsibility for what is wrong with Medicare.

In their fight against "socialized medicine," the doctors' organizations succeeded in preserving the same doctor-hospital-patient relationship that prevailed in private practice. And this contributed to escalation of costs which have put the public health care systems in trouble.

In California, medical assistance claims are handled by Hospital Service of California (Blue Cross) for hospitals, by California Physicians' Service (Blue Shield) for doctors. These are the "fiscal intermediaries" for the program.

MEDI-CAL, like Medicare, is based on the fee for service concept. The fees for physicians are described as "reasonable charges not to exceed the prevailing charges in the locality for similar services." Those for hospitals and nursing homes are based on formulas agreed upon between the state and the California Hospital Association and California Nursing Home Association, respectively.

Gov. Ronald Reagan is by no means the only critic who has pointed out that this provides an incentive for over-use. The doctor benefits financially by having the patient call frequently at his office, by making many prescriptions, even more by putting the patient in a hospital — at which point the hospital also benefits.

The concept of health care on a retainer basis, not based on number of calls, prescriptions or hospitalizations, at no place enters the picture.

That it does not is a tribute to the dogged resistance of the American Medical Association and its subsidiaries, for that was exactly the concept promoted originally for both state and national health care programs.

The CMA proposal, voted at its convention, says nothing about changing this. The doctors like the system the way it is.

WHAT THE CMA SEEMS to be saying is that, while Medi-Cal is a failure with the CMA-created Blue Shield and California Hospitals Association Blue Cross as "fiscal intermediaries," it would be a success if these same organizations ran the whole show.

We would need to know a lot of details about how the CMA proposes to "reform" Blue Cross and Blue Shield before we would be ready to believe they can "reform" Medi-Cal.

Fiasco Of The Queen Mary: Biggest Boondoggle Of All

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — Recently, the Los Angeles Times published a copyrighted story by George Reasons, depicting in minute detail the Long Beach fiasco of the Queen Mary, citing the fact that the expenditure of public money on the vessel could reach $100 million before it is even ready to provide any return.

The Reasons story is not only a fine piece of investigative reporting, but also bears out predictions made in the column about five years ago, when it was exceedingly unpopular to call attention to the facts of the purchase of the vessel by the municipality of Long Beach.

HAD THE PEOPLE of Long Beach voted a bond issue, or even voted approval for officials to spend Long Beach money to acquire the rat-infested hulk, there would have been no story to write today.

But the use of funds which should belong to the entire State of California makes the enterprise one which should be subject to the closest scrutiny.

The California Assembly, through its ways and means committee, gives some indication that such an investigation may be upcoming. But whether hearings on the subject will be for real, or just another whitewash to protect the administration of the City of Long Beach and the money-bags that are continuing to profit from the many-faceted opportunities opened by the enterprise, remains to be seen.

AS REASONS SAYS in his story: "The gallant ship, once a symbol of elegance, has now become a symbol of bureaucratic waste and mismanagement and the butt of demeaning jokes."

Truer words were never spoken. However, with more money than it knew what to do with, the City of Long Beach naturally could be expected to become the target for promoters and sharp-shooters after the easy buck, which was there for the taking.

The reasons the money was there was because the state legislature several years ago committed from the Senate in December, he flew to California to talk over his ideas and plans with the directors of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions. The Center magazine has now put much of that conversation on the record.

McCarthy leaves little doubt that he now feels a third party is imperative, that he is to lead it and that, even if its effect is to help elect Nixon, its challenge will have been worth the result.

HERE IS THE WAY McCarthy spells out his thinking:

He holds that "the regular party channels are pretty well plugged up now. Either extra-political party approaches, the threat of a new political movement or a new political party is necessary."

McCarthy believes "the third party is beginning to look like a good risk."

He cites the need "for the proper separation of powers and sharing of powers." He says, "Someone soon ought to be able to run and say: 'I am going to find out where the wiretaps are, who is being spied on and who is doing it.'"

On the central issue McCarthy holds that "the best thing that could happen through some kind of third-party challenge is that it could say: 'We are going to build a party around the principles and around the public concern over the political process itself.'"

BUT WOULDN'T this simply insure a Republican victory? To this question McCarthy replies in effect that it would be worth it to try. He puts it this way:

"In forming a third party, there's always the risk of dividing the votes on one side and letting the other side win. But there comes a point when you simply have to run that risk. You say, 'All right, so the wrong people won because of us, but we told you that was the risk you were running.' It becomes a kind of poker game."

It is evident that McCarthy can hardly wait to open the game to all who will join him.

Answer To Fairfax Canine Problem?

The city fathers of Fairfax have spent untold hours trying to solve the problem of the enormous amounts of dogs roaming the streets of Fairfax. There may be an answer after all. It appears we have an expert on animal control living right here in town. Our esteemed supervisor, Mr. Peter Arrigoni, has relocated the raccoons and brought Hank the cat in out of the rain. Now, perhaps, he could concentrate his efforts in helping us solve our canine problem.

Fable Of Camel Applies To Schools

More and more chickens are coming home to roost. This remark and letter is prompted by an article in your paper dated March 16 by Pat Angle, titled, "Student Leader Challenges P.E."

Movements like this by some misguided students, aided and abetted by some administrative, executive, teaching personnel and parents, are coming back to haunt our society as full-grown plans to tear down and destroy the discipline and control of our schools...

These impractical and disruptive movements remind me of the fable of "The Arab and His Camel." At the end of a long day of travel, the Arab made camp at an oasis where, after feeding and watering his camels, he pitched his tent and built therein a small fire to warm himself from the desert cold. Shortly after he had finished his meager supper, he heard a rustling noise at the tent flap and saw the nose of one of his camels come pushing into the tent. Then the voice of the camel — whom the Arab recognized as the always complaining, most disobedient one of his herd — was heard to say, "Master, it is cold outside and it is warm in your tent. May I, your humble servant, please put my nose inside your shelter in order that I escape from the cold out here?" The Arab, being a trusting and humane man, agreed, and the camel pushed his nose into the tent. The Arab prepared for bed and when about asleep heard again the voice of the camel: "Please, master, may I put my head and neck into your tent as my nose feels so good in there?" To this the Arab also agreed and again prepared for his repose. A short period of time elapsed when, without warning and without seeking permission, the camel came lurching into the small tent, tumbling the Arab out into the cold night. In the meantime the camel had smothered the fire and pulled the tent down around his ears, so having completed his destruction he rejoined the herd, complaining about the injustices of society and the establishment...

This fable illustrates what is happening in our school system today, where first self-expression, then self-discipline, and now self-determination, especially of what courses and how much of each, threatens to make a mockery of mature and experienced planning and guiding of our educational system...

Historical Goof In Report of Fire

There appeared in your edition of March 17 (page 12, column 6) an article, "Ancient Rail Depot Blaze," etc. The details stated are so palpably false, one wonders where your reporters are educated and recruited.

"Fire, believed to be arson, partially destroyed the 175-year-old railroad station at Point Reyes Station today," etc. Any schoolboy should know there was no railroad of any kind anywhere on the Pacific slope until after the gold rush of 1849. Point Reyes Station was first established in 1892 as a post office.

Then, more plums of history: "The old depot building located on Main Street was built in the early 1800s by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad." The NWP was incorporated Jan. 8, 1907, as a consolidation of many other roads, none of which were operating in the early 1800s. The first railroad in California was operated, briefly, by Theodore Judah. This line ran 21 miles from Sacramento to Folsom, and served as a test before the transcontinental line of 1868.

McCarthy Third Party Threat Adds To Democratic Divisions

WASHINGTON — The Democrats are heading toward a crippling breech in party ranks in the 1972 campaign.

Party leadership is becoming so divided over Vietnam and the defense policy that it is now a near certainty that there will be either major defections or a dissident third-party Democratic ticket.

HERE'S HOW it is shaping:

1 — If Sen. Edmund Muskie or Sen. Hubert Humphrey or Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., becomes the nominee, Sen. George McGovern and former Sen. Eugene McCarthy and their supporters on the left would find them difficult to accept unless they become far more firmly dovish than seems likely. McCarthy or McGovern or both could well lead a third-party movement.

2 — If McGovern or McCarthy is chosen, the defense-minded, internationalist Democratic leaders like Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla.; House Majority Leader Hale Boggs, D-La.; Senators Jackson, Gale McGee and others can't possibly go along. And it is unlikely that Lyndon Johnson would sit quietly and watch his party repudiate the foreign policy of every Democratic president from 1933 to 1969. It is more than likely that they would "take a walk" or give some degree os support to President Nixon.

3 — House Majority Leader Boggs and Speaker Albert have begun to sharpen their opposition to the nearly unanimous line of Democratic presidential hopefuls who advocate radical cuts in defense and quick withdrawal of all forces from Vietnam on a fixed date publicly announced.

SUCH DEEP differences at the highest level of party leadership are not likely to be resolved. They are the stuff which causes a party to split wide open — as happened in 1948 — and such a split now appears to be in the making.

Former Senator McCarthy is positively itching to head a third-party ticket in 1972.

Shortly after McCarthy retired from the Senate in December, he flew to California to talk over his ideas and plans with the directors of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions. The Center magazine has now put much of that conversation on the record.

McCarthy leaves little doubt that he now feels a third party is imperative, that he is to lead it and that, even if its effect is to help elect Nixon, its challenge will have been worth the result.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

Louis And Flip: Two Worthy Of Admiration

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — Word of Louis Armstrong's heart attack came on Flip Wilson day, which is the day before payday. While watching Flip I was thinking about Louis, and about how much I liked them both, and why. And about how the Panthers must have absolute conniptions every time they think about either one of them.

Any self-respecting Panther would assert that the mere fact that a white man likes a black performer automatically means the performer must be an Uncle Tom. His logic would dictate that my calling Louis and Flip by their first names although they are not personal friends of mine is condescending. And it does get a bit delicate, a white man writing about not only black-white relations but black-black relations, too.

CAN YOU IMAGINE anybody calling Louis Mr. Armstrong or Flip Mr. Wilson? But the reason is not condescension.

It's admiration. Acknowledgment that each of them, with different talents, in different generations, was so good at his business that you came to think of him as a personal friend although he wouldn't know you from Strom Thurmond.

When Louis came out of New Orleans, it was the style for black men to roll their eyes and grin. And he did. He always looked as though he had just eaten half a watermelon.

The word "handkerchief-head" is a variation of Uncle Tom. Well, Louis was literally a handkerchief-head. He not only kept one bandana in his hand to wipe away the sweat, but when hitting high notes in hot weather he didn't hesitate to knot the four corners of another one and fit it over his kinky hair like a pickaninny in a cotton field.

BUT THAT WASN'T what made him great. He came to the show side of show business late. What made him great was the way he blew the cornet and trumpet. As a fast, shining lead in "Dippermouth Blues," or as a sad and muted obbligato in "Trouble in Mind," with Chippie Hill. On how many hundreds of records, on how many thousands of nights, on how many bandstands, over five decades?

He not only influenced trumpeters, he influenced every instrument in jazz and through them popular music. Listen to Ella Fitzgerald sing. Listen to the Louis in it. He was a giant, and when he was young, he was as proud and virile as any inciter of arson you are likely to meet today.

SO, IT SEEMS to me, is Flip. I admit when I first heard him it was on the record about Christopher Columbus, when he does Queen Isabella exalting "Chris gon' find Ray Charles!" And it seemed a bit scandalous, that wonderful black accent in these tread-softly racial times.

But when he has had a chance to grow on you, you realize that far from being a Tom, he is merrily putting down the whole lot of us — whites, blacks, hips, squares and Panthers alike. And making most of us like it.

What other black man would have the gall to walk out there and roll those eyes and grin that grin and do a skit with lines like "I was completely in the dark. (Pardon the pun)." All the while wearing not a bandana but a baby bonnet?

Who else of either race these days is going to needle the demonstrators and graffiti painters who kept the faith with Huey Newton and Angela Davis by getting on his knees before the judge in a television playlet and begging, "Free Freddy Johnson! Free Freddy Johnson!"?

WHAT FLIP HAS and Louis has is the courage and self-confidence to do it their own way instead of turning fashionably bitter under pressure. Plus, of course, the talent to make it stick, to force themselves to the very top among world-class competition.

And if they happened to spread a little brotherly love along the way, only a few brothers will complain.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

We should be careful to get out of an experience only the wisdom that is in it —and stop there, lest we be like the cat that sits down on the hot stove-lid. She will never sit down on a hot stove-lid again — and that is well; but also she will never sit down on a cold one any more. — Mark Twain.

Jail-Or-Fine Still Employed For Marin's Traffic Offenders

A Sacramento County judge touched off a little controversy a few weeks ago when he began sentencing all speeders to jail.

Judge Fred L. May said he was acting on a supreme court decision which said that if two men were guilty of a jointly committed crime, one could not go to jail while the other went free simply because he could pay a fine.

May said he interpreted the decision to mean that no one should be jailed because he cannot pay a fine, and "therefore, all the defendants who did not post bail went to jail."

The judge discontinued the everybody-to-jail policy a few days after it began when it drew widespread publicity.

NEITHER THE supreme court's decision nor Judge May's short-lived policy had much effect on sentencing of traffic offenders in Marin County.

Judge Peter Allan Smith of Marin Municipal Court said there was no established policy for the punishment of traffic offenders, but all the municipal court judges pretty much follow the same practice he does.

Persons found guilty are often given the choice of paying a fine or serving time in the county jail, but Smith said it is important to give the citizen a chance to pay the fine.

He said persons offered a fine or jail are given as much as 90 days — and on occasion up to six months or a year — to pay the fine.

SOMETIMES TRAFFIC offenders are given the opportunity to pay fines in installments, Smith said, describing the installment plan as "a way of life today."

In the jail-or-fine sentences, a small percentage, even with the ability to pay the fine, chose jail, he said.

Two classes of traffic offenders where the fine or jail is usually not offered are persons on welfare and alcoholics, he said.

The judge said he found taking away driver licenses for a time a successful solution to the welfare case.

"Jail, simply because they have no money, is too harsh," he said.

With alcoholics, jail provides "warmth, food, clothing and a place to dry out."

A NEW APPROACH being tried in Marin Municipal Court, Smith said, is assigning citizens to county work crews in lieu of, or in addition to, other punishments.

The approach is being used not only in traffic cases, he said, noting he assigned a young college student in a marijuana case to five days with a county work crew. The District Attorney's office had recommended five days in jail.

The main thing judges are concerned about, Judge Smith said, "is a fair disposition of the case."

Lt. Col. Larsen Is To Retire

Lt. Col. Donavon K. Larson, operations officer for the special missions squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base, has retired after 20 years' service.

Prior to his arrival at Hamilton Air Force Base in 1966, Colonel Larson helped train pilots in the German Air Force at Frankfurt.

Commissioned in the Army Air Corps in World War II, he flew B-24S and B-29S.

He was recalled to active duty in 1953, completed Air Command and Staff College in 1965, and was assigned to Vietnam, where he was awarded the Bronze Star and Air Medal.

A native of Sacramento, Colonel Larson plans to remain in Novato.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Bill Would Open Schools To Union Shop Contracts

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

A bill now in the California Senate Education Committee would make possible the union shop in all California schools, from kindergarten through University of California.

It would supersede not only the Winton Act but also other laws dealing with employer-employe relations in the public schools.

The bill is SB 324 by Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, D-Los Angeles. It would add this to the Education Code:

"Notwithstanding any provision of the law to the contrary, every person employed in a position requiring certification qualifications by any school or educational institution in the state, included but not limited to elementary schools, junior high schools, high schools, community colleges, colleges or universities, is entitled to all rights and privileges specified in Section 923 of the Labor Code."

SECTION 923 deals with the right to union membership and representation.

If Dymally's bill were to become law, union shop contracts could be negotiated with school districts and the state by the California Federation of Teachers, the California Teachers Association, and other unions.

There are other unions already in the picture. The AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers, of which CFT is a part, has also an organization among University of California faculty, called United Professors of California. Another new AFL-CIO union, the National Union of School Administrators and Supervisors, has started organizing school management personnel. And 30 elementary school administrators in the San Francisco schools have joined the Teamsters Union.

THE CTA, OF COURSE, does not call itself a union. It says it is a professional organization. But this does not mean it does not want union shop contracts, with itself as the employees' bargaining agent.

Curtis Plott, assistant executive director of the CTA Southern Section, wrote this in the February issue of Teacher Advocate, the Southern Section's news monthly:

"The negotiations drive is on its way. Tentatively at first, we avoided such words as strikes, collective bargaining and binding arbitration as being too 'unprofessional.' The inhouse terminology was withholding of services, professional days of protest, and today, master agreements and comprehensive contracts. With some justification, chapters found that Mrs. Jones in the third grade would fight for a 'master agreement' but rejected a 'collective bargaining contract' although they are substantially the same."

"MASTER AGREEMENTS" setting forth what the teachers shall do and what the school district must do are being pushed by CTA, despite some legal setbacks. Several of them have been signed and are in force — legal or not.

One such "master agreement" which resulted from last year's strike by United Teachers of Los Angeles — a merger of CFT and CTA locals — was ruled illegal by Judge Charles Stratton of Los Angeles Superior Court. He held that it was a collective bargaining contract, and that neither the teachers' negotiating council nor the Los Angeles Board of Education had authority to enter into such a contract.

The Los Angeles Board of Education then embodied everything that was in the contract in its "board rule 3700." Judge Stratton ruled that this, too, was illegal, since by it the board delegated away powers which the law did not permit it to delegate.

However, the current negotiating council, dominated and controlled by United Teachers of Los Angeles, has hired an attorney and assessed Los Angeles teachers — including those who are members of organizations opposed to UTLA — to appeal the superior court rulings. And "board rule 3700" remains operative — legal or not.

RECENTLY THE San Francisco Teachers Council proposed a master agreement to the San Francisco Board of Education. Irving Breyer, the board's attorney, held it illegal under the Los Angeles decision. But the teacher organizations have threatened to strike unless such an agreement is signed.

Legal complications such as these would disappear if Senator Dymally's SB 324 became law. The school boards then would be merely "management" bargaining agents.

Wiretap Proposal Defeated In Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Senate Judiciary Committee today defeated a bill to permit policemen to use wiretaps and bugging devices to gather evidence on suspected criminals.

The measure by Sen. John L. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, was killed on a split voice vote despite a plea for it by the personal emissary of U.S. Attorney General John Mitchell.

James Ritchie, head of the U.S. Justice Department's Strike Force on Organized Crime for Northern California, told the committee that electronic surveillance is "an indispensable aid to the administration of justice."

Ritchie, noting federal crime fighters already have bugging authorization, said his agents "can't collect all that is necessary to effectively fight the organized criminal activity in California."

But Harold G. Bradford, representing the State Bar, opposed the measure on grounds it would violate an innocent person's right to privacy.

"The bill raises and presents a potential and unwarranted invasion of privacy," Bradford said, adding that it could also violate a lawyer-client confidence if their conversations were bugged.

Sheldon Portman, representing the California Public Defenders Association, also opposed the bill, which he labeled "a new kind of totalitarianism."

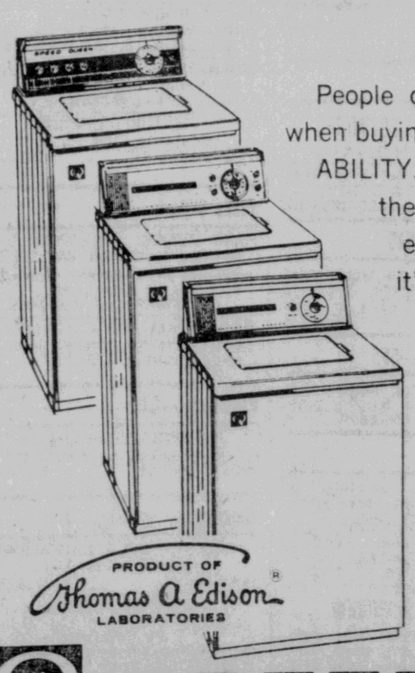
Ready to talk about DEPENDABILITY?



People often forget one important thing when buying their first washer. It's DEPENDABILITY. Consequently, they get to know the repairman pretty well. And that's expensive. With the second washer, it's different. Dependability comes first! And that's why a Speed Queen should be your No. 1 choice. Speed Queens are Designed and Built to be dependable . . . to give extra years of faithful service. We'd love to have you come in and say, "prove it."

What's going on in Sacramento?

Plenty. There's a new climate, a new political alignment in the state legislature . . . and possibly a new approach to legislative problems which are of definite importance to you.

When the new Speaker speaks, Tracy Wood reports for you in the I-J

Bob Moretti, new Speaker of the House, appears to be concentrating intensely as he listens to a question from Tracy Wood, one of the I-J's United Press International reporters in Sacramento.

Perhaps from experience Moretti knows that Tracy is no one to turn off with a smile or top-of-the-head remark. For young and feminine as she may be, Tracy Wood has the gift of separating verbal chaff from the wheat. And of being so persistently inquiring that political figures think twice before answering . . . and maybe thrice about not answering.

Tracy, like all I-J and UPI reporters, takes the stubbornly objective view, that you, the reader, have the right to know. No system on earth so well insures that you may be informed. And none so well brings out the element which alone distinguishes good reporting - the truth.

Dominican Ballets For Young Slated

Two free ballets, especially designed for young audiences, will be presented at 5 p.m. Saturday and 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the gymnasium at Dominican College.

"Warm Up," choreographed by Carolyn Parks of the Marin Civic Ballet Association, captures the various moods of a ballet class in action.

"The Boy and the Mopes," set to music by Leos Janacek of the ballet company, tells the story of a senile witch and her helpers, the mopes, who try to cast a spell on a young boy. Choreography is by Charles Perrier of the Marin ballet company.

Thief Saws Meter, Carts It Away

A thief armed with a pipe cutter stole a parking meter from in front of 1312 Third Street between Friday and yesterday, according to San Rafael police.

The $80 meter, which was sawed off at the base and carted away, contained only 50 cents, police said.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Hysteria As A Diagnosis Is Back In Psychiatrist's Book

Hysteria is back in the good graces of our psychiatrists. For a time it had been removed from the list of official diagnoses, but has been resurrected. It is a form of neurosis that occurs mainly in women under 30. Over the years, these ladies develop a number of chronic and recurrent illnesses that they describe in dramatic fashion. Nearly all of the victims have menstrual difficulties, sexual maladjustments, anxieties, recurrent gastrointestinal and urinary problems, multiple pains and mood disturbances. They complain so bitterly that many end up in the hospital and ultimately convince the physician that he had better operate, take a look and remove anything removable. Of course, nothing is found during exploratory surgery and the cycle repeats itself.

IN ADDITION, their inner tensions may be converted into symptoms, suggestive of a nervous system disorder. Some claim that they cannot see or talk, yet all test results are normal Others develop paralysis, amnesia, urinary retention or difficulty in walking. Now and then they are plagued with "spells," convulsions, or seizures.

As a rule, a bona fide neurological disturbance is easily distinguished from the more bizarre emotional disorders. In addition, the symptom comes and goes — an unlikely situation if the person has lost his hearing or is paralyzed. Hysterical women are difficult to treat because they will not accept a psychiatric reason for their symptoms. Many get divorced, separated, or try suicide and are notorious for "shopping" from one doctor to another.

THE GREEK TERM for uterus is hystera. Ancient physicians believed hysteria was caused by a frustrated uterus that became detached and wandered about the body producing bizarre symptoms. This notion was discarded when men began to develop hysteria.

TIRED OF TATTOO

Mrs. P. H. writes: At age 14, I had a tattoo put on my leg. Now I want it removed. How do I go about it?

REPLY

See your physician. There are various ways to remove a tattoo depending upon its size and location. I might add, however, that it is 100 times more difficult to remove the decoration than it is to put on. Some can be removed via skin abrasion. Others require plastic surgery.

ALCOHOL AND STONES

H. J. writes: Can you please tell me whether alcohol can contribute to the formation of uric acid stones?

REPLY

I would say no. Gout is the most common cause for uric acid stones, especially when the individual does not drink ample fluids. An alcoholic binge aggravates an existing gout.

STICKY EYELIDS

K. A. L. writes: What causes sticky eyelids on waking in the morning? My doctor says it is due to blepharitis.

REPLY

Inflammation of the lids. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on blepharitis.

BLOOD TYPE

Mrs. H. M. writes: I've been married for 35 years and all this time I was under the impression that children have the same blood type as their father. Is this true?

REPLY

The blood type of the child is derived from both parents.

Anglo-American Talks On Rolls Jet Engine Issue

LONDON (UPI) —Two top British government officials flew to Washington today to join talks on saving the Rolls-Royce RB211 jet engine needed for Lockheed's Tristar Jet Airbus.

Defense Secretary Lord Carrington and attorney general Sir Peter Rawlinson will jon a British negotiating team, U.S. Government officials and Lockheed Aircraft president Daniel Haughton at talks.

Lockheed was counting on the RB211 to power its new Tristar. The British Government has made an offer under which the RB211 project would be continued. But Haughton turned it down as not good enough.

Escalating production costs for the RB211, not foreseen in original bidding for the project, helped force Rolls-Royce into receivership last month.

Turkish Premier Picks Cabinet

ANKARA (UPI)—Premier-designate Nihat Erim has picked a cabinet of "brains, class and brass" in his efforts to shape a new government acceptable to Turkey's generals, political sources said today.

Picked to replace Premier Suleyman Demirel, who was forced to resign on March 12 under threat of military takeover, Erim said today he would blend "young and experienced experts" with politicians to form a "brain trust within the cabinet."

He pledged his government would push for economic and social reforms.

Eviction Of Draft Boards Being Sought

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—The owner of a downtown office building is trying to evict three local draft boards on grounds they are a nuisance and a threat to the health and welfare of his other tenants.

James Boccardo filed suit in federal court Monday complaining that the Selective Service offices have repeated riots, demonstrations and "mutilation" of the 10-story building.

He said 75 per cent of his tenants have complained and some have moved out.

Boccardo said antiwar demonstrators last week locked arms in front of the building entrance and blocked employes of other offices. A fire was started in December by a bomb made out of gasoline and detergent.

Meditation Lecture Slated At Church

Scholar Interviews Are Tuesday

Bank of America has announced the five judges who will select four out of 37 Marin and Southern Sonoma high school seniors as finalists for the bank's annual achievement awards competition.

The judges, drawn from business and civic groups, will conduct panel discussion with the students on Tuesday. Their decisions will be based on interviews with the students their scholastic records and extracurricular activities.

Judges are Robert H. Green, San Rafael realtor; Robert L. Fisher, District Scout Executive of Marin Council, Boy Scouts of America, San Rafael; David M. Stewart, president of a Fairfax management consultant firm; Helen Hermann, executive director of Redwood Empire Area Council of Campfire Girls of Petaluma, and Robert Andresen, Mill Valley attorney.

Vigril S. Hollis, superintendent of Marin County Schools, will be moderator for the event. Coordinating the panels and interviews will be Leroy Rudolph, vice president and manager of Bank of America's San Rafael main office.

The 37 student candidates were listed by field of study and high school in the March 2 issue of the Independent-Journal.

Broadway Play To Be Presented In Mill Valley

The Mill Valley Center for Performing Arts will present four week-end performances of Paddy Chayefsky's successful Broadway comedy "The Tenth Man."

Performances beginning at 8:30 p.m. will be held this Friday and Saturday and April 3, April 9-10, 16-17 and 23-24 at 267 Buena Vista Avenue in Mill Valley.

The play, directed by Robert Adler, artistic director of the Festival Theater of San Anselmo, unfolds the attempts by members of an old Jewish Synagogue to exorcise a demon from a young girl.

Throughout the play, the earnest group searches for the tenth man needed before the prayers, designed to exorcise demons, can be recited. A successful young lawyer, who drops in unexpectedly, saves the day.

The play was produced by Andy Crow of Mill Valley and designed by John Lechner, a student at San Francisco State College.

PUC Finds Phone Firms Tap Their Own Workers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Public Utilities Commission found Tuesday that Pacific Telephone and General Telephone have violated its orders regarding monitoring conversations of employes.

However, the PUC merely ordered the companies to review such PUC orders with their supervisory personnel at the time of their employment and annually thereafter.

The commission said the violations were in regard to disclosure of information obtained by "supervisory monitoring." It said evidence established that "instances have occurred where information obtained through supervisory monitoring has been used for disciplinary purposes."

Vandenberg Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A resolution urging the federal government to establish a national cemetery at Vandenberg Air Force Base was proposed Tuesday by Assemblyman W. Don MacGillivray, R-Santa Barbara.

11 Colleges To Attend Workshop

A student government conference will be held Saturday at the College of Marin to discuss ecology, minorities, student financial aide and "effective political action."

Scheduled to begin at 8 a.m. at the college center, the day-long session of workshops and lectures is being sponsored by Area Seven of the California Community College Student Government Association.

Students from 11 colleges, from as far away as Fremont and Eureka, are expected to attend.

According to a conference spokesman, the workshops will begin at 10:30 a.m. and attempt to define problems and develop solutions.

The workshop on political action, for instance, will deal with establishing a system to pool political strength for problems shared by the 11 colleges.

Herman Wedemeyer Of Furniture Fame

Boy, was I conned at the College of Marin athletic reunion the other night at Nave Lanes.

When I walked in, George Curry grabbed me by the arm and introduced me to a natty gent in a double-breasted blue blazer. He was wearing dark glasses and a mod haircut. "I'd like you to meet my friend, Herman Wedemeyer," said Curry.

I gulped, for Wedemeyer, the Honolulu Hip, was one of my football idols when he starred at St. Mary's College almost 30 years ago.

"Wow! Pleased to meet you," I said to Wedey. "Haven't seen you in years. Gosh, you look good. I remember the old Singing Saints at St. Mary's. How're things in Hawaii? Understand you've been dabbling in politics." I went on and on.

Much later, to my embarrassment, I learned that "Wedey" was actually San Rafael furniture tycoon Milton (Casa Marin) Schwartz, complete with hairpiece for his ruse. It did old baldy justice.

That set the stage for this bi-annual reunion of the Marin athletes of the 1946-47-48 era. Everyone had a ball, but you had to roll up your trousers to wade through the tall tales woven throughout the long evening.

I wasn't the only one duped by Schwartz and Curry. Vince Tringali, the head football coach at USF, also fell for the gag, gushing enthusiastically: "Hey, good to see you, Squirmin' Herman."

Tringali later recalled his most painful experience at Marin in 1947. On a long pass pattern, he streaked toward the endzone to grab the ball for what appeared to be a sure TD. "Only trouble was," said Vince, "just as I caught the ball I ran smack into the goal post, breaking my helmet and leaving a perfect black and blue streak down my chest and stomach. A couple of more inches and I'd have been ruined for life."

The man who threw that pass, by the way, was Sammy DeVito, now the head coach at an East Bay junior college.

About 60 of the former COM Tars were there, including coaches Arleigh Williams, now dean of students at U.C. Berkeley, Irwin "Red" Diamond, dean of students at COM, and Harry Pieper, now the athletic director at Marin.

Williams, who has done a remarkable job in view of the problems at Berkeley in recent years, said: "Boy, times have changed. I'd sure like to turn the calendar back to those good old days at Kentfield." Amen.

Diamond, who in his first year at Marin (1947-48) coached the Tars to the national junior college championship in the greatest of all Marin County Cinderella stories, saw some of his old champs, including Walt Moreno, now an artist for Foster-Kleiser; Ford Motor Co. executive Ken Gardner; attorneys Jim Burchell and Leroy Rice, and Fremont High School athletic director Ray Snyder.

Two of the most popular old Tars were noticeable by their absence — Jack Ertola, now a Superior Court Judge in San Francisco, who was away on business; and Marin County Supervisor Peter Arrigoni, who was busy in Fairfax saving cats from the elements.

I'm just casually dropping all these names, little old name-dropper me, to show that these Men of Marin have gone on to bigger and better things in the past quarter-century.

Marin Tars' Game To Be Played Today

College of Marin's Camino Norte Conference baseball game against West Valley Junior College, scheduled for yesterday in Campbell, was postponed until this afternoon because of bad weather.

Tar coach Vic Petreshene this morning named righthander Dennis Bueler to go against the Vikings. Bueler has one of the Kentfield team's two CNC victories to his credit.

Girls' Softball Signups Wednesday

Signups for a girls' bobby-sox softball league in San Anselmo will be held Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. at Isabel Cook School, San Anselmo Recreation Department director Frank L. Quinn announced today.

Leagues for girls in the 9-11 and 12-15 age groups will be organized, said Quinn. National officials will be on hand to explain league plans Wednesday night

Rookies Too Much For A's

MESA, Ariz. (UPI)—The Oakland Athletics meet the San Francisco Giants today after absorbing a Cactus League loss at the hands of three rookies.

Two young pitchers, Jim Slaton and Roric Harrison, combined a seven-hit performance Tuesday as the Milwaukee Brewers beat the A's, 9-3.

Rookie shortstop Rick Auerbach blasted a home run in the seventh for the Brewers.

Slaton, who picked up the win, allowed Oakland's three runs, one of them unearned. Harrison pitched the last four innings and only gave up one hit.

The Brewers got nine hits off A's starter Chuck Dobson, the loser, and two relievers, Art Boyd and Jim Panther.

Milwaukee wrapped up the game in the third with a three-run outburst.

A's manager Dick Williams had planned to cut some pitchers this week, but since none of his relievers have been very impressive he decided to wait.

"After seeing what our stoppers are trying to do we're not making any cuts at this time," Williams said.

"I was going to cut a few, but I can't now," he said. "I might cut the wrong one."

Two Records For Redwood Swim Star

A double school record performance by Redwood High School's Paul Cane led the Giants to a powerful 78-17 romp over the San Marin Mustangs in a Marin County Athletic League swim meet in Larkspur yesterday.

In another MCAL meet, Novato swamped San Rafael, 53-42, at Novato.

Cane, a junior, set school marks in both of his wins, the 200-yard Individual Medley and the 100-yard backstroke, as Redwood raised its win -loss record to 4-1. His I.M. time of 2:09.1 ranks as the county's best so far in 1971.

The Novato Hornets' aces, Roger Rechsteiner and Mike Smith, recorded double victories in the win over San Rafael. The triumph moved Novato into third place behind undefeated Terra Linda, and second-place Redwood.

APPARENT WIN FOR MARIN SKIPPER

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (UPI) — Improbable, skippered by Belvedere's David W. Allen, of the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere appeared to be the probable winner today in the Miami-Montego Bay ocean race.

Improbable sailed across the finish line fifth Tuesday, but was in first place on unofficial corrected time in the handicap race.

First across the line was Windward Passage, a big 73-foot ketch that finished in record time Monday.

A total of 14 boats had crossed the finish line by nightfall Tuesday, with 17 more left to finish before the final results could be tallied.

Griffith Decisions Guteirrez

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Former world welterweight and middleweight titlist Emile Griffith pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision over Rafael Guteirrez Tuesday night.

Griffith, 156, New York, scored repeatedly to the body with hooks and uppercuts to win handily on all three official cards. There were no knockdowns but the loser was staggered in the sixth and seventh rounds by body blows.

Gutierrez, 163, Sacramento, Calif., was fined $200 by the California Athletic Commission for coming in two pounds above the stipulated weight.

The official cards were 7-1, 8-2, and 6-1, all for Griffith, and United Press International scored it 9-0. Attendance was 5,354 with a gross gate of $32,158.

It was Griffith's 68th victory against 11 losses. Gutierrez is now 35-4-3. Griffith is trying to regain the 160-pound crown.

Griffith's next scheduled bout is against "Indian Red Lopez in Las Vegas in mid-April.

Former middleweight contender Jimmy Lester, 158, San Francisco knocked out Al Mills, 157, Milwaukee, in 2:24 of the first round of a scheduled 10-round semi-final; Ray Lunny III, 129, Redwood City, Calif., former national AAU champion, stopped Chamaco Lopez, 130, Mexico at 2:30 of the first round; and Hal Dutra, 200, Half Moon Bay, Calif., kayoed Gorilla Lopez, 190, San Jose, Calif., at 29 seconds of the opening round of another scheduled six-rounder.

Petraglia Adds To Money Lead

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Johnny Petraglia of Brooklyn, N. Y., moved further ahead of his rivals in the Professional Bowlers Association by picking up the $7,000 check in the Fair Lanes Open last weekend, running his 1971 earnings to $33,603.

Earl Anthony of Tacoma, Wash. was in second with $25,060, followed by Dave Soutar of Gilroy, Calif., $23,125; Don Johnson, Akron, $22,521, and Dick Weber, St. Louis, $20,215.

The $100,000 Firestone Tournament of Champions next week here will pay the winner $25,000.

Call New Orleans 'Super'

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Club owners of the National Football League emerged from a three-hour session at high society's Breakers Hotel Tuesday and announced that the next Super Bowl game would be played in New Orleans.

It caught a lot of people by surpsise, particularly the delegations from Miami, Dallas, Houston, Los Angeles and Jacksonville, who had been courting the football kings.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle was at a loss to explain what swayed the owners to return the game to the Sugar Bowl, where foul weather spoiled the fun two years ago.

The decision came on the 14th ballot, Rozelle said, with 20 of 26 club owners voting in favor of New Orleans.

The voting was by secret ballot and Rozelle wouldn't speculate on what was the deciding influence.

"I can't look in the minds of 26 club owners," he said.

But the commissioner mentioned several factors that may have been involved, specifically an inclination to alternate the site between American and National conference cities and "the tremendous football interest" in New Orleans.

Behind the closed doors it boiled down to a fight between Miami and Dallas, the Texas city apparently the favorite with its new 65,000-seat stadium. New Orleans, apparently a compromise, was nominated three times before it got the winning tally.

Rozelle said another factor was the promise of the New Orleans delegation to install artificial turf in the Sugar Bowl in time for the game.

Lester Kabacoll, the New Orleans Chamber of Commerce man who headed the Louisiana entourage, said he planned to launch a campaign today to raise money by public donation to pay for the $250,000 carpet at Tulane Stadium.

Today the NFL owners turned to proposed changes in football rules, notably one which would cramp the style of place kick specialists. If the change is adopted, on a missed field goal the ball would be returned to the line of scrimmage instead of the 20-yard line after a touchback.

Rozelle also announced that the club owners voted to change the date of the draft of college players to the second Tuesday after the final post-season game, which is usually the Pro Bowl.

On the allocation of tickets for Super Bowl VI, he said the competing clubs will get 10,000 each, the other 24 clubs 800 each, and the commissioner's office 5,000. New Orleans Saints season ticket holders will get priority up to 30,000 and 5,800 will be offered for public sale. The Sugar Bowl seats about 81,000.

Another Victory For Drake

Catcher Mike Baughman nearly hit for the cycle, and Lex Rzepelia became the fourth Drake High School pitcher in as many games to limit an opponent to a single run yesterday as the red-hot Pirates edged Napa High, 2-1 in preseason baseball action at San Anselmo.

The Pirates were the only Marin County Athletic League team to play yesterday. Five other schools had games washed out because of bad weather.

Baughman was the prominent figure in the third inning rally that brought Drake its fourth straight win. He laced a triple to knock in the first run, and scored moments later on a single by John Loane. He also slammed a double and a single in a perfect afternoon at the plate. John Billings was also perfect for the Pirates with two hits in two at bats.

Rzepelia limited the Indians to four hits (Drake pitchers have allowed only 13 hits in the last four games) and was never in serious trouble, although he trailed for half an inning after Napa scored in the third.

NEW 'PRO' — Johny Neumann, who scored 40.1 points per game for Old Miss this year to lead the nation in scoring, relaxed yesterday with his wife Carolyn while final details were settled in his contract with the Memphis Pros of the American Basketball Association.

Soph Sensation Neumann Turns Pro For $2 Million

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Johnny Neumann, some $2 million richer and with a "no cut, five year contract," was expected to take part in halftime "signing" ceremonies tonight at the Pros-Denver American Basketball Association game at the Mid-South Coliseum. Many suspect however, that Neumann, the nation's college basketball scoring leader from the University of Mississippi, already has signed with the Memphis club.

The agreement was announced in New York Tuesday by ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph, who said the contract was approved by the league's board of trustees in light of a California Circuit Court judge's decision that a draft limited to seniors was in violation of anti-trust laws.

However, Commissioner Walter Kennedy of the rival National Basketball Association announced Tuesday that undergraduates will not be eligible for his league's 1971 college player draft on Monday. Kennedy met Monday with the NBA's Board of Governors.

In an interview with the Memphis Commercial-Appeal, Neumann said playing professional basketball was his lifelong dream.

Neumann, the 6-6 sophomore forward who averaged 40.1 points per game, told the newspaper in a copyrighted story the decision was made because of personal hardships created by a heart attack suffered by his father in late February and by his marriage last summer.

Neumann's contract is believed to be a "league contract" similar to the one which Jacksonville's Artis Gilmore signed last week with the ABA binding him to the Kentucky Colonels' franchise, the report said.

Pros Coach Babe McCarthy said Neumann would make a "great" swing man in either guard or forward and said he knew Neumann could "make it in the ABA."

The father, Robert H. Neumann, 60, was hospitalized Feb. 20 with the first heart attack and suffered another seizure while in the intensive care unit of Baptist Hospital.

"My father may never be able to work again," said Neumann. "Now I'm head of the household."

Robert (Cob) Jarvis, head basketball coach at Ole Miss, accepted Neumann's decision with mixed emotions.

"We at Ole Miss have always had a personal interest in our athletes above all else," Jarvis said. "In the present case we have kept abreast of the situation from the time of Mr. Neumann's attack.

"We know of the problems and conflicts Johnny has been faced with," the coach said. "Although we are sorry to lose the nation's leading scorer, we fully understand his decision.

"We consider his case a true hardship case." Jarvis said.

Dolph said he had originally rejected the Neumann contract, but resubmitted it to the board of trustees after a recent ruling by Circuit Judge Warren Fergsuon of California.

"The board agreed to the contract only on the advise of legal counsel," Dolph said, "And they feel that Judge Ferguson's ruling must be considered the law of the land until proven otherwise."

Cub Hurlers Silence Giant Bats

MESA, Ariz. (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants have been hitting well this spring, but their bats were silenced Tuesday by three Chicago Cubs pitchers.

Rookie Ray Newman, Joe Decker and Lon Pizzarro shutout the Giants on six hits as the Cubs walked away with an 8-0 exhibition season victory.

Billy Williams and Johnny Callison provided the hitting for the Cubs, each driving in two runs.

The Giants play the Oakland Athletics today.

The Cubs blasted 23-year-old Jim Barr for six runs in three runs, then veteran reliever Don McMahon came in and allowed two runs in three innings as the Cubs put the game away.

Earlier Tuesday the Giants acquired southpaw Steve Hamilton from the Chicago White Sox in a no-cash trade for infielder Steve Huntz.

Hamilton, 34, is a veteran bullpen specialist. The Giants had traded Don Mason to the San Diego Padres last December to get Huntz, 25, as insurance behind third baseman Alan Gallagher.

Cards Vs. Redskins

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday completed their National Football League pre-season schedule by announcing a game with the Washington Redskins, Aug. 21, at Washington and with the Cincinnati Bengals, August 28, at Cincinnati.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

The Vernal Equinox Brings Spring Chores

Ah Spring! The vernal equinox is upon us. It brings us to the pleasant chores of preparing the boat for the summer fun ahead. And think how the spring chores for the outboarder have changed.

TODAY IT takes longer to put the boat's accessories in shape than the boat itself. Twenty years ago it was so different.

Back in 1951 most boats were still made of wood. The motor was most likely a "five" or even less, and it had no remote steering, controls or fuel tank. The trailer (they were very few) was a homemake brute with big car tires and no rollers, bumpers or frills.

TO FIT out that rig, one might have spent 20 minutes on the motor (new grease in the lower unit, maybe a new spark plug) and many tedious hours on the boat, scraping, sanding, caulking, painting, varnishing.

Today the balance has swung. Hulls are usually fiber glass, aluminum or wood with a tough plastic finish. It's the motor and its attendant gadgetry that seems to tax tha outboarder duringthe spring "fitting out" as some of these questions I've been asked indicate:

Q. Fishing line got caught around my prop last summer, now there's an oil leak, what gives?

A. The fish line worked itself into the oil seal around the prop shaft. You'll have to replace the seal. Next time you see a line around your prop, get it off pronto.

Q. My gas tank rusted inside over the winter. Is this bad?

A. It's terrible, I'd say. You'll never feel confident with such a tank. However, shake out the rust flakes and rinse with gasoline. It will do as long as you are careful not to allow any condensation to form water in the tank.

Q. My propeller is nicked. Can I file it smooth?

A. Only if the damage is very slight. If you take any amount of metal off one blade, take the same amount off the others or the prop will be out of balance and cause vibration.

Q. I've got five gallons of outboard fuel I mixed last summer at my summer cabin. Is it O.K.?

A. It's great stuff . . . to gum up your motor. I know it hurts to throw away a couple of dollars, but stale gasoline-oil mix often forms gum that may plug your carburetor.

Q. The rubber hose from my tank to the outboard motor turned hard during the winter. Why?

A. Rubber experts tell me it's age. And the aging of both natural and synthetic rubber can be speeded up by sunlight, or some solvents. In any case don't take a chance, get a new one and take more care of it.

Q. I started my outboard out of water (I didn't know any better). It got hot and squealed. How bad is it?

A. Who wouldn't squeal with that kind of treatment? Most outboards are water cooled. But maybe it isn't too bad. It's when the squealing stops that you have to worry. That mean's the water pump impeller is burned out for sure.

Q. My remote controls are very stiff to move after being laid up for the winter. Any advice?

A. You'll have to lubricate thoroughly. Take the cover off the control box and repack the inside with grease. Maybe you'll have to soak parts in light oil. Next year do a better job of winterizing before you put things away.

Q. What's the spark plug gap on outboards?

A. The average is 30 thousandths of an inch (.030 inch). This is wider than the gap specified for many automobiles (usually 25 thousandths). Plugs with smaller gaps seem to foul more quickly on an outboard.

Q. I've got a cover on my batter box. A friend seemed quite alarmed that it had no ventilation holes. Why?

A. Well, it could blow up. A charging battery gives off hydrogen, which is explosive when mixed with air. However, I must admit that in 25 years of dabbling in boats, I've never heard of a battery box blowing up. But there'll be a first time.

Q. How do I lubricate the propeller shaft of an outboard?

A. The lubricant comes in a tube like toothpaste and is usually squirted into the lower of two holes (protected by screw plugs) on the lower unit. The shaft, gears and entire unit is lubricated when the grease runs from the top hole.

USC's Issakson Declared Academically Ineligible

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sweden's Kjell Issakson, who this month set a world indoor pole vault record of 17 feet, 9 inches, has been declared ineligible to compete for the University of Southern California, assistant track coach Ken Matsuda announced Tuesday.

Matsuda told the Southern California Track Writers of Issakson's ineligibility and said the Swedish vaulter would compete for the Southern California Striders, a club team.

"His high school grades from Sweden could not be converted into proper equivalents for American subjects," a university spokesman said. "And because of a language handicap, he did not score high enough on comprehensive examinations."

The spokesman said, however, there was still "an outside chance" that Issakson might become eligible and the Swedish star was continuing in school.

Tennis

CHICAGO (UPI)—Top-seeded John Newcombe of Australia moved into the second round of the $50,000 Sportface International Tennis Championship today, but three other seeds were upset in their initial matches of the tournament. Charles Pasarell of Puerto Rico brought off the biggest coup when he dumped U.S. professional champ, Tony Roche of Australia, 6-4, 6-4.

Another American, Marty Riessen of Tuscon, Ariz., formerly of Illinois, stopped 12th-seeded Roger Taylor of Britain, 7-6, 4-6, 7-5.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mrs. Billie Jean King will be seeking the start of her eighth victory in 10 tournaments on the women's tennis tour this year when she faces Mrs. Carole Graebner today in an opening round match of the $15,000 Virginia Slims Invitational tournament.

Mrs. King, who has won $24,450, is top-seeded in the field which was narrowed to 16 Tuesday by four elimination matches.

Boxing

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Joe Frazier will remain in a hospital here for the rest of the week, his physician said yesterday. Dr. James C. Guiffre said that Frazier's ill health since his successful title defense against Muhammad Ali Mar. 8 might be the result of kidney damage.

Hockey

BERN, Switzerland (UPI)—Russia's defending world champions face their first real test in the 1971 World Ice Hockey championships today when they clash with Czechoslovakia.

The Russians have gone undefeated through three games in the six-nation tournament. Today, the Czechs will go all out to beat them.

N.Y. Best Not Good Enough

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Even their very best wasn't good enough, and the New York Rangers reluctantly settled for second place today.

The Rangers whipped the Buffalo Sabres, 7-2, Tuesday night, marking the first time in their history they have gone over the 100-point plateau in their long history. Their 101 points are nine more than they ever achieved, and with five games yet to play they already have won four more games than any previous Ranger team.

But they are also 14 points behind the Boston Bruins in the National Hockey League's East Division with no mathematical chance to capture the Prince of Wales trophy for the first time since 1941-42. Their victory Tuesday night, though, did enable them to clinch second place.

"Before the season started I said 103 points would win our division," said Emile Francis, coach and general manager of the Rangers. "Here we are ready to pass that figure, yet there's no way we can win.".

The Minnesota North Stars clinched a playoff berth in the West Division by beating the Los Angeles Kings, 3-1.

298 Game Rolled At Country Club

Ron Baccei, a San Rafael carpenter, missed a perfect game by just two pins Monday night in the Mixed Mates League at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael.

After rolling 11 strikes, Baccei left the 6 and 10 pins for a 298 game. It was his first game of the evening. A 188 average bowler, Baccei came back with games of 183 and 178 for a 659 series.

NBA PLAYOFFS

Prelims Over, Time To Start

By United Press International

With the preliminaries, such as an 82-game regular season, out of the way, the National Basketball Association gets down to business tonight with the start of its playoffs.

The regular campaign ended Tuesday night almost the way it began... with the Cleveland Cavaliers losing. The Cavs completed their initial season in the NBA with a 15-67 record after bowing to the Portland Trail Blazers 114-112. The loss gave Cleveland the dubious distinction of tying the mark for most losses in one season set by the San Diego Rockets during the 1967-68 campaign.

Portland, another expansion club, ended with a much more respectable 29-53 record, thanks mainly to rookie Geoff Petrie, whose 37 points Tuesday night enabled him to become only the seventh first-year player in NBA history to surpass the 2,000 point mark for one season.

Petrie's final two points proved the go-ahead basket for Portland with only 21 seconds left to play as Cleveland rallied from a 15-point halftime deficit to take the lead in the closing minutes. Petrie finished the season with 2,031 points.

However, Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch announced after the game he would file a formal protest today based on an official's call late in the second period when Portland was awarded two foul shots and then given possession of the ball.

"We're not in the record books yet...if this is allowed it could be called a tie game or no contest and we'd have lost only 66 games," Fitch said.

Two of the four opening round playoffs begin tonight with Central Division champion Baltimore entertaining Philadelphia and Pacific Division champ Los Angeles playing host to Chicago.

Atlanta plays at New York Thursday afternoon while the fourth series begins Saturday night at Oakland where Milwaukee meets the San Francisco Warriors.

While Baltimore and Los Angeles won their respective divisions, injuries to key personnel could seriously hamper the Bullets and Lakers in their playoff endeavors.

Baltimore, with a 42-40 record, had no competition all season in the Central Division as Atlanta and Cincinnati were always far back in their fight for second place. The Bullets played the last few weeks of the season without Gus Johnson, Eddie Miles and Wes Unseld and a below-par Earl Monroe. Johnson and Monroe suffer from chronic knee injuries while Unseld has a badly sprained ankle but the Bullets hoped to have all three ready for the 76ers. Miles is out for the season.

Los Angeles figures to have tough going without super star Jerry West who recently underwent surgery for torn knee ligaments suffered in a game at Buffalo. Chicago finished second in the Midwest Division behind Milwaukee but the Bulls' 51-31 record proved the third best in the NBA behind Milwaukee's 66-16 and New York's 52-30.

Playoff Problems For Attles

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—There are several things worrying San Francisco Warriors coach Al Attles as his team prepares to meet Milwaukee in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

First, there's Lew Alcindor, the NBA's most valuable player who averaged 31.7 points per game during the regular season. Then there's the Bucks' speed. They have one of the fastest front lines in the league.

And there's the Bucks' scoring potential. All five of Milwaukee's starters average in double digures.

Finally, there's the fact that the Warriors were blanked by Milwaukee, 0-6, during the regular season.

But aside from those worries Attles believes his team can win.

"We know we can't run with them so we want to be able to have Nate (Thurmond) free to cut off the middle," Attles said. "If we can do that and dominate the rebounding we should be able to make it interesting."

Attles will get his chance to make it interesting in the opener Saturday night at Oakland.

The second and third games will be played at the University of Wisconsin in Madison and the fourth contest will move back to Oakland.

The Monday and Tuesday playoff games in Madison, Wis., will be televised live back to the Bay Area on KTVU, Channel 2, at 6 p.m. The fifth game, if necessary, will be televised live on Sunday, April 4, by KGO-TV, Channel 7, at 11 a.m. and a seventh game by Channel 2, if necessary.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Twins' Reese Back At First Base Spot

By United Press International

Rich Reese, who apparently lost his job to Harmon Killebrew during the winter, will be back at his old first base stand for the Minnesota Twins this year.

Reese, a surprise star when he batted .322 in 1969 dropped to .261 last season and club president Calvin Griffith said that Killebrew would be moved from third to first base this year. One of Griffith's reasons for suggesting the switch was the hope of prolongong the 34-year-old Killebrew's career.

It sounded like a good idea until Manager Bill Rigney got a look at the 6-3, 190-pound Reese this spring. Reese is batting .368, with 14 hits in 38 at bats, and Tuesday singled in the winning run in the fifth inning as the Twins beat the Atlanta Braves, 8-3. Both Reese and Danny Thompson had three hits to lead the Twins' 16-hit attack.

Luis Tiant, 7-3 last season and pitching for the first time since he suffered a pulled muscle in his right elbow three weeks ago, held the Braves to one run in four innings.

On other fronts: The Chicago White Sox raised their spring record to 13-5 by beating the New York Yankees, 4-3. Tom Egan led the White Sox with a homer and three doubles

Doug Rader and Cesar Cedeno homered to lead the Houston Astros to an 8-3 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers. Tom Griffin worked the first six innings for the Astros ... Jose Cardenal went 4-for-4, including two doubles, as the St. Louis Cardinals broke a five-game losing streak with a 5-2 win over the Cincinnati Reds.

Al Oliver, Bob Robertson, Richie Zisk and Richie Hebner homered as the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Baltimore Orioles, 7-4, for their 11th victory against three losses this spring. The Pirates have hit 22 homers, including 19 in eight games in their home park, this spring ... Willie Horton and Aurelio Rodriguez hit two-run homers and Norm Cash and Dalton Jones hit solo homers as the Detroit Tigers downed the Kansas City Royals, 6-1.

FOR HAWAII, GEORGIA TECH

NIT And Worried Looks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Red Rocha and Whack Hyder have that worried look.

Speed is what's bothering Rocha, whose Hawaii club takes on St. Bonaventure tonight in the quarterfinals of the National Invitation Tournament. And strength is on Hyder's mind as he prepares his Georgia Tech team for Michigan.

"We have a quick team," said Rocha, "But, by God, they're really quick. They're about the quickest team I've seen all year."

Rocha's colorful Rainbows struggled into the quarterfinals with an 88-87 victory in double overtime over Oklahoma Monday night. St. Bonaventure stunned Purdue in its tournament opener.

The Bonnies, possibly the smallest team in the tournament, are perhaps the most adept at the fast-break. With Greg Gary and Carl Jackson leading the way, the Bonnies ran slower Purdue off the floor. Hawaii's attack is much the same—run and shoot—and in most cases when fast-breaking teams are matched, the race goes to the swiftest.

But Rocha, a former National Basketball Association star, doesn't foresee any changes in the Hawaii attack.

"We haven't changed our game for anyone," said Rocha. "If we tried to stall, we'd probably throw the ball away. But we played pretty good defense in the second half against Oklahoma and I feel we can do a good job against St. Bonaventure, too. The NIT has been a driving force for the boys all season long. They felt they had something to prove. But we're not the type of team that can play a bad game and still win. We have to play well to win."

Bob Nash and Jerome Freeman are the big offensive threats for Hawaii and John Penebacker ranks among the nation's leading rebounders.

Johnny Orr, the Michigan coach, is hopeful his club can get over its first round jitters. The Wolverines committed 24 turnovers in beating Syracuse, 82-76.

"I don't think we'll play as poorly as we did on Sunday," said Orr. "We were the first Big Ten team ever to play in the NIT and we were a little nervous. I think Georgia Tech was nervous, too, and I don't think they played particularly well in beating LaSalle."

Tonight's winners will meet in Thursday night's semiffinals, with Duke playing North Carolina in the other semifinal game. The final is scheduled for Saturday morning at 11 a.m. (EST).

How Giants Grabbed Rookie Phenom Stone

PHOENIX — Steve Stone, the rookie pitching phenom of this spring, is in a Giant uniform today because the Cleveland Indians who originally drafted him didn't think he was big enough to make it in the majors.

"CLEVELAND DID draft me in June of 1968," said the stocky 5-10, 175, righthander. "I found out about it on TV. But I didn't hear from anyone in the Cleveland organization until much later."

Stone thought he was entitled to at least a courtesy call from a Cleveland scout since he lived in South Euclid just a few miles away from Cleveland's baseball headquarters.

SO STONE packed his bag and went to Massachusetts for a summer of semi-pro ball in the Cape Cod League. A Cleveland scout did contact him there but somewhat casually. After all, Cleveland didn't pick him until the 16th round of the '68 free agent draft.

Stone didn't expect any fabulous bonus but he did think he should receive some honorarium that would help him complete his education at Kent State University.

"I HEARD those reports that Cleveland thought I wasn't big enough," said Stone, "but there was another important factor that undoubtedly made them hesitate in signing me. I was laid low by mononucleosis after Cape Cod and was in bed all summer.

"However, even after I fully recovered they still showed no real interest in me so I assume it did come down to a height factor. That's nothing new with me. I've always known that I'd have to work extra hard to prove myself among the big fellows. I've been working on the problem since I was knee-high."

THE GIANTS picked Stone No. 4 in the special phase of the January, 1969, draft. The special phase of free agent baseball drafts means players previously selected but unsigned.

"The day after the Giants selected me I received a call from their scout in the Cleveland area, Jerry Gaughan. Two weeks later Jerry and his immediate boss, the late Ray Lucas, came to Kent where I was finishing up my final quarter for my degree. My father sat in on the conference. There was no haggling over any bonus. I wanted to get into pro ball and I signed."

STONE, A VERY intelligent young man who now has his teaching credentials although he's never used them, was impressed by the way the Giants immediately followed up on their draft action. And he was pleasantly surprised when he received a $10,000 bonus from them.

"There was a world of difference in my experience with Cleveland and the Giants," he said.

THE $10,000 investment in Stone may prove to be one of the best the Giants ever made — if the young man continues to pitch in major league games the way he has been pitching in Cactus League exhibitioners.

(Tomorrow: More about Stone).

JUANDERFUL JUAN BACK IN FORM

Marichal Feels Stronger Than Ever

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)— Willie McCovey stepped into the batting cage at the San Francisco Giant training camp the other day and everybody stopped to watch.

It figured to be quite a matchup because the fellow on the mound doing the batting practice pitching was Juan Marichal.

It was quite a pairing but the two have been matched against each other enough times before. What gave it significance this time was that Mc Covey finally was hitting the ball well and Marichal, for his part, was firing as in the past. All the past, that is, except 1970.

You remember what happened to Marichal in 1970, don't you? That was the year he caught the flu during an ill-timed spring junket to Japan and then wasn't able to pitch for half a season. And when he came back hitters he used to intimidate were rapping him around pretty good.

Since this was McCovey's first look at Marichal this spring, and vice-versa, Charlie Fox, the Giant manager, was anxious to see what would happen.

Usually during batting practice the batter calls the pitches. In this case, McCovey told Juan ahead of time to throw what he felt like without telling him. He wanted it to be a test for Marichal as well as for himself.

Some test!

It turned out about as one-sided as it could be, and Marichal was the winner hands down.

"He really showed me something," McCovey said, not the least bit disappointed in his inability to hit the ball solidly.

"I've always said it," McCovey continued, "that I'm glad I don't have to bat against him during a game. When he's well there isn't a batter in the world he can't get out."

And make no mistake about it, Marichal is well this spring.

In fact, he says he feels "so good" that it scares him.

"This is the first spring in a long time I have been able to pitch so strongly so soon," Marichal was saying. "I've gained back all the weight I lost from my illness last year and I just feel good all over."

Marichal's big hangup last year, after he finally started to pitch again, was that he ran out of steam inside of six innings. For a guy who has been known for his durability, it came as quite a blow. And it became mental as well as physical.

"I had a lot of doubts about myself last year," confessed Marichal. "Honestly, I was even thinking about quitting. If I can't pitch the way I have before I won't stick around. The Giants pay me a lot of money and it wouldn't be fair for me to hang around without winning."

Marichal is as proud a fellow as there is in baseball. While sometimes he trys to minimize his accomplishments with a smile and a shrug, he can tick off nearly every game he's ever won, and going into the 1971 campaign the record stands at 203 victories in 10 plus seasons.

Many observers rate him as the best pitcher in baseball the last seven or eight years, and that span includes the many accomplishments of Bob Gibson, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale.

McCovey, as all the Giants, know Marichal has to play back to his old form for the team to make a fight of it this year.

"If he can't pitch," says McCovey, "then we are in trouble. But from what I have seen this spring Juan looks every bit as good as he was before he got sick. If he just picks up from there I don't see any reason why he can't win 20 or more games again. We all know he can pitch."

With Marichal, who is 32, it's simply a case of being strong again. He proved it to himself in a recent exhibition game when twice he pounced off the mound to field the ball and then threw to second to start doubleplays.

"I couldn't do that fast enough last year," he confessed. "My legs weren't strong enough. Now, I run 10 laps around the park every day and I'm not even breathing deeply. To me, that is very important."

It's important, too, to the Giants.

49ers Sign Another Coach

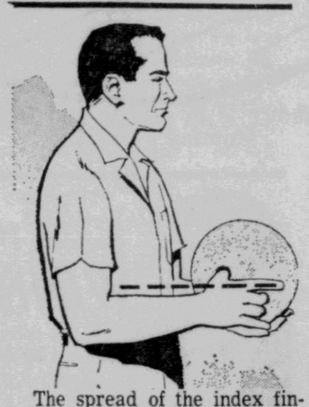
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The San Francisco 49ers have signed Chet Franklin, an assistant coach at the University of Colorado for the past seven seasons, as special teams coach.

Franklin, 36, moves into a post held by Doug Scovil, who has been named offensive backfield coach.

A 49er spokesman said Franklin's appointment Tuesday completes the team's coaching staff alignment for next season.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



The spread of the index finger and little finger helps determine the amount of hook on the ball. Because the small hook is recommended for modern lane conditions, I recommend bringing all four fingers together. This will cause the index finger to be a straight extension of the forearm, as shown in today's illustration.

NCAA TOURNAMENT

A Return To Astrodome For Bruins' John Wooden

HOUSTON (UPI) — John Wooden of No. 1-ranked UCLA will be the only coach among the four survivors in the NCAA Basketball Championships who has experienced playing a game in the cavernous Astrodome, site of this week's tournament semifinals and finals.

And, he probably won't like the setup any better this time than he did that January night in 1968 when his Lew Alcindor-led Bruins rolled into the dome to meet the Houston Cougars with a 47-game winning streak and —as now —ranked as the nation's best.

Wooden and the Bruins left Houston that night on the short end of a 71-69 score and the Cougars replaced UCLA as No. 1 to the delight of 52,693 fans.

UCLA later avenged that "game of the century" loss with a 101-69 defeat of the Cougars in that year's NCAA tournament, but the memory of the game still lingers.

It was played on a portable floor, placed over the second base area of the baseball field —just as will this week's games which will find Western Kentucky (23-5) meeting Villanova (26-6) in a 6:40 p.m. CST game and UCLA (27-1) facing Kansas (27-1) in an 8:40 p.m. contest in Thursday's semifinals.

The winners and losers will be matched against each other for first and third place on Saturday afternoon.

"We like the Astrodome," Wooden said after UCLA won its berth in the tournament by squeaking past Long Beach State 57-55 last Saturday.

"The first time we played there the conditions weren't too good, but it really is a fine place to play now. I'm sure the facility is much improved. They have learned a lot since.

"For color television purposes, there were batteries of lights at both ends of the court and it affected the shooting. Every one of our players shot below his average. Houston didn't shoot well, either."

Wooden will find when he takes his team onto the floor for its first practice session today that things haven't changed. The portable floor still has a little "give" to it and the battery of lights are again in place.

Seals Play Host To Maple Leafs

OAKLAND (UPI)—The California Seals host the Toronto Maple Leafs tonight, and if past records mean anything the Seals have an even chance of winning.

The Seals, who are bogged down in last place of the National Hockey League West Division, have had their troubles with most opponents this season. But against Toronto California has a 2-2-1 record, winning twice at home.

Things won't be quite the same tonight as in the past encounters, however. Bruce Gamble, a goalie who seemed to have his bad nights against the Seals, has been traded by Toronto.

The Maple Leafs will have either Bernie Parent or Jacques Plante in the net.

Toronto has clinched a playoff berth after missing the post-season competition for the past two seasons.

Today is Wednesday, March 24, the 83rd day of 1971.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Aries.

On this day in history:

In 1603 the crowns of England and Scotland were joined under James VI of Scotland.

In 1902 one of the earliest "advice to the lovelorn" columns, which appeared in the publication "My Queen," received a question: "Can two people live comfortably on $12.00 a week?"

In 1934 the United States granted the Philippine Islands independence effective July 4, 1946.

In 1965 Mrs. Viola Liuzzo of Detroit, a white civil rights worker, was shot and killed on the road between Selma and Montgomery, Ala., following a protest march demanding equal voting rights for Negroes.

A thought for today: British King George VI said, "The highest of distinctions is service to others."

West Gets Three Aces, But South Wins Double Contract

Mohammedans never discuss the weather lest they seem to criticize Allah's arrangements. Now if there were only a religion that prohibited discussion of a partner's play of the cards, South would have had a much easier time after failing to make the doubled game shown today.

CLUB SWITCH

West opened the ace of diamonds and stared at the dummy unhappily for a few seconds. Then he switched to the deuce of clubs.

It was South's turn to stare unhappily at the dummy. He had an uneasy feeling that East had the king of clubs and that no good would come of playing a low club from the dummy.

"I can't eat it," South finally admitted. And he played a low club from dummy. East pounced on the trick with the king of clubs and returned a diamond for his partner to ruff. West eventually got the ace of spades, and South was down one.

Most readers of this column have surely spotted the correct play of the hand. If it hasn't occurred to you, take a few seconds for thought before reading on.

SCISSORS COUP

The winning play is called the Scissors Coup because it cuts the communication between the opponents. If South can find a way to keep East out of the lead, East will be unable to give his partner a ruff.

Declarer must win the second trick with dummy's ace of clubs. Then he leads dummy's king of hearts, discarding the queen of clubs from his hand. West must win this trick since only West can beat dummy's king of hearts.

NO CLUB LOSERS

South gives up an unnecessary heart trick but doesn't have to lose a club. This works out to an even exchange, except that East is kept out of the lead. West gets his three aces, but South takes the rest of the tricks, making his doubled contract.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 1-no trump.

The hand is strong enough for a response, but not for a response at the level of two. That is, you cannot afford to bid two hearts. If partner had opened with one diamond, you would have bid one heart.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Uncertainty For Copper Industry

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I'd appreciate your opinion of Phelps Dodge for income and growth. After recovering from the break in copper prices, shares have fluctuated in the lower forties and appear unable to break conclusively upward as other good securities have in recent months. Should I continue holding for the long term as originally planned? — R.B.

A. The many uncertainties surrounding the copper industry have had a restrictive effect on share price action. First, there is the possibly unfavorable outcome of negotiations on labor contracts, which will expire June 30. United Steelworker officials have already indicated that substantial pay and pension increases will be sought.

Then, there are the implications of the two-tier copper pricing system, which created as much as 40 per cent discrepancy between higher world prices and those maintained by U.S. producers. Not unexpectedly, demand for lower-priced U.S. copper exceeded supply, forcing smaller fabricators into the world market.

As a result, two small fabricators have turned to the courts seeking to force divestiture of those fabricating operations owned by the larger copper producers. Congressional hearings on the copper pricing and allocating methods have resulted.

Meanwhile, the sharp decline in price has all but killed the dual pricing structure. Current record level supplies of the red metal may be substantially expanded by an expected increase — on the order of 7 per cent annually — in production capacity.

Also complicating the world copper picture are the nationalistic maneuvers of important copper mining countries such as Chile, Congo, Peru and Zambia. Phelps Dodge, second largest domestic producer, holds a 16 per cent equity in Southern Peru Copper. Income from this source amounted to $9 million or 46 cents a share in 1969. However, an increase in Peruvian taxes reduced contributions last year. Nonetheless, Phelps reported record earnings of $5.35 per share, up 21 per cent year-to-year.

Some attrition in earnings for 1971 is probable, reflecting reduced copper prices. While I foresee little near-term appreciation here, long-term prospects and the well-covered dividend justify retention.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Interest Paid Is Deductible If You Were Liable For Debt

Interest paid is deductible if you are legally liable for the debt. You cannot deduct interest you pay for another if you were not legally liable to pay.

Interest is deductible in several places on your tax return:

1. Interest on personal things like your home, automobile, etc., is deductible only if you itemize your deductions on Schedule A of the tax return.

2. Interest on property you rent to others is deductible on Schedule E, part II, column (e) — Rent and Royalty Income.

3. Interest paid in connection with your trade or business is deductible on Schedule C, line 21.

The interest is deductible depending on what you use the loan money for, not on the property which secures the loan. For instance, if you borrow money on your home and use it to improve a piece of rental property you own, you can deduct the interest on the Rental Schedule. If you are self-employed and your business borrows money which you use for personal purposes, the interest is not deductible as a business expense on Schedule C, but only as a Schedule A deduction if you itemize.

Points you paid to get a VA or FHA loan are not interest and are not deductible. "Points" paid by the seller are not interest, but an expense of sale.

Points paid by a borrower, mortgagor, as compensation to a lender for use or forebearance of money is considered to be interest. Also, these points must be actually paid in order to be deductible. If they are deducted from the amount of the loan, then you must spread the deduction over the life of the loan.

Prepayment penalties, the extra amount you have to pay over the principal balance due when you pay off a mortgage or trust deed, is interest and is deductible.

When you buy property or educational services on the installment plan or use a deferred payment plan of an educational institution for educational services which are provided for a student and the interest is separately stated, you can deduct the interest in the year paid, no matter what the rate.

If the extra charges for time buying are only identified as "carrying charges" and the interest cannot be determined, you can only deduct the lesser of 6 per cent of the average monthly unpaid balance of your account or the amount of the carrying charges allocable to the year.

If you have excess investment interest, it would be treated as a tax preference item subject to a 10 per cent tax.

Question, what is excess investment interest?

This is the excess of interest paid on investment property over the amount of the investment income less investment expenses. That is, you might have investment income and investment expense, not counting the interest, and would deduct the investment expense from the investment income to arrive at a net investment income which you could deduct from this investment interest to arrive at the net excess investment interest expense which you would deduct from other income.

This deduction is known as excess investment interest and is taxed as a tax preference item.

There is a $30,000 exemption for all tax preference items combined so this may not apply to you.

Be sure to check the Tax Preference Items in the instructions before completing your return.

Stock Market In Drop Near Noon

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market was lower in moderate trading near noon today.

Weakness stemmed from signs the economy is recovering slower than expected.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off nearly 6 points and analysts looked for a pullback around 880 on the Dow before new demand developed.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a loss of 0.30 at 99.98. Of the 1,495 isuues crossing the tape, declines outnumbered advances, 704 to 435.

Natomas Income

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Natomas Co. has announced its total net income for 1970 was $5,423,353 compared with $4,692,061 in 1969.

HE'S AMAZED

When R. M. Taylor, supervisor of final belting inspection at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. plant in Akron, Ohio, got ready to build a shipping crate for a conveyor belt order, he found the belt, when rolled up on a spool here, measured a quarter mile in length, weighed 15 tons, stood 11 feet tall and had to be shiped in an open railroad car because it was too big to crate. Rubber Roads In Our Future, Refiners Hear

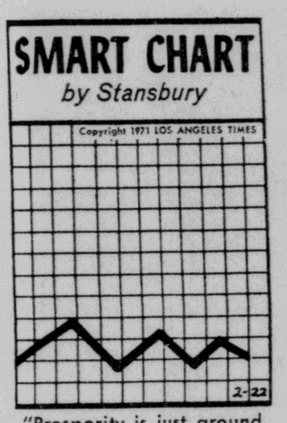
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Rubber highways, rubber dams and rubber tanks to fight erosion may be just a few years away, according to the managing director of the International Institute of Synthetic Rubber Producers.

Ralph Lamberson told the National Petroleum Refiners Association here Tuesday that several foreign nations and several American states are now testing stretches of asphalt highway impregnated with rubber as a method of increasing road surface life and minimizing skids.

Rubber is also promising as an inflatable material for building temporary dams and flood-control barriers in a hurry, Lamberson noted. Rubber tanks could hold storm sewer overflows and oil tankers might be required to carry huge inflatable spares in which to drain cargo when leaks threaten oil spills, he said.



"Prosperity is just around the corner . . . but we are having trouble finding the corner."

Holiday Plaza Office Building Space In Terra Linda Going Fast

Office space is being taken up rapidly in the new Holiday Plaza Office Building at 1050 Northgate Drive, Terra Linda and William Root of Grubb and Ellis Co. reports the following new occupants.

Former Marin Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. has opened a law office here in conjunction with Quentin L. Kopp of San Francisco under the name of Kopp and Goldstein.

Still another legal firm taking space is Wolfson and Vaughn, formerly at 1330 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

And attorney Harold R. Hayes, also formerly at 1330 Lincoln Avenue, is another new tenant.

An office has been opened by William M. Bennett of Kentfield, member of the State Board of Equalization for the Third District. This does not involve any change of location in the board's sales tax office at 496 B Street in San Rafael.

Weyerhauser Mortgage Co., formerly Western Pacific Mortgage Co., a subsidiary of the Weyerhauser Co., has opened its Northern California regional office in the building. Arthur L. Timmell of Marinwood is vice president and regional manager in charge. He was formerly assistant regional administrator of the Federal Housing Administration.

McKeon Construction Co. of Sacramento that has a development planned for Novato is another new tenant. Frank Oman is in charge.

There is also a new office for Bankers Life of Des Moines, Iowa. Charles J. Root is the insurance broker.

KENNETH C. HICKEN of San Rafael has been promoted to vice president of marketing for Foremost Foods Co. He was formerly manager of marketing and planning for the dairy division in San Francisco. Before joining Foremost in 1965 as dairy division group manager he was marketing manager of Stokely-Van Camp Co. and prior to that was with the Birds Eye Division of General Foods Corp.

SAM E. STANDARD of San Rafael has been appointed new innkeeper at the Carmel Holiday Inn in Carmel by Chatmar, Inc. He was formerly managing director of the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco. Before that he was general manager at the Watertown Hyatt House in Chicago and over the preceding 18 years was with a number of other hotels.

MICHAEL ROCHE of Novato has been appointed a vice president of McCann-Erickson, Inc. He joined the advertising agency in 1964 and has served on the Del Monte Corp. account group since then. He has been an account supervisor since 1969.

Roche

Scott

THE MARIN MORTGAGE DIVISION of Redwood Bank in San Rafael has created two new positions.

James K. Scott, who has been manager of the Napa branch for the past two years, has been appointed vice president in charge of loan production and will be responsible for the broker relationships in the area serviced by the mortgage division.

Robert Van Der Goore of Mill Valley, who recently joined the bank after 10 years financial and real estate experience in San Francisco and Detroit, will be assistant vice president responsible for loan administration.

Nutrition Data On Canned Goods

BOSTON (UPI) — Stop & Shop, Inc., one of the East's largest food chains, said Tuesday it would count calories on its private label canned goods.

Mrs. Millicent Snow, the chain's director of consumer affairs, said private label fruits, vegetables and drinks now have redesigned labels listing calories per four-ounce serving. It plans in the future to completely list nutritional data on cans as well, she added.

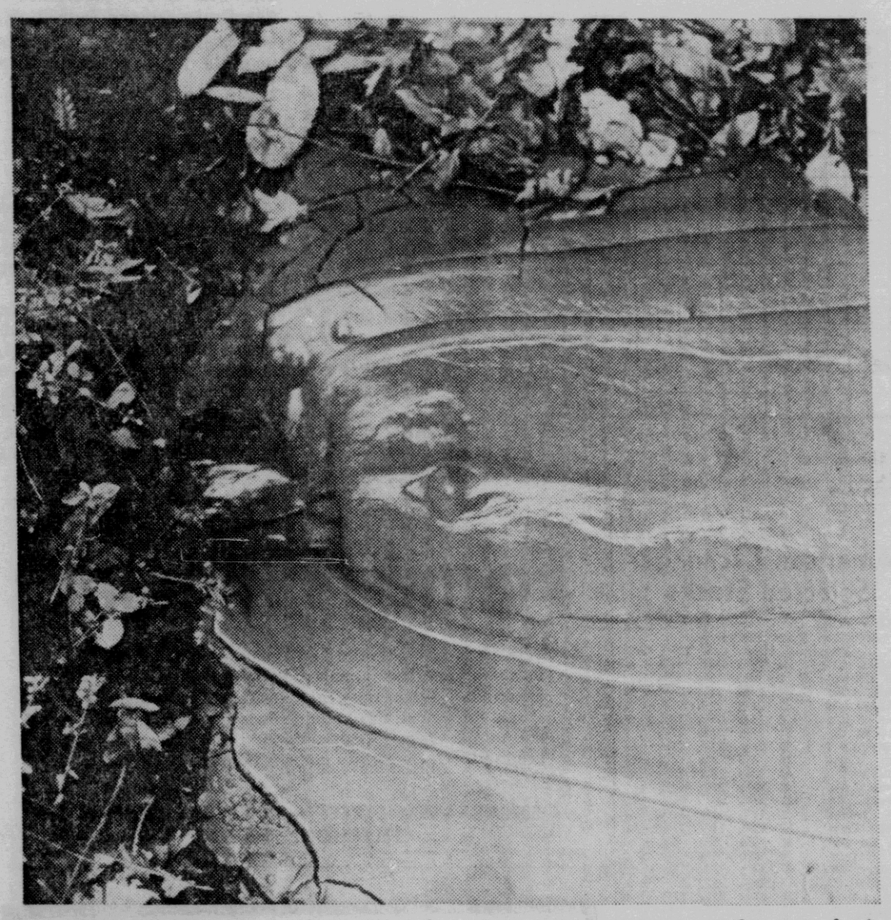
SLUDGE ROUTE — Sludge of the Marin Municipal Water District continues to run from the Bon Tempe water treatment plant, where this picture was taken, down through the trees at left to Phoenix Lake at the Center of the photograph. Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger of the water district said that sludge has escaped into the Lake only one day since the Regional Water Quality Control Board barred the water treatment leftovers in November. However, the Independent-Journal has received complaints of a daily flow into the lake.

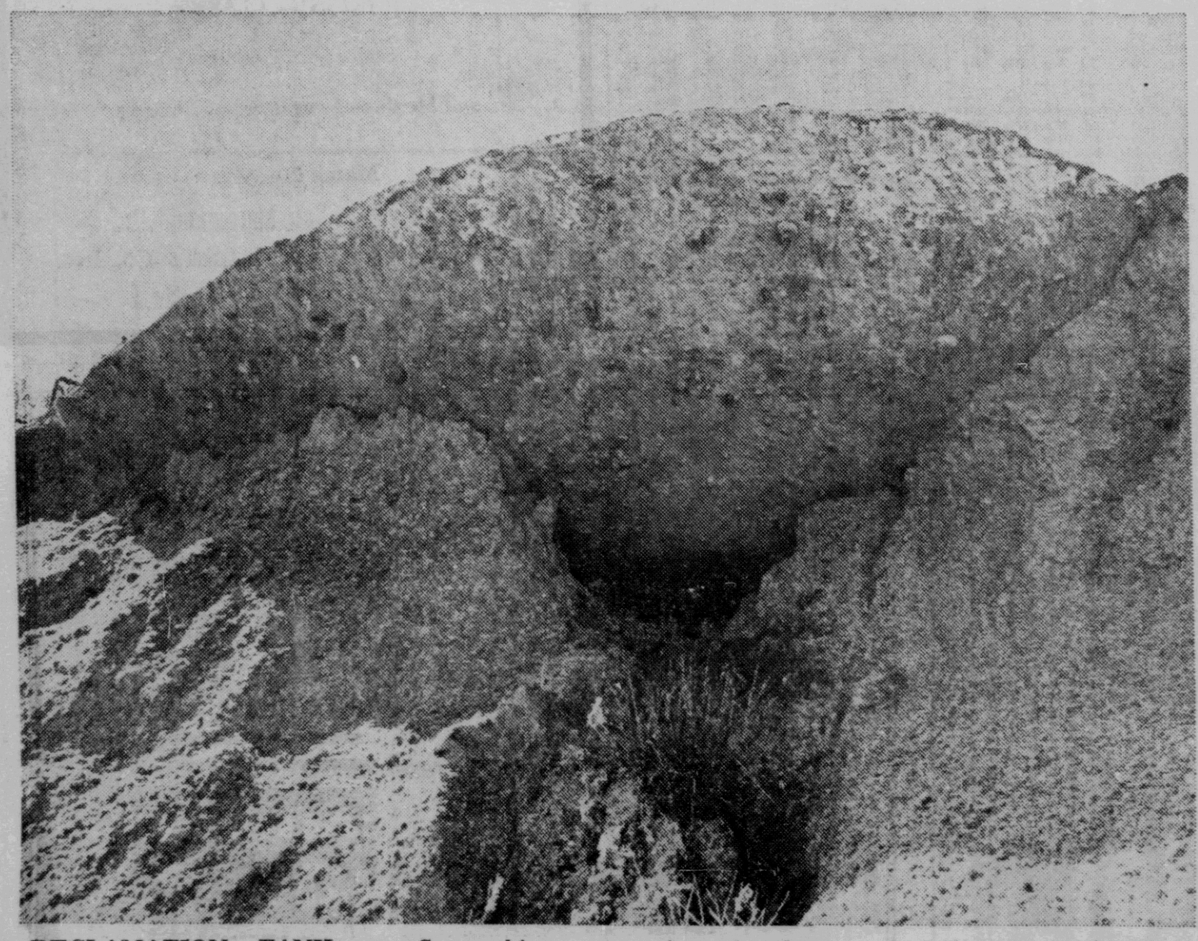
THE START — Sludge from the Bon Tempe plant flows from a firehose in a stand of scrub trees near the plant. The district switched from dumping directly into the lake to hillside spreading in an attempt to comply with the order of Fred H. Dierker, water quality's executive officer. However, the thick liquid substance, which Dierker labelled "a condition of pollution," was observed flowing into the lake last week.

Is Sludge Posing Threat To Phoenix Lake?

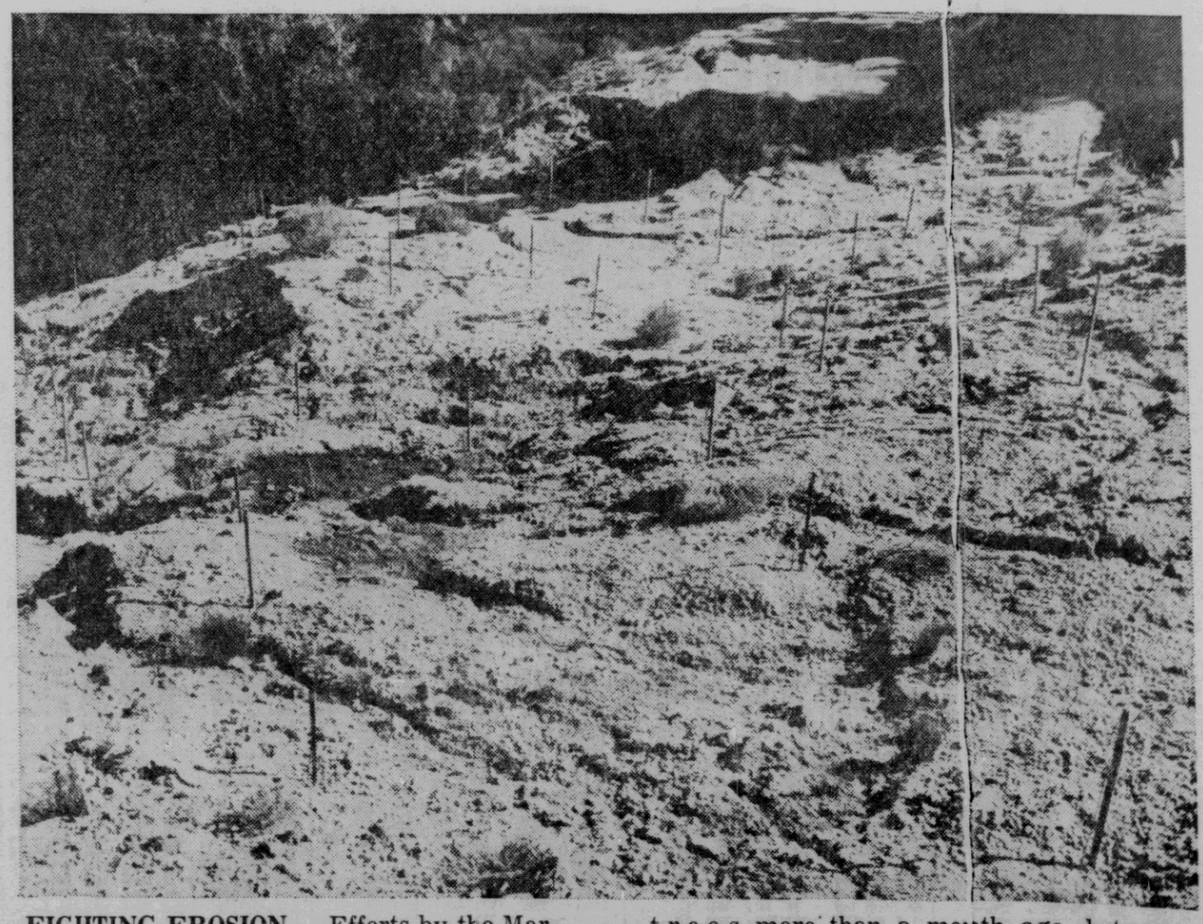


UNDERPASS — A stream of sludge flows into a pipe that channels it under a fire road half way up the slope. In contrast to the surrounding soil, there was nothing alive visible in the viscous stream, more than a foot across and eight inches deep. Critics of the district's sludge dumping and some scientists have argued the sludge is damaging the ecology of the lake.

INTO THE LAKE — Sludge enters Phoenix Lake. Seeger said that one day last week sludge flowed into the lake because an employee forgot to spread the sludge. Before the slipup, he said, no sludge flowed into the water. However, this picture was taken March 5 — before the slipup. The sludge problem of Bon Tempe does not exist at the district's other plant.



RECLAMATION TANK — Sun shines through a hole in the bottom of a water reclamation tank at the Bon Tempe plant which has been endangered by a landslide since the plant was built in 1958. Critics have charged that the huge landslide and ensuing erosion have added to the pollution of the small lake below.



FIGHTING EROSION — Efforts by the Marin Municipal Water District to prevent further erosion below the Bon Tempe plant are clearly visible from the plant. According to Seeger, the district planted the deciduous trees more than a month ago, but none seemed very lively last week. Grass seed has also been sprayed over the pictured portion of the huge landslide.

GM Recalls 300 School Buses: Faulty Brakes

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — Discovery of a faulty brake part Monday prompted General Motors Corp. to recall 300 school buses and 3,300 light and medium duty 1971 trucks.

The GMC truck and coach and Chevrolet divisions asked owners to return the vehicles to dealers for replacement of a fitting which could permit brake fluid to leak from the hydraulic brake system.

A GM spokesman said all 300 buses had been equipped with a dual braking system. If leakage had occurred in a bus or truck equipped with a dual system, an instrument panel warning light would flash and mechanical brakes would take over for the lost hydraulic system.

In trucks with a single braking system, GM said, hydraulic braking action would be lost if the fluid leaked.

BANK BOMBED—Sausalito Police Chief James D. Wright surveys the broken glass door of the Sausalito branch of the Bank of America caused by a bomb explosion. A bomb, which went off at 10:30 p.m. last night, did minor damage. (Independent-Journal photo)

Bank Of America Doors Are Bombed In Sausalito

A small bomb, apparently placed behind a door handle, exploded at the Humboldt Street entrance of the Bank of America in Sausalito last night, shattering two of the building's glass doors.

The explosion, which sounded like a thunderclap through Sausalito's downtown area, occurred at 10:30 p.m. It ripped loose the steel handle on one door and sent it flying through the air, causing minor damage to the bank's rear sign.

A plate glass window, two other glass doors and a portion of the ceiling in the entry were also damaged in the blast.

Sausalito police are investigating the bombing, but could not say today what kind of explosive device was used.

C. L. Gandy, the branch manager, said the branch had experienced nothing like this before. He was unable to estimate the amount of damage to the building.

Kenneth W. Jones, publicity officer for the Bank of America in San Francisco, said bank officials said there was "no way of telling" whether the attack was related to other bombings of the bank's branches by extremist groups which claim the bank makes money on the war in Southeast Asia.

This was the sixth bombing of a Bank of America branch in California in the past two years, Jones said. The last attack, at the South Berkeley branch on March 3, caused about $4,000 damage and a March 2 explosion at a Fresno branch caused $5,000 damage, according to the publicity officer.

After Two Years In Works, Novato Adopts Downtown Plan

By FRANK FARRARA

The Sedway-Cooke downtown plan, in the works more than two years, finally was adopted last night by the Novato City Council. (Other Novato City Council stories, page 5.)

Despite last minute protests by property owners, the vote was 4-1, with Councilman J. Wayne Womack, who wanted a portion of the plan considered separately, voting a "reluctant no."

Councilmen sought to alleviate fears that adoption of the plan would bring about immediate changes that would harm existing businesses.

Mayor Douglas M. Merrill stressed that the plan set forth "broad principles" for future development, some of which might not be feasible for twenty to thirty years.

(Merrill submitted his resignation from the council immediately after the vote, and later noted adoption of the plan had been the city's "utmost priority." He gave personal considerations as his reason for stepping down.)

Cornerstone of the plan is development of a regional shopping center in the Pinheiro Ranch area, north of downtown, comparable to the Northgate shopping area in San Rfael.

Merrill said existing business uses, if legal, would remain, no matter what the plan indicates, until there was a change in use.

He also indicated that in areas where the ultimate use was years away, interim uses could be permitted.

Councilman Joseph D. Gargiulo said the plan is strictly a guide and no business will be deliberately hurt.

Councilman Wayne Sartain said the downtown plan "has been something the community has been lacking, and fulfillment through implementation will be the crux."

With implementation will come "some of the battles," but the intent "isn't to hurt, but to improve it (downtown) for the benefit of the downtown merchants and the community, and if we work together, we all stand to benefit substantially," Sartain said.

Adoption of the plan was opposed by Dairymen's Milling Co., a cattle feed firm, at 7546 Redwood Highway, which stands in the area designated for a regional shopping center.

Attorneys Leland H. Jordan and Bryan R. McCarthy, representing property owners in the Diablo Triangle area, opposed the multiple family designation of property in the area, which is now zoned commercial.

Womack proposed that the Diablo Triangle portion be considered separately, but his motion failed. He commented that as one of the men who moved for the downtown study originally, he felt it "strayed somewhat afield of the original intent."

The council also received a protest from attorney John A. Trumball, representing Pink B. Thompson, who opposed designation of his parcel at the northwest corner of Third Street and Grant Avenue for a mini-park.

Councilmen voted that the park site be flexible rather than fixed at Third Street and Grant Avenue. They also amended the route of a proposed recreational trail along Novato Creek from San Pablo Bay to Pioneer Memorial Park, extending it to Stafford Lake.

Councilmen also called for a supplemental planning study to cover fringe areas around the areas covered in the downtown plan.

Stinging Setback To Apartments

By ERIK M. INGRAM

A vocal group of Larkspur residents last night fought Los Angeles land developers to a standstill over a proposal to build a large apartment house development adjacent to Corte Madera Creek.

Responding to a newspaper ad calling the development "a rip-off of Larkspur," the standing-room-only crowd jeered and hooted as the developers outlined their plan for the city's planning commission. (Another Larkspur Planning Commission story, page 12.)

The commission, caught in the cross-fire, delayed a decision on the 186-unit development until March 30 when commissioners Robert H. Lee and Joseph N. Picetti, absent last night, will be available for commission action.

Shareholders Capital Programs, project developers, have proposed clustering two-story buildings on about eight acres adjacent to Corte Madera and Plaza creeks.

Situated on Larskpur Plaza Road, the proposed development would be built upon marshland filled in 1961 and would house about 360 persons.

The crowd of about 60 persons, made up predominantly of nearby Boardwalk 1 residents, called the developments design the start of what in 10 years would turn "Marin County into another Daly City."

The protesters, represented by Attorney Thomas T. Storer, former Marin County supervisor, further charged the development would cause severe traffic congestion on Magnolia Avenue and Doherty Drive, would add large quantities of raw sewage to the already overburdened Ross Valley Sanitary District treatment facilities and would not produce tax revenues sufficient to cover the cost of added city services.

A letter from the Arkites Association, a Boardwalk homeowners' group, warned "more building (in Larkspur) will certainly increase the pollution and result in an open cesspool (Corte Madera Creek) winding its way into Larkspur."

"Tons and tons and tons of untreated sewage pours into San Francisco Bay from the City of Larkspur," Storer said. "That's reason enough to turn down this project.

"We are poisoning ourselves daily . . . poisoning our creek," he continued, pleading with the commission to draw the line on pollution.

City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst acknowledged some sewage is leaking into the creek but not from Larkspur lines — at least not during the past 18 months.

The city's sewer lines are not in question, the protesters said, but, rather, would the added waste created by the new development be adequately treated.

There was general acknowledgement among city officials that it wouldn't.

Noting that most of the protesters were from the nearby Boardwalk 1, City Engineer Roy Hoffman said discussion of sewage and traffic congestion was not the issue.

"You're skirting the issue," he told the crowd, "The issue is should the area be left void forever . . ." or opened to development.

Hoffman's statement produced a sharp exchange between him and Paul L. Groner of Boardwalk 1 and a member of the commission's architectural review committee which has approved the project.

Groner, speaking against the project called for further study, especially on traffic congestion.

"The city is liable to have a major traffic problem" if the project is approved, he said, blasting the city's street improvement program.

"Do you see any traffic problems now?" asked Hoffman.

"Every day," replied Groner calling attention to Doherty Drive.

Architect Robert L. Barnett told the council he was convinced it would find the traffic and sewage problems nonexistant "as we and our engineers have found out."

The commission, however, was not so easily convinced and said it wanted a written staff report on traffic and further study of sewage.

Commissioner Leonard S. Rubin suggested the matter be delayed but noted that the group, mainly from Boardwalk 1, was "presuming to speak for the bulk of the residents of Larkspur."

"The opposition is only a small segment of Larskpur's population," he added.

"The people of Larkspur don't want it," said Grant Jones of Boardwalk 1. "We don't want Daly City, man."

Alioto Indicted In Fee Splitting

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Mayor Joseph L. Alioto of San Francisco and three former Washington State officials were indicted Tuesday by a federal grand jury on charges of bribery, mail fraud and conspiracy in an alleged $2.3 million fee-splitting arrangement.

Alioto, who was flying back to San Francisco from a meeting at the White House when the indictment was issued, said it was a "14-carat fake," that he would plead innocent and expected to be "vindicated."

U.S. Attorney Stan Pitkin said the defendants will be arraigned on the nine-count indictment either Thursday or Friday.

The grand jury also indicted John J. O'Connell, former Washington attorney general; George K. Faler, O'Connell's former assistant; and John G. McCutcheon, former prosecutor in Pierce County, Wash.

The charges grew out of Alioto's sharing with O'Connell and Faler more than $800,000 of $2.3 million in legal fees he received in an antitrust suit brought for 15 Washington cities and public utilities districts. The incident occurred before Alioto was elected mayor in 1967. He is a democrat.

The government said the indictments were not connected with charges by Look Magazine that Alioto had connections with organized crime. Alioto has a $12.5 million libel suit pending against Look.

Both Alioto, 55, and O'Connell, 52, have insisted the arrangement was perfectly legal. Both voluntarily appeared before the grand jury and said

Reds Mount Assault As Saigon Pulls Out

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnam withdrew the last of its army and armor from Laos today, leaving only a small rearguard of marines in the final phase of the controversial drive against the Ho Chi Minh Trail. Americans began pulling out of Khe Sanh as Communist tanks and infantrymen neared the border of South Vietnam.

U.S. air strikes destroyed four North Vietnamese tanks and damaged two today, but U.S. Helicopter pilot 1st Lt. Erick Heintz, 25, of Spokane, Wash., said in Khe Sahn, "the way the Communists are moving they'll be on top of this place in a week."

In northern Laos, 400 miles north of the 45-day-old South Vietnamese operation, a Laotian military spokesman said heavy fighting broke out today only half a mile north of the airfield at the royal capital of Luang Prabang. Twenty-five American dependents were flown out earlier but King Savang Vatthana stayed on despite what spokesmen called a "critical" situation.

Saigon and Pentagon spokesmen saw the Laos incursion as a victory that disrupted the Ho Chi Minh Trail, slowed down Communist operations in South Vietnam and Cambodia for many weeks and destroyed vast quantities of war material. Saigon said its troops destroyed or captured more than 176,000 tons of enemy munitions and killed 13,000 Communist soldiers in a 10 to 1 kill ratio.

However, on Tuesday the

Nixon Proposes Merger Of Volunteer Agencies

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon proposed today a new volunteer program called Action, merging the Peace Corps, VISTA, and a number of lesser-known federal programs such as the Teacher Corps and Foster Grandparents.

In a special message to Congress, the President said the new agency would tap undeveloped potential of Americans who would like to volunteer their service.

"America must enlist the ideals, the energy, the experience and the skills of its people on a larger scale than it has ever done in the past," Nixon said. "We must insure that these efforts be used to maximum advantage."

The message filled in the details of the volunteer agency consolidation which Nixon first suggested in a speech at the University of Nebraska last year.

Nixon proposed including in the new agency these present groups: Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA), the Peace Corps, the Teacher Corps, Foster Grandparents, Retired Senior Volunteer Program, Service Corps of Retired Executives, Active Corps of Executives, Office of Voluntary Action and the Auxiliary and special volunteer programs of the OEO.

Nixon proposed that the new agency, which would have 1,683 employes and would be independent, begin life with a budget of $176.3 million, including $156.3 million already earmarked for the various groups, plus an

Alameda Judge Is Selected

A 54-year-old Alameda County judge yesterday became the latest jurist to be appointed to handle the Angela Y. Davis-Ruchell Magee case in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Alan A. Lindsay, a Reagan appointee, pledged himself to conduct the case in a manner that the defendants and the community will feel is fair.

Lindsay was assigned to the case by the California Judicial Council to hear pretrial proceedings involving Miss Davis and Magee, who are charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy from the August 7 shoot-out at the Civic Center.

The council assigned Lindsay to Marin County for 90 days but said the period could be extended.

The judge said he was pleased with the appointment and would start reviewing files in the case today. After becoming familiar with the records, he said a date would be set for the next court appearance.

"No, I'm not apprehensive," he said after his appointment. "It's an assignment I'm looking forward to."

"Everybody involved in this matter must not only receive a fair trial but they must also have the feeling that the trial has been fair."

Lindsay, a former Alameda County deputy district attorney, was at one time the lobbyist for

PADDING CHARGE IN VD DISPUTE

Former Assistant County Health Officer Claims Seeing 'Padding Of The Figures'

By MARY LEYDECKER

A former assistant county health officer charged today that the county's venereal disease clinic padded figures to support a nonexistent VD epidemic in Marin.

Dr. Patricia Hallinan, who resigned from the health department last October, said today that she left her job "because I could no longer stand the dishonesty and mismanagement of moneys in the venereal disease program."

Dr. Hallinan said she was one of the persons interviewed by County Administrator Alan Bruce before he recommended to the supervisors that Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, longtime county medical officer, be fired for ineptness.

Dr. Hallinan said she chose to speak out today "as a taxpayer" because of a request that the supervisors appropriate an additional $350,000 for the VD program.

"I knew the so-called epidemic didn't exist — I've seen the padding of the figures," the doctor said today.

She charged Philippa Denning-Kemp, an investigator for the VD clinic, with including in the numbers of persons treated for VD other patients who came to the clinic and did not have gonorrhea or syphillis.

"The nurse's records which show how many people were actually treated for VD are the only valid records," Dr. Hallinan said, and "they do not jibe with the figures provided by Miss Denning-Kemp."

(Figures provided by Miss Denning-Kemp formed the basis for an I-J series describing an epidemic of VD in Marin County.)

Dr. Hallinan said that she became aware of "the situation" at the VD clinic when she substituted there for the supervising doctor and that she had kept an eye on the matter afterwards until her resignation.

As to the VD clinic's staff's claims that many persons are turned away and that a larger clinic with more staff is needed, Dr. Hallinan said that virtually no one was turned away last year.

Victim Of Drowning Reappears; In Prison

A young man who disappeared into heavy kelp beds off Stinson Beach two years ago, leaving a tearful wife alone upon the shore, has resurfaced in Marin — at San Quentin Prison.

At the time, Gary Allen Bray, then 26, was out on bail awaiting sentence on conviction of attempted rape in Santa Monica.

His disappearance was reported by his wife to sympathetic sheriff's deputies June 16, 1969, and it appeared, when no body was recovered, that she would have to begin another life on her own.

But Bray later "washed ashore" in Denver, Colo., and sent for his wife, Carla. They lived there as Mr. and Mrs. Mateo Smith for more than a year, working and making friends, until last August when they decided to visit Carla's mother in Los Angeles.

A fight with a police officer during the vacation in Southern California resulted in fingerprints being taken and Bray's true identity revealed.

He was retried on the rape charge, convicted and sentenced to one to 20 years at San Quentin.

Of the drowning incident, Bray told authorities he had been swept out to sea and, when he later washed up on shore and found he was believed dead, he decided to take advantage of the situation.

Judge Lauds Jurors In Calley Case

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—Jurors in the My Lai courtmartial of Lt. William L. Calley Jr. heard more re-reading of testimony today and were complimented by the judge for their painstaking deliberation.

His remarks seemed to be a judicial reply to defense counsel George Latimer's charge Tuesday that the jury had been "wining and dining" and taking too little time in deliberation.

43 Applications For Mill Valley Principal

The Mill Valley School District has received 43 applications for principal of Edna Maguire School and hopes the administration will recommend an appointment by April 19.

Supt. James A. Collins told the district board that a screening committee has recommended eight candidates for interviewing and five others as alternates.

The candidates would be screened by groups of students, parents, teachers and principals on April 16, Collins said, and the next day by the screening committee, the board of trustees or both.

Collins said he hoped to recommend one man to the board April 19.

Trustees on Monday night also got a first look at a proposed $3,450,465 budget for 1971-72, an increase of $187,465 over this year.

Collins said the budget anticipates an income of $3,599,025, which reflects an 8 per cent increase in assessed valuation. Out of the difference between revenue and expenditure, some $148,000, must come any raises granted teachers, Collins said.

No pay raise was included in the preliminary budget because administrators have no way of knowing the amount of raise, if any, that teachers will be given. Collins said each per cent of salary scale increase will subtract about $20,000 from the $148,000 reserve figure.

The Mill Valley School District Board Also:

SCHOOL — Heard that the middle school is 20 per cent complete.

SABBATICAL — Rejected a request for a sabbatical leave by Steve Buffo, Edna Maguire teacher, because of the district's financial problems.

LEAVE — Granted an extension of an illness leave until April 1 to Madilyn Carner, Tamalpais Valley School teacher.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations from two teachers on maternity leave: Jan Nicholas, of Tamalpais Valley School, and Marilyn Candel, of Strawberry Point School.

CLOSED MEETING — Went into closed session to instruct superintendent Collins on contract negotiations with teachers.

Induction Count Is Dismissed

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A charge of refusing induction against a San Rafael man has been dismissed in U.S. District Court.

The charge against Christopher Dennis Ghilotti was dropped by Judge Gus Solomon Feb. 24, two days after Ghilotti was found mentally unfit for military service, according to James H. Daffer, assistant U.S. attorney.

Ghilotti had been charged with refusing induction in Oakland last March.

Atherton Man Victim Of Attack

BANGKOK (UPI) — Police said yesterday a gang of that youths killed a young American tourist and injured two Englishmen on a beach in Songkhla Province in Southern Thailand Monday.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman identified the dead man as Brian C. Hea of Atherton, Calif.

Police said Hea and two Englishmen identified as Paul Bernard, 26, and Peter Vaughan, 23, apparently were awakened as they slept on Samila Beach by five youths who entered their tent and tried to rob them. Police said they apparently resisted and were attacked.

Brown's Plans For Revising Prison Policies

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Four bills to revise probation, parole and prison procedures have been submitted in the Assembly.

The author, Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, said Monday that they would:

— Substitute fixed prison terms for the present indeterminate sentence.

—Allow revocation of probation or parole only for violation of specific rules.

—Guarantee the criminal offender the right to have an attorney present during parole or probation revocation hearings.

—And allow prison inmates an unlimited amount of correspondence as long as they can pay the postage.

Nine Gas Wells Are Activated

Nine gas wells have been activated on Beebe Road, eight miles east of Petaluma.

The wells will be operated by BCR & F Oil and Gas Inc. of Santa Rosa to supply an initial 200,000 cubic feet per month to Pacific Gas and Electric Co. The gas line will serve Petaluma and Santa Rosa.

The 2,023-acre area was first drilled in 1924 by persons looking for oil. Final production at the gas wells may provide up to 2,918,000 cubic feet per month to the utility's gas meter shed.

Blind Instructor Plan Outlined For Board

A proposal that the Marin County Schools Office enter into a joint powers agreement with Napa and Sonoma counties to hire a mobility instructor for blind students has been outlined for the county board of education.

Byron W. Mauzy, assistant superintendent of schools, said yesterday that the proposal was made Monday but no action was taken. It was made only to inform the board of choices available in hiring a specialist for five blind students now under the jurisdiction of the schools office, he said.

The state will budget $910 per student for the instructor but the combined amount is not enough to support a teacher just for Marin.

He said about 20 to 25 students would be needed and by consolidating the programs of the three counties that number could be reached.

The instructor, Mauzy said, would teach students to move freely in familiar surroundings without the aid of a dog.

The board also was told the state would like to increase Marin's education program for handicapped students at Center Medical Hospital in Kentfield.

The program has four multi-handicapped students and the state has indicated it favors increasing the number to 25.

Mauzy said the program is offered to provide training for students from state hospitals and is an intermediate step back to community life.

Work Stoppage Legislation

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill allowing work stoppages but not strikes by public employees has been submitted by Assemblyman Bill Greene, D-Los Angeles.

Greene explained Monday that work stoppages were not covered by law but his measure would remove any question on their legality.

"In a work stoppage you can remain at the job site but withhold work services," he said. "A strike is when you go out and picket."

The bill does not change present law banning public employe strikes.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Humphrey Blast

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey today accused the Nixon administration of ignoring Congress with "executive arrogance", dismantling vital programs enacted by Democrats, mismanaging the economy and intimidating the news media.

His indictment of the administration was contained in a statement prepared for a meeting of the 100-member Democratic Policy Council, which has been assigned to draft a blueprint for the platform on which the party's 1972 presidential candidate will run.

With 20 new members, including four actual or potential presidential candidates, the council met for the first time since it issued a document 13 months ago saying it could see no reason why all U.S. troops could not be out of Vietnam by the summer of 1971.

But Humphrey's statement barely mentioned Vietnam except to say that the American people expect the Democrats to have answers to a number of problems, including "a seemingly endless, if not expanding, war in Indochina."

Jury Guarded

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The jurors at the Tate murder trial were under bailiffs' guard again today after Charles Manson threatened "murder and bloodshed" if he gets the death penalty.

Judge Charles H. Older ordered them sequestered and locked up nightly in a hotel lest they read or hear about Manson's warning before they reach a verdict in the punishment phase of the trial.

The 36-year-old convicted murderer made his remark to deputy district attorney Vincent Bugliosi and Stephen Kay Tuesday while they were talking with him through a wire mesh screen in the door of an anteroom adjoining the courtroom.

"If I get the death penalty, there's going to be nothing but murder and bloodshed afterwards because I'm not going to take it," he said.

Kay repeated the remark to newsmen during a recess and a short time later the districct attorney's office petitioned Older to sequester the jury.

Bugliosi was winding up his closing argument for the death penalty today with the case expected to go to the jury Thursday.

First Duties

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Newly elected Prime Minister Brian Faulkner today began forming a government to "restore confidence" in the troubled province. The man Faulkner defeated predicted imminent collapse of the new regime unless it took a tougher stand against Roman Catholic extremists.

Government sources said Faulkner was conducting meetings and would likely announce the membership of his cabinet early next week.

Faulkner won a 26-4 vote victory Tuesday over rightwing hardliner William Craig to become Northern Ireland's sixth prime minister since the province was established in 1920.

Faulkner immediately said law and order would get top priority in his government.

Backs SEC Boss

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Tax lawyer William J. Casey for the third time has been endorsed by the Senate Banking Committee for the job of head of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC.)

The committee sent Casey's nomination to the Senate floor Tuesday in a 9-3 vote. One of the negative votes was cast by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who described Casey as a wheeler-dealer who had made a "personal fortune, sometimes at the expense of his clients."

The full Senate is expected to approve Casey's nomination later this month.

Agrees To Guides

By U. P. International

Israel has agreed to provide the United States with guidelines for drawing up a Mideast peace settlement map, but has made it clear it will not give up its secure borders in exchange for an international peace-keeping force.

Government sources said Prime Minister Golda Meir and top cabinet aides had decided to give the United States "guiding principles" on what it would consider acceptable Arab-Israeli borders in a settlement.

The sources also said Mrs. Meir, in conversations with U.S. Ambassador Walworth Barbour in Jerusalem Tuesday, made it clear Israel would not give up its secure borders in exchange for an international peacekeeping force as proposed by the United States.

At the same time, a top Israeli general warned "the war is not over yet." Lt. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev, chief of staff of the armed forces, told a group of paratroopers Tuesday "although there is no shooting now, and all is quiet on the Egyptian border, we must nevertheless be prepared for a possible resumption of the war."

Pesticide Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Nixon administration today asked Congress for authority to bar use of hazardous bug and weed killers by everyone except licensed experts.

William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the Environmental protection Agency (EPA), told a Senate agriculture subcommittee he would like to severly limit use of DDT and other pesticides, but could not under present law without banning them altogether.

EPA's present authority over specific uses of pesticides amounts to nothing more than control over use instructions on the label, Ruckelshaus said in prepared testimony.

PUC Approves Gas Rate Hike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The State Public Utilities Commission granted Pacific Gas and Electric Co. permission on Tuesday to increase its natural gas rates by $9 million a year.

The boost is to offset an increase in costs charged the PG&E by its chief supplier, El Paso Natural Gas Co.

If the Federal Power Commission reduces rates El Paso can charge and orders a refund, the refund is to be passed on to PG&E customers.

To become effective April 1, the boost amounts to about nine cents per month for the average residential customer.

Molecule Is Mapped By Scientists

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The complicated molecular structure of a hormone which influences sexual behavior and reproduction has been mapped for the first time, University of California scientists announced Tuesday.

Dr. Harold Papkoff and his colleagues discovered the exact arrangement of 216 amino acids which make up the hormone in sheep and said past experience indicates the human hormone won't be much different.

The hormone is called "interstitial cell-stimulating hormone," or ICSH, and is one of the regulators of ovulation, menstruation, conception, and sperm production.

Papkoff and his group in the hormone research aboratory at the university's San Francisco campus discovered the arrangement of two sub-units which make up the hormone. It is the first sex hormone in which the complete amino acid sequence of both units has been mapped.

The researchers "cautiously speculate about the potential use of ICSH but at present there is evidence that it is important in regulating fertility and sexual behavior," a university spokesman said.

Their experiments showed that one of the sub-units could be substituted by a similar portion of another hormone, tyrotropin (TSH), which regulates the thyroid gland.

"This ability to switch units and still have a functioning molecule poses some interesting possibilities for practical application of this chemical discovery," their announcement said.

"Perhaps an ISCH molecule can be tailor-made that will permit certain phases of the reproductive cycle to occur, while inhibiting other phases."

Cash Redeemable Clause Is Proposed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill requiring that trading stamp books have a notice stating they are redeemable for cash has been proposed by Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Beverly Hills.

Sieroty said Tuesday that his measure would also require a similar notice for public view in the redemption center itself.

CBS Rejects Top-Level Critics Of 'Selling Of The Pentagon'

NEW YORK (UPI)—CBS News President Richard Salant said Tuesday none of the critics, including Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, "has refuted the essential accuracy" of the network's documentary on the Pentagon.

"We can refute every charge," Salant said. "We are proud of 'The Selling of the Pentagon' and CBS News stands behind it."

The network rebroadcast for the third time its special documentary "The Selling of the Pentagon" Tuesday night. The show was about the publicity and public relations work carried out by Pentagon officials.

Following the broadcast, CBS ran filmed comments from three of its principal critics, Agnew, Defense Secretary Melvin Laird and Rep. F. Edward Hebert, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee. Salant's comments followed the critics.

"None of our critics has said that these things didn't happen or weren't done—and so the validity of the broadcast stands unscathed," Salant said. "We have an answer for every one of the criticisms you've heard."

A CBS spokesman said in the two hours following the broadcast, its New York switchboard received 492 calls favorable to the show and 2,625 critical of it. Most of the calls were from New York City, he said.

Agnew's comments were taken from a speech he made in Boston last Friday. Agnew Monday asked to edit the film of his speech for CBS. CBS issued no comment on his demand and it was understood Agnew did not edit the film.

In his speech, Agnew not only criticized "The Selling of the Pentagon" but also an earlier CBS documentary "Hunger in America" and a CBS film on Haiti which was never broadcast.

Hebert said in his comments after the show that a film of him which appeared in the documentary was obtained from his office under the pretense of being used on a show about prisoners of war.

Salant said Hebert was told that the film would be used for a documentary on POWs and showed a letter he said was from Hebert's office saying:

"I am sending to you under separate cover the film of Congressman Hebert . . . please feel free to use any portion of the film as the congressman has given his permission to do so."

Laird said CBS quoted a colonel out of context and edited the film so the officer appeared to be speaking on his own while he really was reading a quote attributed to Laotian Prince Souvanna Phouma.

"I examined the transcript of the colonel's statement and it is difficult to tell where Souvanna Phouma left off and the colonel started," Salant said.

The colonel, Salant said, used Phouma's statement to back a Pentagon contention that if South Vietnam goes Communist, it will be difficult for Laos to exist. Salant said the colonel, however, did not quote the rest of Phouma's statement warning against a military move into Laos.

Oil Spill Probe Hears Of 'Incredible Coincidences'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A Coast Guard hearing examiner says he expects to rule within four weeks concerning the pilots of two oil tankers that collided near the Golden Gate Bridge and spilled 840,000 gallons of oil.

Examiner T. H. Edwards made his prediction Tuesday at the close of a one-day hearing concerning Captain Harry H. Parnell, 46, of Alameda, pilot of the Arizona Standard, and Captain Morris English, 59, also of Alameda, pilot of the Oregon Standard.

Attorney Mark Kasanin, representing Parnell, contended the accident was "not a case of flagrant errors, but rather a case of almost incredible coincidences."

He said Parnell had "the other vessel on radar. He tried to reach her on radio. He had a lookout at the bow and an extra officer on the bridge."

Attorney Lyman Henry, representing English, argued against the assertion that the Oregon Standard was off course. He said the ship's course would have put her on the starboard side of the foggy channel in San Francisco Bay.

Testimony taken during a hearing in January by the Marine Board of Investigation will constitute the evidence to be considered by the examiner. That was stipulated by all parties.

Both pilots are charged with being negligent in not stopping their vessels in the fog, failing to keep to starboard and failing to interpret radar information correctly.

Americans consumed about 112 pounds of wheat per person last year.

City School Strike: 1,800 Teachers Out

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A strike by the American Federation of Teachers disrupted the start of the school day today as pickets marched at the entrances of the city's public schools.

The union said several schools, including Commodore Stockton, were unable to open because employes refused to cross the teacher picket line.

School officials had ordered classes to continue despite the walkout by the AFL-CIO union which represents about 1,800 of the school system's 4,600 teachers. The union said other labor groups, including maintenance and cafeteria workers, were respecting the picket lines.

"We've got a good strike going," said an AFT spokesman shortly after the opening-time of the schools. "We have pickets at all the schools and some of them will have to shut down."

School officials said principals had been told to keep their schools open. "We will not close any schools unless we physically have to," a spokesman said.

At Galileo High School Principal James U. Kearney said 61 of 147 teachers failed to report for classes. He said he had 20 substitute teachers on hand.

Student absenteeism was heavy. At Balboa High school only one-fourth of the 2,000 pupils showed up for classes. About 25 of the school's 125 teachers were on the picket lines.

"In these situations, even if there are classes, there isn't much education," one school dean observed as pickets marched in front of the school and some classes were without teachers.

Teachers union president James Ballard ordered the walkout because of failure of the school district to make any sizeable headway towards establishing a master agreement for teachers.

Representatives of the union stalked out of a meeting with school district officials Monday, accusing the district of refusing to talk about strike issues.

Among the issues troubling the AFT were alleged failure of the district to adhere to commitments on reducing the size of classes, elimination of teacher preparation periods, limiting pay raises, threats to the dental plan and rollbacks on previous gains such as provisions for sabbatical leaves, teachers aides and reimbursement for loss by vandalism.

School Superintendent Thomas A. Shaheen said he regretted the AFT walking out of the Monday session before the district's pressing financial problems were outlined.

Shaheen said the district would keep schools open Wednesday and parents would be notified if there was any change.

Members of the Classroom Teachers Association, which represents the majority of teachers, refused to join the strike and said its members would cross picket lines.

"The strike by the AFT is premature, a grandstand play for membership and only serves to split the teachers at a time when unit is needed at the bargaining table," said John Muir, executive secretary of the classroom teachers.

Muir said at the time of the walkout the issue of wages, "a major union strike issue," was on the table.

they cooperated with the federal panel in every respect.

Alioto, informed of the indictment after his plane landed in San Francisco, told newsmen and 100 cheering supporters that the grand jury investigation was a "Star Chamber proceeding."

"The only thing missing was Madame LaFarge and her needles," said the mayor. "If I can be indicted for sharing fees in a legal case, then every Republican senator who has taken a referral fee should be indicted."

Implying that the charges are politically motivated, the mayor said the U.S. Justice Department had been aware of the details in the case for four years "and chose to do nothing about it until now." Referring to U.S. Attorney General John Mitchell, he said there is a "conflict of interest on the face of it" when a political campaign manager is the administration's chief law enforcement official.

Alioto's term ends this fall but he has not announced his plans. He said Tuesday night the indictment "isn't going to affect my intentions at all" and that he would ask for a change of venue to San Francisco so he could continue to function as mayor.

Alioto and O'Connell have hinted broadly they believe the federal investigation was a political maneuver to discredit them.

If convicted on all nine counts, Alioto, O'Connell and Faler each could receive a maximum of 45 years in jail. McCutcheon, 48, was charged with one count of conspiracy to commit bribery.

The fee-splitting agreement, which the grand jury said was secret but formalized, began in June, 1961, and continued through May, 1967. The charges only cite wrongdoing from March 28, 1966 and later.

A written retainer agreement specified Alioto was to receive a fee of 15 per cent of the damages recovered against 29 major manufacturers of electrical equipment in the antitrust suits.

A ceiling of $1 million in fees was later lifted by O'Connell.

The grand jury said this was done without the knowledge of the state or the public utility districts and that Alioto agreed secretly to share 50 per cent of his fees with O'Connell and Faler.

The federal panel said Faler was assigned to the anti-trust cases. It also said Mc Cutcheon neglected his responsibility of prosecuting the other defendants on charges of bribery.

Alioto, O'Connell and Faler each were charged with one count of conspiracy, six counts of using an interstate facility for bribery, and two counts of mail fraud.

The grand jury said federal laws were violated because checks involved in the transactions were sent through the mails.

O'Connell said he had entered the case in a private capacity at the suggestion of Alioto, then a practicing attorney, who noted that there was nothing illegal about the attorney general continuing his private practice while in office.

Innocent Plea To Charges

Dennis Sidney White, 19, of Sausalito, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to misdemeanor charges of being drunk in public, resisting arrest and defrauding an innkeeper.

White was arrested Saturday on suspicion of committing these offenses as well as on suspicion of felony assault on a police officer. The assault charge was not filed by the district attorney's office.

He was arrested after he attempted to run away from a Burger Chef restaurant in Mill Valley without paying for two hamburgers.

A jury trial was set for April 22.

additional $20 million to pay for innovative new programs.

The Peace Corps, born early in the administration of President John F. Kennedy, is the largest of the volunteer agencies with 1,188 personnel. Peace Corps volunteers go abroad to assist developing nations in meeting special needs.

VISTA, part of former President Lyndon B. Johnson's war on poverty, is the domestic counterpart of the Peace Corps, providing volunteers to work in poverty areas. The Teacher Corps is intended to attract young teachers to improve education of the poor.

The Foster Grandparents program gives opportunity for older persons to care for children.

"The new agency would, first, expand the testing and development of innovations in voluntary actions," Nixon said. "Health services, housing, the environment, educational development, manpower and community planning are just a few of the areas in which we would act to accomplish more through voluntary service."

Nixon said a proliferation of existing volunteer programs—some appealing to the young, some to retired people and others to the general public—were sometimes too narrow to fully use the talent of an individual volunteer.

Nixon said Action would "develop programs for combining foreign service with domestic service."

He said Action also would correct existing problems in which "valuable professional skills offered in voluntary service are too frequently limited by narrow categorical programs when their broader application is urgently needed."

Building Crackdown Report Due

A report calling for a moratorium on building around Bolinas Lagoon except within the communities of Stinson Beach and Bolinas will be unveiled tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. at the Marin Civic Center.

Developed by the Conservation Foundation of Washington, D. C., the three-year study calls for the building ban to protect the lagoon from filling with sediment, according to Clerin W. Zumwalt, naturalist with the Audubon Canyon Ranch.

He said the report asked for such a ban to remain in force until the entire watershed area around the lagoon can be master planned.

He said tomorrow's meeting, to be held in room 400, was called by the foundation to outline the plan for Marin conservation groups before it is forwarded to the county.

In 1969, when the county took over jurisdiction for the lagoon it was given three years by the state to come up with an ecological study. It requested the foundation to perform the study and according to Zumwalt, the report is the final product.

ASIA

Pentagon said for the first time that the drive had been cut short because the North Vietnamese threw in superior troops. The Defense Department said the drive would have lasted several weeks longer if the North Vietnamese had not reacted so strongly.

Khe Sanh, 12 miles inside the border from Laos, came under heavy rocket and mortar attack today, but UPI correspondent Stewart Kellerman reported from there that flight after flight of C130 Hercules transport planes airlifted men out of Khe Sanh on an around-the-clock schedule.

Exact status of the South Vietnamese marine rearguard was not certain. Field reports said there were less than 2,000 left, all near the one remaining artillery base called Hotel, two miles inside Laos and two miles south of Route 9. They were not using radios so they would not give their positions away but were believed moving through the jungles to the border.

Communist armor and infantry units were reported moving east toward the base from Laos. U.S. spokesmen said 101st Airborne Division helicopters attacked three Soviet-made tanks less than a mile west of the border town of Lao Bao on Highway 9.

The choppers destroyed one tank and damaged the others. Air strikes knocked out three other tanks six miles northwewt of Lao Bao.

JUDGE

the Peace Officers and District Attorneys Association.

He was in private practice when he was appointed by Gov. Ronald Reagan to the Oakland-Piedmont Municipal Court in 1967. He was elevated to the superior court in 1969.

Court observers in Oakland said that Lindsay was little known because he had mainly handled juvenile matters which are closed to the public.

The judge said yesterday he has no qualms about maintaining order among Miss Davis's and Magee's supporters.

"I feel confident that if they are there truly as supporters, they won't cause disruptions," he said. "I don't feel supporters will cause any problems if they recognize their actions will have deleterious effects on the case."

Court proceedings last week came to an abrupt halt when visiting Judge John P. McMurray of Inyo County stepped down from the bench after being challenged by Magee.

The Marin judges have withdrawn from the case because their colleague, Judge Harold J. Haley, was killed in the shoot-out.

It is not legally clear yet whether Magee has used his one peremptory challenge of a judge or whether he still has the right to dismiss a judge without stating a cause.

Miss Davis has not exercised any challenge.

Brothers To Plead In Novato Beating

The principals in yesterday's dramatic interruption of the beating of an Ignacio service station attendant went their separate ways today.

Novato Police Officer John L. Tyson, who fired three shotgun blasts to halt the suspects, was back on routine patrol work.

The beating victim, Michael Stutfield, was reported in good condition at Novato General Hospital. The two men captured were to enter pleas to charges of assault with a deadly weapon and robbery.

The suspects, Earl Sam Bouttie, 23, and his brother, Anthony, 21, who suffered a head wound, were arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

Police reported the two men were beating Stutfield, 24, of 415 Seventh Street, Petaluma, when Officer Tyson approached and attempted to halt them.

When they fled the officer fired three shotgun blasts, stopping their car and wounding Anthony Bouttie, who was treated at Marin General Hospital.

CHARGES

"The one or two who might have come in the afternoon (when the clinic was closed) would return the next morning," she said.

She said the clinic is "completely adequate" for treating the number of persons who go there.

She also said that the clinic staff has been using a drug many times as expensive as penicillin, the "drug of choice" for treating gonorrhea and syphillis.

"Why is this?" she asked.

Dr. Hallinan also said Miss Denning-Kemp was operating beyond the limits of her education and acting as a medical person.

Dr. Hallinan was referring to the fact that Miss Denning-Kemp interviews first persons who come to the clinic and decides whether they should see a doctor or not.

"She has no credentials that I know of except a six-week course in how to be a VD investigator and a black belt in judo," Dr. Hallinan said, "and yet she functions as medical personnel."

Miss Denning-Kemp was disciplined last year for falsifying expense accounts.

As to why she chose to speak up today, several months after leaving her post in the health department, Dr. Hallinan said she was afraid after yesterday's session at the board of supervisors' meeting that "the truth would not come out."

The supervisors yesterday postponed discussion of Bruce's recommendation that Dr. Albrecht be fired while she was given a chance to investigate charges against Miss Denning-Kemp and another health department employee.

Dr. Hallinan concluded that Miss Denning-Kemp "had been placed in a position of being entrusted with highly confidential material" and that "a nonmedical person could destroy people with that information."

4-Car Crash Stalls Traffic

A four-car accident on the south end of the Richardson Bay Bridge this morning tied up commute traffic for about an hour on Highway 101.

Details were sketchy but the highway patrol's watch commander in San Francisco said the accident occurred at about 6:05 a.m. and blocked the southbound lane nearest the center railing.

Four cars were involved, and two of them were "pretty smashed up," the officer said San Francisco-bound traffic backed up to Corte Madera at one point but was flowing smoothly by 7 a.m.

First reports said one motorist was injured but highway patrol officers said no ambulance was called to the scene and a Marin General hospital spokesman said no victim was treated there.

Man Injured On Shoreline

A Marin City man was injured yesterday when his car collided with a Mill Valley police car on Shoreline Highway near Highway 101, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Larry J. Sover, 20, of 89 Cole Drive, Apt. 19, was treated at Marin General Hospital for bruises of the right arm after the accident, which occurred shortly after midnight.

The highway patrol said a police car being driven east on Shoreline by officer Craig S. Conzelman, 28, collided with Stover's car, which made a left turn in front of the police car while westbound on Shoreline.

$250,000 Death Suit: 'Negligence'

A $250,000 suit was filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court in connection with the death of a 20-year-old soldier in a San Rafael motorcycle accident last year.

The suit was filed by Mary and Melissa Kathryn Martin, both of West Palm Beach, Fla., widow and daughter of Rex Martin who died March 28, 1970, when he was struck in the neck by a steel guard cable as he rode a motorcycle on a private road in East San Rafael.

Martin was stationed at Fort Cronkhite at the time of the accident.

Charged in the suit with "negligent and careless erection of a barrier" are San Rafael Cayes Inc. and the Meyerhoff Corporation, a construction firm with headquarters in Maryland.

San Rafael police said Martin apparently did not see a cable stretching across a levee road east of Canal Street.

OBITUARIES

Maybelle M. Carter Dies At 80

Maybelle M. Carter, 80, of 16 Elm Avenue, Kentfield, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness.

She was born in Beatrice, Neb., and had lived in California since just after the 1906 earthquake, coming here with her parents. She married her husband, now retired Col. James D. Carter of U.S. Army and traveled extensively with him in his career.

Mrs. Carter and her daughter, now Lois Irey of Kentfield, were evacuated from the Philippine Islands just before World War II. Her husband was a prisoner of war, having survived the Bataan death march. While he was a prisoner, she purchased their home in Marin County. He was liberated with the troops in Manchuria and returned here.

She was a member of the Tamalpais Center Women's Club, San Rafael Improvement Club and Daughters of the Nile, Order of Eastern Star.

In addition to her husband and daughter, she is survived by a sister, Elizabeth Bafigo of San Francisco and two grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Friday at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Entombment will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society would be preferred by the family.

GRACE ASHCROFT

Funeral arrangements for Grace Ashcroft, 84, of 25 Country Club Drive, Mill Valley, were pending today at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley.

Mrs. Ashcroft died Monday at a local hospital after a short illness.

MRS. FRANCIS

Requiem Mass for Elizabeth Loretta Francis, 68, of Loma Verde, a retired clerk, will be celebrated at 9 a.m. tomorrow at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato.

Mrs. Francis, widow of Arthur Francis, died unexpectedly at her home, 269 Calle de la Selva, Monday, apparently of natural causes.

She retired in 1968 after working as a payroll department clerk with the Mission Division of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in San Francisco.

She was a member of Novamarin Grandmothers Club in Novato, Senior Citizens Club of Novato, the Pacific Service Employees Association, and the Legion of Mary of Our Lady of Loretto Church.

A native of Worchester, Mass., she had been a resident of Marin for 11 years and of California for 46 years.

Surviving are a son, Stephen Francis of San Rafael; a daughter, Mary Buttery of Pacific Grove, Monterey County; a brother, Thomas Kelly of Hawthorne, Los Angeles County; a sister, Annie McDougal of North Grafton, Mass., and six grandsons.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home, Novato. Burial will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

Alternative To 'Voucher Plan'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation giving tax breaks to parents sending their children to private schools has been proposed by a Republican lawmaker critical of the so-called "voucher plan."

Assemblyman Floyd Wakefield introduced the two measures Tuesday with one allowing parents to deduct the tuition from their property tax and the other allowing them to deduct it from their state income tax.

"I consider this type of tax credit to be a true form of revenue sharing," the South Gate assemblyman said. "The taxpayer is given the choice of using his education dollars for public-supported education or for private education."

Wakefield in a statement criticized "voucher plan" bills before the legislature. The measures would permit parents to be paid outright for sending their children to private schools.

$50 Reward For Park Vandalism

The Novato City Council, after hearing reports of damage to parks, last night agreed to offer a $50 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons damaging public property.

The vote to try the reward system to halt vandalism was 4-1 with Councilman George C. Quesada dissenting.

Quesada said he felt that people should feel strongly enough to come forward with information and that the idea of paying a citizen to inform was repugnant. "To buy testimony against a fellow man is completely wrong," he contended.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown said cooperation from the public has been scarce.

Under the proposal, reward signs would be posted in conspicuous locations, and Mayor Douglas M. Merrill felt that posting of signs in itself would be effective.

The Novato City Council Also:

CITY MANAGER — Adopted an ordinance amendment giving the city manager hiring firing power over department heads, except city treasurer, without council ratification by a 4-1 vote with Councilman J. Wayne Womack, who sought council ratification, dissenting, Betty Machado of 1424 Dawes Sreet, opposed, and Pat Lenhart of 860 Pine Street supported the amendment.

PARK LAND — Received notice that T. V. McGuire has rejected the city's offer to pay $50,000 for a 4.6-acre park site on San Marin Drive at San Mateo Way, and recommended to the planning commission that three parcels fronting on San Marin Drive be designated for apartments or townhouses, while the council would negotiate for the remainder of the site, or all of it, in the meantime.

POPULATION — Authorized an estimate of city population by the state Department of Finance.

REGIONAL STUDY — Supported financing of a regional coastal plan by the Association of Bay Area Governments be by all nine Bay Areas counties, not just the four coastal counties, including Marin.

FOOTBRIDGE — Approved plans and specifications for a footbridge across Novato Creek at the Downtown Novato Center, estimated to cost $4,500 and agreed to seek bids on plans by Councilman George C. Quesada, which reportedly would be more costly to build, by a 4-1 vote, with Womack dissenting.

VEHICLE SALE — Authorized auctioning of six surplus city vehicles including three police cars.

MEDIAN CURBING — Approved plans for curbing of median islands along Sunset Parkway, with costs to be paid by residents in the Lynwood Maintenance District.

NEAR COLLEGE — Adopted an ordinance to rezone 15.4 acres, owned by Redwood Investment Co., adjacent to the proposed north campus site of the College of Marin from limited agriculture to planned residential by a 4-0 vote with Mayor Douglas M. Merrill abstaining because he was absent at hearings on the mattar.

HIGHWAY SITE — Adopted an ordinance to rezone 8.8 acres on the east side of Highway 101, south of Bolling Drive, from highway commercial to planned residential, as requested by Myron Kaplan. The vote was 4-0 with Merrill abstaining because he was absent at hearings on the matter.

WILSON AVENUE — Voted 3-2 to rezone a parcel on the east side of Wilson Avenue, south of Vineyard Road, across from Sinaloa Junior High School from limited agricultural to planned residential with 20,000 square foot lots with Womack and Merrill dissenting. It was a reversal of an early 3-2 vote denying such zoning. On the earlier vote councilmen Joseph Gargiulo, Womack and Merrill had voted for denial.

ANNEXATIONS — Set 8 p.m. May 11 for hearings on annexation of 14 acres at Novato Boulevard and Eucalyptus Avenue, and annexation of 35 acres east of Marin Valley Mobile Country Club.

MARION AVENUE — Authorized $2,500 to complete improvements to Marion Avenue between Eighth Street and Benton Lane, where traffic hazards existed for elementary school pupils walking to Marion School, after City Mgr. Charles A. Brown said that work was already accomplished. Public Works Director Clifford E. Temps estimated that $4,000 in time and materials have already gone into the job.

POLICE COMMENDATION — Received a letter form the Novato Fire Protection District praising the cooperation extended by the Novato Police Department and appreciation for its work.

CLAIM DENIED — Denied a claim by Santo Picone of 1140 Elm Drive, Apt. 4, for $25,000 for a broken arm suffered in a fall while crossing Elm Street Feb. 12.

ENVIRONMENT— Accepted the resignation of Lenn B. Bragg from the city environment committee because of illness and "other personal concerns."

Locked Sub-Bids Ruled Illegal By Supreme Court

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Rules that sub-bids on contracting jobs be made through "locked box" depositories violate California and federal antitrust laws, California's Supreme Court decided Tuesday.

Such rules for a bid depository "creat a system of bidding virtually devoid of open price competition," the court held in a unanimous decision.

In question were the General Building Contractor's Association rules in the case of the Oakland-Alameda County Builder's Exchange versus F. Peter Lathrop Construction Co.

Exchange rules require subcontractors to deliver sealed bids in a locked box by a specified deadline for the consideration of a general contractor bidding on an entire job.

Lathrop, as general contractor, sought bids for painting and floor covering at Chabot College auditorium in Hayward.

The firm rejected some "locked box" bids in favor of lower bids submitted independently. The exchange and two subcontractors sued for damages.

Merrill, Novato Councilman For Seven Years, Resigns Position

Novato Mayor Douglas M. Merrill, a city council member for the past seven years, submitted his resignation to the council last night in an unexpected move. (Another Novato City Council story, page 1.)

Merrill, named mayor by his colleagues last April, said "personal considerations and circumstances" no longer allowed him to devote the time and attention to the post "deserved by the community of their elected representatives."

He submitted his resignation immediately after adoption of the downtown plan, which he said had been an "utmost priority for some time."

Merrill, 48, an associate member of the architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill of San Francisco, told of the press of private and city business, leaving little time for his family.

He was elected to the council in 1964 and reelected in 1968 to a four-year term which expires April 1972.

Merrill indicated he might have resigned sooner but wanted to see the downtown plan, more than two years in the making, adopted.

Merrill asked that the council accept his resignation no later than April 13, and pointed out the remaining council members would have to appoint a successor within 30 days of the date the resignation is effective. If not, an election would have to be held, he said.

He suggested the council invite persons interested in serving to submit applications, and have a special closed session April 6 to consider appointing his successor. Councilmen agreed.

Merrill served as chairman of the City-County Planning Council in 1968, and is a past member of the Novato Planning Commission, Marin County Human Rights Commission and the City-County Services Committee.

Pair Arrested In Church Theft

A Novato woman and a male companion were arrested yesterday on suspicion of the burglary of St. Francis Solano Church in Sonoma.

Pamela Kathleen Donaldson, 21, and Kurt Theodore Kaikinger, 22, of Boyes Hot Springs, were booked into Sonoma County Jail for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Sonoma officer George Close said he found Miss Donaldson outside the church waiting for Kaikinger, who was seen inside carrying a large crucifix and candle under his arms.

New Source Protection Is Being Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. James B. Pearson, R-Kan., today proposed legislation to provide newsmen not be required to disclose any confidential information by any court, grand jury, agency, department, U.S. Commission, or the Congress.

The bill also would provide newsmen not be required to disclose the source of any information received in a professional capacity.

The legislation would not apply to the source of any allegedly defamatory information in a case where the defendant, in a civil action for defamation, claims a defense based upon the source of information, or to the source of any information concerning the details of any grand jury or other proceeding required to be secret under U.S. laws.

37 Years' Service On Library Panel

ENDS 37 YEARS ON BOARD — Eleanor G. Murray, who has announced her retirement from the San Rafael Library Board at the end of her term next month, sits among books of her own library in her home at 1018 Grand Avenue. Mrs. Murray has served on the library board since 1934.

(Independent-Journal photo)

The longest continuous service on any city board or commission in San Rafael will end next month when Eleanor G. Murray steps down from the library board.

Mrs. Murray has notified Mayor C. Paul Bettini that she will not accept appointment to another four-year term on the board. She has served on it for 37 years, and has been chairman the past 10 years.

Only one San Rafael city official has longer service: City Treasurer Angelina M. Soldavini. She has been treasurer since 1957, but went to work as a clerk in the treasurer's office in 1928.

Mrs. Murray's 37 years of city service, however, have all been unpaid, since library board members receive no salary nor expenses.

"I taught school for 35 years, and I planned to give the same amount of time to the library," said Mrs. Murray, whose verve belies her age of 84. "But I didn't want to quit in the middle of a term, so it turned out to be 37 years."

She was teaching English and Latin at San Rafael High School when she was first appointed to the board by Mayor William S. Nock in 1934. And that was during her second stint of school teaching.

She retired from the high school, as dean of girls and Latin teacher, at the close of the 1957 school year.

She began as an English teacher at San Rafael High in 1906, after graduating at the age of 19 from University of California. She taught for 10 years, then retired to marry and rear a family.

Mrs. Murray emerged from that early retirement in 1932, returning to San Rafael High to teach English (including journalism) and Latin. From 1939 to her second retirement 18 years later, she was dean of girls and taught Latin exclusively.

On leaving the classroom, Mrs. Murray became active in the Marin Retired Teachers Association, and has served it in several capacities, including president. When the library was pinched for new books in 1964, as result of a series of miserly appropriations for book purchase by the city council, she arranged for the retired teachers group to canvass homes for volumes to be sold in a series of book sales on the library lawn, which produced funds to help fill the shelves with new editions.

In 1966, the city council chose Mrs. Murray as San Rafael's "senior citizen of the year."

A widow, she still lives in the home at 1018 Grand Avenue that she entered as a bride in 1916.

Mayor Bettini said he tried to dissuade the veteran library board chairman from her decision "but she's made up her mind."

"She is a wonderful woman and we will miss her very much," said the mayor, "but I could not deny that she has given plenty of years of service to the city."

Mrs. Murray's retirement will leave Ella May Minneman, who has been on the library board a mere six years, as its senior member.

Terms of Bryce W. Anderson and James A. Mayer also expire next month. The city council is expected to act on their reappointment and a successor to Mrs. Murray.

Sewer Line Procedure Suspended

A procedure that would enable installation of sewer lines in the Indian Valley section of West Novato has been suspended pending permanent zoning in the area, according to Charles A. Joseph, manager of the Novato Sanitary District.

Joseph reported Monday night to the district board that circulation of petitions for formation of a sewer assessment district in the area has been halted.

Circulating of petitions was stopped when Marin County began consideration of rezoning the area, Joseph said.

When supervisors recently designated interim zoning of one-acre minimum sites, the effect "was to force temporary suspension of any effort to go forth," he said.

Property owners who were circulating petitions have decided to wait until the zoning is set before continuing their efforts, Joseph reported.

The assessment district would cover about 500 acres in the area of Wilson Avenue, Indian Valley Road and McClay Road, mainly unincorporated area.

The Novato Sanitary District board also:

SUBREGIONAL STUDY — Approved an agreement with three engineering firms — Yoder, Trotter, Orlob and Associates of Walnut Creek; Jenks and Adamson of Palo Alto, and J. Warren Nute Inc. of San Rafael — for a subregional sewer study at a cost of $85,000, with $55,000 to come from seven Marin and Southern Sonoma agencies and $30,000 from the state.

CARRARA ESTATES — Approved construction of a main extension to serve Carrara Estates, a 26-lot subdivision on 7.7 acres located south of Center Road, between Eucalyptus Avenue and San Lane.

NEXT MEETING — Scheduled a special meeting at 6 p.m. Monday at the North Marin County Water District office to discuss plans for improvements to the Novato and Ignacio treatment plants and an outfall line to San Pablo Bay, approved by voters last December.

Korean Pullout

SEOUL (UPI)—U.S. military authorities in Korea said today the 7th U.S. Infantry Division is being pulled out of Korea and inactivated under a plan to reduce American troops in Korea by 20,000 to 43,000 by June 30.

Cal Vet Bond Issue To Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly approved and sent to the Senate Tuesday a bill approving a $250 million Cal Vet bond issue for the June 1972 ballot to help finance home purchases by Vietnam veterans.

The measure's author, Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento, said the loan program is running out of money and veterans' names are on waiting lists for the low interest loans.

Retaining Music Instruction Urged

The possible elimination of music instruction in elementary schools was blasted last night as a packed audience asked the Petaluma Board of Education to make cuts elsewhere in next fiscal year's budget.

Two weeks ago, the board said it reluctantly intended to eliminate the elementary district's two full-time and part-time music instructors and leave all music instruction to the classroom teacher. The plan came as part of a move — made necessary by defeat of a tax increase election last month — to reduce district expenses by $200,000 for the 1971-72 school year.

Music teachers from the school district, Sonoma State College and parents urged last night that the music program be continued at all costs. Many said that private music instruction is hard to obtain and costly.

Schools Supt. Lesly H. Meyer said the full-time instructor had been rehired as a classroom teacher for next year, but possibly could be returned as a music teacher if funds permit. He said that a final decision on budget cuts wouldn't be made until August when a new budget is officially adopted.

Board members all expressed a high regard for the value of music instruction, but said they were concerned that more interest had not been shown in retaining two reading teacher positions also proposed for elimination.

Business Mgr. George W. Castleberry said the overall instruction budget is now $1.7 million and must be reduced to $1.63 million to stay within budget limitations. He said virtually all overtime pay will be banned as well as many part-time jobs. All district-employed teacher aides will not be rehired, he said, but aides paid by federal funds would be.

Castleberry said heavy cuts might also be made in transportation, with the elimination of all district-sponsored field trips. He said elementary district busing would be limited to Penngrove and McDowell schools, areas where homes are widely scattered.

Meyer said funds would not be available to bus overflow students from the crowded McDowell to other schools and that double sessions would be a possibility there.

Golden Gate Recreation Area Backed

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A measure urging Congress to establish a Golden Gate National Recreation Area was approved unanimously yesterday by the Assembly and sent to the Senate.

The joint resolution (AJR 3) by Assemblyman Leo T. McCarthy, D-San Francisco, asks that the recreation area include surplus portions of forts Baker, Barry and Cronkhite in Marin and forts Mason, Miley, Scott, Funston and the Presidio in San Francisco, and surplus state and city lands.

The resolution, as customary, did not endorse any specific pending legislation in Congress. But McCarthy told the Independent-Journal that it was similar to a bill introduced by Rep. Phillip Burton, D-Fifth District.

McCarthy said that Burton's bill was "broader" than one by Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District. Mailliard's bill was limited to surplus military lands, the assemblyman said.

Mailliard's bill would create a park of up to 6,000 acres, while McCarthy's resolution call for a park of at least 10,000 acres.

Mailliard, whose district includes portions of both Marin and San Francisco, had a similar measure in the last Congress, but it died in committee without a hearing.

Asian Flu Is 'Widespread' In California

BERKELEY (UPI) — The State Health Department says Asian flu is "widespread" in California, particularly in the southern part of the state.

A few cases of type B flu also have been documented in recent weeks, a spokesman for the State Disease Control office said.

Deaths diagnosed as caused by pneumonia or influenza have not yet reached the epidemic level, the spokesman said, but the flu level appears to be higher than in 1970.

West Marin Cable TV Pact Awarded

Storer Cable TV Corp., with headquarters in Southern California, won an exclusive franchise yesterday to provide cable television service to West Marin.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors granted the franchise by unanimous vote on a recommendation by County Communications Director John H. Atkinson.

Jack Harper of Sonoma County, Northern California division manager for the firm, said service would start in higher density areas. The franchise area includes Stinson Beach, Bolinas, Olema, Point Reyes Station, Inverness, Inverness Park, Tomales and Dillon Beach.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

MOTORCYCLES — Asked County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney to revise a proposed ordinance setting strict regulations for use of motorcycles in the unincorporated area. The board felt it went so far as to prohibit a property owner from using his own motorcycle on his land.

EMPLOYEES — Despite the pleas to spokesmen for about 100 county employees, held to its decision not to allow evacuation of the Civic Center upon each telephoned bomb threat. The employee spokesmen said each worker should be allowed to decide whether he wished to leave the buildings.

LEAVE — Granted Robert Harrison, coordinator of the county's balanced transportation program, a three-month leave of absence without pay in order to live in Denmark this summer. Supervisor Louis H. Baar protested the decision.

DEFENDER — Promoted Harold J. Truett to the post of public defender, with a raise in pay from $1,838 to $1,926 per month. Truett had been acting public defender since Jerome C. Durham resigned last November because of illness.

McNEAR BEACH — Awarded a $26,840 contract to Joseph E. Redmond of San Rafael to remodel the caretaker's residence at McNear Beach County Park in East San Rafael.

FLOOD — Agreed to pay $97,000 to Cal-West Capital Corp. for the Redwood Medical Center Property in Kentfield and $72,960 for three acres owned by the Margaret E. Hamer estate at 1155 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Ross. Both properties are needed for the next phase of the Corte Madera flood control project. Funds will come from the flood control district.

PAROCHIAL — Approved a use permit for an elementary school to be operated by Parents for Orthodoxy and Parochial Education at the Resurrection Lutheran Church, 1100 Las Gallinas Avenue, Terra Linda.

FERRY — At Supervisor Michael Wornum's suggestion, decided to make a recommendation on the central Marin ferry terminal next Tuesday because the Golden Gate Bridge District is still undecided between two sites — Hutchinson's Quarry in Larkspur and the Dominic Muzzi property in the Corte Madera marshlands.

SECRETARY — Restored full rights and $650-per-month salary to secretary Anne Smith of the human rights department, who suffered a pay cut last January when she transferred back to the department from her job with the police-community relations program. A fact -finding committee recommended the $650 pay and restoration of full rights to Mrs. Smith.

FENCE — Changed the ordinance of fencing of pools and other bodies of water so that recreation spots like Stafford Lake need not be fenced. As the county ordinance now reads, all artificially created bodies of water must be fenced.

FAIRFAX — Approved moving Fairfax branch of the county library from 47 Broadway to larger quarters in the Fair-Anselm Shopping Center. New rental will be $382 per month, compared with $170 per month for the present space.

TAXES — Decided to give up trying to collect personal property taxes from the Jumping Bean restaurant at 501 Second Street, San Rafael, and Associated Dredging Co. of Sausalito because the value of their assets are not worth the collection cost. Supervisors, however, called for legal action to collect from some 100 houseboat owners who are behind in their personal property taxes.

SECOND DECK — Supported the concept of a second deck on the Golden Gate Bridge, that would be used only for mass transit.

FIREHOUSE — Approved plans for a new firehouse and sheriff's substation in Marin City,estimated to cost $75,000.

GNOSS FIELD — Approved an agreement with fixed base operators at Gnoss Field, requiring them to carry $1 million single limit coverage for all phases of their activities at the county airport.

Senate Gets Overtime Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Senate had before it today Assembly-backed legislation authorizing time and a half pay for state employes who work overtime.

The lower house Tuesday approved the bill by Assemblyman Edwip L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento. Overtime pay is supported by Gov. Ronald Reagan who included $7.7 million in his proposed budget to cover its costs.

Sinatra To Quit His Big Career

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—Frank Sinatra, an often stormy and controversial performer during his more than 30-year career, announced Tuesday he is retiring from show business to write and teach.

Sinatra, 55, said he hoped to spend more time with his family, his close friends and perhaps "writing a little bit." He said he had no plans for future motion pictures, television or recording activities.

"I'm retiring from public life," Sinatra told his family Tuesday in a letter, copies of which were sent to several friends. He also said he would enjoy doing some teaching.

The decision, the millionaire singer-actor said, was final. He also excluded further participation in politics.

Sinatra would not comment further on his "retirement" but a spokesman for the singer said his decision to quit show business was sincere.

The spokesman said he probably would not fulfill a commitment for a motion picture for Warner Bros. But that he would perform in his last scheduled public appearance, the Motion Picture Relief Fund Benefit at the Los Angeles Music Center June 13.

Sinatra began his career as a dance band singer, first with Harry James and then with Tommy Dorsey in the late 1930s. The skinny kid from Hoboken, N.J. had hit after hit in 1940 and 1941.

An Extra $6,000 For Carpeting

Marin County supervisors voted an extra $6,000 yesterday for improved carpeting for the 1,200-seat theater of the Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

At the same time, however, supervisors tried to cut costs elsewhere on the auditorium grounds by ordering a less fancy storage building next to the auditorium.

Thomas F. Campanella, assistant county administrator, said the storage building was approved on Jan. 12 as part of $94,220 alloted for site development. Campanella said the cost estimate for the storage building is about $35,000, or about $15 per square foot.

"Fifteen dollars per square foot is too expensive for a storage building," complained John F. McInnis.

Supervisors asked the architect to see if the cost can be cut to about $8 per square foot.

"We don't want a Taj Mahal for a storage building," said Supervisor Michael Wornum.

The board thus far this year has authorized spending more than $520,000 on the auditorium and site development. During the last four years, a total of $3 million have been spent on the auditorium, which is scheduled to open in September this year after a series of delays.

Oil Depletion Bill Is Shelved

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Sen. Clark Bradley, R-San Jose, has shelved, at least temporarily, his bill to conform California to the federal tax statute governing depletion allowances for the oil industry.

Bradley, whose measure is supported by segments of the industry, Tuesday said he placed the bill on the Senate "inactive" file while he watches the progress of rival legislation carried by Assemblyman John Barochia, D-San Francisco.

The Bradley bill would reduce from 27 1-2 to 22 per cent the amount oil companies can subtract from gross profits before taxation. Federal law currently contains that provision.

The Burton measure, aimed at raising an estimated $26 million the first year, would go much further and impose a limitation on the depletion allowance to the actual cost of developing a well. The bill is awaiting final action in the Ways and Means Committee.

Blind Alley On Food Stamp Probe

By WAT TAKESHITA

Marin County supervisors tried yesterday to pounce on "abuses" in the federal food stamp program but found little on which to sink their teeth.

In fact, most of the "abuses" were found to be legal under rules of the Department of Agriculture, which sponsors the program.

Frustrated supervisors decided the best they could do was to send strong letters of protest to Congress, asking that food stamp rules be tightened up so that only the needy could take advantage of food at a discount.

Donald Sanford, administrative assistant in the county department of public social services, said 11 persons are now employed in Marin under the program. Part of the cost is borne by the federal government. Actual cost to the county is about $88,000 per year, Sanford estimated.

Betty L. Presley, director of public social services, said the food stamp program is growing sharply. In June of 1969, Marin had 1,017 families eligible for food stamps, she said. Last month, 4,733 Marin households were receiving stamps.

Miss Presley acknowledged that stamps are being bartered for commodities other than food, and that stamp users put up cash to buy liquor and cigarettes while buying groceries with stamps. Under present federal controls, there is no way to stop this, she pointed out.

Under federal law, an individual may have up to $1,000 in personal property and still be eligible for food stamps. Therefore, said Miss Presley, a person can buy a basketful of groceries with food stamps and still spend large sums for other goods.

Miss Presley said her staff can check identification, rent receipts, and salary stubs to see if a person is eligible for food stamps. But once the food stamps are purchased from a bank, there is no control over how many times the stamps are used in barter trade before they finally reach a grocery store.

Grocery stores are supposed to check for identification but many of them don't, Miss Presley pointed out.

She suggested that food stamps be printed more in the style of a check to require a signature when presented at a grocery store. Miss Presley said that some limit could be placed on those who continue to claim "no income" and apply for food stamps.

The program is run under federal regulations, said Miss Presley. "Unfortunately, it is tied into the welfare system to certify who gets it, and hence it is welfare in everybody's eyes, and the welfare department is hung with its present unsavory reputation."

Winifred Frederick of Lagunitas reported that Marin is running its food stamp program more tightly than other counties in the Bay Area.

Thomas F. Campanella, assistant county administrator, said Marin must participate in either the food stamp program or the surplus commodities program, "which is much worse." Under surplus commodities, the county would have to run grocery stores to distribute food to needy families.

"Can a store refuse to honor food stamps if the customer also buys liquor and caviar with cash?" asked supervisor John F. McInnis.

The store cannot refuse, because the food stamp user is allowed to have up to a thousand dollars in cash, Miss Presley pointed out.

"The abuses are unconscionable," declared McInnis. "If that's the only choice the government gives us, let's operate a store out of a remote closet down here."

Chairman Louis H. Baar asked the county administrator's office to send a list of alleged "abuses" along with the letters of protest to Washington.

Lindbergh Is Against SST

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)— Charles A. Lindbergh says that the speed of the supersonic transport (SST) does not justify the perils of upper pollution.

While the plane could be built, it should not, said Lindbergh, the former Minnesotan who flew nonstop from New York to Paris in 1927.

Speaking Monday night at a meeting at the home of Russell Fridley, president of the Minnesota Historical Society, Lindbergh said the SST would consume twice as much fuel to carry half the number of passengers as are carried on subsonic planes.

Lindbergh, now a director and consultant for Pan American Airways, said he questioned whether it would be wise to subsidize the SST.

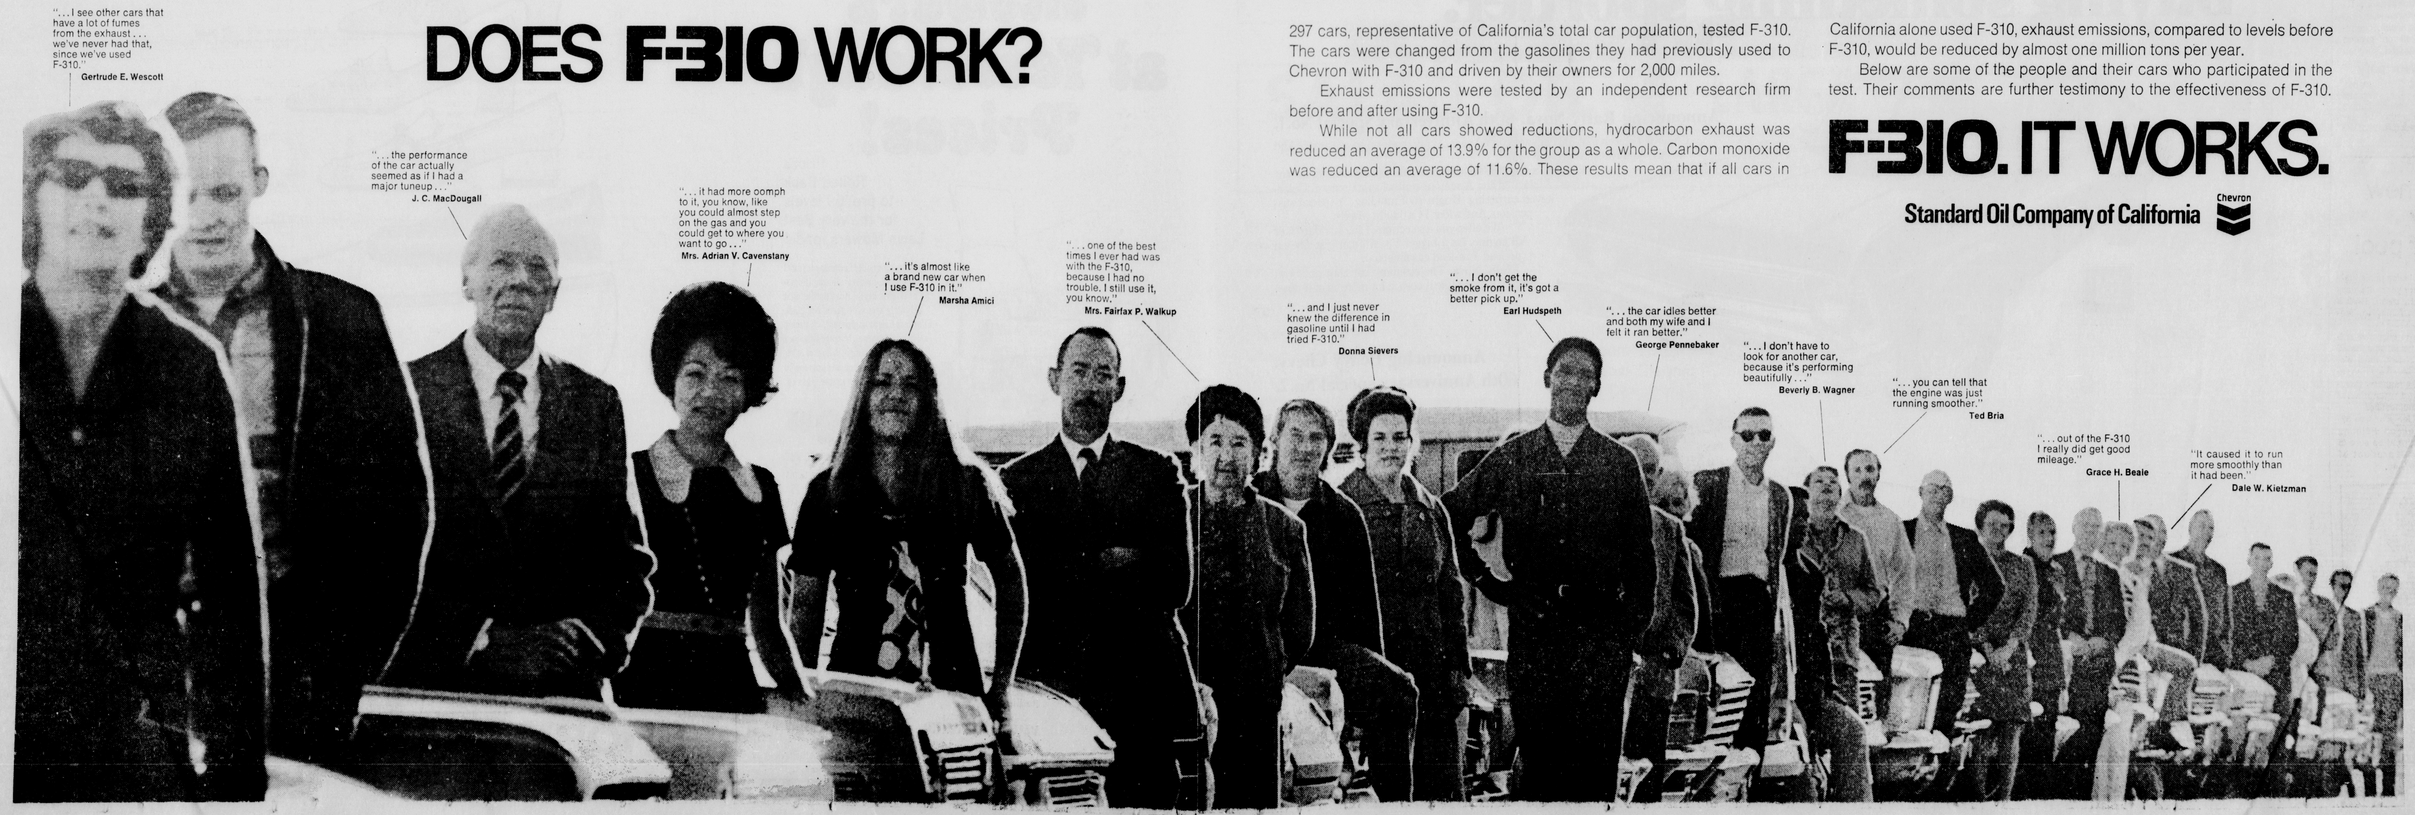
DOES F-310 WORK?



297 cars, representative of California's total car population, tested F-310. The cars were changed from the gasolines they had previously used to Chevron with F-310 and driven by their owners for 2,000 miles.

Exhaust emissions were tested by an independent research firm before and after using F-310.

While not all cars showed reductions, hydrocarbon exhaust was reduced an average of 13.9% for the group as a whole. Carbon monoxide was reduced an average of 11.6%. These results mean that if all cars in California alone used F-310, exhaust emissions, compared to levels before F-310, would be reduced by almost one million tons per year.

Below are some of the people and their cars who participated in the test. Their comments are further testimony to the effectiveness of F-310.

Reagan Worried By Berkely Vote

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan says the threatened political takeover of Berkeley by radicals "should serve as a warning to every community that 'it can happen here.'"

He said if the radicals succeed at the municipal election polls April 6, the city would become a "community that reasonable, responsible people would not want to be part of."

The Republican governor discussed Berkeley, 18-year-old voters, a Republican's threat to block confirmation of Dr. William McColl as a state college trustee and a southern crossing over San Francisco Bay at a news conference Tuesday.

A slate of radicals is seeking to win all four vacant seats on the Berkeley City Council and is promoting adoption of a proposition to divide the police department into three separate agencies controlled by local neighborhood police councils.

Some opponents of the plan have charged that it would give control of at least one police unit to the Black Panthers.

"It should be a problem of concern to everyone in this state," Reagan said. "I think it is a reflection of what has happened in that community with the influx of so-called street people."

He noted at the last election there was a "great" registration of "those people" as voters, adding, "I think it should serve as a warning to every community that 'it can happen here.'"

The governor told newsmen Berkeley Mayor Wallace Johnson discussed the issue with him and was "reasonably optimistic that the people of Berkeley are not going to let this happen."

In response to a question, Reagan said Johnson didn't ask him to be prepared to give Berkeley state aid in case "something goes wrong."

Reagan also said he wasn't convinced that 18-year-olds should vote in state and local elections and charged Congress with infringing on a state's right to set its own voter eligibility requirements.

The governor repeated he believes the issue should be decided by the voters but said he was disturbed "greatly" that a youth could vote at 18 but not buy liquor and assume other rights and responsibilities of full citizenship.

He said McColl, a former Stanford University football great of the early 1950s, had promised him that if he planned to seek elective office he would resign from the State College Board of Trustees.

Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, has threatened to attempt to block Senate confirmation of McColl on ground that the West Covina surgeon would use the post as a forum to run against Rep. John Rousselot, R-Calif. Rousselot defeated McColl last June.

Reagan said he discussed the nomination with Rousselot over the telephone and "I told him he had nothing to worry or fear about."

On other topics, Reagan:

Crossing—Indicated he would take the full 12 days allotted him to decide whether to sign or veto a controversial bill forbidding the state from building a southern crossing over San Francisco Bay without the legislature's approval.

Gas—Announced he was still "not convinced" of the need to increase temporarily the state tax on gasoline to help finance repair of earthquake-damaged roads and highways in Southern California.

Tax—Disclosed he "conceivably" could support a proposal to spend a $265 million one-time windfall from income tax withholding to pay for construction of state buildings.

SST—Said he still strongly supports construction of the supersonic transport and noted it could mean $177 million for the California economy.

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill requiring a one-year warranty on sales of new mobile homes was proposed Tuesday by Assemblyman Frank Murphy, R-Santa Cruz.

Interior Official Sees Oil Shale Need for U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An assistant secretary in the Interior Department predicts the United States eventually will have to exploit oil shale and coal synthetics for fuel.

The prediction came Monday in a speech read to the National Petroleum Refiners Association for secretary Hollis Dole.

"We must at some time in the foreseeable future begin to supplement more conventional liquid hydrocarbon production with synthetic liquid fuels from the far more plentiful, more accessible resources of coal and oil shale," he declared.

Using shale resources, would assure the nation of not having a fuel shortage, he said.

Marinwood CSD To Have Annex Parley

Marinwood Community Service District directors have voted to meet with officials of the Terra Linda Community Services District and recreation-park district to discuss possible alternatives to San Rafael's proposal to annex the two Terra Linda agencies.

Members of the Lucas Valley Homeowners Association, representing County Services District 13, also will be invited to the meeting at 8 p.m. March 31 in the Marinwood Community Center, according to Genevieve T. Bolding, business manager and secretary of the Marinwood District.

She reported that the annexation move was the chief topic of discussion at last night's directors' meeting. Consensus was that if all the local agencies combined forces, they would be in a better position to bargain with San Rafael, she reported. Alternatives discussed ranged from merger of the districts into one, to joint powers agreements under which one district might contract to perform services for the others, she explained.

The Marinwood Community Services District board also:

TENNIS — In response to a delegation of tennis players, called bids to install lighting on the district's two courts, to be opened at the April 27 meeting. The board also agreed to discuss possible joint powers agreements with the Dixie School District to build additional courts near Miller Creek School.

VOLUNTEERS — Adopted a policy that volunteer firemen more than 50 years old should no longer actively fight fires, for health reasons. The older volunteers will be honorary members of the association, the board decided.

VANDALISM — Voted to assess the parents of a teen-ager responsible for vandalism to park trees.

RECREATION — Continued discussion of the summer program to their April meeting; asked the park commission to review the popular tiny tot program and heard a report that the pool program already has 128 subscribers.

FIRE COMMISSION — Appointed Robert Mann of 310 Ironstone Drive to serve on the commission.

LIAISON — Chairman Donald A. Duerr appointed director Charles H. Roach as board representative to the fire commission, Richard O'Brien as liaison to the parks and recreation commission, Ellis D. Jacquette to the salaries committee and Frank Solomon Jr. as director at large.

Wrongful Jailing Suit By Marinite

A Mill Valley housewife filed a $5,000 claim yesterday against the County of Marin, charging she was falsely imprisoned in the county jail on March 7.

Mrs. Jack Green of 72 California Street said her troubles started when she tried to visit her husband in the county jail about 2:20 p.m. on March 7.

Her attorney, Michael B. Duffy, relates this sequence of events:

Mrs. Green was refused admittance because she had no identification. She became upset, went outside and "hurled her purse upon the ground and cursed the world in general." She then ran to a park near the Civic Center lagoon and sat under a tree, crying.

A deputy sheriff arrested her for disturbing the peace. She was also booked on the additional charge of possessing dangerous drugs just because she had 18 antibiotic pills for which she had a prescription, said attorney Duffy.

She was held in jail from 2:30 p.m. March 7 until 6 p.m. March 8, and no charge was ever filed against her.

2 Sonoma Youths Are Being Held

Two Sonoma County youths have been arrested by Corte Madera police on suspicion of possessing burglary tools, a sawed-off rifle and concealed weapon, officers said today.

Police said the youths were arrested Monday at 9:32 p.m. as they sat in a vehicle behind the Patio Car Wash at 5742 Paradise Drive. With them was a 15-year-old Petaluma boy, who was booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall as a runaway.

Arrested were Floyd Johnny Broadwell, 18, of 65 Henry Street, Cotati, on suspicion of possessing a sawed-off rifle and a concealed weapon; Edward Francis Davis, 19, of 490 Highland Avenue, Cotati, on suspicion of possessing burglary tools.

Officers said they observed the youths acting suspiciously in the car and a search located a hunting knife and sawed-off .22 caliber rifle under a front seat floor mat.

Pliers, gloves and a screwdriver were found in the back seat, officers said.

Broadwell was booked into Marin County Jail where he remained in lieu of $5,000 bail and was scheduled to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Davis was booked into jail where he remained in lieu of $625 bail and a bench warrant from Sonoma County on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Dominican Area Corral Is Winner

The San Rafael Planning Commission hasn't changed its mind in the last six months: it still thinks Edward K. Wachsman has the right to keep an Arabian horse and a Shetland pony at his San Rafael home.

In a 4-3 vote last night, the commission approved Wachsman's appeal for an animal permit, overriding Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner's denial of the permit.

Another major hurdle will have to be crossed, however, before the animals are moved to the corral behind 50 Palm Avenue.

Neighbors of Wachsman, who opposed the animals' return to the Dominican neighborhood at last night's meeting, said they will appeal the planners' decision to the city council.

Wachsman's animals have been in the news since late in 1968 when complaints from neighbors resulted in the city's taking Wachsman to court on a public nuisance charge.

Found guilty in municipal court, he appealed to superior court in November 1969, but the conviction was upheld.

In May 1970, the city council adopted an ordinance — largely as a result of the affair — regulating the keeping of animals in the city. It replaced a 1933 ordinance that did not specifically mention horses.

With the new ordinance in effect, Wachsman applied for a permit to keep the horse and pony at his home. The commission approved the permit, but city council reversed the decision in September.

Now, six months later — the period Wachsman had to wait before appealing the council decision on the permit — he is trying again.

Wachsman said last night he felt the council's previous decision (to deny the permit) was "politically motivated rather than objectively motivated."

Wachsman, former Marin County planning commissioner, stressed that the animal compound would be open for inspection by officials at all "reasonable" times.

One of Wachsman's neighbors, Howard Baldwin of 15 Edward Court, told the commission, "That new ordinance won't erase the flies we didn't have this summer or the odors. I don't like to live with the smell of horses or the flies they draw."

James Huckins of 9 Edward Court, another neighbor, asked commissioners to "Let us enjoy our property. There's no reason to believe we won't have the stench, the noise, the flies, the hostilities and conflicts in the neighborhood, the accumulation of manure if those horses come back."

Commissioner Thomas R. O'Toole, who joined the majority in voting for the permit, observed the controversy this way: "I think it's just what it was two years ago and six months ago — a neighborhood feud."

O'Toole pointed out that the new ordinace was not in effect at the time original complaints about the animals were made and said he felt Wachsman should be given a chance to keep the horse and the pony under new regulations.

The commissioner said, "Now there is an ordinance and, if (the permit is) granted, he'll have to live by the rules or they'll (the animals) be thrown out."

Joining O'Toole in voting for the permit were Albert J. Boro, Jorgen V. Lunding and James Dougan, W. Judsen Klien, Alan M. Kay and Chairman Joseph J. Garbarino dissented.

Development North Of Civic Center Is Revived

A dormant 3-year-old plan for a 15-acre development north of the Marin Civic Center came to life last night before the San Rafael Planning Commission.

The project, which would include a 240-room motel and a 22,000-square-foot office building at 4040 Civic Center Drive, was approved by the commission in 1964 when the master plan for the entire complex was approved. It was revised in April 1968.

Certain changes in the original plan were requested and approved last night by the planners: the service station included in the former plan will be replaced by a parking lot and a restaurant now will be included in the development.

The commission recommended to the city council that zoning of the property be changed to enable construction of the restaurant in the existing zone; granted permission to use the land for a restaurant and allowed a resubdivision to make the parcel larger.

The development will be built primarily on property owned by contractor Arthur Nicolaisen of San Rafael, although the resubdivision enabled attachment of 1.68 acres of adjoining land owned by Henry Scettrini.

Under plans submitted by architect Wayne Wedell, the motel would be built in phases, 145 units being constructed first.

The development, to be known as Northgate East, would rise just north of the site of the proposed American Pacific Life Insurance Co. building and adjacent to the Terra Linda turnoff of Highway 101.

A use permit also was approved for a 187-unit apartment development proposed by the American Savings and Loan Association at the intersection of Larkspur and Novato streets and Kerner Boulevard.

Design of the first phase also was endorsed, although several members of the commission suggested the color be changed from the white that was planned to an earthtone shade.

No Jail Time For McGee In Gun Incident

Harold Neal McGee, 25, of San Rafael was erroneously reported by the Independent-Journal on March 17 to have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court after aiming a gun at a neighbor.

McGee's arrest Dec. 28 was the result of a neighborhood squabble that led to a charge by the Marin district attorney's office that McGee had so aimed a gun.

That charge, however, had been dropped when McGee pleaded guilty to resisting arrest. He was sentenced last week to 20 days in jail for that offense and not for aiming a gun as the March 17 story seemed to imply.

Ex-King Aide Scores Big Victory

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Rev. Walter E. Fauntroy, a former aide to the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., rolled up 58.5 per cent of the vote Tuesday to become the District of Columbia's first delegate to Congress in almost a century.

Fauntroy, 37, told supporters at a rally as returns confirmed his victory over five other candidates the vote proved Washington, D.C., was "ready to have self government."

"We want to have the yoke of colonialism lifted from our shoulders," the black minister said. "We want to be free."

Fauntroy won the Democratic nomination for the non-voting delegate seat in January. He polled 66,119 votes to 28,044, or 25 per cent, for his nearest challenger, Republican John A. Nevius, a white lawyer. The district's population is 71 per cent black.

The other four candidates shared 16.5 per cent of the vote.

The district has not had a representative in Congress since 1875. Fauntroy will not be able to vote on the House floor but will have a vote in the District of Columbia Committee. He will get the full congressional salary of $42,500 annually.

Only 44 per cent of registered district voters cast ballots in the election. Election officials had predicted a turnout of more than 80 per cent.

Fauntroy, a graduate of the Yale University Divinity School, served on the district council from 1967 to 1969. He helped organize the 1963 March on Washington when King delivered his "I have a dream" speech, and participated in the 1965 Selma to Montgomery, Ala., march and the 1969 Poor People's Campaign.

San Mateo Suit On Jail Voted

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — San Mateo County's Board of Supervisors have voted to file a suit claiming the San Francisco County jail is a "public nuisance" that should be corrected or closed.

The jail is in San Mateo County and the State Board of Corrections has declared it has security hazards.

James Fitzgerald, board chairman, said after the vote Tuesday he would like to meet concerning the problem with the San Francisco mayor and the county's supervisors.

Session Tonight By Phone Tax Fighters

Sponsors of the Marin campaign against the 10 per cent telephone bill excise tax will meet tonight to choose trustees to administer the trust fund portion of the effort.

The Marin Alternative is fighting the telephone tax on grounds that it is a major economic support for the war in Southeast Asia. At a meeting Saturday at the San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo, 125 Marin residents, according to Barbara Boxer, signed pledge cards supporting a federal court test against the tax, and promising to withhold the excise tax portion of their telephone bills.

The withheld money will be placed in the trust fund to be planned tonight, Mrs. Boxer said.

Among the sponsors of the antitax campaign are William M. Bennett of Kentfield, leaders of Marin's successful Measure A peace ballot campaign, numerous clergymen, William Clark, leader of the Wilson Riles campaign for Marin, and attorneys Gary Giacomini, Duane Beeson and Salle S. Soladay.

Plans for the court test of the tax were outlined Saturday by constitutional lawyer Lloyd McMurray. He said filing the suit in the names of thousands of pledge-signers would make the courts realize the broad base of antiwar feelings.

Information is available from the Marin Telephone War Tax Protest, Post Office Box 573, Kentfield, according to Mrs. Boxer. Similar campaigns are being organized in other Bay Area counties, she said.

Action Is Delayed On Condominiums

The San Rafael Planning Commission, taking note of earlier controversy, last night delayed discussion of a plan to convert a 40-unit Picnic Hill apartment development into condominiums.

The project, at 237 Picnic Avenue, was bitterly fought by residents two years ago in fear the development would destroy the character of the neighborhood.

The condominium proposal, by Picnic Hill Properties, owner of the development, would not physically alter the development, but would enable the sale of present units to individuals.

A homeowners' group then would take over the project, according to a report from the city planning staff.

Although the proposal was endorsed by the planning staff, Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner urged the issue be postponed until April 13 so that area residents could be notified of the planned change. The commission agreed.

Manson Friends Plead In LSD Hamburger Case

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Five members of Charles Manson's "family" have pleaded no contest to charges they conspired to give a LSD-spiked hamburger to a prospective prosecution witness at the Tate murder trial.

The five entered the pleas just before jury selection was to begin in their trial Tuesday. Sentencing was set for April 13 on the misdemeanor counts.

Superior Court Judge Stephen R. Strothers had refused at the outset of the trial to dismiss charges against the five: Lynette Fromme, Catherine Share, Ruth Ann Morehouse, Stephen Grogan and Dennis Rice.

Barbara Hoyt, 19, allegedly was given the hamburger in September in Hawaii and was hospitalized for a time. She subsequently testified for the prosecution at the Tate-Labianca murder trial.

Meatball Ad Is Award Winner

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Alka Seltzer commercial featuring the phrase "Mama Mia, that's a-some spicy meatball" took top honors Tuesday night at the 11th annual International Broadcasting Award ceremonies.

The "Magadini's Meatballs" commercial, originated by the New York advertising firm of Doyle Dane Bernbach Inc. and produced by Zieff Films of New York, won the television sweepstakes award and a trophy as the most humorous television advertisement.

The awards were sponsored by the Hollywood Radio and Television Society.

Hamilton Band Gets The Ax

The 573rd Air Force Band from Hamilton Air Force Base, which was marched in many parades in Marin, will be disbanded June 30 as an economy move.

Four other Air Force bands will be inactivated, leaving 25 remaining in the United States, according to the Air Force.

The 33 musicians in the band at Hamilton will be transferred to the remaining bands.

Selection of bands to be inactivated was "on the basis of geographic location and relative utilization," the Air Force announced.

Two bands will remain on the West Coast, one at March Air Force Base, Riverside County, and another at McCord Air Force Base in Washington, according to the public information office at Hamilton.

Year-Round School Bill

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —A bill authorizing year-round school has been introduced in the California Legislature.

Under the plan, a school district could establish a 12-month program with approval of the State Department of Education. Students would attend school in rotating shifts of four 45 class-day sessions interspersed by 15-day vacations.

The bill, filed Tuesday by State Sen. Clair Burgener, R-San Diego, orders the state superintendent of public instruction to work out the financial details but contains no state appropriation to establish year-round schools.

Hub Council's Palate Finds Food Tax Unsavory

A tax on take-out foods proved unpalatable to the San Anselmo City Council last night.

The council took a cursory look at a Sausalito ordinance taxing take-out food restaurants 5 per cent of revenue to pay for the costs of litter cleanup.

But the group decided a similar ordinance was unnecessary in San Anselmo.

The San Anselmo City Council also:

APPEAL — Denied an appeal by Joseph Ramatici of 33 Durham Road to overrule a sideyard setback variance granted by the planning commission to Paul G. Rambke of 25 Durham Road.

ECOLOGY COMMITTEE — Appointed 11 persons to the recently established committee on ecology.

TRANSPORTATION — Urged state and federal assistance for planning transit to Point Reyes National Seashore and other West Marin parks. The action was requested by Mrs. John F. West of the balanced transportation committee of the City-County Planning Council.

JOINT POWERS — Renewed a joint powers agreement with Ross covering maintenance of streets and street fixtures along the cities' border.

UTILITIES — Authorized paying $1,854 to Pacific Gas and Electric Co. for installation of street lights between Lincoln Avenue and the Hub.

CREEK — Authorized abatement of the sewer lines of the Ross Valley Sanitary District crossing Sleepy Hollow Creek at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Mountain View Avenue, Morningside Drive and Broadmoor Avenue as obstructions.

SPRING — Put over to the April 13 meeting setting a date and allocating funds for a possible consideration of joint maintenance of equipment by the city and the San Anselmo School District.

Mill Valley Planners Nod To Trans-Marin

Variances and an exception to the Mill Valley Zoning Ordinance have been granted by the Mill Valley Planning Commission to Trans-Marin properties, developer of a 65-unit condominium project at Sycamore Avenue and La Goma Street.

Zoning Administrator Howard R. McGill said the commission Monday approved variances from setback requirements and lot coverage, which in some cases exceeded the 50 per cent specified in the zoning ordinance.

Also approved was an exception to the requirements that subdivision streets be dedicated to the city. McGill said the planning commission allowed Trans-Marin to retain title to the road.

The company must get city council approval of the ordinance exception and of a final subdivision map before construction can begin.

In other business, the commission agreed to form a seven-man committee to study the design of the Miller Avenue-La Goma Street intersection.

Work on the intersection, which may be eligible for federal funds, will be planned with a $5,000 appropriation approved by the city council.

Commissioners Sally Garoutte and Richard Jessup were named to represent the planners on the committee, which also will include City Councilman Jean S. Barnard, City Engineer Stanley M. Bala and Planning Director Tom W. Newton.

Still to be named are two members of the architectural advisory committee.

Smoke Test Of Sewer Lines Slated

In an effort to prevent stormwater infiltration of sewer lines, the Almonte Sanitary District board has decided to embark on a program of smoke testing of district lines.

Secretary John J. Crncich said the board Monday voted the $1,500 program, which will be performed by Roto-Rooter Sewer Service.

The board took the action at the urging of Mill Valley, whose treatment plant handles Almonte sewage. Crncich said Mill Valley hopes to demonstrate to the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board that it is taking steps to prevent stormwater infiltration, which causes raw sewage to be dumped into Richardson Bay during heavy rains.

The smoke testing will begin in mid-April, Crncich said, and last through the end of the month. Homeowners whose sewer lines are found to be faulty will be notified that they must repair them, he said.

In other business, directors received a $15,123 bill from Mill Valley for one year's treatment of Almonte sewage. Crncich said the bill represents a $1,853 increase over last year and directors wanted to study the bill and ask Mill Valley about some of the charges before paying it.

Conversion Nod For 94-Year-Old Home

A proposal to convert the old Probert home on Magnolia Avenue into a restaurant won approval last night from the Larkspur Planning Commission. (Another planning commission story, page 1)

Proposed by Somer-Ryan Enterprises of Larkspur, the project will add additional rooms to the 94-year-old home but will retain its Victorian design.

A second phase of the development, calls for converting the Toyota auto agency buildings next year into specialty shops featuring antiques and gifts.

More than $200,000 will be pumped into the project with the restaurant's opening scheduled for this summer.

The commission will review landscape plans for the property located at 234 Magnolia Avenue at a later date.

The Larkspur Planning Commission also:

ORDINANCE — Reviewed and referred back to staff for modification a tidal waterway ordinance to control development on the city's waterfront. The ordinance, when complete, will take the place of a city policy controlling such development.

AMENDMENT — Recommended to the city council an ordinance change which will extend from 40 days to 50 days the time limit the commission must act upon new developments submitted for design review.

SIGN — Denied a variance request from the Bank of America for an oversized construction sign for the site of its new Larkspur branch to be built at the corner of Magnolia Avenue and Bon Air Road. The bank requested a 160-square-foot sign identifying the site, and the commission said a 12-square-foot sign would be sufficient.

Hearing Set In Petty Theft

Only a misdemeanor petty theft charge was filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against Theresa S. Puckett, 30, of Santa Rosa.

She was arrested Saturday on suspicion of burglary after an employee of the Emporium at Northgate allegedly saw her conceal several pants suits in a brown bag.

She is to enter a plea to the charge Monday.

Man Is Treated For Crash Injuries

A 37-year-old Tiburon man was treated at Marin General Hospital at 11:30 a.m. yesterday for strain in the neck and lower back suffered in a San Francisco auto accident.

San Francisco police had no details available on the accident involving William Magner, who lives at Tiburon Boulevard and Blackfield Drive.

Two Million 'Joints' Are Being Produced

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The government has started making 2 million marijuana cigarettes.

The National Cancer Institute will use the cigarettes, made from confiscated marijuana, in laboratory experiments that will attempt to determine if smoking large amounts of marijuana can lead to cancer.

Dr. Gio Gori said Monday the cigarettes were being turned out in a suburban Virginia laboratory. He said the experiments would be performed in a New York laboratory upon mice and hamsters. Gori said the studies were the first made in the field. field.

Health, Education and Welfare department spokesmen told Congress Jan. 31 that concern had been expressed that marijuana, when smoked in large quantities, might have effects similar to those associated with cigarette smoking.

Public Hearing Tonight On Proposed Septic Law

Marin County officials will hold a public discussion of their proposed septic tank ordinance at 7:30 p.m. today in Room 104 at Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo.

The ordinance has been variously supported and criticized since it was proposed last year, and has undergone several revisions.

Homeowners in Inverness have urged the ordinance's adoption to halt pollution of Tomales Bay. Other homeowners' groups have objected to provisions for a $20 annual inspection fee of each residential septic tank in Marin County.

Black Point Improvement Club members last week voiced concern over proposals to ban all septic tanks within 600 feet of any shoreline. They agreed to attend tonight's meeting to obtain further information.

Tonight's meeting was arranged by John F. Barrows, assistant county administrator.

Fairfax Woman Hurt In Mishap

A 22-year-old Fairfax woman has been treated at Marin General Hospital for minor injuries suffered in a two-car accident on Doyle Drive near the south end of the Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco.

Marguerite N. Ferretti, of 296 Cascade Drive, suffered a bruised left knee and cut right eye in the mishap, which occurred Monday at 2:55 p.m.

The California Highway Patrol said her car, northbound on Doyle Drive, hit the rear of a car driven by Laurence J. Dervin, 58, of 1370 Monte Maria Avenue, Novato, which had stopped in heavy traffic.

Prison Term Backed For Poison In Candy

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly has approved a bill mandating a 1-10 year prison term for persons convicted of slipping poison or razor blades into Halloween candy.

The measure by Assemblyman Mike Cullen, D-Long Beach, was sent to the Senate Tuesday.

Strong Quake Hits Sino-Soviet Region

UPPSALA, Sweden (UPI)—A strong earthquake hit the Tien Shan area of Central Asia Tuesday night, it was reported today by Prof. Markus Batth, chief of the Uppsala Institute. He said the quake measured 6.9 on the Richter Scale.

The Tien Shan Mountain range skirts the border of Communist China with the Soviet Republic of Kazakhstan.

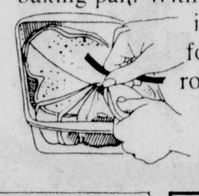
Now Schilling takes the pot roast out of the pot.

It seasons and roasts in a new oven bag.

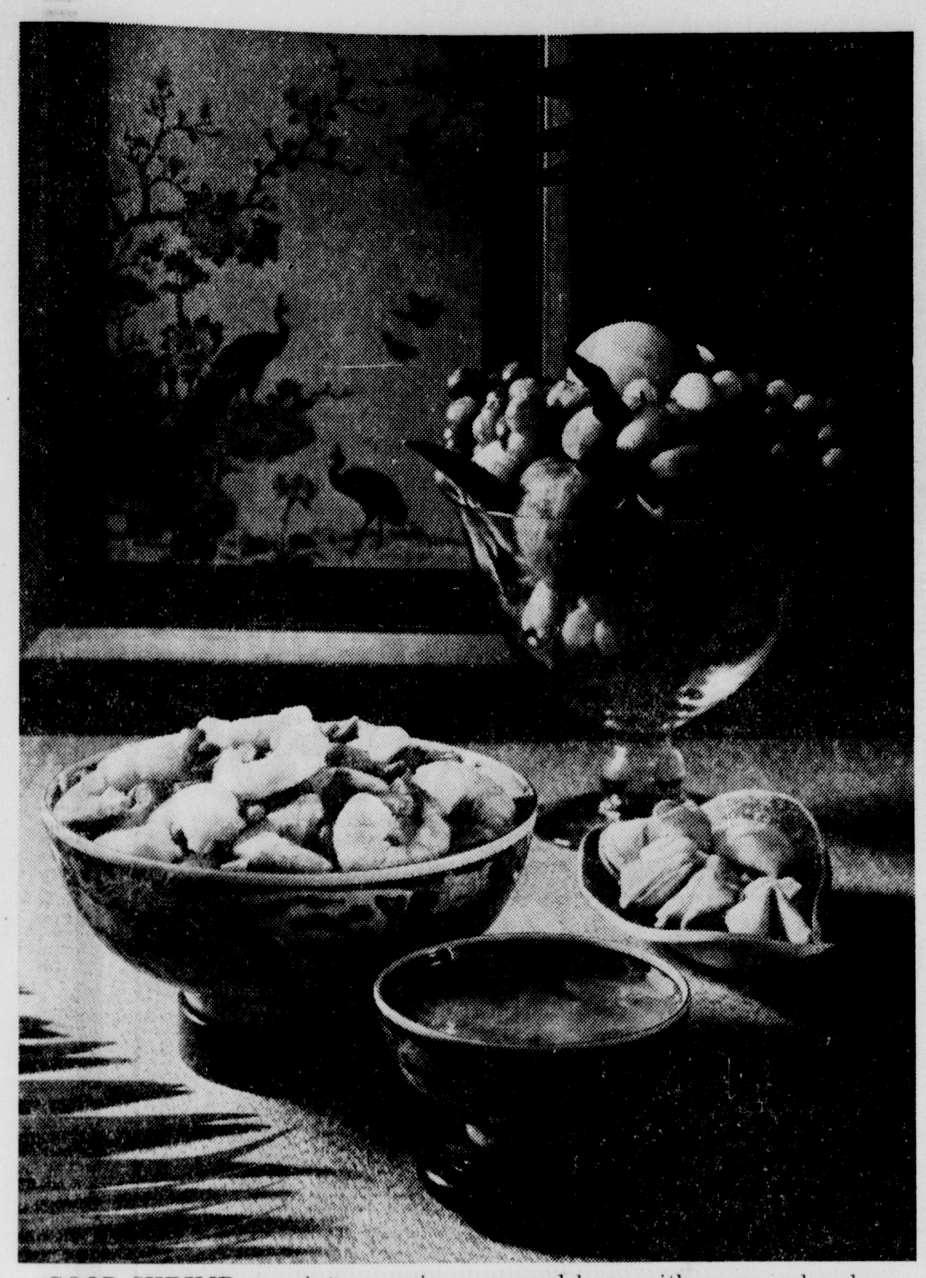
It's a bag within a bag. One side contains a fantastic new oven bag to cook the meat in. You get moist, tender, superbly-seasoned pot roast cooked in the oven without spills, spatter, or scour. And that's only half the story. On the other side, there's seasoning mix—Schilling's specialty. Enticing herbs, spices, and vegetables blended especially for pot roast.

Slide 3-4 lb. chuck roast, trimmed of excess fat, into oven bag. Sprinkle seasoning over top of meat and add ¼ cup water. Twist-tie open end of bag and invert so that seasonings are on the bottom. Place in baking pan. With fork, puncture 4 small holes in top of bag. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven for 2 hours. Cut across top of bag and remove roast; pour out juices. Serve Au Jus or thicken for gravy.



Schilling flavor makes all the difference in the world.

Also new for Savory Oven Chicken. Seasoning mix plus roasting bag. Result? Fragrant, herb-baked chicken that cooks and bastes and sauces itself in the oven. All you need is a fresh chicken.



GOOD SHRIMP goes into a variety of dishes such as this Oriental shrimp and beans combination, served here with soup and a dessert of fresh fruits.

DON'T OVERCOOK

Creole, Oriental, Curried Shrimp Tops For Dinner

To retain the delicate flavor of shrimp, cooking is terribly important. Most important — don't overcook them. According to home economists, one to three minutes boiling time is sufficient, depending on the size of the shrimp. Start timing when the water returns to a boil after the shrimp have been added.

You can shell and devein shrimp either before or after cooking. To shell shrimp, hold tail end in left hand, slip right thumb under shell, between feelers, and lift off 2 or 3 segments in one motion. Then still holding firmly to tail, pull out shrimp from remaining shell section and tail.

With a knife, cut along the outside curve and lift out the black sand vein. It's harmless but some people object to its appearance.

By using the Oriental cooking method called stir-fry, shrimp can be turned into a main dish that's low in calories and high in protein. In addition, Oriental shrimp and beans is picture pretty, easy to prepare and tastes good.

ORIENTAL SHRIMP AND BEANS

- 1½ pounds fresh or frozen peeled, deveined shrimp
- 1½ teaspoons chicken seasoned stock base
- 1 cup boiling water
- ¼ cup thinly sliced green onion
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon ground ginger
- Dash pepper
- 1 package (9 to 10 ounces) frozen cut green beans
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon cold water

Thaw shrimp, if frozen. Dissolve chicken stock base in boiling water (1 cup chicken broth may be used if desired.) Cook onion, garlic and shrimp in oil for 3 minutes, stirring frequently.If necessary, add a little of the chicken broth to prevent sticking. Stir in salt, ginger, pepper, green beans and chicken broth. Cover and simmer 5 to 7 minutes longer or until beans are cooked but still slightly crisp. Combine cornstarch and water. Add to shrimp and cook until thick and clear, stirring constantly. 6 servings of about 130 calories per serving.

Note: should there be any remaining sauce in dish, pour off and serve in separate bowl.

CREOLE JAMBALAYA

- 1 pound fresh or frozen shrimp
- 1 dozen oysters
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1 small onion, minced
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 cup canned tomatoes
- Dash cayenne
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ chili pepper, minced
- 2 cups regular rice
- 3 cups chicken bouillon or water

Drop shrimp into boiling salted water, cook 3 minutes, drain and clean. Heat oysters in their own liquor, 3 minutes and drain. Saute shrimp and oysters in butter 2 minutes; add onion and garlic and cook 5 minutes longer. Add tomatoes, seasonings, chili pepper and rice. Mix well. Add bouillon and simmer, covered, 40 minutes or until rice is tender. 6 servings.

CURRIED SHRIMP

- 1½ pounds fresh or frozen shrimp
- 3 cups shrimp stock
- 3 chicken bouillon cubes
- 1 tablespoon curry powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 3 tablespoons butter, melted
- 5 cups hot cooked rice
- 3 hard-cooked eggs

Drop shrimp into boiling, salted water, cook 3 minutes. Drain and reserve cooking liquid. Clean shrimp. To 3 cups strained shrimp stock, add bouillon cubes and stir until dissolved; moisten curry powder with a little water and add to stock with salt and pepper, mixing well. Stir flour into melted butter; gradually stir in seasoned stock and cook over low heat until smooth and slightly thickened; then add shrimp. Pack hot rice into greased ring mold and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 15 minutes; unmold on platter, put shrimp mixture in center and garnish with sliced eggs. 6 servings.

Cooking Time

Allow additional cooking time when cooking meat from the frozen state. Frozen roasts need from a third to a half again as long for cooking rare, medium or well done; lamb medium or well done; veal and pork are cooked well done. Use same procedure for fresh, defrosted or frozen roasts—place meat on rack, roast in a 325-degree oven. Do not add water or cover. Insert the roast meat thermometer in center of a frozen roast after it is thawed or when about half done. Do not force thermometer into partially thawed meat.

Improve the appearance of cracked china by boiling it in milk for about 45 minutes.

Fresh Asparagus Goes Variously Onto Table

The spring vegetable, fresh asparagus, is arriving into the markets. Here's an easy way to serve it to your family or friends.

ASPARAGUS WITH WATER CHESTNUTS

- 2 pounds fresh asparagus
- ¼ cup salad oil
- 1 clove garlic, mashed
- 1 can (5-ox.) water chestnuts, sliced
- freshly ground black pepper

Wash asparagus, snap each stalk and discard tough end. Cut each stalk diagonally into 1-inch pieces. In large skillet, heat ¼ cup of oil with garlic. Remove garlic and add asparagus slices; cover. Shake pan every so often. Asparagus will be tender in 5-7 minutes. Add sliced water chestnuts. Toss lightly and serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Fresh asparagus is in season now, so serve it often. Place some cooked stalks on toast and top with cream sauce to which you've added chopped sauteed mushrooms and sliced stuffed olives.

Cook asparagus whole, until barely tender. Arrange on baking dish. Sprinkle with buttered crumb and grated Swiss cheese. Drizzle with butter and brown quickly under the broiler.

ONE OF THE best things about spring is the coming of fresh asparagus. This treatment teams the green vegetable with water chestnuts in a quick skillet method.

Counting Calories? Two Dinners Use Steak And Rice Combination

Diets come in all sizes and shapes — for all sizes and shapes of people.

What you want is something hearty . . . tasty . . . filling, yet low in calories, and that leads right to rice.

With only 90 calories per half cup, and with unlimited variations of food combinations, rice can make any man's low-calorie diet appealing.

Rice also is low in cholesterol, high in energy . . . both important requirements in many diets for the man of the house.

Serve rice with Steak Cantonese . . . and you've pleased not only the average appetitie but the diet as well. This steak is brightly seasoned with garlic, pepper, ginger and soy sauce. Perfect with rice.

STEAK CANTONESE AND RICE

- 1½ pounds boneless beef round steak
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 2 large tomatoes, coarsely chopped
- 2 medium green peppers, cut in strips
- ¼ cup soy sauce
- ½ teaspoon each garlic salt, pepper, and ground ginger
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- ¼ cup water
- 1 beef bouillon cube
- 3 cups hot cooked rice (cooked in beef broth or bouillon)

Slice meat into thin strips, cutting diagonally across the grain. Brown steak in oil on all sides over high heat. Reduce heat. Stir in tomatoes, green peppers, soy sauce, and seasoning. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Blend cornstarch and water. Stir into meat mixture Add bouillon cube. Cook and stir until mixture thickens and bouillon cube dissolves. Cover and simmer 10 minutes longer. Serve over beds of rice. Makes 6 servings, 378 calories each.

Hearty Italian seasonings make dieting less of a chore. Here's another lower-in-calories steak recipe to please the man of the house.

ITALIAN STEAK AND RICE

- 1 cup chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 can (10-½ oz.) tomato puree
- 2 cups beef broth
- 1 teaspoon each garlic salt, sugar, salt and oregano
- 1½ pounds boneless beef round steak
- ½ cup dry sherry
- 1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
- 3 cups hot cooked rice

Saute onion in 1 tablespoon butter until tender. Add tomato puree, broth, and seasonings. Simmer 20 minutes. Meanwhile, cut steak in strips about ½ x 3-inches. Season with salt and pepper. Brown in remaining butter. Add sherry and mushrooms. Cook 2 to 3 minutes. Stir in tomato sauce; cover and simmer 30 minutes. Serve over beds of rice. Makes 6 servings, 368 calories each.

STEAK CANTONESE with Rice — hearty enough for the man of the house, yet reasonable enough in calories to keep him on his diet . . . thanks to rice.

Rug Use

If you are buying aused rug or carpet, look for ripples or a loose area indicating the cushion is worn or has slipped. Such carpet has lost much of its life expectancy.

Banana-Oatmeal Cookies

- 1½ cups sifted flour
- 1 cup sugar
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¾ cup lard
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1 cup mashed ripe banana
- ¾ cup quick-cooking oats
- ½ cut chopped nuts.

Sift together flour, sugar, soda, salt, nutmeg and cinnamon into mixing bowl. Cut in lard. Add egg, banana, oats and nuts. Beat until thoroughly blended. Drop by teaspoonfuls, about 1½ inches apart, onto ungreased cooky sheet. Bake in a hot oven (400°F.) about 15 minutes or until cookies are done. Remove from sheet immediately and allow to cool on a rack. Yield: 3 to 4 dozen cookies.

If some of your durable press garments have a fishy oder, wash them carefully and most of it will disappear, according to Mrs. Ruth Ann Wilson, extension clothing specialist at the Pennsylvania State University. Mrs. Wilson said the odor is caused by a resin with a formaldehyde base.

CONVERTIBLE COIF

Hair Does What You Want If Cut, Washed And Set Right

Versatile hair is the kind that does what you want it to, when you want it to. It used to be if you were not born with it — too bad. Now things are different. With a good haircut and the right shampoo, you can build-in manageability.

The first step is a good, professional cut or shaping by the hair stylist you most trust and admire. Shaping is all important for future styling on-your-own.

A convertible style, one that can be handled in several different ways in the setting, will allow you to suit your look to your mood. With a well-shaped basic cut, you're ready to go.

THE NEXT step is to achieve the texture and manageability that convertible hair requires, and you can get both in a bottle. Take advantage of the powers of the new shampoos — expect them to do more than just cleanse your crowning glory. There's a new texturizing shampoo with protein that gives hair the body for the thick, full look you want, conditions it for smoothness and manageability — while you shampoo.

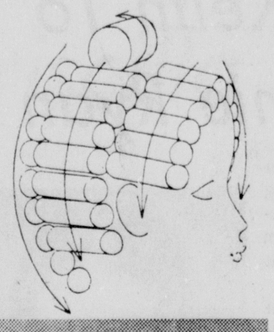
The third step is to decide on the various looks you'll want with your newly manageable hair — and learn how to achieve them in setting.

Long hair is beautiful when it's smooth, straight and well-brushed. But perhaps you don't always want to wear it this way. Try a mass of curly waves all over, the '40s look, achieved by using small rollers. Don't forget when you use small rollers your hair will take loose, low ponytail for another soft look.

EVEN SHORT hair that's carefully cut and has either its own or shampooed-in-manageability can convert to several styles. A smooth, close-to-the-head wispy cap of hair can be styled with wisps brushed forward over the face or curled back toward the crown, looking very casual.

Tight, all-over tiny curls achieved with pins, not rollers, is another 1971 look for short hair.

If you like your hair medium length, a layered short-in-front and longer-in-back cut is both versatile and easy to style. When you have shampooed-in manageability, you may find that you can style this cut without using rollers. The wispy ends that are part of its charm can be brushed off the face — or onto the face in loose bangs, for two different looks. The longer back hair can be tied in a longer to dry, so allow enough time. For another change about, the curly waves can be pulled back and loosely tied.



YOU CAN convert the gypsy hairstyle into this all-girl look with buoyant side curls and a smooth top. You can set it with large rollers over the crown of the head to form the smooth cap. Small rollers create the curly sides.

FOR THE GYPSY in you, a curly, swirly hairstyle falling in soft, loose ringlets. To set the style divide hair in half. Then roll hair from center on small rollers — two rows on each side. Use one or two large rollers on top. The roll back the hair from the top down, using two rows of small rollers.

Mrs. Jacobsen Heads Community Guild

A native Petaluman has been elected president of the Community Guilds. She is Mrs. Walter B. Jacobsen, a seven year member who formerly served the organization as its secretary and vice president.

The continuing guild project is the purchase of eye glasses for students in the Petaluma School district. "We also loan hospital and convalescent equipment to persons in our community," says the new president. Monies to support these activities are raised by the guild's annual boat cruise down the Petaluma River. This year the cruise is scheduled for Sept. 26.

Other organizations the new president enjoys are the Assistance League of Sonoma County, Petaluma Panhellenic Association and the Petaluma Woman's Club.

A graduate of Petaluma High School, Arleen Jacobsen attended the University of Pacific, where she was a member of Delta Gamma sorority.

She and her husband, a cattle buyer, are the parents of Kathleen, 20, and Mrs. Douglas Smith of Davis.

Serving with Mrs. Jacobsen this year are Mmes. Dolph Hill Jr., vice president; Jack Dunaway, secretary; David Brainerd, treasurer; A.E. Poole, membership; Ray Hardin and Albert Battaglia, cruise; John Mohrman, historian; and William O'Shea, parliamentarian.

THE SMOOTH AND sleek sophisticated hairstyle sets another mood. To create it for yourself, clip bangs down. Then use a few clips or pins to hold top hair smoothly in place. Next brush the hair under as you blow-dry it with a dryer.

Don't Call Scientists Aquachicks

Dr. Sylvia A. Earle, scientist, wife, mother and would-be fish, described the treatment she and the other participants in Government Mission 6-50 received as "reverse discrimination."

An aquanut who was one of five female scientists and engineers selected for the Mission 6-50 phase of the Department of the Interior's Textite II project, Dr. Earle argues that, "Segregating scientists by sex is as sensible as segregating them by the color of their eyes."

Dr. Earle deplored newspaper headlines which labeled the team as "aquabelles," "aquachicks," "aquababes," and "aquanuts," commenting, "I wondered what readers reactions would have been if newspapers had hailed the men who landed on the moon as "astronuts."

While the "double standard" is definitely evident in the aquanaut program, Dr. Earle said, "Recognition and acceptance came naturally when we did what had to be done."

"The attention we received was a clear example, I thought, of the reverse discrimination that sometimes happens when women do something unusual. We felt that we had done nothing extraordinary, essentially nothing different from the accomplishments of many men, but we received exceptional attention."

Among the accolades received by Dr. Earle and her fellow team members, who spent two weeks under the ocean last summer, was the Conservation Service Award, the Interior's highest honor, which they "accepted as a tribute to all Textite aquanauts, men as well as women."

Dr. Earle is now associated with the Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History where her husband, Dr. Giles W. Mead, is director.

IF HAIR stylist Jacques Desange has his way there will be no curls or ringlets adorning the heads of fashion conscious women next fall or winter. He presented these severe creations Monday in Paris.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Letters And Answers Are All Phoney, Accuses A Letter Writer

DEAR HELEN, OR WHOEVER YOU ARE:

My woman and I have a bet. She is a trusting soul who "believes." I'm the worldly type who wonders. I think you make up your questions and answers. In fact, you may even be some man back there in a New York office, churning out what people want to hear. You hit the nail on the head so often, you would almost have to be male. You don't write like a woolly-brained female. There's no real "Helen," right? And no mail. — Who'd write to a columnist? (You, for one — H.)

Come on now "H.", I won't think any the less of you if you confess I won the bet. — M.C.

DEAR M.C.

(That's gotta stand for "Male Chauvinist!")

I showed your little gem to 1.) My husband; 2.) our offspring; and 3.) our mailman.

Number one said, "If she isn't real, how come she talks so much, and if she's a man, why didn't somebody tell me before we had all those kids?"

Number Two said, "What does that make us —ghosts?"

Number Three said, "Ha!!! —wistfully, as he unloaded another heavy bundle of mail. During those "rain, snow, sleet and dark of night times," he no doubt wishes you had won the bet, M.C.

All of which is a female, roundabout way of saying Helen Bottel is alive and real and living in Central California amid a sea of letters. Why should I tax my brain concocting fakes when readers send me thousands of true stories each week? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I happened to look on the dashboard of my daughter's boyfriend's car the other day and saw a little notice printed on it:

"Please fasten your chastity belt."

Do you think he's the type she should be dating? — DOUBTFUL PARENT

DEAR PARENT:

Why not? He's either got a great sense of humor or he's giving her fair warning. Either way the boy is a good risk, yes? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am sure there is incest in my sister's family. Her husband and her daughter are involved.

This foolish woman does nothing about it because she is afraid. She couldn't face the scandal, and she couldn't face the world without a man to support her — even if he is more like a beast.

She is ready for a nervous breakdown, yet she still won't get help. The "family name" is more important than her daughter's mental health. Her daughter won't talk. She scared too.

What can we do? — HORRIFIED AND HELPLESS

DEAR HORRIFIED:

Why not bring your sister and niece into your home for a visit? Once away from this man, they will surely realize they must make a permanent break . . .and if you put them in touch with an expert counselor the return to sanity may come much sooner. — H.

(NOTE TO READERS: Incest happens more often than any of us want to believe. The director of a home for unwed mothers estimates that almost half of the 12-to-14-year-old girls she interviews have been made pregnant by someone in their own families. But charges are seldom made: out of fear or shame, everyone lies to protect the guilty — and sometimes the teen-ager returns to the same miserable situation she left. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

An engagement form may be accompanied by a professional black and white photograph, which may be picked up at the I-J office after publication. Snapshots, polaroid or color pictures are not suitable.

Thomas Keith To Wed Jamie Ryan

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Ryan of San Bruno are announcing the engagement of their daughter Jamie to Thomas Keith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keith of San Anselmo.

Jamie is the sister of Susan Ryan. A graduate of Mercy High School in Burlingame, the future bride attended Dominican College and is in her junior year at Sacramento State College.

Kathi, Mike, Kelly and Mathew Keith are the future bridegroom's sister and brothers, and Mrs. Freda Keith of Los Altos Hills is his local grandmother. He is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and is a senior at St. Mary's College in Moragea.

The couple plan to be married in the St. Mary's College chapel Aug. 28.

Getting Good Dental Care

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Children's Dental Health Week has come and gone. But dental problems never go away. They just get worse for most people.

Tooth decay is the most prevalent disease in the country. Nearly everyone suffers from it to some extent. But only about 20 per cent of the people receive what could be called proper dental care.

In most cases, of course, the fault lies with the patient. He either does not care for his teeth the way he should or he tries to save money and anguish by avoiding dentists.

BUT ONCE he sees a dentist, he still may not get proper treatment. According to a recently published book, "Dentistry and Its Victims," there are more Dr. Poorworks than Dr. Goodworks in the country.

The author, a "Paul Revere," disputes a position paper by the New York State Dental Society claiming that the proportion of dentists who do poor quality work is very small. Dr. "Revere" says that after 15 years of practice, he has come to the following conclusions:

"Of patients coming for initial examination, the great majority had dental restorations that were below state board licensing standards.

"A high proportion of this poor work fell so far short of minimum standards as to be disgraceful."

THE REASONS are many, says the author, but most of them boil down to greed for more and more income and a code of ethics which prevents one dentist from criticizing the work of another.

According to the ethical code, says Dr. "Revere," the only one qualified to make a moral judgment concerning work done for a patient is the very same dentist who is in a position to profit greatly from the destruction of the patient's dental health.

"To express morality in this way," he says, "is like saying there should be honor among thieves." He says the code defines ethics between dentists rather than between dentists and patients.

Revere cites five kinds of pressures which turn a good dentist into a bad one. First is the risk of being considered expensive. A poor dentist may seem inexpensive but might neglect to do things that need to be done.

SECOND IS the risk of being considered a "con" man if he tries to offer detailed documentation of what is wrong only to be accused of sweet-talking patients into a lot of work at high fees. Third is the risk of being accused of prescribing unnecessary work.

Fourth is the risk of being considered a painful dentist. The only way to avoid pain is to do superficial work, such as failing to dig out all decay. This may only increase pain later on when the effects show up.

Fifth is the risk of being considered an inept amateur because he takes so long and tends to hurt more than another dentist.

What this all means is that, like Gresham's theory about coins, bad dentists tend to drive out good ones. And the public pays more than it should in the long run because of the consequences of poor work.

But how can anyone not in the dentistry profession tell a good dentist from a bad one?

DR. "REVERE" offers some useful hints. They include watching to see how careful he examines the teeth and whether he is willing to explain what he is doing. Beyond that, however, the patient is virtually helpless.

If a patient suspects he has been a victim of unprofessional work or unfair treatment, he has two possible courses of action. But he has little chance of documenting his case through another dentist because of the code which binds dentists to each other like a secret fraternity.

One avenue is to bring up the problem with a representative of the local Dental Society's Grievance Committee. But this is almost always a dead end because such groups, like the code itself, are designed to protect dentists rather than patients.

When one Virginia woman sought to have a grievance settled by the Northern Virginia Dental Society, she received not only no satisfaction but was later accused of being vicious and a chronic trouble-maker when she persisted in her complaint.

When she later appealed to the American Dental Association, she received a letter from its "public information counsel" outlining what the profession does to maintain standards of practice and conduct.

THE OTHER recourse is to bring suit. But chances of success here also are dim because no dentist wants to testify against another, yet dentists are the only ones who can present and interpret the evidence.

In one case, a woman claimed that three good teeth were extracted instead of three poor teeth. Another dentist at a teaching school was willing to testify in general terms implying that her charge was true. But the accused dentist said he had lost the vital evidence, the x-rays of the teeth.

The woman was forced to settle the case for much less than her monetary loss. And she wound up losing six teeth instead of three.

Unintentional malpractice, such as droppng of an instrument down a patient's throat, can be settled through insurance agents. But intentional malpractice — deliberate poor work in order to maximize income — continues without punishment and without compensation to its victims.

And it will take more than one anonymous dentist to stop it.

MEANWHILE, HERE are a few things that dental patients can do to reduce costs and troubles.

First, make certain you are doing everything possible to take proper care of your teeth. This is not a simple matter of brushing them once a day and letting it go at that. It also may require regular use of dental floss, gum massage, more frequent brushing, more careful brushing and possible use of a water pressure device.

Second, be sure to have your teeth cleaned at least twice a year by a professional dental hygienist. This is necessary in order to remove hard deposits of tartar that accumulate below the gum and may eventually cause the teeth to weaken enough to be extracted.

Third, try to find a dentist who does good work, regardless of the fees he may charge. For a so-called "high-price" dentist may save you money in the long run by providing better quality workmanship.

Fourth, know what to avoid. Many dentists have made a racket out of their x-ray machine. X-rays are essential for spotting hidden decay where it may be suspected. But they are being ordered more and more frequently for no apparent reason. Full-mouth x-rays are rarely needed for healthy mouths.

FIFTH, DON'T be fooled by the story about gold. A few years ago, a Washington reporter happened to attend a meeting where dentists were being told how to "sell" gold fillings to patients in order to make more money. Such fillings may be better in some cases, but that depends on workmanship.

Sixth, avoid braces except in the most serious cases of protrusion or malocclusion (poor bite). Forcing the teeth to move around in the bone structure tends to weaken them and cause gum problems. For many people, the "straightening" process has only made their tooth problems worse.

If you don't know where to begin, start with the book by "Paul Revere." It will help spread the alarm about the crisis in dental care and give you some clues on how to protect your teeth and pocketbook.

Ancient Tuber

Archaeological diggings in the Andes often turn up ceremonial ceramic pots in the shape of potatoes, or a blend of potato and human forms, indicating the importance of this tuber to early South Americans.

ON THE AGENDA

March 31 And April 1 Are Dates Of 16th Pixie Parents Egg Hunt

A six foot bunny — last seen in the financial district in San Francisco — will greet preschool children at the 16th annual Pixie Parents Easter Egg Hunt and Fair at the Marin Art and Garden Center March 31 and April 1 from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

Each child will be given a basket to collect eggs. There will also be four puppet shows each day, pony rides, game booths and live animals to pet and play with.

Mmes. John Rosenberg and Robert Tocchini are chairmen.

Animals will be lent by the Boyd Marin Museum of Science and bag lunches will be on sale. Games will include Be-A-Bunny makeup booth, Basket Toss. Follow the Footprint, Be-A-Painter and Humpty-Dumpty, where children fish for prizes.

Tickets for the events will be on sale at the Center on the days of the hunt or before.

AL GATOV, Marin County's representative on the newly formed Metropolitan Transportation Commission, will speak at public luncheon meeting sponsored by Central Marin's League of Women Voters Tuesday at noon at the Fondue Pot in Corte Madera.

Gatov will describe the legislation that created the new commission and also will discuss the commission's role in planning for future transportation systems in the Bay Area.

The development of balanced transportation systems, for both inter and intra-county needs, is supported by the Central Marin League, according to Mrs. Charles B. Clay, chairman and reservations chairman of the meeting.

"BRIGHT BOY, Bad Scholar," a film dealing with problems of children with learning disabilities will be shown at the Marion School Parent-Teacher Association meeting to be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the school multi-purpose room in Novato.

Richard Emery, teacher of the educationally handicapped children at Marion School will also discuss his program at the public meeting.

VOLUNTEERS IN the Marin County Probation Department is a new concept that has been underway in Marin for the past year and a half. The program uses about a hundred men and women as case aides, drivers, secretaries, recreation aides, tutors and teacher aides.

Mrs. Judith Maxwell, coordinator of volunteer services for the Probation Department, highlights the double-edged virtues of the program as "a means of expanding the resources and augmenting the services of the department and at the same time providing for the volunteer an open pathway to exchange warmth and compassion while performing a vital service.

The Probation Department will hold a spring training course for volunteers beginning Monday. The nine week course will be held on Monday evenings from 7:30 to 10 p.m. in the library building of the Adeline Kent School in Kentfield. The instructor is Dr. Michael Taylor, professor of speech and communication at San Francisco State.

ST. RITA'S Women's Guild will hold their ninth annual rummage sale at the parish hall in Fairfax Saturday from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Chairman is Mrs. Neal McNeil. She will be assisted by Mmes. A. J. Simonini, odds and ends; Frank Egger, furniture; Noel Cimino, toys; Bernard Del Santo, men's clothing; Donald

Nelson, next to new; Keith Yetter, jewelry; Joseph Bruce, plants; William Cole, women's wear, Richard Bettencourt, children's clothing; Tom Murrin, cake booth; and Don Alden, hot dogs.

"A LOOK at the Food Industry" will be the subject of a program arranged by the Civics and Conservation Section for the Outdoor Art Club's guest day tea tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the clubhouse in Mill Valley.

Jennifer Cross, author of the just published book "The Supermarket Trap" will take the audience behind the scenes with the guarantee that "after reading my book, no supermarket will ever look the same again." The author is affiliated with the Association of California Consumers.

Mrs. Michael Praszker is in charge of the program. Tea chairman Mrs. Willis C. Elliott will be assisted by Mmes. Fred E. Bardo, Jim Hayes, Michael E. Leonis, Clifford Lewis, Walter L. Long and Gerhardt Von Bonin, and pouring will be Mmes. Jules De Beaubien, Roy A. Carlsen, Bruce Wrisley and Miss Janet Sawyer.

Greeting members and guests will be Mmes. Philip Kearney, Kenyon Spalding and Herman C. Zwart.

BETHEL 119, International Order of Job's Daughters will hold a visiting Bethel meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m., at the Masonic Temple in Mill Valley.

ALPHA OMICRON Pi Alumnae of Marin County are planning a wine tasting party Sunday at 4 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Arthur Feidler of Ross. Mrs. Philip Strick is reservations chairman for the party which will benefit the Endowed Bed Fund at Ross Hospital.

Matchmakers Still Function In Japan

By ALBERT E. KAFF

TOKYO (UPI)—Surely Genkichi Ishizaka, 73, qualifies as a super expert in marriages.

In 45 years as a professional matchmaker, has arranged 3,000 weddings. He claims that only five of them ended in divorce.

Ishizaka says the secret of his success in matching brides and bridegrooms is total honesty.

I consider it a secret of success not to tell a lie about the couple.

"BOYS CAN be poor at the time of marriage, but if they have good futures I consider that's all right."

Ishizaka started out as a traveling salesman of lacquer ware. Moving about Japan, he would be asked to find suitable mates for young men and women.

Love marriages were almost unheard of in Japan until after World War II. Even today, many marriages, particularly in rural areas, are arranged by go-betweens.

The Japanese hold two theories on marriages arranged by out-siders. First, if the match fails, the parents alone are not to blame. Second and more important, Japanese believe that love will develop after the wedding.

In this spirit, families go to a matchmaker to seek suitable partners for their children. When a match tentatively is accepted by two families, a miai (first meetng) is arranged at which the young man and woman see each other but do not necessarily speak.

THE MIAI, attended by family representatives, might be held in the matchmaker's house, in a restaurant, theater or other public place.

If the young man and woman are pleased with each other at the miai, yuino (engagement gifts) are exchanged. In old days, yuino might be rolls of cloth, fans or casks of sake (a white rice drink).

Nowadays instead of gifts, the bridgeroom can present cash to the bride's family, which then returns part of the money. The original sum in middle-class families might range from 10,000 yen ($27) up to 50,000 yen ($138) or even more.

Ishizaka has few peers in the business of matchmaking, which he has been doing since the age of 29. And he knows what young people want.

"Usually a girl seeks a mate with a good scholastic standing, while the boy looks for a pretty girl," he said.

FROM HIS home in central Japan's mountainous Nagano prefecture, Ishazaka has traveled far on his missions of romance.

"Before the war, I went as far as Singapore, China and Formosa, and following the war even to New York to arrange marriages," he said. "In my hands I usually have the personal records and photographs of more than 300 young men and women looking for marriage.

"Of the men whose marriages I arranged, nearly 200 of them died on the war front. On the days marking their deaths I burn incense at my Buddhist altar.

"I have christened more than 2,000 babies. They are my grandchildren, so to speak."

San Rafael Girl's Sketch In Magazine

A color sketch of an original rainwear fashion design, the work of D. Anne Mason of San Rafael, will appear in the April issue of the American Girl, a magazine for teen-age girls, published by Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

Anne's design, appearing on page 30, was chosen from more than 30,000 entries submitted in several categories in the magazine's recent search for the best work of the nation's under-17-year-old writers, poets, artists, photographers and song writers.

Selections were made on the basis or original ideas, interesting content and skill of execution. The American Girl editorial advisory board, composed of Girl Scouts from the New York metropolitan area, participated in the final judging.

Ice Bag

Make an emergency ice bag by folding a small wet towel and freezing it in an ice cube tray. Place frozen towel in a plastic bag and tie the end.

Lead-Base Paint

Lead-based paint has been outlawed for interior use in New York City since 1959, but it is usually found in dilapidated pre-war housing.

Priscilla At Work For Tricia

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Tricia Nixon's bridal gown designer is expected to be Priscilla Kidder, known as Priscilla of Boston, who is a good friend of the First Family.

Tricia, 25, told newswomen she expects Priscilla to put her creative talents to work on a long white gown in the "romantic tradition" which she will wear down the aisle in the East Room when she marries Harvard law student Edward Finch Cox.

Mrs. Kidder will have established her permanent place in White House personal history when she designs Tricia's wedding gown and those of the bridesmaids. She created Luci Nugent's bridal gown when the daughter of former President Lyndon B. Johnson was married to Patrick Nugent on Aug. 6, 1966.

She also designed the Brussels lace bridal gown for Julie Nixon when the President's youngest daughter married Ensign David Eisenhower Dec. 6, 1968, in New York a month before her father was inaugurated.

THE DESIGNER was a guest last week at the White House party celebrating Tricia's engagement and the First Lady's 59th birthday, at an "Irish Evening of Entertainment."

She racked up another "first" on that occasion when each of the three women in the First Family wore one of her gowns.

Tricia, looking more sophisticated than ever before, looked dazzling in a low-cut white chiffon flowing dress, banded with ostrich feathers. Julie wore a white, low-cut organza gown which Mrs. Kidder made for her when she said she had nothing to wear for the evening. Mrs. Nixon made a beautiful mother of the bride in a white heavy Irish lace gown with a high neck and an A-line skirt.

Mrs. Kidder spent several hours at the White House Wednesday talking clothes with Mrs. Nixon. She rejects the idea that Tricia tries to look "doll-like and little girlish."

"She's small," explained Mrs. Kidder, "she can't wear a midi. If you saw it on her you would laugh."

THE NIGHT before her engagement party, Toicia called Dr. Edward G. Latch, chaplain of the House and asked him if he would performthe marriage ceremony.

The former pastor of Metropolitan Memorial Methodist Church—or the National Methodist Church in Washington—was aware of newspaper reports that he would be selected, but he was particularly pleased because Tricia called him personally.

"I like it to come from the bride," he said.

The President and Mrs. Nixon and their two daughters used to attend his church when Nixon was Vice President. Tricia and Julie were in the church's Brownie troop.

Nixon also asked Latch to give the closing prayer at the Republican National Convention in Chicago in 1960 when he won the GOP presidential nomination.

LIKE HER parents, Tricia is a Quaker and her fiance is an Episcopalian.

Latch said he will meet later with the couple to give them instructions and some marriage counselling—"on how to make a go of marriage."

"It gives me a chance to give some advice out of my experience on how to be harmonious and happy," he said. "It's a lot of fun explaining the meaning of the ceremony."

The marriage vows will include "to love, honor and cherish." The minister says "obey" was out of the ritual long before women's lib.

After the announcement that he would officiate at the White House wedding, the chaplain was congratulated by prayer breakfast congressional friends on Capitol Hill.

"I'm having a good time," he said. "I'm enjoying it . . . it's only once in a lifetime."

Sweet Baby

Help keep baby fragrant by wiping up accidental spit-ups with a damp sponge sprinkled with dry baking soda and by rinsing out rubber pants regularly in a baking soda solution. Because soda is a food product, it also makes a good safe cleanser for all areas with which baby comes in touch, including crib bumpers, playpen rungs, the highchair, the interior of the carriage and toys.

Cocoa

One cocoa pod generally yields 20 to 40 cocoa beans.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

"If your mother's cooking was better, how come you only weighed 140 pounds when I took over?"

"It is very delicious. I'LL NEVER CHANGE THE BRAND."

ART REVIEW

Rare Exception To Family Team

By LAURA DEVENDORF

There is rarely an equal measure of talent shown by both members of a husband-wife art team. But that rare exception is found in the joint show shared by Raymond and Genevieve Barnhart through April 2 in Dominican College's San Marco Gallery and Alemany Library.

These two artists don't even seem vaguely influenced by one another. And though both deal in sculptural forms, they go about it in entirely different ways.

Barnhart, whose work is shown in both the gallery and library, uses found materials as his medium. He takes rusting metal, paint-peeled wood, bones and discards and combines them into three dimensional illusions that cease to relate to the objects as he originally found them.

One of his finer moments comes in "Sensor-Optic," a brooding, rough wood thing that on close scrutiny, turns out to be a decaying boat's stern panel supported by a remnant of keel. The panel is full of holes, some left open and others plugged with dowels which are checked with mirrors on one side, reversing to red tail reflectors on the others.

It is a sensitive and amusing use of materials as is the sophisticated "Mirrormeter," with its layering of wood, mirrors, glass, film transparencies plus a small primitive doll. Barnhart's choice of found materials usually dictates the acceptance of the finished work.

For example, several which include pop bottles, heads of dolls, a stop sign, toy cars or neon painted balls, seem as blatantly contrived as the materials of which they are composed.

The other group within this artist's work deals with combinations of mirrors, blown glass balls, tall clear tubes and occasional speckled feathers. Some are quite arresting such as the mirror-lined wood cradle, its end mirrors magnifying and tilted so that the tubes and balls within the box seem to march in a reflected row over the edge and away into nothing.

Mrs. Barnhart, whose work is shown in the library, is both sculptor and craftsman. She works in many metals with a sense of delicacy and bigness plus the fluidity of the wax she uses in designing them. Her knuckle-coverig rings are flamboyantly gold or silver. But there is nothing static in their thick drapery or big open twists.

Her choice and placement of stones is especially confident. In an expanse of gold, there may be one small stone of vivid green or blue. Or a pearl may appear almost hidden in a drapery fold, or falling away like a drop of dew. And she often uses chunky beach stones.

Often Mrs. Barnhart's metals take a wandering molten form. One necklace reaches and twines so strangely that it seems to be still growing. And the impression is heightened by pearls which like new growth, are squeezing from the tendril ends.

This same linear twining is present in the best of her sculpture, such as two silver vine-like figures which reach and twist toward each other.

Recital Is Tomorrow

Redwood High School students will present a variety of musical solos and ensembles in a recital 8 p.m. tomorrow in St. Sebastian's Church in Greenbrae.

Performing will be Kathy Green and Anders Carlsson on clarinet, Steven Levintow on violin, Gerry LeClerc on cello, Phil Akers on trumpet and Tom McGuire on classical guitar. Barbara Merrill and Brian McCarty will perform a horn duet.

Also performing will be the Redwood String Quartet, composed of Levintow and Lynn McCarty on violin, Mark Katkov on viola and Debbie Ring on cello.

Soprana Lue Ann Fisher will sing an aria from Der Freischutz, with Levintow playing a viola obligato.

The recital is open to the public with admission free.

Spring Series Is Set

The Spring Concert and Lecture Series at the College of Marin will begin with a lecture by travel expert Gene Wiancko on Central America at 8 p.m. next Tuesday in Olney Hall.

Three other illustrated lectures by media commentators and travel lectures will be included in this series entitled "Contrasts in Culture." All will be held in Olney Hall at 8 p.m.

A lecture on Switzerland by John Roberts, former cameraman for Lowell Thomas will be held April 13; Hawaii's culture will be presented by Ralph Franklin on April 27; and Cambodia and its cultures will be presented by foreign correspondent Ken Armstrong on May 11.

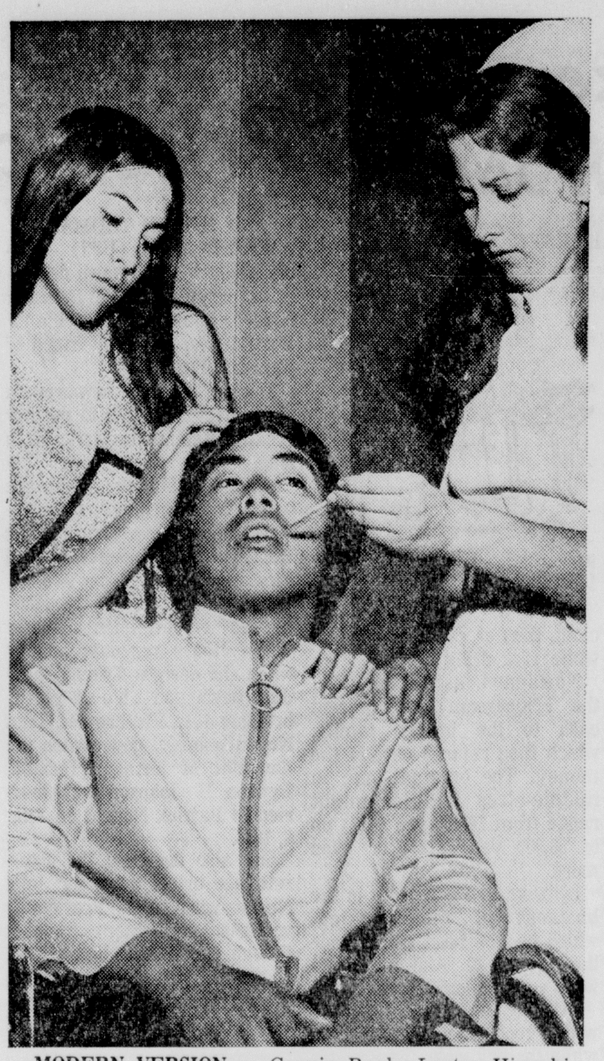
The lecture series will also include a four-part program on the "Crisis in Conservation," all of which will be held at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall.

The conservation lectures include "Duxbury Reef: Before and After" by Dr. Gordon Chan, College of Marin professor of Ecology, April 2; "The Common Fight to Clean up the Spill" by Charles Auerbach of Standard Oil, April 14; "How the Lagoon was Saved" by Alfonso Molina and Craig Hansen, April 21; and "A Conservation Convocation: Projections for the Future" by Marin ecology organizations, April 28.

A special lecture "Reclaiming the American Dream" will be presented at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall April 22 by Gordon P. Smith senior vice president of Booz, Allen and Hamilton, a management consulting firm. Smith was also California Director of Finance 1967-68.

"Psalm for two Davids", a play written by Jack Schwartz will be presented by the College of Marin Drama Department at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theater on May 7, 8, 9 and May 12, 13, 14 and 15.

A special event on May 20 will feature Maria Leone, a soprano and former opera star, who will present a recital of arias at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theater.



MODERN VERSION — Connie Boak, Lester Higashi and Lisa Swallow rehearse for their roles in "Your Own Thing," a rock version of "Twelfth Night" which will open at the Novato High School Friday.

Ozawa Will Bring Symphony to Marin

Pianist Andre Watts and the San Francisco Symphony's principal violist, Rolf Persinger of Tiburon, will be featured soloists in the orchestra's third of four Marin concerts at Terra Linda High School Saturday at 8:15 p.m.

Seiji Ozawa, conductor and music director, will be on the podium.

Watts, making his sixth consecutive seasonal appearance with the symphony, will be featured in Tschaikowsky's Piano Concerto No. 1. Now in his eighth year as principal violist, Persinger will play the viola solo in Berlioz's "Harold in Italy," part of an Ozawa survey of the works of the composer.

The program will begin with Rossini's Overture to "La Gazza Ladra." The same program is being performed this week in the orchestra's regular series.

The Germany-born Watts was selected, at 16, by Leonard Bernstein to be soloist for a nationally-televised Young People's Concert. Later Bernstein engaged him to solo for two of the New York Philharmonic's regular concerts.

Born in San Francisco, Persinger studied at the Juilliard School of Music in New York, then played under Toscanini in the National Broadcasting Co. Symphony Orchestra. Before coming to San Francisco in 1963, he was first violist in Minneapolis under Antal Dorati and associate first violist in Chicago under Fritz Reiner.

Districts Decide To Do It Alone

Directors of the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District have agreed to do their own testing of the wastes of district discharges into the bay, instead of hiring an outside firm to do it, President Cyril G. Hansen reported yesterday.

Hansen said it will cost the district's $7,000 to test the effluent and bay waters as required by the Bay Area Regional Water Quality Control Board, while hiring a firm to do the work would cost $9,000.

The sanitary district board on Monday also accepted completion notices from Maggiora and Ghilotti Inc. for two projects, a chlorine storage building and repairs to a trunk sewer line in the bay between Richardson and Main Streets.

Blood Drive Planned By Four Churches

Four Sausalito churches will sponsor a community blood drive from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday at Campbell Hall, San Carlos and Santa Rosa avenues. The mobile unit of the Marin Blood Center will receive donations.

Churches participating are the Christ Episcopal Church, Star of the Sea Catholic Church, the Sausalito Presbyterian Church and the First Baptist Church of Sausalito.

Vice President Asks CBS To Let Him Edit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says the CBS television network should let him do his own editing of remarks he has made critical of a network documentary on Pentagon public relations policies.

Agnew issued the challenge Monday. CBS will rerun the documentary, entitled "The Selling of the Pentagon," tonight and will add 15 minutes of edited criticism from Agnew, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird and Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

The program examines defense department public information programs. Pentagon officers have contended there are distortions in the show.

COPENHAGEN (UPI)—Denmark has 483 islands, of which only 97 are inhabited. The biggest is Zealand, on which Copenhagen is located.

'Your Own Thing' Set To Open On Friday Night

Novato High School's theater group, the Arthur Street Gang, will present four performances of "Your Own Thing," a rock version of "Twelfth Night," opening at 8:30 p.m. Friday at Novato High School girls' gymnasium.

The play will be repeated Saturday and April 2 and 3 with alternating casts.

The group will use one set throughout the play with slide projections of people and places against a bare white background.

Appearing in the cast Friday and April 3 will be Lori Gielegham as Olivia; Doug Hobbs, Orson; Debra Bowker, Viola; Andy Cilley, Sebastian; Lisa Swallow, nurse; and Vince McGovern, purser.

Roger Bauleke will be stage manager.

Appearing Saturday and April 2 will be Connie Boak, Olivia; B. J. Tomsky, Orson; Jan Denney, Viola; Lester Higashi, Sebastian; Pam Johnston, nurse; and John Larin, purser. Craig Rule will be stage manager

Appearing in both casts as the Apocalypse will be Todd Young, Chris Malstrom and Rick Eklund.

In the rock version, Viola and Sebastian, twins, because of their identical dress and hair style are mistaken for each other and both hired for the same job in a rock combo.

Reed Meeting

The Reed School District board will hold a special meeting today at 8 p.m. at Bel Aire School to discuss procedures to resolve disagreements between teachers and the board over contracts.

Senate Stalls Tax Proposal

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill to allow some unemployed persons to delay for a year paying their 1970 state income taxes has been stalled in the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee.

The committee took the measure "under submission" Monday after its author, Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Garden Grove, failed to appear to testify on its behalf.

When a committee takes a bill under submission, it usually means the proposal is dead for the legislative session.

Recital Is Slated Sunday By Soprano

Mrs. Kensell Schumacher (the former Janna MacDonald), soprano, will present a public recital Sunday at 3 p.m. at the First Baptist Church of Mill Valley.

Her program will consist of works in Italian, French, German and English, including "Porgi Amor Qualche Ristoro" from Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" and "Rejoice Greatly" from Handel's "Messiah."

A 1967 graduate of Tamalpais High School, Mrs. Schumacher attended the College of Marin two years and participated in many musical programs under the direction of Dr. S. D. Wolff.

In June she will receive a bachelor of arts degree with major in voice from San Francisco State College. In Marin she has studied with Mrs. Bella Resek and Mrs. Lisa Johnston.

A reception will be held in the fellowship hall of the church after the recital.

Heyns Says U.C. Is Out Of 'Miracles'

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—"Berkeley is out of miracles," the University of California's chancellor warned Monday in an attack on Gov. Ronald Reagan's budget cutbacks.

Chancellor Roger W. Heyns told newsmen the governor's proposed budget of $72.2 million for the c a m p u s must be increased by the legislature or the consequences will be "grave."

"The debilitating results in the quality of education in this state will be incalculable for years to come," he said. "Our hope was that after four years of declining state support, the state administration would recognize and correct this drift to mediocrity.

"Now to impose a fifth year of cuts in funds is demanding that Berkeley perform miracles with its programs," Heyns said. "Berkeley is out of miracles."

He said Reagan's proposed 1971-72 budget would provide the school with $1.8 million less than this year and $3.4 million less than last year—a reduction of nearly 15 per cent if inflation is accounted for.

Hitch Report Being Sought

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A resolution calling for a report on action taken to prevent "improprieties" by the University of California regents and the school has been submitted in the Assembly.

The measure by Assemblyman Robert H. Burke, R-Huntington Beach, was introduced M o n d a y and called for UC President Charles Hitch to make the report by Jan. 1.

Burke said a recent legislative report indicated there might have been some "improprieties" in financial dealings between some regents and the university.

"Next January," he said, "we will know whether or not he (Hitch) has been able to effectively control and prevent any future possibilities of improprieties and potential conflicts of interest from occurring between individual regents and the university."

Sprint Missile Firings A Success

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Army has announced that two Sprint missiles, the fast short-r a n g e part of the Safeguard antiballistic missile system, were successfully launched from the mid-Pacific and intercepted a third missile which earlier had been fired 4,200 miles away from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

The army said the interception was calculated electronically and no e x p l o s i o n occurred. The Sprint missiles are designed to cut down incoming warheads which might elude the Spartan missile, a longrange device designed to hit attacking missiles above the atmosphere.

Memorial Exhibit Is Slated

A memorial exhibit of watercolors and photographs by the late Robert Bastian of Belvedere will open April 4 at Old St. Hilary's Church, Tiburon.

Bastian, political cartoonist for 15 years for the San Francisco Chronicle and two years for television KQED'S "Newsroom," died last September.

On display will be watercolors of Belvedere and Tiburon painted between 1948 and 1951, all on loan from private owners. Color photographs of each scene, taken this year by Bastian's 19-year-old son, James, will show how the Tiburon Peninsula has changed in 20 years.

Old St. Hilary's, operated as a historical museum by the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society, will be open to the public without charge from 1 to 4 p.m. every Sunday and Wednesday, April through October. The Bastian exhibit will close June 6.

Church Of Christ Sponsoring Art Show

The Church of St. Augustine — United Church of Christ will sponsor an art and hobby show from noon to 4 p.m. Sunday at the church at 2200 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax.

A luncheon will be served from noon to 1:30 p.m.

Dance Course At Park School

A University of California extension course on "Learning Through Movement" will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. March 30 through June 8 at Park School, 360 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley.

A story in Thursday's Independent-Journal said the course, to be taught by dance instructor Dick Ford, would be at Edna Maguire School.

More Farms Ask Land Use Plans

The Marin County Soil Conservation District reported recently that 15 new farms and ranches requested assistance last year in developing conservation farm plans.

This brings the total to 247 ranches now cooperating with the district in formulating plans for land use and land conservation, according to the district's 1970 annual report.

The district reported that 124 of the farm cooperators received technical assistance and 18 installed major conservation practices.

During the year, the district also assisted ten cooperators in developing conservation plans, and four whose plans were revised or updated.

The district reported that conservation practices applied by the farm cooperators during the year included the construction of 5 farm ponds, 6 manure disposal pits, 3,500 feet of field windbreak, 17 acres of irrigation water management, 7,442 feet of drainage mains, 6,715 acres of pasture and hayland management, 1,500 feet of pipeline for livestock water, 369 acres of pasture planting and 600 feet of underground drains.

Detailed soil surveys were also made on 25,000 acres of the 141,457 acres now included in the district, the report stated.

Orindan Named Bay CHAD Head

E. Russell White of Orinda has been named executive director of Bay Area Combined Health Agencies Drive (CHAD), covering Marin and eight other counties.

Attorney James R. Tormey Jr. of San Mateo, president of CHAD, said White will head operations aimed at the business community, from the Oakland Medical Building at 1904 Franklin Street, Oakland.

Tormey said CHAD is a combined fund-raising effort benefitting 12 major health agencies. He stressed that Bay Area CHAD will not infringe on individual campaigns conducted at the residential level by member agencies.

Participating in the recently formed CHAD are chapters of the Arthritis Foundation, American Cancer Society, Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults, American Heart Association, the Kidney Foundation, March of Dimes, Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, National Association Retarded Children, Nationa. Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, Society for Prevention of Blindness, Tuberculosis and Respiratory Diseases Association and United Cerebral Palsy.

Milk Drinking Record Claimed

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI)—A young Coast Guardsman today claimed the world's record for milk drinking—one quart in seven seconds.

Seaman George Busby, 18, St. Louis, Mo., attached to the Cutter Cape Wash, gulped the milk Monday after warming up with an eight-second performance the previous day.

The Guinness Book of Records lists Peter New of Yorkshore, England, as the milk-swilling champ with a time of 13.3 seconds a quart.

Busby said he was ready to take on the defending champ or any challengers.

Hirss Serigraphs On Exhibit At Seminary

SAUSALITO'S BEAUTIFICATION GOAL

This drawing by architect Donald K. Olsen shows the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce's hopes for the appearance of Bridgeway, including boardwalks along the curbs, benches in addition to the existing planter boxes and more trees bordering the downtown thoroughfare. The chamber will discuss the plan at a special meeting at 8 p.m. today in the city hall. Local businessmen would finance the improvement project.

Hospital Expansion Wins Out

The Marin Hospital District board last night agreed to proceed with plans for expansion of Marin General Hospital as opposed to construction of a second hospital elsewhere.

Hospital Administrator Ray K. Bolinger said today the action followed a recommendation to the board from its long range planning committee advising such action.

In accepting that recommendation, he said, the board also authorized the architects Rex, Whitaker, Allen and Associates to proceed with developing rough sketches and cost figures for a new hospital wing to house 100 beds and service support facilities.

The board also agreed to establish a committee to study a Gorsline Report recommendation that the hospital support a home care program. Committee members will be appointed at a later date, Bolinger said.

Nicasio Keeps Reading Teacher

The Nicasio School District board has decided to keep its remedial reading teacher although state funds to pay her have been cut off.

Board clerk Marie S. Rogers said the board decided Monday night to pay the teacher from district funds for the remainder of the school year in hopes Miller-Unruh funds will again be available next year.

The board also learned that principal Jeffrey Pflugrath will return for 1971-72 after a one-year leave of absence, Mrs. Rogers said.

Pets, Pals Dinner Session

An organizational dinner-meeting for the new Marin Chapter of Pets and Pals will be held at 5 p.m. April 2 in the Caprice restaurant, 2000 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, according to Mrs. Elsbeth Lucich of 14 Mallard Road, Belvedere.

Principal speaker will be Gladys Sargent of Piedmont, founder of the humane group. Pets and Pals is campaigning for low-cost spaying and neutering of cats and dogs in Marin and throughout the state.

Mrs. Lucich said reservations must be made with her by Monday.

Petaluman Bruised In Rear-End Crash

Leland G. Cook, 32, of 808 Elm Drive, Petaluma, said he would see his own doctor for treatment of bruises suffered in a rear end collision yesterday on East Washington Street at Highway 101, Petaluma.

Police said traffic had suddenly come to a halt and he was struck from the rear by a car driven by Elsie J. Loshbaugh, 48, of 1290 McKenzie Avenue, Petaluma.

Sausalito Is Exploring Ways To Unclog Traffic

By PAT ANGLE

The Sausalito City Council wrestled with the continuing problem of traffic congestion last night, then decided to experiment with different methods of unclogging the city's downtown streets.

The council agreed the city should set up a shuttle bus system — on a trial basis — from the Golden Gate Bridge District's ferry parking lot in Northern Sausalito to the downtown area. City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr was asked to obtain buses for the temporary service which would be used during peak traffic periods such as weekends and holidays.

Representatives of Marin Transit Systems of Marin City said the company would be willing to donate buses for several weekends if the city would pay the firm's drivers.

Although the council said downtown parking lots would remain in operation during the trial, City Engineer Norman Wohlschlaeger later questioned whether a shuttle from the northern lot would work if persons were not discouraged from driving downtown.

But Councilman Wyman Hicks said, "People have never had a chance before to use a parking and shuttle service in Sausalito. They've had the chance in Dallas and Disneyland and they've used the service. You can't say people won't use a transportation system if it's never been tried."

Businessmen saw the trial, however, as the first step toward eliminating all downtown parking.

Inez Hiscock also objected the shuttle proposal, saying many people want to park near where they are going "or they won't go."

"I guess that's true that people want to park next to where they are going," Mayor Alexander R. Imlay said, "But with the pressure and number of cars here, we might not be able to do that." He added: "I think we should talk about reducing downtown parking."

Jean Sorf, who lives on Bulkley Avenue near the business district, said tourists already are parking in residential areas and that elimination of more parking downtown would "make the situation worse and it's almost impossible to find a place to park now."

Councilman Earl F. Dunphy drew applause from the audience when he said he would never vote to close the city's largest parking lot, Municipal Lot No. 1. The lot, however, is envisioned as an open space park in the park plaza plan scheduled to go before the city planning commission April 7.

Also last night's session, called exclusively to discuss traffic problems, learned from the city engineer that the number of cars passing through Sausalito on weekends at this time of year is not much more than on weekdays. A survey last week, he said, showed a total of 14,914 autos on weekends and 13,544 on weekdays. Much of the congestions on weekends is caused by increased pedestrian traffic on the streets, Wohlschlaeger said.

To explore other avenues of alleviating the traffic problem, the council authorized the city engineer to look into the possibility of a sign for Highway 101 at the south entrance to Sausalito which would warn visitors when traffic congestion was heavy along the southern route into town.

Wohlschlaeger said the automatic sign, which would be triggered by a counter system on the street, also could suggest alternate routes into the city, preferably from the north.

However, Planning Director H. Eric Borgwardt told the council the northern entrance to Sausalito currently is "just as bad as the south" since much of it, from the freeway exit to Nevada Street, is two lanes, although there are plans to make it a four-lane road.

"We have got to do a little more work in the north end if we want to invite people in through that gateway," Borgwardt said.

Councilman Stephen A. Fraser objected to the widening, unless the additional lane could be reserved for buses, saying more lanes would only bring in more cars. In addition, Fraser said, he eventually would like to see the part of Bridgeway from Richardson to Princess streets closed to all but resident traffic, particularly during heavy traffic hours.

Wohlschlaeger told the council elimination of some of the cross traffic on Bridgeway might help and said he would propose that the city close portions of Pine, Locust and Bee streets, between Bridgeway and Caledonia streets, and turn them into parking areas to serve resident businesses which the central waterfront plan envisions for Caledonia.

Fraser and Brogwardt said they felt any parking in those areas should be limited to residents, but other council members thought such limitation might create legal problems.

Fireman's Fund Negotiating For Marin Building Location

Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies may come to Marin County, it was learned today.

The organization, now headquartered in San Francisco, is reported to be negotiating with American Savings and Loan Association for the purchase of 38 acres on the west side of the 101 Highway, just south of Lucas Valley Road — a parcel known as Lucas Green.

San Rafael attorney Albert Bianchi of Bagley, Bianchi and Sheeks, who is acting for Fireman's Fund in the negotiations, said many details remain to be worked out before the purchase is completed and what exact use of the property may be made by Fireman's Fund is still undecided.

He said that if the transaction is consummated it will be sometime in April before all information can be released.

Fireman's Fund, which was acquired by American Express Co. in 1968, has its home office at 3333 California Street, San Francisco. Many officials of the organization are known to be Marin County residents, including president Louis W. Niggeman, also executive vice president of American Express, who has lived in Kentfield for many years. Executive vice president Stuart D. Menist is also a resident of Kentfield.

Petaluman, 20, Is Pot Suspect

A 20-year-old Petaluma man was arrested yesterday by San Rafael police on suspicion of indecent exposure and possession of marijuana.

Phillip Eugene Butler of 431 Paula Lane was arrested about 10 a.m. as he walked along Lucas Valley Road after a housewife had reported a man exposed himself to her as she drove along the road, police said.

During a search of the man, police said they found a bag of a substance believed to be marijuana.

Butler was booked into Marin County Jail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Moving Date For Library

The Novato branch library at Tresch Triangle will close up shop at 5 p.m. next Wednesday for the big move into new quarters on Novato Boulevard.

The library will reopen on April 15 in its brand new building at 1720 Novato Boulevard, county librarian Bruce D. Bajema announced today.

Next Monday through Wednesday, the old library will be open only for the returning of books because the staff members will be busy packing and directing the movers. No fines will be charged during the month of April so that patrons may keep their books and return them to the new building with no fear of overdue charges.

An open house and dedication of the new library building is set for 2 p.m. April 24.

What's This? CMA Wants To Take Over Medi-Cal?

The California Medical Association wants to take over Medi-Cal, abolishing the state Department of Health Care Services.

A proposal that it do so was approved without debate at its annual convention in Anaheim.

First reaction to this just had to be disbelief. The CMA and its parent organization, the American Medical Association, fought down to the wire against Medicare, Medi-Cal, and other state health care systems, damning them as "socialized medicine."

Now, however, the CMA thinks it can do the job better.

Maybe it can. Certainly Medi-Cal is in trouble. Certainly it needs some overhauling.

HOWEVER, CMA MUST accept a share of the blame for what is wrong with Medi-Cal, just as AMA must accept its portion of responsibility for what is wrong with Medi care.

In their fight against "socialized medicine," the doctors' organizations succeeded in preserving the same doctor-hospital-patient relationship that prevailed in private practice. And this contributed to escalation of costs which have put the public health care systems in trouble.

In California, medical assistance claims are handled by Hospital Service of California (Blue Cross) for hospitals, by California Physicians' Service (Blue Shield) for doctors. These are the "fiscal intermediaries" for the program.

MEDI-CAL, like Medicare, is based on the fee for service concept. The fees for physicians are described as "reasonable charges not to exceed the prevailing charges in the locality for similar services." Those for hospitals and nursing homes are based on formulas agreed upon between the state and the California Hospital Association and California Nursing Home Association, respectively.

Gov. Ronald Reagan is by no means the only critic who has pointed out that this provides an incentive for over-use. The doctor benefits financially by having the patient call frequently at his office, by making many prescriptions, even more by putting the patient in a hospital — at which point the hospital also benefits.

The concept of health care on a retainer basis, not based on number of calls, prescriptions or hospitalizations, at no place enters the picture.

That it does not is a tribute to the dogged resistance of the American Medical Association and its subsidiaries, for that was exactly the concept promoted originally for both state and national health care programs.

The CMA proposal, voted at its convention, says nothing about changing this. The doctors like the system the way it is.

WHAT THE CMA SEEMS to be saying is that, while Medi-Cal is a failure with the CMA-created Blue Shield and California Hospitals Association Blue Cross as "fiscal intermediaries," it would be a success if these same organizations ran the whole show.

We would need to know a lot of details about how the CMA proposes to "reform" Blue Cross and Blue Shield before we would be ready to believe they can "reform" Medi-Cal.

Answer To Fairfax Canine Problem?

The city fathers of Fairfax have spent untold hours trying to solve the problem of the enormous amounts of dogs roaming the streets of Fairfax. There may be an answer after all. It appears we have an expert on animal control living right here in town. Our esteemed supervisor, Mr. Peter Arrigoni, has relocated the raccoons and brought Hank the cat in out of the rain. Now, perhaps, he could concentrate his efforts in helping us solve our canine problem.

Could we ship them to Golden Gate Park?

Fable Of Camel Applies To Schools

More and more chickens are coming home to roost. This remark and letter is prompted by an article in your paper dated March 16 by Pat Angle, titled, "Student Leader Challenges P.E."

Movements like this by some misguided students, aided and abetted by some administrative, executive, teaching personnel and parents, are coming back to haunt our society as full-grown plans to tear down and destroy the discipline and control of our schools. . .

These impractical and disruptive movements remind me of the fable of "The Arab and His Camel." At the end of a long day of travel, the Arab made camp at an oasis where, after feeding and watering his camels, he pitched his tent and built therein a small fire to warm himself from the desert cold. Shortly after he had finished his meager supper, he heard a rustling noise at the tent flap and saw the nose of one of his camels come pushing into the tent. Then the voice of the camel — whom the Arab recognized as the always complaining, most disobedient one of his herd — was heard to say, "Master, it is cold outside and it is warm in your tent. May I, your humble servant, please put my nose inside your shelter in order that I escape from the cold out here?" The Arab, being a trusting and humane man, agreed, and the camel pushed his nose into the tent. The Arab prepared for bed and when about asleep heard again the voice of the camel: "Please, master, may I put my head and neck into your tent as my nose feels so good in there?" To this the Arab also agreed and again prepared for his repose. A short period of time elapsed when, without warning and without seeking permission, the camel came lurching into the small tent, tumbling the Arab out into the cold night. In the meantime the camel had smothered the fire and pulled the tent down around his ears, so having completed his destruction he rejoined the herd, complaining about the injustices of society and the establishment. . .

This fable illustrates what is happening in our school system today, where first self-expression, then self-discipline, and now self-determination, especially of what courses and how much of each, threatens to make a mockery of mature and experienced planning and guiding of our educational system. . .

Historical Goof In Report of Fire

There appeared in your edition of March 17 (page 12, column 6) an article, "Ancient Rail Depot Blaze," etc. The details stated are so palpably false, one wonders where your reporters are educated and recruited.

"Fire, believed to be arson, partially destroyed the 175-year-old railroad station at Point Reyes Station today," etc. Any schoolboy should know there was no railroad of any kind anywhere on the Pacific slope until after the gold rush of 1849. Point Reyes Station was first established in 1892 as a post office.

Then, more plums of history: "The old depot building located on Main Street was built in the early 1800s by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad." The NWP was incorporated Jan. 8, 1907, as a consolidation of many other roads, none of which were operating in the early 1800s. The first railroad in California was operated, briefly, by Theodore Judah. This line ran 21 miles from Sacramento to Folsom, and served as a test before the transcontinental line of 1868.

Inheritance Tax Raise Opposed

Assembly Bill No. 541, sponsored by Assemblymen Leo J. Ryan and Dixon Arnett and coauthored by Senator Arlen Gregorio, will double your inheritance taxes. This bill has received no publicity in the news media. The silence regarding it leads one to believe that it will be pushed through for enactment hard and fast. The people are slipping! McCarthy Third Party Threat Adds To Democratic Divisions

WASHINGTON — The Democrats are heading toward a crippling breech in party ranks in the 1972 campaign.

Party leadership is becoming so divided over Vietnam and the defense policy that it is now a near certainty that there will be either major defections or a dissident third-party Democratic ticket.

HERE'S HOW it is shaping:

1 — If Sen. Edmund Muskie or Sen. Hubert Humphrey or Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., becomes the nominee, Sen. George McGovern and former Sen. Eugene McCarthy and their supporters on the left would find them difficult to accept unless they become far more firmly dovish than seems likely. McCarthy or McGovern or both could well lead a third-party movement.

2 — If McGovern or McCarthy is chosen, the defense-minded, internationalist Democratic leaders like Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla.; House Majority Leader Hale Boggs, D-La.; Senators Jackson, Gale McGee and others can't possibly go along. And it is unlikely that Lyndon Johnson would sit quietly and watch his party repudiate the foreign policy of every Democratic president from 1933 to 1969. It is more than likely that they would "take a walk" or give some degree os support to President Nixon.

3 — House Majority Leader Boggs and Speaker Albert have begun to sharpen their opposition to the nearly unanimous line of Democratic presidential hopefuls who advocate radical cuts in defense and quick withdrawal of all forces from Vietnam on a fixed date publicly announced.

SUCH DEEP differences at the highest level of party leadership are not likely to be resolved. They are the stuff which causes a party to split wide open — as happened in 1948 — and such a split now appears to be in the making.

Former Senator McCarthy is positively itching to head a third-party ticket in 1972.

Shortly after McCarthy retired from the Senate in December, he flew to California to talk over his ideas and plans with the directors of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions. The Center magazine has now put much of that conversation on the record.

McCarthy leaves little doubt that he now feels a third party is imperative, that he is to lead it and that, even if its effect is to help elect Nixon, its challenge will have been worth the result.

HERE IS THE WAY McCarthy spells out his thinking:

He holds that "the regular party channels are pretty well plugged up now. Either extra-political party approaches, the threat of a new political movement or a new political party is necessary."

McCarthy believes "the third party is beginning to look like a good risk."

He cites the need "for the proper separation of powers and sharing of powers." He says, "Someone soon ought to be able to run and say: 'I am going to find out where the wiretaps are, who is being spied on and who is doing it.'"

On the central issue McCarthy holds that "the best thing that could happen through some kind of third-party challenge is that it could say: 'We are going to build a party around the principles and around the public concern over the political process itself.'"

BUT WOULDN'T this simply insure a Republican victory? To this question McCarthy replies in effect that it would be worth it to try. He puts it this way:

"In forming a third party, there's always the risk of dividing the votes on one side and letting the other side win. But there comes a point when you simply have to run that risk. You say, 'All right, so the wrong people won because of us, but we told you that was the risk you were running.' It becomes a kind of poker game."

It is evident that McCarthy can hardly wait to open the game to all who will join him.

Louis And Flip: Two Worthy Of Admiration

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — Word of Louis Armstrong's heart attack came on Flip Wilson day, which is the day before payday. While watching Flip I was thinking about Louis, and about how much I liked them both, and why. And about how the Panthers must have absolute conniptions every time they think about either one of them.

Any self-respecting Panther would assert that the mere fact that a white man likes a black performer automatically means the performer must be an Uncle Tom. His logic would dictate that my calling Louis and Flip by their first names although they are not personal friends of mine is condescending. And it does get a bit delicate, a white man writing about not only black-white relations but black-black relations, too.

CAN YOU IMAGINE anybody calling Louis Mr. Armstrong or Flip Mr. Wilson? But the reason is not condescension.

It's admiration. Acknowledgment that each of them, with different talents, in different generations, was so good at his business that you came to think of him as a personal friend although he wouldn't know you from Strom Thurmond.

When Louis came out of New Orleans, it was the style for black men to roll their eyes and grin. And he did. He always looked as though he had just eaten half a watermelon.

The word "handkerchief-head" is a variation of Uncle Tom. Well, Louis was literally a handkerchief-head. He not only kept one bandana in his hand to wipe away the sweat, but when hitting high notes in hot weather he didn't hesitate to knot the four corners of another one and fit it over his kinky hair like a pickaninny in a cotton field.

BUT THAT WASN'T what made him great. He came to the show side of show business late. What made him great was the way he blew the cornet and trumpet. As a fast, shining lead in "Dippermouth Blues," or as a sad and muted obbligato in "Trouble in Mind," with Chippie Hill. On how many hundreds of records, on how many thousands of nights, on how many bandstands, over five decades?

He not only influenced trumpeters, he influenced every instrument in jazz and through them popular music. Listen to Ella Fitzgerald sing. Listen to the Louis in it. He was a giant, and when he was young, he was as proud and virile as any inciter of arson you are likely to meet today.

SO, IT SEEMS to me, is Flip. I admit when I first heard him it was on the record about Christopher Columbus, when he does Queen Isabella exalting "Chris gon' find Ray Charles!" And it seemed a bit scandalous, that wonderful black accent in these tread-softly racial times.

But when he has had a chance to grow on you, you realize that far from being a Tom, he is merrily putting down the whole lot of us — whites, blacks, hips, squares and Panthers alike. And making most of us like it.

What other black man would have the gall to walk out there and roll those eyes and grin that grin and do a skit with lines like "I was completely in the dark. (Pardon the pun)." All the while wearing not a bandana but a baby bonnet?

Who else of either race these days is going to needle the demonstrators and graffiti painters who kept the faith with Huey Newton and Angela Davis by getting on his knees before the judge in a television playlet and begging, "Free Freddy Johnson! Free Freddy Johnson!"?

WHAT FLIP HAS and Louis has is the courage and self-confidence to do it their own way instead of turning fashionably bitter under pressure. Plus, of course, the talent to make it stick, to force themselves to the very top among world-class competition.

And if they happened to spread a little brotherly love along the way, only a few brothers will complain.

Fiasco Of The Queen Mary: Biggest Boondoggle Of All

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — Recently, the Los Angeles Times published a copyrighted story by George Reasons, depicting in minute detail the Long Beach fiasco of the Queen Mary, citing the fact that the expenditure of public money on the vessel could reach $100 million before it is even ready to provide any return.

The Reasons story is not only a fine piece of investigative reporting, but also bears out predictions made in the column about five years ago, when it was exceedingly unpopular to call attention to the facts of the purchase of the vessel by the municipality of Long Beach.

HAD THE PEOPLE of Long Beach voted a bond issue, or even voted approval for officials to spend Long Beach money to acquire the rat-infested hulk, there would have been no story to write today.

But the use of funds which should belong to the entire State of California makes the enterprise one which should be subject to the closest scrutiny.

The California Assembly, through its ways and means committee, gives some indication that such an investigation may be upcoming. But whether hearings on the subject will be for real, or just another whitewash to protect the administration of the City of Long Beach and the money-bags that are continuing to profit from the many-faceted opportunities opened by the enterprise, remains to be seen.

AS REASONS SAYS in his story: "The gallant ship, once a symbol of elegance, has now become a symbol of bureaucratic waste and mismanagement and the butt of demeaning jokes."

Truer words were never spoken. However, with more money than it knew what to do with, the City of Long Beach naturally could be expected to become the target for promoters and sharp-shooters after the easy buck, which was there for the taking.

The reasons the money was there was because the state legislature several years ago compromised with the City of Long Beach, and agreed to let the municipality keep half the proceeds from the oil-rich tidelands which poured an unending stream of cash into the public coffers.

The compromise worked to remove half the profits to the State of California into the Long Beach city treasury.

Restrictions of the city's use of the money were contained in the legislation. It was supposed to be exclusively for harbor development. But there were ways to get around that.

WHEN THE CITY could find no further developments to make on its harbor, and continued to roll in the millions of dollars from oil profits, officials and promoters had to find some way to spend the money. So the Queen Mary purchase was conceived to get rid of about $3.5 million. Now the $3.5 million has grown to $63 million, and may reach $100 million.

It could be called the biggest boondoggle of them all!

Jail-Or-Fine Still Employed For Marin's Traffic Offenders

A Sacramento County judge touched off a little controversy a few weeks ago when he began sentencing all speeders to jail.

Judge Fred L. May said he was acting on a supreme court decision which said that if two men were guilty of a jointly committed crime, one could not go to jail while the other went free simply because he could pay a fine.

May said he interpreted the decision to mean that no one should be jailed because he cannot pay a fine, and "therefore, all the defendants who did not post bail went to jail."

The judge discontinued the everybody-to-jail policy a few days after it began when it drew widespread publicity.

NEITHER THE supreme court's decision nor Judge May's short-lived policy had much effect on sentencing of traffic offenders in Marin County.

Judge Peter Allan Smith of Marin Municipal Court said there was no established policy for the punishment of traffic offenders, but all the municipal court judges pretty much follow the same practice he does.

Persons found guilty are often given the choice of paying a fine or serving time in the county jail, but Smith said it is important to give the citizen a chance to pay the fine.

He said persons offered a fine or jail are given as much as 90 days — and on occasion up to six months or a year — to pay the fine.

SOMETIMES TRAFFIC offenders are given the opportunity to pay fines in installments, Smith said, describing the installment plan as "a way of life today."

In the jail-or-fine sentences, a small percentage, even with the ability to pay the fine, chose jail, he said.

Two classes of traffic offenders where the fine or jail is usually not offered are persons on welfare and alcoholics, he said.

The judge said he found taking away driver licenses for a time a successful solution to the welfare case.

"Jail, simply because they have no money, is too harsh," he said.

With alcoholics, jail provides "warmth, food, clothing and a place to dry out."

A NEW APPROACH being tried in Marin Municipal Court, Smith said, is assigning citizens to county work crews in lieu of, or in addition to, other punishments.

The approach is being used not only in traffic cases, he said, noting he assigned a young college student in a marijuana case to five days with a county work crew. The District Attorney's office had recommended five days in jail.

The main thing judges are concerned about, Judge Smith said, "is a fair disposition of the case."

Lt. Col. Larsen Is To Retire

Lt. Col. Donavon K. Larson, operations officer for the special missions squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base, has retired after 20 years' service.

Prior to his arrival at Hamilton Air Force Base in 1966, Colonel Larson helped train pilots in the German Air Force at Frankfurt.

Commissioned in the Army Air Corps in World War II, he flew B-24S and B-29S.

He was recalled to active duty in 1953, completed Air Command and Staff College in 1965, and was assigned to Vietnam, where he was awarded the Bronze Star and Air Medal.

A native of Sacramento, Colonel Larson plans to remain in Novato.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Bill Would Open Schools To Union Shop Contracts

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

A bill now in the California Senate Education Committee would make possible the union shop in all California schools, from kindergarten through University of California.

It would supersede not only the Winton Act but also other laws dealing with employer-employe relations in the public schools.

The bill is SB 324 by Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, D-Los Angeles. It would add this to the Education Code:

"Notwithstanding any provision of the law to the contrary, every person employed in a position requiring certification qualifications by any school or educational institution in the state, included but not limited to elementary schools, junior high schools, high schools, community colleges, colleges or universities, is entitled to all rights and privileges specified in Section 923 of the Labor Code."

SECTION 923 deals with the right to union membership and representation.

If Dymally's bill were to become law, union shop contracts could be negotiated with school districts and the state by the California Federation of Teachers, the California Teachers Association, and other unions.

There are other unions already in the picture. The AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers, of which CFT is a part, has also an organization among University of California faculty, called United Professors of California. Another new AFL-CIO union, the National Union of School Administrators and Supervisors, has started organizing school management personnel. And 30 elementary school administrators in the San Francisco schools have joined the Teamsters Union.

THE CTA, OF COURSE, does not call itself a union. It says it is a professional organization. But this does not mean it does not want union shop contracts, with itself as the employees' bargaining agent.

Curtis Plott, assistant executive director of the CTA Southern Section, wrote this in the February issue of Teacher Advocate, the Southern Section's news monthly:

"The negotiations drive is on its way. Tentatively at first, we avoided such words as strikes, collective bargaining and binding arbitration as being too 'unprofessional.' The inhouse terminology was withholding of services, professional days of protest, and today, master agreements and comprehensive contracts. With some justification, chapters found that Mrs. Jones in the third grade would fight for a 'master agreement' but rejected a 'collective bargaining contract' although they are substantially the same."

"MASTER AGREEMENTS" setting forth what the teachers shall do and what the school district must do are being pushed by CTA, despite some legal setbacks. Several of them have been signed and are in force — legal or not.

One such "master agreement" which resulted from last year's strike by United Teachers of Los Angeles — a merger of CFT and CTA locals — was ruled illegal by Judge Charles Stratton of Los Angeles Superior Court. He held that it was a collective bargaining contract, and that neither the teachers' negotiating council nor the Los Angeles Board of Education had authority to enter into such a contract.

The Los Angeles Board of Education then embodied everything that was in the contract in its "board rule 3700." Judge Stratton ruled that this, too, was illegal, since by it the board delegated away powers which the law did not permit it to delegate.

However, the current negotiating council, dominated and controlled by United Teachers of Los Angeles, has hired an attorney and assessed Los Angeles teachers — including those who are members of organizations opposed to UTLA — to appeal the superior court rulings. And "board rule 3700" remains operative — legal or not.

RECENTLY THE San Francisco Teachers Council proposed a master agreement to the San Francisco Board of Education. Irving Breyer, the board's attorney, held it illegal under the Los Angeles decision. But the teacher organizations have threatened to strike unless such an agreement is signed.

Legal complications such as these would disappear if Senator Dymally's SB 324 became law. The school boards then would be merely "management" bargaining agents.

Wiretap Proposal Defeated In Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Senate Judiciary Committee today defeated a bill to permit policemen to use wiretaps and bugging devices to gather evidence on suspected criminals.

The measure by Sen. John L. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, was killed on a split voice vote despite a plea for it by the personal emissary of U.S. Attorney General John Mitchell.

James Ritchie, head of the U.S. Justice Department's Strike Force on Organized Crime for Northern California, told the committee that electronic surveillance is "an indispensable aid to the administration of justice."

Ritchie, noting federal crime fighters already have bugging authorization, said his agents "can't collect all that is necessary to effectively fight the organized criminal activity in California."

But Harold G. Bradford, representing the State Bar, opposed the measure on grounds it would violate an innocent person's right to privacy.

"The bill raises and presents a potential and unwarranted invasion of privacy," Bradford said, adding that it could also violate a lawyer-client confidence if their conversations were bugged.

Sheldon Portman, representing the California Public Defenders Association, also opposed the bill, which he labeled "a new kind of totalitarianism."

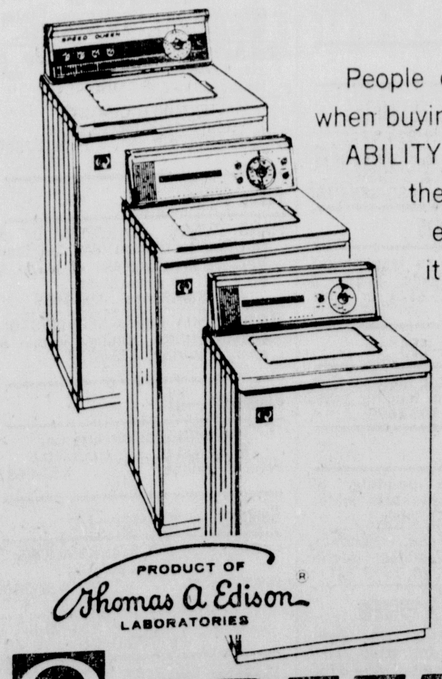
Ready to talk about DEPENDABILITY?



People often forget one important thing when buying their first washer. It's DEPENDABILITY. Consequently, they get to know the repairman pretty well. And that's expensive. With the second washer, it's different. Dependability comes first! And that's why a Speed Queen should be your No. 1 choice. Speed Queens are Designed and Built to be dependable . . . to give extra years of faithful service. We'd love to have you come in and say, "prove it."

What's going on in Sacramento?

Plenty. There's a new climate, a new political alignment in the state legislature . . . and possibly a new approach to legislative problems which are of definite importance to you.

When the new Speaker speaks, Tracy Wood reports for you in the I-J

Bob Moretti, new Speaker of the House, appears to be concentrating intensely as he listens to a question from Tracy Wood, one of the I-J's United Press International reporters in Sacramento.

Perhaps from experience Moretti knows that Tracy is no one to turn off with a smile or top-of-the-head remark. For young and feminine as she may be, Tracy Wood has the gift of separating verbal chaff from the wheat. And of being so persistently inquiring that political figures think twice before answering . . . and maybe thrice about not answering.

Tracy, like all I-J and UPI reporters, takes the stubbornly objective view, that you, the reader, have the right to know. No system on earth so well insures that you may be informed. And none so well brings out the element which alone distinguishes good reporting - the truth.

Dominican Ballets For Young Slated

Two free ballets, especially designed for young audiences, will be presented at 5 p.m. Saturday and 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the gymnasium at Dominican College.

"Warm Up," choreographed by Carolyn Parks of the Marin Civic Ballet Association, captures the various moods of a ballet class in action.

"The Boy and the Mopes," set to music by Leos Janacek of the ballet company, tells the story of a senile witch and her helpers, the mopes, who try to cast a spell on a young boy. Choreography is by Charles Perrier of the Marin ballet company.

Dancers of the association's Apprentice Company are Ruth Syndon, Cindy Shatz, Craig Randolph, Laurie Antonioli, Ann Robyns, Jennifer Palo, Susan Swieconek, Allison Hoover, Robin Frederick, Jaquie McEliot, Margaret Shields, Carolen Weisenberg and Theresa Glassner.

Thief Saws Meter, Carts It Away

A thief armed with a pipe cutter stole a parking meter from in front of 1312 Third Street between Friday and yesterday, according to San Rafael police.

The $80 meter, which was sawed off at the base and carted away, contained only 50 cents, police said.

Anglo-American Talks On Rolls Jet Engine Issue

LONDON (UPI) —Two top British government officials flew to Washington today to join talks on saving the Rolls-Royce RB211 jet engine needed for Lockheed's Tristar Jet Airbus.

Defense Secretary Lord Carrington and attorney general Sir Peter Rawlinson will join a British negotiating team, U.S. Government officials and Lockheed Aircraft president Daniel Haughton at talks.

Lockheed was counting on the RB211 to power its new Tristar. The British Government has made an offer under which the RB211 project would be continued. But Haughton turned it down as not good enough.

Escalating production costs for the RB211, not foreseen in original bidding for the project, helped force Rolls-Royce into receivership last month.

Turkish Premier Picks Cabinet

ANKARA (UPI)—Premier-designate Nihat Erim has picked a cabinet of "brains, class and brass" in his efforts to shape a new government acceptable to Turkey's generals, political sources said today.

Picked to replace Premier Suleyman Demirel, who was forced to resign on March 12 under threat of military takeover, Erim said today he would blend "young and experienced experts" with politicians to form a "brain trust within the cabinet."

He pledged his government would push for economic and social reforms.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Hysteria As A Diagnosis Is Back In Psychiatrist's Book

Hysteria is back in the good graces of our psychiatrists. For a time it had been removed from the list of official diagnoses, but has been resurrected. It is a form of neurosis that occurs mainly in women under 30. Over the years, these ladies develop a number of chronic and recurrent illnesses that they describe in dramatic fashion. Nearly all of the victims have menstrual difficulties, sexual maladjustments, anxieties, recurrent gastrointestinal and urinary problems, multiple pains and mood disturbances. They complain so bitterly that many end up in the hospital and ultimately convince the physician that he had better operate, take a look and remove anything removable. Of course, nothing is found during exploratory surgery and the cycle repeats itself.

IN ADDITION, their inner tensions may be converted into symptoms, suggestive of a nervous system disorder. Some claim that they cannot see or talk, yet all test results are normal Others develop paralysis, amnesia, urinary retention or difficulty in walking. Now and then they are plagued with "spells," convulsions, or seizures.

As a rule, a bona fide neurological disturbance is easily distinguished from the more bizarre emotional disorders. In addition, the symptom comes and goes — an unlikely situation if the person has lost his hearing or is paralyzed. Hysterical women are difficult to treat because they will not accept a psychiatric reason for their symptoms. Many get divorced, separated, or try suicide and are notorious for "shopping" from one doctor to another.

THE GREEK TERM for uterus is hystera. Ancient physicians believed hysteria was caused by a frustrated uterus that became detached and wandered about the body producing bizarre symptoms. This notion was discarded when men began to develop hysteria.

TIRED OF TATTOO

Mrs. P. H. writes: At age 14, I had a tattoo put on my leg. Now I want it removed. How do I go about it?

REPLY

See your physician. There are various ways to remove a tattoo depending upon its size and location. I might add, however, that it is 100 times more difficult to remove the decoration than it is to put on. Some can be removed via skin abrasion. Others require plastic surgery.

ALCOHOL AND STONES

H. J. writes: Can you please tell me whether alcohol can contribute to the formation of uric acid stones?

REPLY

I would say no. Gout is the most common cause for uric acid stones, especially when the individual does not drink ample fluids. An alcoholic binge aggravates an existing gout.

STICKY EYELIDS

K. A. L. writes: What causes sticky eyelids on waking in the morning? My doctor says it is due to blepharitis.

REPLY

Inflammation of the lids. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on blepharitis.

BLOOD TYPE

Mrs. H. M. writes: I've been married for 35 years and all this time I was under the impression that children have the same blood type as their father. Is this true?

REPLY

The blood type of the child is derived from both parents.

Scholar Interviews Are Tuesday

Bank of America has announced the five judges who will select four out of 37 Marin and Southern Sonoma high school seniors as finalists for the bank's annual achievement awards competition.

The judges, drawn from business and civic groups, will conduct panel discussion with the students on Tuesday. Their decisions will be based on interviews with the students their scholastic records and extracurricular activities.

Judges are Robert H. Green, San Rafael realtor; Robert L. Fisher, District Scout Executive of Marin Council, Boy Scouts of America, San Rafael; David M. Stewart, president of a Fairfax management consultant firm; Helen Hermann, executive director of Redwood Empire Area Council of Campfire Girls of Petaluma, and Robert Andresen, Mill Valley attorney.

Vigril S. Hollis, superintendent of Marin County Schools, will be moderator for the event. Coordinating the panels and interviews will be Leroy Rudolph, vice president and manager of Bank of America's San Rafael main office.

The 37 student candidates were listed by field of study and high school in the March 2 issue of the Independent-Journal.

Broadway Play To Be Presented In Mill Valley

The Mill Valley Center for Performing Arts will present four week-end performances of Paddy Chayefsky's successful Broadway comedy "The Tenth Man."

Performances beginning at 8:30 p.m. will be held this Friday and Saturday and April 3, April 9-10, 16-17 and 23-24 at 267 Buena Vista Avenue in Mill Valley.

The play, directed by Robert Adler, artistic director of the Festival Theater of San Anselmo, unfolds the attempts by members of an old Jewish Synagogue to exorcise a demon from a young girl.

Throughout the play, the earnest group searches for the tenth man needed before the prayers, designed to exorcise demons, can be recited. A successful young lawyer, who drops in unexpectedly, saves the day.

The play was produced by Andy Crow of Mill Valley and designed by John Lechner, a student at San Francisco State College.

PUC Finds Phone Firms Tap Their Own Workers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Public Utilities Commission found Tuesday that Pacific Telephone and General Telephone have violated its orders regarding monitoring conversations of employes.

However, the PUC merely ordered the companies to review such PUC orders with their supervisory personnel at the time of their employment and annually thereafter.

The commission said the violations were in regard to disclosure of information obtained by "supervisory monitoring." It said evidence established that "instances have occurred where information obtained through supervisory monitoring has been used for disciplinary purposes."

11 Colleges To Attend Workshop

A student government conference will be held Saturday at the College of Marin to discuss ecology, minorities, student financial aide and "effective political action."

Scheduled to begin at 8 a.m. at the college center, the day-long session of workshops and lectures is being sponsored by Area Seven of the California Community College Student Government Association.

Students from 11 colleges, from as far away as Fremont and Eureka, are expected to attend.

According to a conference spokesman, the workshops will begin at 10:30 a.m. and attempt to define problems and develop solutions.

The workshop on political action, for instance, will deal with establishing a system to pool political strength for problems shared by the 11 colleges.

Eviction Of Draft Boards Being Sought

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—The owner of a downtown office building is trying to evict three local draft boards on grounds they are a nuisance and a threat to the health and welfare of his other tenants.

James Boccardo filed suit in federal court Monday complaining that the Selective Service offices have repeated riots, demonstrations and "mutilation" of the 10-story building.

He said 75 per cent of his tenants have complained and some have moved out.

Boccardo said antiwar demonstrators last week locked arms in front of the building entrance and blocked employes of other offices. A fire was started in December by a bomb made out of gasoline and detergent.

JIM GILMARTIN

Herman Wedemeyer Of Furniture Fame

Boy, was I conned at the College of Marin athletic reunion the other night at Nave Lanes.

When I walked in, George Curry grabbed me by the arm and introduced me to a natty gent in a double-breasted blue blazer. He was wearing dark glasses and a mod haircut. "I'd like you to meet my friend, Herman Wedemeyer," said Curry.

I gulped, for Wedemeyer, the Honolulu Hip, was one of my football idols when he starred at St. Mary's College almost 30 years ago.

"Wow! Pleased to meet you," I said to Wedey. "Haven't seen you in years. Gosh, you look good. I remember the old Singing Saints at St. Mary's. How're things in Hawaii? Understand you've been dabbling in politics." I went on and on.

Much later, to my embarrassment, I learned that "Wedey" was actually San Rafael furniture tycoon Milton (Casa Marin) Schwartz, complete with hairpiece for his ruse. It did old baldy justice.

That set the stage for this bi-annual reunion of the Marin athletes of the 1946-47-48 era. Everyone had a ball, but you had to roll up your trousers to wade through the tall tales woven throughout the long evening.

I wasn't the only one duped by Schwartz and Curry. Vince Tringali, the head football coach at USF, also fell for the gag, gushing enthusiastically: "Hey, good to see you, Squirmin' Herman."

Tringali later recalled his most painful experience at Marin in 1947. On a long pass pattern, he streaked toward the endzone to grab the ball for what appeared to be a sure TD. "Only trouble was," said Vince, "just as I caught the ball I ran smack into the goal post, breaking my helmet and leaving a perfect black and blue streak down my chest and stomach. A couple of more inches and I'd have been ruined for life."

The man who threw that pass, by the way, was Sammy DeVito, now the head coach at an East Bay junior college.

About 60 of the former COM Tars were there, including coaches Arleigh Williams, now dean of students at U.C. Berkeley, Irwin "Red" Diamond, dean of students at COM, and Harry Pieper, now the athletic director at Marin.

Williams, who has done a remarkable job in view of the problems at Berkeley in recent years, said: "Boy, times have changed. I'd sure like to turn the calendar back to those good old days at Kentfield." Amen.

Diamond, who in his first year at Marin (1947-48) coached the Tars to the national junior college championship in the greatest of all Marin County Cinderella stories, saw some of his old champs, including Walt Moreno, now an artist for Foster-Kleiser; Ford Motor Co. executive Ken Gardner; attorneys Jim Burchell and Leroy Rice, and Fremont High School athletic director Ray Snyder.

Two of the most popular old Tars were noticeable by their absence — Jack Ertola, now a Superior Court Judge in San Francisco, who was away on business; and Marin County Supervisor Peter Arrigoni, who was busy in Fairfax saving cats from the elements.

I'm just casually dropping all these names, little old name-dropper me, to show that these Men of Marin have gone on to bigger and better things in the past quarter-century.

Marin Tars' Game To Be Played Today

College of Marin's Camino Norte Conference baseball game against West Valley Junior College, scheduled for yesterday in Campbell, was postponed until this afternoon because of bad weather.

Tar coach Vic Petreshene this morning named righthander Dennis Bueler to go against the Vikings. Bueler has one of the Kentfield team's two CNC victories to his credit.

Girls' Softball Signups Wednesday

Signups for a girls' bobby-sox softball league in San Anselmo will be held Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. at Isabel Cook School, San Anselmo Recreation Department director Frank L. Quinn announced today.

Leagues for girls in the 9-11 and 12-15 age groups will be organized, said Quinn. National officials will be on hand to explain league plans Wednesday night

Rookies Too Much For A's

MESA, Ariz. (UPI)—The Oakland Athletics meet the San Francisco Giants today after absorbing a Cactus League loss at the hands of three rookies.

Two young pitchers, Jim Slaton and Roric Harrison, combined a seven-hit performance Tuesday as the Milwaukee Brewers beat the A's, 9-3.

Rookie shortstop Rick Auerbach blasted a home run in the seventh for the Brewers.

Slaton, who picked up the win, allowed Oakland's three runs, one of them unearned. Harrison pitched the last four innings and only gave up one hit.

The Brewers got nine hits off A's starter Chuck Dobson, the loser, and two relievers, Art Boyd and Jim Panther.

Milwaukee wrapped up the game in the third with a three-run outburst.

A's manager Dick Williams had planned to cut some pitchers this week, but since none of his relievers have been very impressive he decided to wait.

"After seeing what our stoppers are trying to do we're not making any cuts at this time," Williams said.

"I was going to cut a few, but I can't now," he said. "I might cut the wrong one."

Two Records For Redwood Swim Star

A double school record performance by Redwood High School's Paul Cane led the Giants to a powerful 78-17 romp over the San Marin Mustangs in a Marin County Athletic League swim meet in Larkspur yesterday.

In another MCAL meet, Novato swamped San Rafael, 53-42, at Novato.

Cane, a junior, set school marks in both of his wins, the 200-yard Individual Medley and the 100-yard backstroke, as Redwood raised its win -loss record to 4-1. His I.M. time of 2:09.1 ranks as the county's best so far in 1971.

The Novato Hornets' aces, Roger Rechsteiner and Mike Smith, recorded double victories in the win over San Rafael. The triumph moved Novato into third place behind undefeated Terra Linda, and second-place Redwood.

APPARENT WIN FOR MARIN SKIPPER

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (UPI) — Improbable, skippered by Belvedere's David W. Allen, of the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere appeared to be the probable winner today in the Miami-Montego Bay ocean race.

Improbable sailed across the finish line fifth Tuesday, but was in first place on unofficial corrected time in the handicap race.

First across the line was Windward Passage, a big 73-foot ketch that finished in record time Monday.

A total of 14 boats had crossed the finish line by nightfall Tuesday, with 17 more left to finish before the final results could be tallied.

Griffith Decisions Guteirrez

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Former world welterweight and middleweight titlist Emile Griffith pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision over Rafael Guteirrez Tuesday night.

Griffith, 156, New York, scored repeatedly to the body with hooks and uppercuts to win handily on all three official cards. There were no knockdowns but the loser was staggered in the sixth and seventh rounds by body blows.

Gutierrez, 163, Sacramento, Calif., was fined $200 by the California Athletic Commission for coming in two pounds above the stipulated weight.

The official cards were 7-1, 8-2, and 6-1, all for Griffith, and United Press International scored it 9-0. Attendance was 5,354 with a gross gate of $32,158.

It was Griffith's 68th victory against 11 losses. Gutierrez is now 35-4-3. Griffith is trying to regain the 160-pound crown.

Griffith's next scheduled bout is against "Indian Red Lopez in Las Vegas in mid-April.

Former middleweight contender Jimmy Lester, 158, San Francisco knocked out Al Mills, 157, Milwaukee, in 2:24 of the first round of a scheduled 10-round semi-final; Ray Lunny III, 129, Redwood City, Calif., former national AAU champion, stopped Chamaco Lopez, 130, Mexico at 2:30 of the first round; and Hal Dutra, 200, Half Moon Bay, Calif., kayoed Gorilla Lopez, 190, San Jose, Calif., at 29 seconds of the opening round of another scheduled six-rounder.

Petraglia Adds To Money Lead

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Johnny Petraglia of Brooklyn, N. Y., moved further ahead of his rivals in the Professional Bowlers Association by picking up the $7,000 check in the Fair Lanes Open last weekend, running his 1971 earnings to $33,603.

Earl Anthony of Tacoma, Wash. was in second with $25,060, followed by Dave Soutar of Gilroy, Calif., $23,125; Don Johnson, Akron, $22,521, and Dick Weber, St. Louis, $20,215.

The $100,000 Firestone Tournament of Champions next week here will pay the winner $25,000.

Call New Orleans 'Super'

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Club owners of the National Football League emerged from a three-hour session at high society's Breakers Hotel Tuesday and announced that the next Super Bowl game would be played in New Orleans.

It caught a lot of people by surpsise, particularly the delegations from Miami, Dallas, Houston, Los Angeles and Jacksonville, who had been courting the football kings.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle was at a loss to explain what swayed the owners to return the game to the Sugar Bowl, where foul weather spoiled the fun two years ago.

The decision came on the 14th ballot, Rozelle said, with 20 of 26 club owners voting in favor of New Orleans.

The voting was by secret ballot and Rozelle wouldn't speculate on what was the deciding influence.

"I can't look in the minds of 26 club owners," he said.

But the commissioner mentioned several factors that may have been involved, specifically an inclination to alternate the site between American and National conference cities and "the tremendous football interest" in New Orleans.

Behind the closed doors it boiled down to a fight between Miami and Dallas, the Texas city apparently the favorite with its new 65,000-seat stadium. New Orleans, apparently a compromise, was nominated three times before it got the winning tally.

Rozelle said another factor was the promise of the New Orleans delegation to install artificial turf in the Sugar Bowl in time for the game.

Lester Kabacoll, the New Orleans Chamber of Commerce man who headed the Louisiana entourage, said he planned to launch a campaign today to raise money by public donation to pay for the $250,000 carpet at Tulane Stadium.

Today the NFL owners turned to proposed changes in football rules, notably one which would cramp the style of place kick specialists. If the change is adopted, on a missed field goal the ball would be returned to the line of scrimmage instead of the 20-yard line after a touchback.

Rozelle also announced that the club owners voted to change the date of the draft of college players to the second Tuesday after the final post-season game, which is usually the Pro Bowl.

On the allocation of tickets for Super Bowl VI, he said the competing clubs will get 10,000 each, the other 24 clubs 800 each, and the commissioner's office 5,000. New Orleans Saints season ticket holders will get priority up to 30,000 and 5,800 will be offered for public sale. The Sugar Bowl seats about 81,000.

Another Victory For Drake

Catcher Mike Baughman nearly hit for the cycle, and Lex Rzepelia became the fourth Drake High School pitcher in as many games to limit an opponent to a single run yesterday as the red-hot Pirates edged Napa High, 2-1 in preseason baseball action at San Anselmo.

The Pirates were the only Marin County Athletic League team to play yesterday. Five other schools had games washed out because of bad weather.

Baughman was the prominent figure in the third inning rally that brought Drake its fourth straight win. He laced a triple to knock in the first run, and scored moments later on a single by John Loane. He also slammed a double and a single in a perfect atfernoon at the plate. John Billings was also perfect for the Pirates with two hits in two at bats.

Rzepelia limited the Indians to four hits (Drake pitchers have allowed only 13 hits in the last four games) and was never in serious trouble, although he trailed for half an inning after Napa scored in the third.

Cub Hurlers Silence Giant Bats

MESA, Ariz. (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants have been hitting well this spring, but their bats were silenced Tuesday by three Chicago Cubs pitchers.

Rookie Ray Newman, Joe Decker and Lon Pizzarro shutout the Giants on six hits as the Cubs walked away with an 8-0 exhibition season victory.

Billy Williams and Johnny Callison provided the hitting for the Cubs, each driving in two runs.

The Giants play the Oakland Athletics today.

The Cubs blasted 23-year-old Jim Barr for six runs in three runs, then veteran reliever Don McMahon came in and allowed two runs in three innings as the Cubs put the game away.

Earlier Tuesday the Giants acquired southpaw Steve Hamilton from the Chicago White Sox in a no-cash trade for infielder Steve Huntz.

Hamilton, 34, is a veteran bullpen specialist. The Giants had traded Don Mason to the San Diego Padres last December to get Huntz, 25, as insurance behind third baseman Alan Gallagher.

Cards Vs. Redskins

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday completed their National Football League pre-season schedule by announcing a game with the Washington Redskins, Aug. 21, at Washington and with the Cincinnati Bengals, August 28, at Cincinnati.

NEW 'PRO' — Johny Neumann, who scored 40.1 points per game for Old Miss this year to lead the nation in scoring, relaxed yesterday with his wife Carolyn while final details were settled in his contract with the Memphis Pros of the American Basketball Association.

Soph Sensation Neumann Turns Pro For $2 Million

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Johnny Neumann, some $2 million richer and with a "no cut, five year contract," was expected to take part in halftime "signing" ceremonies tonight at the Pros-Denver American Basketball Association game at the Mid-South Coliseum. Many suspect however, that Neumann, the nation's college basketball scoring leader from the University of Mississippi, already has signed with the Memphis club.

The agreement was announced in New York Tuesday by ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph, who said the contract was approved by the league's board of trustees in light of a California Circuit Court judge's decision that a draft limited to seniors was in violation of anti-trust laws.

However, Commissioner Walter Kennedy of the rival National Basketball Association announced Tuesday that undergraduates will not be eligible for his league's 1971 college player draft on Monday. Kennedy met Monday with the NBA's Board of Governors.

In an interview with the Memphis Commercial-Appeal, Neumann said playing professional basketball was his lifelong dream.

Neumann, the 6-6 sophomore forward who averaged 40.1 points per game, told the newspaper in a copyrighted story the decision was made because of personal hardships created by a heart attack suffered by his father in late February and by his marriage last summer.

Neumann's contract is believed to be a "league contract" similar to the one which Jacksonville's Artis Gilmore signed last week with the ABA binding him to the Kentucky Colonels' franchise, the report said.

Pros Coach Babe McCarthy said Neumann would make a "great" swing man in either guard or forward and said he knew Neumann could "make it in the ABA."

The father, Robert H. Neumann, 60, was hospitalized Feb. 20 with the first heart attack and suffered another seizure while in the intensive care unit of Baptist Hospital.

"My father may never be able to work again," said Neumann. "Now I'm head of the household."

Robert (Cob) Jarvis, head basketball coach at Ole Miss, accepted Neumann's decision with mixed emotions.

"We at Ole Miss have always had a personal interest in our athletes above all else," Jarvis said. "In the present case we have kept abreast of the situation from the time of Mr. Neumann's attack.

"We know of the problems and conflicts Johnny has been faced with," the coach said. "Although we are sorry to lose the nation's leading scorer, we fully understand his decision.

"We consider his case a true hardship case." Jarvis said.

Dolph said he had originally rejected the Neumann contract, but resubmitted it to the board of trustees after a recent ruling by Circuit Judge Warren Fergsuon of California.

"The board agreed to the contract only on the advise of legal counsel," Dolph said, "And they feel that Judge Ferguson's ruling must be considered the law of the land until proven otherwise."

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

The Vernal Equinox Brings Spring Chores

Ah Spring! The vernal equinox is upon us. It brings us to the pleasant chores of preparing the boat for the summer fun ahead. And think how the spring chores for the outboarder have changed.

TODAY IT takes longer to put the boat's accessories in shape than the boat itself. Twenty years ago it was so different.

Back in 1951 most boats were still made of wood. The motor was most likely a "five" or even less, and it had no remote steering, controls or fuel tank. The trailer (they were very few) was a homemake brute with big car tires and no rollers, bumpers or frills.

TO FIT out that rig, one might have spent 20 minutes on the motor (new grease in the lower unit, maybe a new spark plug) and many tedious hours on the boat, scraping, sanding, caulking, painting, varnishing.

Today the balance has swung. Hulls are usually fiber glass, aluminum or wood with a tough plastic finish. It's the motor and its attendant gadgetry that seems to tax tha outboarder during the spring "fitting out" as some of these questions I've been asked indicate:

Q. Fishing line got caught around my prop last summer, now there's an oil leak, what gives?

A. The fish line worked itself into the oil seal around the prop shaft. You'll have to replace the seal. Next time you see a line around your prop, get it off pronto.

Q. My gas tank rusted inside over the winter. Is this bad?

A. It's terrible, I'd say. You'll never feel confident with such a tank. However, shake out the rust flakes and rinse with gasoline. It will do as long as you are careful not to allow any condensation to form water in the tank.

Q. My propeller is nicked. Can I file it smooth?

A. Only if the damage is very slight. If you take any amount of metal off one blade, take the same amount off the others or the prop will be out of balance and cause vibration.

Q. I've got five gallons of outboard fuel I mixed last summer at my summer cabin. Is it O.K.?

A. It's great stuff . . . to gum up your motor. I know it hurts to throw away a couple of dollars, but stale gasoline-oil mix often forms gum that may plug your carburetor.

Q. The rubber hose from my tank to the outboard motor turned hard during the winter. Why?

A. Rubber experts tell me it's age. And the aging of both natural and synthetic rubber can be speeded up by sunlight, or some solvents. In any case don't take a chance, get a new one and take more care of it.

Q. I started my outboard out of water (I didn't know any better). It got hot and squealed. How bad is it?

A. Who wouldn't squeal with that kind of treatment? Most outboards are water cooled. But maybe it isn't too bad. It's when the squealing stops that you have to worry. That mean's the water pump impeller is burned out for sure.

Q. My remote controls are very stiff to move after being laid up for the winter. Any advice?

A. You'll have to lubricate thoroughly. Take the cover off the control box and repack the inside with grease. Maybe you'll have to soak parts in light oil. Next year do a better job of winterizing before you put things away.

Q. What's the spark plug gap on outboards?

A. The average is 30 thousandths of an inch (.030 inch). This is wider than the gap specified for many automobiles (usually 25 thousandths). Plugs with smaller gaps seem to foul more quickly on an outboard.

Q. I've got a cover on my batter box. A friend seemed quite alarmed that it had no ventilation holes. Why?

A. Well, it could blow up. A charging battery gives off hydrogen, which is explosive when mixed with air. However, I must admit that in 25 years of dabbling in boats, I've never heard of a battery box blowing up. But there'll be a first time.

Q. How do I lubricate the propeller shaft of an outboard?

A. The lubricant comes in a tube like toothpaste and is usually squirted into the lower of two holes (protected by screw plugs) on the lower unit. The shaft, gears and entire unit is lubricated when the grease runs from the top hole.

USC's Issakson Declared Academically Ineligible

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sweden's Kjell Issakson, who this month set a world indoor pole vault record of 17 feet, 9 inches, has been declared ineligible to compete for the University of Southern California, assistant track coach Ken Matsuda announced Tuesday.

Matsuda told the Southern California Track Writers of Issakson's ineligibility and said the Swedish vaulter would compete for the Southern California Striders, a club team.

"His high school grades from Sweden could not be converted into proper equivalents for American subjects," a university spokesman said. "And because of a language handicap, he did not score high enough on comprehensive examinations."

The spokesman said, however, there was still "an outside chance" that Issakson might become eligible and the Swedish star was continuing in school.

Tennis

CHICAGO (UPI)—Top-seeded John Newcombe of Australia moved into the second round of the $50,000 Sportface International Tennis Championship today, but three other seeds were upset in their initial matches of the tournament. Charles Pasarell of Puerto Rico brought off the biggest coup when he dumped U.S. professional champ, Tony Roche of Australia, 6-4, 6-4.

Another American, Marty Riessen of Tuscon, Ariz., formerly of Illinois, stopped 12th-seeded Roger Taylor of Britain, 7-6, 4-6, 7-5.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mrs. Billie Jean King will be seeking the start of her eighth victory in 10 tournaments on the women's tennis tour this year when she faces Mrs. Carole Graebner today in an opening round match of the $15,000 Virginia Slims Invitational tournament.

Mrs. King, who has won $24,450, is top-seeded in the field which was narrowed to 16 Tuesday by four elimination matches.

Boxing

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Joe Frazier will remain in a hospital here for the rest of the week, his physician said yesterday. Dr. James C. Guiffre said that Frazier's ill health since his successful title defense against Muhammad Ali Mar. 8 might be the result of kidney damage.

Hockey

BERN, Switzerland (UPI)—Russia's defending world champions face their first real test in the 1971 World Ice Hockey championships today when they clash with Czechoslovakia.

The Russians have gone undefeated through three games in the six-nation tournament. Today, the Czechs will go all out to beat them.

N.Y. Best Not Good Enough

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Even their very best wasn't good enough, and the New York Rangers reluctantly settled for second place today.

The Rangers whipped the Buffalo Sabres, 7-2, Tuesday night, marking the first time in their history they have gone over the 100-point plateau in their long history. Their 101 points are nine more than they ever achieved, and with five games yet to play they already have won four more games than any previous Ranger team.

But they are also 14 points behind the Boston Bruins in the National Hockey League's East Division with no mathematical chance to capture the Prince of Wales trophy for the first time since 1941-42. Their victory Tuesday night, though, did enable them to clinch second place.

"Before the season started I said 103 points would win our division," said Emile Francis, coach and general manager of the Rangers. "Here we are ready to pass that figure, yet there's no way we can win.".

The Minnesota North Stars clinched a playoff berth in the West Division by beating the Los Angeles Kings, 3-1,

298 Game Rolled At Country Club

Ron Baccei, a San Rafael carpenter, missed a perfect game by just two pins Monday night in the Mixed Mates League at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael.

After rolling 11 strikes, Baccei left the 6 and 10 pins for a 298 game. It was his first game of the evening. A 188 average bowler, Baccei came back with games of 183 and 178 for a 659 series.

NBA PLAYOFFS

Prelims Over, Time To Start

By United Press International

With the preliminaries, such as an 82-game regular season, out of the way, the National Basketball Association gets down to business tonight with the start of its playoffs.

The regular campaign ended Tuesday night almost the way it began... with the Cleveland Cavaliers losing. The Cavs completed their initial season in the NBA with a 15-67 record after bowing to the Portland Trail Blazers 114-112. The loss gave Cleveland the dubious distinction of tying the mark for most losses in one season set by the San Diego Rockets during the 1967-68 campaign.

Portland, another expansion club, ended with a much more respectable 29-53 record, thanks mainly to rookie Geoff Petrie, whose 37 points Tuesday night enabled him to become only the seventh first-year player in NBA history to surpass the 2,000 point mark for one season.

Petrie's final two points proved the go-ahead basket for Portland with only 21 seconds left to play as Cleveland rallied from a 15-point halftime deficit to take the lead in the closing minutes. Petrie finished the season with 2,031 points.

However, Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch announced after the game he would file a formal protest today based on an official's call late in the second period when Portland was awarded two foul shots and then given possession of the ball.

"We're not in the record books yet...if this is allowed it could be called a tie game or no contest and we'd have lost only 66 games," Fitch said.

Two of the four opening round playoffs begin tonight with Central Division champion Baltimore entertaining Philadelphia and Pacific Division champ Los Angeles playing host to Chicago.

Atlanta plays at New York Thursday afternoon while the fourth series begins Saturday night at Oakland where Milwaukee meets the San Francisco Warriors.

While Baltimore and Los Angeles won their respective divisions, injuries to key personnel could seriously hamper the Bullets and Lakers in their playoff endeavors.

Baltimore, with a 42-40 record, had no competition all season in the Central Division as Atlanta and Cincinnati were always far back in their fight for second place. The Bullets played the last few weeks of the season without Gus Johnson, Eddie Miles and Wes Unseld and a below-par Earl Monroe. Johnson and Monroe suffer from chronic knee injuries while Unseld has a badly sprained ankle but the Bullets hoped to have all three ready for the 76ers. Miles is out for the season.

Los Angeles figures to have tough going without super star Jerry West who recently underwent surgery for torn knee ligaments suffered in a game at Buffalo. Chicago finished second in the Midwest Division behind Milwaukee but the Bulls' 51-31 record proved the third best in the NBA behind Milwaukee's 66-16 and New York's 52-30.

Playoff Problems For Attles

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—There are several things worrying San Francisco Warriors coach Al Attles as his team prepares to meet Milwaukee in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

First, there's Lew Alcindor, the NBA's most valuable player who averaged 31.7 points per game during the regular season. Then there's the Bucks' speed. They have one of the fastest front lines in the league.

And there's the Bucks' scoring potential. All five of Milwaukee's starters average in double digures.

Finally, there's the fact that the Warriors were blanked by Milwaukee, 0-6, during the regular season.

But aside from those worries Attles believes his team can win.

"We know we can't run with them so we want to be able to have Nate (Thurmond) free to cut off the middle," Attles said. "If we can do that and dominate the rebounding we should be able to make it interesting."

Attles will get his chance to make it interesting in the opener Saturday night at Oakland.

The second and third games will be played at the University of Wisconsin in Madison and the fourth contest will move back to Oakland.

The Monday and Tuesday playoff games in Madison, Wis., will be televised live back to the Bay Area on KTVU, Channel 2, at 6 p.m. The fifth game, if necessary, will be televised live on Sunday, April 4, by KGO-TV, Channel 7, at 11 a.m. and a seventh game by Channel 2, if necessary.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Twins' Reese Back At First Base Spot

By United Press International

Rich Reese, who apparently lost his job to Harmon Killebrew during the winter, will be back at his old first base stand for the Minnesota Twins this year.

Reese, a surprise star when he batted .322 in 1969 dropped to .261 last season and club president Calvin Griffith said that Killebrew would be moved from third to first base this year. One of Griffith's reasons for suggesting the switch was the hope of prolongong the 34-year-old Killebrew's career.

It sounded like a good idea until Manager Bill Rigney got a look at the 6-3, 190-pound Reese this spring. Reese is batting .368, with 14 hits in 38 at bats, and Tuesday singled in the winning run in the fifth inning as the Twins beat the Atlanta Braves, 8-3. Both Reese and Danny Thompson had three hits to lead the Twins' 16-hit attack.

Luis Tiant, 7-3 last season and pitching for the first time since he suffered a pulled muscle in his right elbow three weeks ago, held the Braves to one run in four innings.

On other fronts: The Chicago White Sox raised their spring record to 13-5 by beating the New York Yankees, 4-3. Tom Egan led the White Sox with a homer and three doubles

Doug Rader and Cesar Cedeno homered to lead the Houston Astros to an 8-3 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers. Tom Griffin worked the first six innings for the Astros ... Jose Cardenal went 4-for-4, including two doubles, as the St. Louis Cardinals broke a five-game losing streak with a 5-2 win over the Cincinnati Reds.

Al Oliver, Bob Robertson, Richie Zisk and Richie Hebner homered as the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Baltimore Orioles, 7-4, for their 11th victory against three losses this spring. The Pirates have hit 22 homers, including 19 in eight games in their home park, this spring ... Willie Horton and Aurelio Rodriguez hit two-run homers and Norm Cash and Dalton Jones hit solo homers as the Detroit Tigers downed the Kansas City Royals, 6-1.

FOR HAWAII, GEORGIA TECH

NIT And Worried Looks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Red Rocha and Whack Hyder have that worried look.

Speed is what's bothering Rocha, whose Hawaii club takes on St. Bonaventure tonight in the quarterfinals of the National Invitation Tournament. And strength is on Hyder's mind as he prepares his Georgia Tech team for Michigan.

"We have a quick team," said Rocha, "But, by God, they're really quick. They're about the quickest team I've seen all year."

Rocha's colorful Rainbows struggled into the quarterfinals with an 88-87 victory in double overtime over Oklahoma Monday night. St. Bonaventure stunned Purdue in its tournament opener.

The Bonnies, possibly the smallest team in the tournament, are perhaps the most adept at the fast-break. With Greg Gary and Carl Jackson leading the way, the Bonnies ran slower Purdue off the floor. Hawaii's attack is much the same—run and shoot—and in most cases when fast-breaking teams are matched, the race goes to the swiftest.

But Rocha, a former National Basketball Association star, doesn't foresee any changes in the Hawaii attack.

"We haven't changed our game for anyone," said Rocha. "If we tried to stall, we'd probably throw the ball away. But we played pretty good defense in the second half against Oklahoma and I feel we can do a good job against St. Bonaventure, too. The NIT has been a driving force for the boys all season long. They felt they had something to prove. But we're not the type of team that can play a bad game and still win. We have to play well to win."

Bob Nash and Jerome Freeman are the big offensive threats for Hawaii and John Penebacker ranks among the nation's leading rebounders.

Johnny Orr, the Michigan coach, is hopeful his club can get over its first round jitters. The Wolverines committed 24 turnovers in beating Syracuse, 82-76.

"I don't think we'll play as poorly as we did on Sunday," said Orr. "We were the first Big Ten team ever to play in the NIT and we were a little nervous. I think Georgia Tech was nervous, too, and I don't think they played particularly well in beating LaSalle."

Tonight's winners will meet in Thursday night's semiffinals, with Duke playing North Carolina in the other semifinal game. The final is scheduled for Saturday morning at 11 a.m. (EST).

How Giants Grabbed Rookie Phenom Stone

JUANDERFUL JUAN BACK IN FORM

Marichal Feels Stronger Than Ever

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Willie McCovey stepped into the batting cage at the San Francisco Giant training camp the other day and everybody stopped to watch.

It figured to be quite a matchup because the fellow on the mound doing the batting practice pitching was Juan Marichal.

It was quite a pairing but the two have been matched against each other enough times before. What gave it significance this time was that Mc Covey finally was hitting the ball well and Marichal, for his part, was firing as in the past. All the past, that is, except 1970.

You remember what happened to Marichal in 1970, don't you? That was the year he caught the flu during an ill-timed spring junket to Japan and then wasn't able to pitch for half a season. And when he came back hitters he used to intimidate were rapping him around pretty good.

Since this was McCovey's first look at Marichal this spring, and vice-versa, Charlie Fox, the Giant manager, was anxious to see what would happen.

Usually during batting practice the batter calls the pitches. In this case, McCovey told Juan ahead of time to throw what he felt like without telling him. He wanted it to be a test for Marichal as well as for himself.

Some test!

It turned out about as one-sided as it could be, and Marichal was the winner hands down.

"He really showed me something," McCovey said, not the least bit disappointed in his inability to hit the ball solidly.

"I've always said it," McCovey continued, "that I'm glad I don't have to bat against him during a game. When he's well there isn't a batter in the world he can't get out."

And make no mistake about it, Marichal is well this spring.

In fact, he says he feels "so good" that it scares him.

"This is the first spring in a long time I have been able to pitch so strongly so soon," Marichal was saying. "I've gained back all the weight I lost from my illness last year and I just feel good all over."

Marichal's big hangup last year, after he finally started to pitch again, was that he ran out of steam inside of six innings. For a guy who has been known for his durability, it came as quite a blow. And it became mental as well as physical.

"I had a lot of doubts about myself last year," confessed Marichal. "Honestly, I was even thinking about quitting. If I can't pitch the way I have before I won't stick around. The Giants pay me a lot of money and it wouldn't be fair for me to hang around without winning."

Marichal is as proud a fellow as there is in baseball. While sometimes he trys to minimize his accomplishments with a smile and a shrug, he can tick off nearly every game he's ever won, and going into the 1971 campaign the record stands at 203 victories in 10 plus seasons.

Many observers rate him as the best pitcher in baseball the last seven or eight years, and that span includes the many accomplishments of Bob Gibson, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale.

McCovey, as all the Giants, know Marichal has to play back to his old form for the team to make a fight of it this year.

"If he can't pitch," says McCovey, "then we are in trouble. But from what I have seen this spring Juan looks every bit as good as he was before he got sick. If he just picks up from there I don't see any reason why he can't win 20 or more games again. We all know he can pitch."

With Marichal, who is 32, it's simply a case of being strong again. He proved it to himself in a recent exhibition game when twice he pounced off the mound to field the ball and then threw to second to start doubleplays.

"I couldn't do that fast enough last year," he confessed. "My legs weren't strong enough. Now, I run 10 laps around the park every day and I'm not even breathing deeply. To me, that is very important."

It's important, too, to the Giants.

49ers Sign Another Coach

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco 49ers have signed Chet Franklin, an assistant coach at the University of Colorado for the past seven seasons, as special teams coach.

Franklin, 36, moves into a post held by Doug Scovil, who has been named offensive backfield coach.

A 49er spokesman said Franklin's appointment Tuesday completes the team's coaching staff alignment for next season.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

The spread of the index finger and little finger helps determine the amount of hook on the ball. Because the small hook is recommended for modern lane conditions, I recommend bringing all four fingers together. This will cause the index finger to be a straight extension of the forearm, as shown in today's illustration.

NCAA TOURNAMENT

A Return To Astrodome For Bruins' John Wooden

HOUSTON (UPI) — John Wooden of No. 1-ranked UCLA will be the only coach among the four survivors in the NCAA Basketball Championships who has experienced playing a game in the cavernous Astrodome, site of this week's tournament semifinals and finals.

And, he probably won't like the setup any better this time than he did that January night in 1968 when his Lew Alcindor-led Bruins rolled into the dome to meet the Houston Cougars with a 47-game winning streak and —as now —ranked as the nation's best.

Wooden and the Bruins left Houston that night on the short end of a 71-69 score and the Cougars replaced UCLA as No. 1 to the delight of 52,693 fans.

UCLA later avenged that "game of the century" loss with a 101-69 defeat of the Cougars in that year's NCAA tournament, but the memory of the game still lingers.

It was played on a portable floor, placed over the second base area of the baseball field —just as will this week's games which will find Western Kentucky (23-5) meeting Villanova (26-6) in a 6:40 p.m. CST game and UCLA (27-1) facing Kansas (27-1) in an 8:40 p.m. contest in Thursday's semifinals.

The winners and losers will be matched against each other for first and third place on Saturday afternoon.

"We like the Astrodome," Wooden said after UCLA won its berth in the tournament by squeaking past Long Beach State 57-55 last Saturday.

"The first time we played there the conditions weren't too good, but it really is a fine place to play now. I'm sure the facility is much improved. They have learned a lot since.

"For color television purposes, there were batteries of lights at both ends of the court and it affected the shooting. Every one of our players shot below his average. Houston didn't shoot well, either."

Wooden will find when he takes his team onto the floor for its first practice session today that things haven't changed. The portable floor still has a little "give" to it and the battery of lights are again in place.

Seals Play Host To Maple Leafs

OAKLAND (UPI)—The California Seals host the Toronto Maple Leafs tonight, and if past records mean anything the Seals have an even chance of winning.

The Seals, who are bogged down in last place of the National Hockey League West Division, have had their troubles with most opponents this season. But against Toronto California has a 2-2-1 record, winning twice at home.

Things won't be quite the same tonight as in the past encounters, however. Bruce Gamble, a goalie who seemed to have his bad nights against the Seals, has been traded by Toronto.

The Maple Leafs will have either Bernie Parent or Jacques Plante in the net.

Toronto has clinched a playoff berth after missing the post-season competition for the past two seasons.

Today is Wednesday, March 24, the 83rd day of 1971.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Aries.

On this day in history:

In 1603 the crowns of England and Scotland were joined under James VI of Scotland.

In 1902 one of the earliest "advice to the lovelorn" columns, which appeared in the publication "My Queen," received a question: "Can two people live comfortably on $12.00 a week?"

In 1934 the United States granted the Philippine Islands independence effective July 4, 1946.

In 1965 Mrs. Viola Liuzzo of Detroit, a white civil rights worker, was shot and killed on the road between Selma and Montgomery, Ala., following a protest march demanding equal voting rights for Negroes.

A thought for today: British King George VI said, "The highest of distinctions is service to others."

Malloch Elected To Cancer Society Post

Richard Malloch, manager of Wells Fargo Bank in San Anselmo, has been elected treasurer of the Marin Unit of the American Cancer Society.

Ray K. Bolinger, unit president, announced newly elected members of the board of directors for a three-year term are: Virginia Van Doren, isotope technician at Marin General Hospital; Atty. P. Roy Vallerino; Diana Volk, medical secretary, and Charles Womer, administrator of Ross General Hospital.

West Gets Three Aces, But South Wins Double Contract

Mohammedans never discuss the weather lest they seem to criticize Allah's arrangements. Now if there were only a religion that prohibited discussion of a partner's play of the cards, South would have had a much easier time after failing to make the doubled game shown today.

CLUB SWITCH

West opened the ace of diamonds and stared at the dummy unhappily for a few seconds. Then he switched to the deuce of clubs.

It was South's turn to stare unhappily at the dummy. He had an uneasy feeling that East had the king of clubs and that no good would come of playing a low club from the dummy.

"I can't eat it," South finally admitted. And he played a low club from dummy. East pounced on the trick with the king of clubs and returned a diamond for his partner to ruff. West eventually got the ace of spades, and South was down one.

Most readers of this column have surely spotted the correct play of the hand. If it hasn't occurred to you, take a few seconds for thought before reading on.

SCISSORS COUP

The winning play is called the Scissors Coup because it cuts the communication between the opponents. If South can find a way to keep East out of the lead, East will be unable to give his partner a ruff.

Declarer must win the second trick with dummy's ace of clubs. Then he leads dummy's king of hearts, discarding the queen of clubs from his hand. West must win this trick since only West can beat dummy's king of hearts.

NO CLUB LOSERS

South gives up an unnecessary heart trick but doesn't have to lose a club. This works out to an even exchange, except that East is kept out of the lead. West gets his three aces, but South takes the rest of the tricks, making his doubled contract.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - 7
♥ - Q J 9 6 3
♦ - 10 6 2
♣ - K 10 9 5.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 1-no trump.

The hand is strong enough for a response, but not for a response at the level of two. That is, you cannot afford to bid two hearts. If partner had opened with one diamond, you would have bid one heart.

Student Smoking Bill Introduced

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill allowing students over 15 to smoke at school with parental permission has been introduced by a lawmaker who says, "They're doing it anyway."

Assemblyman Frank Murphy, R-Santa Cruz, said Monday that current antismoking law calls for the suspension or expulsion of students violating it.

Murphy said that if the law were enforced "as much as half a student body could be suspended or expelled on any given day."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Uncertainty For Copper Industry

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I'd appreciate your opinion of Phelps Dodge for income and growth. After recovering from the break in copper prices, shares have fluctuated in the lower forties and appear unable to break conclusively upward as other good securities have in recent months. Should I continue holding for the long term as originally planned? — R.B.

A. The many uncertainties surrounding the copper industry have had a restrictive effect on share price action. First, there is the possibly unfavorable outcome of negotiations on labor contracts, which will expire June 30. United Steelworker officials have already indicated that substantial pay and pension increases will be sought.

Then, there are the implications of the two-tier copper pricing system, which created as much as 40 per cent discrepancy between higher world prices and those maintained by U.S. producers. Not unexpectedly, demand for lower-priced U.S. copper exceeded supply, forcing smaller fabricators into the world market.

As a result, two small fabricators have turned to the courts seeking to force divestiture of those fabricating operations owned by the larger copper producers. Congressional hearings on the copper pricing and allocating methods have resulted.

Meanwhile, the sharp decline in price has all but killed the dual pricing structure. Current record level supplies of the red metal may be substantially expanded by an expected increase — on the order of 7 per cent annually — in production capacity.

Also complicating the world copper picture are the nationalistic maneuvers of important copper mining countries such as Chile, Congo, Peru and Zambia. Phelps Dodge, second largest domestic producer, holds a 16 per cent equity in Southern Peru Copper. Income from this source amounted to $9 million or 46 cents a share in 1969. However, an increase in Peruvian taxes reduced contributions last year. Nonetheless, Phelps reported record earnings of $5.35 per share, up 21 per cent year-to-year.

Some attrition in earnings for 1971 is probable, reflecting reduced copper prices. While I foresee little near-term appreciation here, long-term prospects and the well-covered dividend justify retention.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Interest Paid Is Deductible If You Were Liable For Debt

Interest paid is deductible if you are legally liable for the debt. You cannot deduct interest you pay for another if you were not legally liable to pay.

Interest is deductible in several places on your tax return:

1. Interest on personal things like your home, automobile, etc., is deductible only if you itemize your deductions on Schedule A of the tax return.

2. Interest on property you rent to others is deductible on Schedule E, part II, column (e) — Rent and Royalty Income.

3. Interest paid in connection with your trade or business is deductible on Schedule C, line 21.

The interest is deductible depending on what you use the loan money for, not on the property which secures the loan. For instance, if you borrow money on your home and use it to improve a piece of rental property you own, you can deduct the interest on the Rental Schedule. If you are self-employed and your business borrows money which you use for personal purposes, the interest is not deductible as a business expense on Schedule C, but only as a Schedule A deduction if you itemize.

Points you paid to get a VA or FHA loan are not interest and are not deductible. "Points" paid by the seller are not interest, but an expense of sale.

Points paid by a borrower, mortgagor, as compensation to a lender for use or forebearance of money is considered to be interest. Also, these points must be actually paid in order to be deductible. If they are deducted from the amount of the loan, then you must spread the deduction over the life of the loan.

Prepayment penalties, the extra amount you have to pay over the principal balance due when you pay off a mortgage or trust deed, is interest and is deductible.

When you buy property or educational services on the installment plan or use a deferred payment plan of an educational institution for educational services which are provided for a student and the interest is separately stated, you can deduct the interest in the year paid, no matter what the rate.

If the extra charges for time buying are only identified as "carrying charges" and the interest cannot be determined, you can only deduct the lesser of 6 per cent of the average monthly unpaid balance of your account or the amount of the carrying charges allocable to the year.

If you have excess investment interest, it would be treated as a tax preference item subject to a 10 per cent tax.

Question, what is excess investment interest?

This is the excess of interest paid on investment property over the amount of the investment income less investment expenses. That is, you might have investment income and investment expense, not counting the interest, and would deduct the investment expense from the investment income to arrive at a net investment income which you could deduct from this investment interest to arrive at the net excess investment interest expense which you would deduct from other income.

This deduction is known as excess investment interest and is taxed as a tax preference item.

There is a $30,000 exemption for all tax preference items combined so this may not apply to you.

Be sure to check the Tax Preference Items in the instructions before completing your return.

Stock Market In Drop Near Noon

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market was lower in moderate trading near noon today.

Weakness stemmed from signs the economy is recovering slower than expected.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off nearly 6 points and analysts looked for a pullback around 880 on the Dow before new demand developed.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a loss of 0.30 at 99.98. Of the 1,495 isuues crossing the tape, declines outnumbered advances, 704 to 435.

Natomas Income

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Natomas Co. has announced its total net income for 1970 was $5,423,353 compared with $4,692,061 in 1969.

HE'S AMAZED

When R. M. Taylor, supervisor of final belting inspection at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. plant in Akron, Ohio, got ready to build a shipping crate for a conveyor belt order, he found the belt, when rolled up on a spool here, measured a quarter mile in length, weighed 15 tons, stood 11 feet tall and had to be shiped in an open railroad car because it was too big to crate. Rubber Roads In Our Future, Refiners Hear

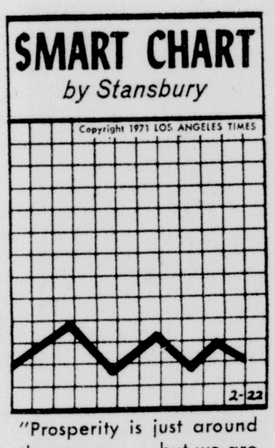
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Rubber highways, rubber dams and rubber tanks to fight erosion may be just a few years away, according to the managing director of the International Institute of Synthetic Rubber Producers.

Ralph Lamberson told the National Petroleum Refiners Association here Tuesday that several foreign nations and several American states are now testing stretches of asphalt highway impregnated with rubber as a method of increasing road surface life and minimizing skids.

Rubber is also promising as an inflatable material for building temporary dams and flood-control barriers in a hurry, Lamberson noted. Rubber tanks could hold storm sewer overflows and oil tankers might be required to carry huge inflatable spares in which to drain cargo when leaks threaten oil spills, he said.



"Prosperity is just around the corner . . . but we are having trouble finding the corner."

Holiday Plaza Office Building Space In Terra Linda Going Fast

Office space is being taken up rapidly in the new Holiday Plaza Office Building at 1050 Northgate Drive, Terra Linda and William Root of Grubb and Ellis Co. reports the following new occupants.

Former Marin Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. has opened a law office here in conjunction with Quentin L. Kopp of San Francisco under the name of Kopp and Goldstein.

Still another legal firm taking space is Wolfson and Vaughn, formerly at 1330 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

And attorney Harold R. Hayes, also formerly at 1330 Lincoln Avenue, is another new tenant.

An office has been opened by William M. Bennett of Kentfield, member of the State Board of Equalization for the Third District. This does not involve any change of location in the board's sales tax office at 496 B Street in San Rafael.

Weyerhauser Mortgage Co., formerly Western Pacific Mortgage Co., a subsidiary of the Weyerhauser Co., has opened its Northern California regional office in the building. Arthur L. Timmell of Marinwood is vice president and regional manager in charge. He was formerly assistant regional administrator of the Federal Housing Administration.

McKeon Construction Co. of Sacramento that has a development planned for Novato is another new tenant. Frank Oman is in charge.

There is also a new office for Bankers Life of Des Moines, Iowa. Charles J. Root is the insurance broker.

KENNETH C. HICKEN of San Rafael has been promoted to vice president of marketing for Foremost Foods Co. He was formerly manager of marketing and planning for the dairy division in San Francisco. Before joining Foremost in 1965 as dairy division group manager he was marketing manager of Stokely-Van Camp Co. and prior to that was with the Birds Eye Division of General Foods Corp.

SAM E. STANDARD of San Rafael has been appointed new innkeeper at the Carmel Holiday Inn in Carmel by Chatmar, Inc. He was formerly managing director of the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco. Before that he was general manager at the Watertown Hyatt House in Chicago and over the preceding 18 years was with a number of other hotels.

MICHAEL ROCHE of Novato has been appointed a vice president of McCann-Erickson, Inc. He joined the advertising agency in 1964 and has served on the Del Monte Corp. account group since then. He has been an account supervisor since 1969.

Roche

Scott

THE MARIN MORTGAGE DIVISION of Redwood Bank in San Rafael has created two new positions.

James K. Scott, who has been manager of the Napa branch for the past two years, has been appointed vice president in charge of loan production and will be responsible for the broker relationships in the area serviced by the mortgage division.

Robert Van Der Goore of Mill Valley, who recently joined the bank after 10 years financial and real estate experience in San Francisco and Detroit, will be assistant vice president responsible for loan administration.

Nutrition Data On Canned Goods

BOSTON (UPI) — Stop & Shop, Inc., one of the East's largest food chains, said Tuesday it would count calories on its private label canned goods.

Mrs. Millicent Snow, the chain's director of consumer affairs, said private label fruits, vegetables and drinks now have redesigned labels listing calories per four-ounce serving. It plans in the future to completely list nutritional data on cans as well, she added.

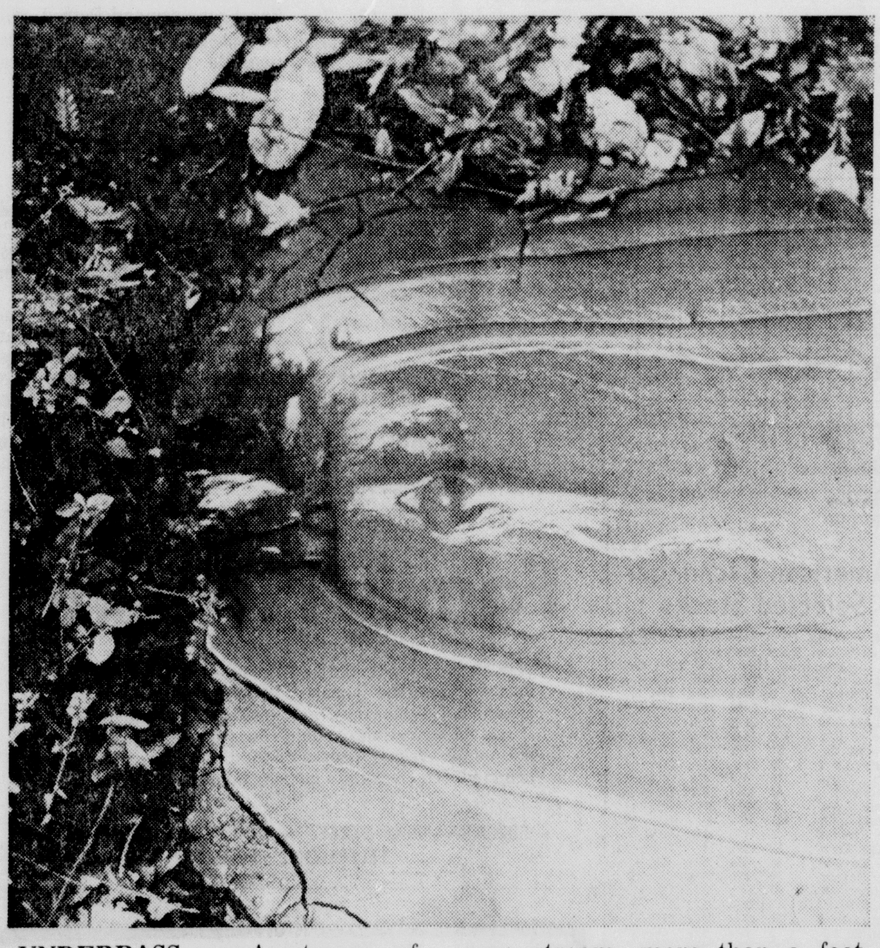
SLUDGE ROUTE — Sludge of the Marin Municipal Water District continues to run from the Bon Tempe water treatment plant, where this picture was taken, down through the trees at left to Phoenix Lake at the Center of the photograph. Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger of the water district said that sludge has escaped into the Lake only one day since the Regional Water Quality Control Board barred the water treatment leftovers in November. However, the Independent-Journal has received complaints of a daily flow into the lake.

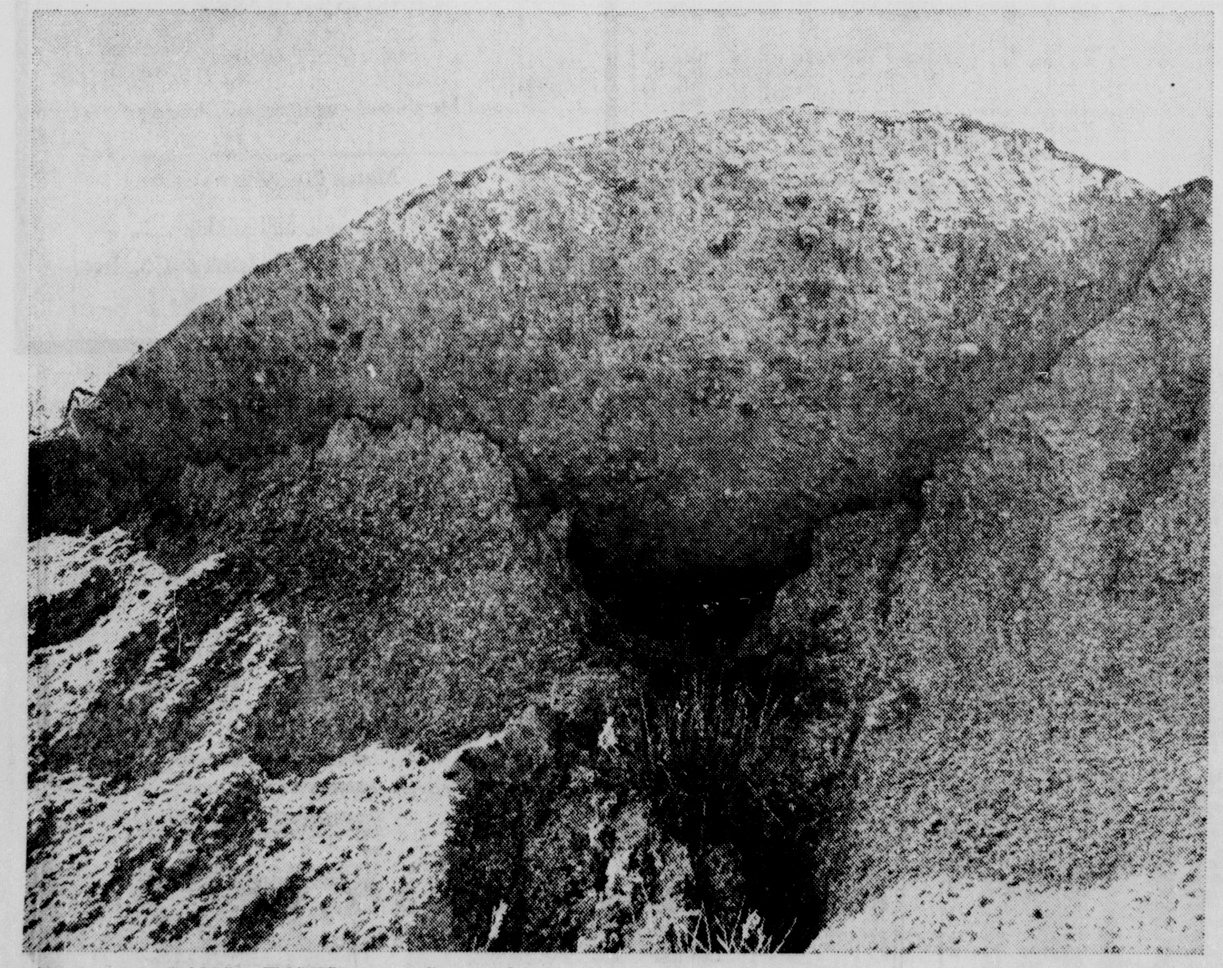
THE START — Sludge from the Bon Tempe plant flows from a firehose in a stand of scrub trees near the plant. The district switched from dumping directly into the lake to hillside spreading in an attempt to comply with the order of Fred H. Dierker, water quality's executive officer. However, the thick liquid substance, which Dierker labelled "a condition of pollution," was observed flowing into the lake last week.

Is Sludge Posing Threat To Phoenix Lake?

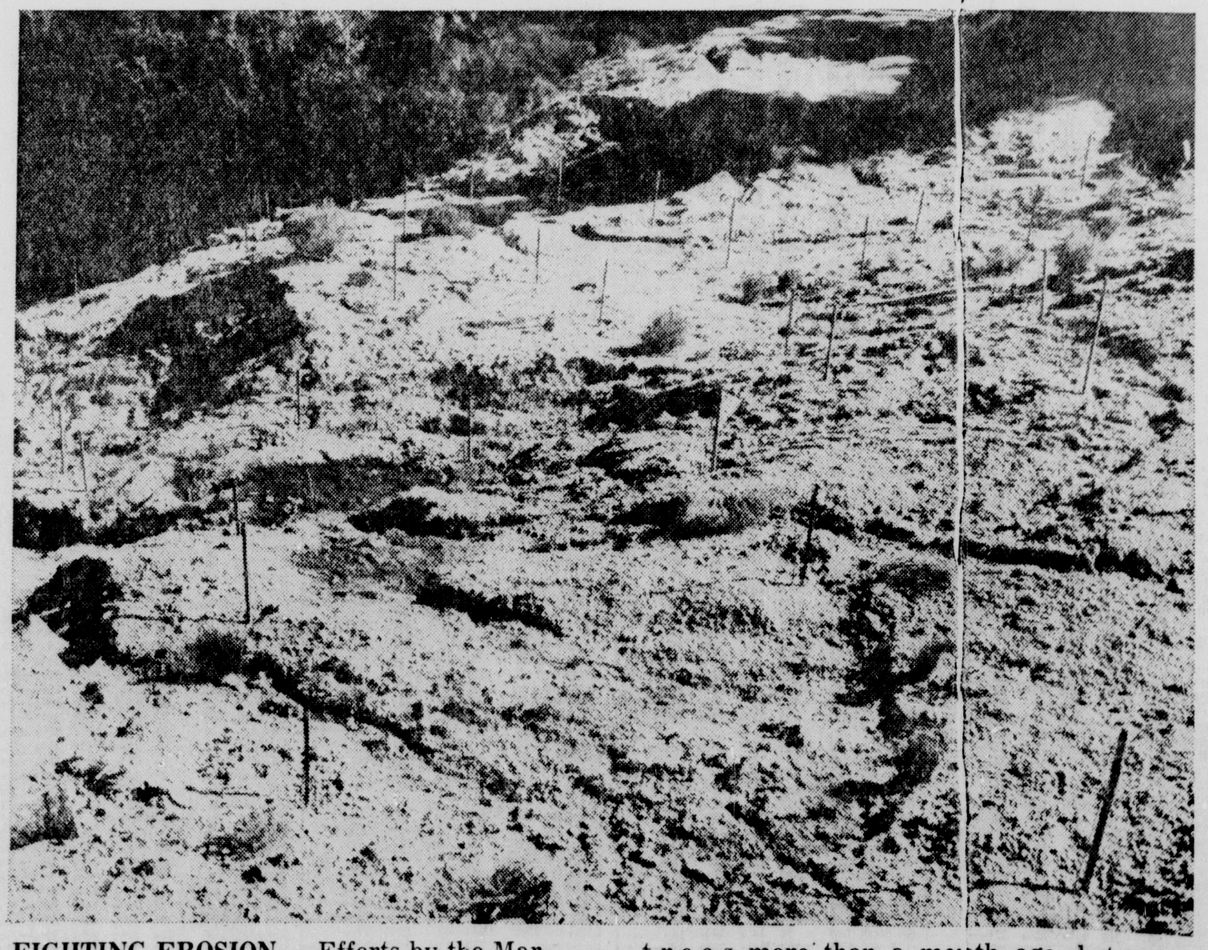


UNDERPASS — A stream of sludge flows into a pipe that channels it under a fire road half way up the slope. In contrast to the surrounding soil, there was nothing alive visible in the viscous stream, more than a foot across and eight inches deep. Critics of the district's sludge dumping and some scientists have argued the sludge is damaging the ecology of the lake.

INTO THE LAKE — Sludge enters Phoenix Lake. Seeger said that one day last week sludge flowed into the lake because an employee forgot to spread the sludge. Before the slipup, he said, no sludge flowed into the water. However, this picture was taken March 5 — before the slipup. The sludge problem of Bon Tempe does not exist at the district's other plant.



RECLAMATION TANK — Sun shines through a hole in the bottom of a water reclamation tank at the Bon Tempe plant which has been endangered by a landslide since the plant was built in 1958. Critics have charged that the huge landslide and ensuing erosion have added to the pollution of the small lake below.



FIGHTING EROSION — Efforts by the Marin Municipal Water District to prevent further erosion below the Bon Tempe plant are clearly visible from the plant. According to Seeger, the district planted the deciduous trees more than a month ago, but none seemed very lively last week. Grass seed has also been sprayed over the pictured portion of the huge landslide.

GM Recalls 300 School Buses: Faulty Brakes

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — Discovery of a faulty brake part Monday prompted General Motors Corp. to recall 300 school buses and 3,300 light and medium duty 1971 trucks.

The GMC truck and coach and Chevrolet divisions asked owners to return the vehicles to dealers for replacement of a fitting which could permit brake fluid to leak from the hydraulic brake system.

A GM spokesman said all 300 buses had been equipped with a dual braking system. If leakage had occurred in a bus or truck equipped with a dual system, an instrument panel warning light would flash and mechanical brakes would take over for the lost hydraulic system.

In trucks with a single braking system, GM said, hydraulic braking action would be lost if the fluid leaked.

Stolen Car

Someone stole his car from his home between 7 a.m. and 11 a.m. Friday, John H. Jaquish, 43, of 530 Canal Street, Apt. B, reported to San Rafael police.

43 Applications For Mill Valley Principal

The Mill Valley School District has received 43 applications for principal of Edna Maguire School and hopes the administration will recommend an appointment by April 19.

Supt. James A. Collins told the district board that a screening committee has recommended eight candidates for interviewing and five others as alternates.

The candidates would be screened by groups of students, parents, teachers and principals on April 16, Collins said, and the next day by the screening committee, the board of trustees or both.

Collins said he hoped to recommend one man to the board April 19.

Trustees on Monday night also got a first look at a proposed $3,450,465 budget for 1971-72, an increase of $187,465 over this year.

Collins said the budget anticipates an income of $3,599,025, which reflects an 8 per cent increase in assessed valuation. Out of the difference between revenue and expenditure, some $148,000, must come any raises granted teachers, Collins said.

No pay raise was included in the preliminary budget because administrators have no way of knowing the amount of raise, if any, that teachers will be given. Collins said each per cent of salary scale increase will subtract about $20,000 from the $148,000 reserve figure.

The Mill Valley School District Board Also:

SCHOOL — Heard that the middle school is 20 per cent complete.

SABBATICAL — Rejected a request for a sabbatical leave by Steve Buffo, Edna Maguire teacher, because of the district's financial problems.

LEAVE — Granted an extension of an illness leave until April 1 to Madilyn Carner, Tamalpais Valley School teacher.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations from two teachers on maternity leave: Jan Nicholas, of Tamalpais Valley School, and Marilyn Candel, of Strawberry Point School.

CLOSED MEETING — Went into closed session to instruct superintendent Collins on contract negotiations with teachers.

Induction Count Is Dismissed

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A charge of refusing induction against a San Rafael man has been dismissed in U.S. District Court.

The charge against Christopher Dennis Ghilotti was dropped by Judge Gus Solomon Feb. 24, two days after Ghilotti was found mentally unfit for military service, according to James H. Daffer, assistant U.S. attorney.

Ghilotti had been charged with refusing induction in Oakland last March.

Atherton Man Victim Of Attack

BANGKOK (UPI) — Police said yesterday a gang of that youths killed a young American tourist and injured two Englishmen on a beach in Songkhla Province in Southern Thailand Monday.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman identified the dead man as Brian C. Hea of Atherton, Calif.

Police said Hea and two Englishmen identified as Paul Bernard, 26, and Peter Vaughan, 23, apparently were awakened as they slept on Samila Beach by five youths who entered their tent and tried to rob them. Police said they apparently resisted and were attacked.

Brown's Plans For Revising Prison Policies

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Four bills to revise probation, parole and prison procedures have been submitted in the Assembly.

The author, Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, said Monday that they would:

— Substitute fixed prison terms for the present indeterminate sentence.

—Allow revocation of probation or parole only for violation of specific rules.

—Guarantee the criminal offender the right to have an attorney present during parole or probation revocation hearings.

—And allow prison inmates an unlimited amount of correspondence as long as they can pay the postage.

Nine Gas Wells Are Activated

Nine gas wells have been activated on Beebe Road, eight miles east of Petaluma.

The wells will be operated by BCR & F Oil and Gas Inc. of Santa Rosa to supply an initial 200,000 cubic feet per month to Pacific Gas and Electric Co. The gas line will serve Petaluma and Santa Rosa.

The 2,023-acre area was first drilled in 1924 by persons looking for oil. Final production at the gas wells may provide up to 2,918,000 cubic feet per month to the utility's gas meter shed.

Blind Instructor Plan Outlined For Board

A proposal that the Marin County Schools Office enter into a joint powers agreement with Napa and Sonoma counties to hire a mobility instructor for blind students has been outlined for the county board of education.

Byron W. Mauzy, assistant superintendent of schools, said yesterday that the proposal was made Monday but no action was taken. It was made only to inform the board of choices available in hiring a specialist for five blind students now under the jurisdiction of the schools office, he said.

The state will budget $910 per student for the instructor but the combined amount is not enough to support a teacher just for Marin.

He said about 20 to 25 students would be needed and by consolidating the programs of the three counties that number could be reached.

The instructor, Mauzy said, would teach students to move freely in familiar surroundings without the aid of a dog.

The board also was told the state would like to increase Marin's education program for handicapped students at Center Medical Hospital in Kentfield.

The program has four multi-handicapped students and the state has indicated it favors increasing the number to 25.

Mauzy said the program is offered to provide training for students from state hospitals and is an intermediate step back to community life.

Work Stoppage Legislation

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill allowing work stoppages but not strikes by public employees has been submitted by Assemblyman Bill Greene, D-Los Angeles.

Greene explained Monday that work stoppages were not covered by law but his measure would remove any question on their legality.

"In a work stoppage you can remain at the job site but withhold work services," he said. "A strike is when you go out and picket."

The bill does not change present law banning public employe strikes.

Brewer To Speak

John W. Brewer, Marin County probation officer, will speak tomorrow and Friday at the annual conference of the Southern Region of the California Probation, Parole and Correctional Association at Anaheim.

So try it on our spaghetti.

Better yet, try it on our new extra long spaghetti.

Made from Durum Wheat No. 1 Semolina, each piece is longer on taste, longer on flavor, longer on everything.

7" longer to be exact.

So if you like our regular size spaghetti, you owe it to yourself to look into our new spaghetti at greater length.
